Lazarus Purchases 15 Acres For West Suburban Store

Department Store's First Branch To Open Here Next Fall

Purchase of 15 acres on W. Broad-st for Lazarus first branch store was announced Wednesday. Expected cost of the building and its interior furnishings is placed at $2 million.

In a joint statement today, store Board Chairman Robert Lazarus and President Charles Y. Lazarus said:

"Our first suburban store, Lazarus West, will open in the early fall of this year at W. Broad-st and Georgesville-rd. The land for the store and the surrounding parking area was just purchased from the Nationwide Development Company, and is immediately adjacent to the Nationwide Inn."

Construction can start next month for the 80,000-square-foot store which will be designed for the addition of another 80,000 square feet at a later date. Lazarus downtown store is 1,200,000 square feet.

Earlier Plans Changed

First announcement that Lazarus had decided to build a branch in the West area was made last February. At that time Nationwide Development said tentative plans were to build a mall-type shopping center at the site. Sears and Big Bear stores were to be part of the complex.

Later however Big Bear selected a site at Murray-Hill-rd and W. Broad in Lincoln Village. The store will be open for business this spring.

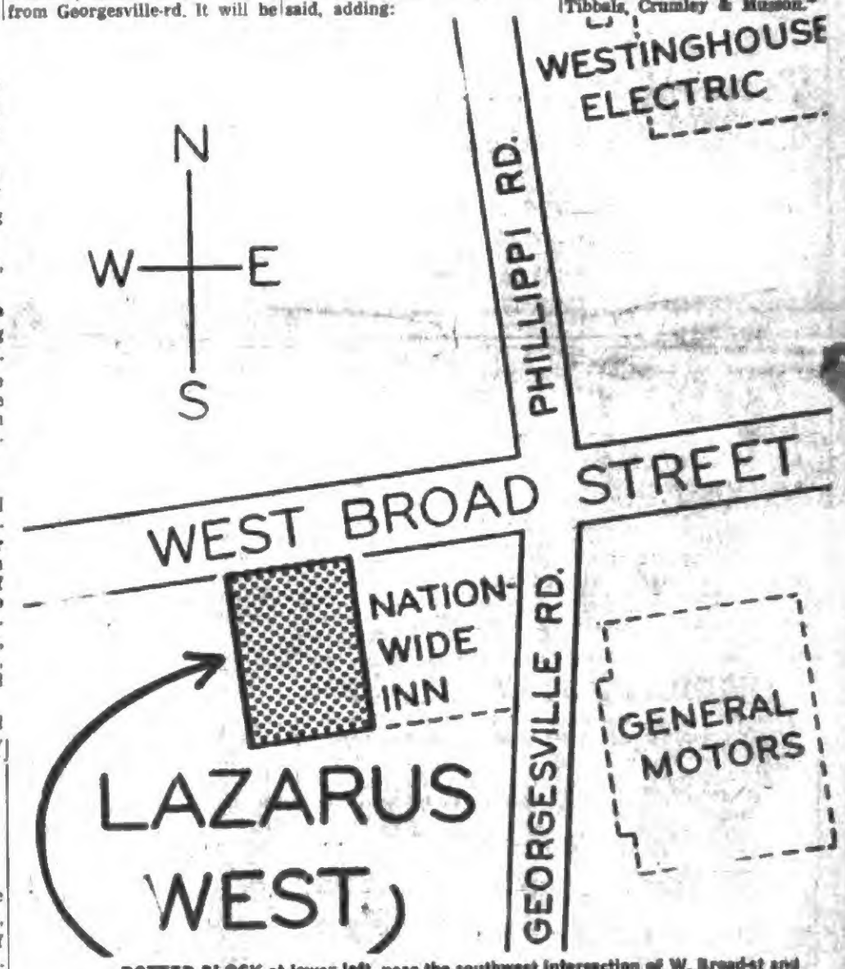
A spokesman for Nationwide Development said Tuesday that the company is still negotiating with Sears and "may have big news soon."

Further defining their plans, the Lazarus executives said:

"Though it will be possible to present only a part of the big assortments typical of the downtown store, the assortments we plan for Lazarus West will be important and complete in terms of convenience merchandise."

Convenience Goods Stressed

"Customers will find good selections of budget priced apparel, accessories and shoes for women, men and children. In addition, a substantial part of Lazarus West will be devoted to such departments as toys, records, drugs, appliances, TV, rugs, sporting goods, curtains, linens, beddings, yard goods and cameras.



"In these departments and throughout the store our policy of checking to make sure we are not undersold will be maintained. Our pricing and services, at Lazarus West, will be identical with those of the downtown store."

The store will front on W. Broad-st, and will have access from Georgesville-rd. It will be completely surrounded by landscaped parking area for about 1000 cars. A 5000-square-foot roofed area will be used for outdoor items in season.

"It will be an attractive addition to the community, both outside and inside," the spokesman said, adding:

"The interior decorative handling will be similar to that of the downtown store, a warm and colorful setting for shoppers."

Raymond Loewy-William Snaith Associates are design consultants. Local architects are Tibbals, Crumley & Musson."

DOTTED BLOCK at lower left, near the southwest intersection of W. Broad-st and Georgesville-rd, indicates the location of Lazarus West, the department store's first branch store. It will be built in the center of the 15-acre tract, with parking area and landscaping surrounding it. Access will be from both Broad and Georgesville (at the south side of the Nationwide Inn property).

We Want Ours Too

Let's all stand up and be counted.

Isn't there something you want from the government?

We see that a move is on foot to get price controls on eggs.

We have a few old hens left in the hen house and know they will be pleased to learn that the government is getting concerned about them.

But we have some printing presses that the government should be concerned about too. They can produce a lot more than they are turning out and with a control placed on printing prices so no one can cut under us we would have these presses running full blast over night!

Making Life Difficult

Some people call it progress.

Sometimes it is called a lot of things that aren't just the kind words we'd want to put into print.

Our scientific and mechanical age has brought us a lot of disgusting things and situations as well as a lot of comforts and advancements.

For example: a couple of years ago we employed a firm of architects to do some office remodeling. They in turn employed heating engineers to plan the heating. We invested some $4000 in a new and modern contraption that was supposed to do everything for us in keeping us cool in the summer and warm in the worst of winters.

Came the first winter and each winter since, the mechanical wonder has kept us warm only because of our mounting blood pressure as we shiver and freeze in this area of the building, and all the while we can walk cross the hall to an older section of the building where an equally large room is as warm as toast as the result of the output of an old-time floor furnace that could be installed even today for about $300.

May we never throw out all the simple things of life!

RE-ELECTED

PAUL R. LANGDON, 75 Powhatan-av, comptroller at Battelle Memorial Institute, was named vice-president of Columbus School Board for the third consecutive term, Tuesday night.

How Can One Can A Man For Conning Two Old Cans?

Why would garbage can thieves pass up four shiny new ones and steal two homemade jobs? Workmanship, that's it!

W. L. Stanfield, 78 N. Oakley-av, at first thought differently. During the weekend someone made off with two of his cans, ugly but sturdy, which he built from 30-gallon grease drums and welded handles. They completely passed up brand new cans which both of his neighbors got for Christmas, presumably.

"I don't think they felt too guilty to take the new ones, Stanfield declared. "They just knew quality when they saw it." Anyway, Stanfield is spending his spare hours driving through Hilltop alleys, looking for two "irreplaceable" garbage cans, with "78 N. Oakley" painted on their sides.

Mrs. Baird was a member of the Robert Morris Chapter 372, OES, Pythian Sisters, Hoge Memorial Church and she was a charter member of the Camp Chase Post Ladies Auxiliary.

The loss has not been estimated but a spokesman has said that in addition to loose cash and a money box in the safe more than $100 worth of cigarettes were taken.

The thieves broke in twice, once through the back door, then again through a washroom after finding entry to the bar blocked through the back way. The premises were damaged.

Valleyview Approves Gas Hike

Valleyview Council Tuesday night approved a hike in the village gas rate.

The new rate, which the council had opposed since early last year, allows an increase of one and one-half cents per 1000 cubic feet, according to Mayor Norris Boothe.

Boothe said that Valleyview councilmen had fought the proposed increase because the rate paid by residents already is higher than that paid by Columbus citizens.

Attempts to find ways to prevent the increase didn't pan out for the community. One proposal, hiring of a rate expert to negotiate with the Gas Co., was apparently dropped because of the costs involved.

Dog Owners Urged To Get Licenses

The Humane Society joins with the County Auditor's office in urging all dog owners to make certain they purchase 1962 dog licenses for their pets. It is good insurance because a lost dog wearing a license can be identified and returned home. Another thing to remember is that a license for your dog is required by law.

Persons not purchasing licenses for their dogs are subject to fines and those who buy their licenses after the deadline, Jan. 20, will be required to pay a penalty.

The County Auditor's office will mail licenses upon receipt of applications, giving full descriptions of dogs (age, sex, color, breed, long or short hair), correct fees for license tags and self-addressed, stamped return envelopes. Fees are $2 for a male, female or spayed female, and $10 for a kennel license.

In addition to being licensed, all dogs three months of age or older must be immunized against rabies.

Dog Books Are Available At Hilltop Branch Library

The dog population of the U.S. has been estimated at more than 26 million. And judging from the demand at the Hilltop Branch Library for books on the care, feeding, and training of dogs, this area must have its share, according to Mary Keyes, librarian.

Available at the library is the comprehensive newly revised edition of "The Complete Dog Book", published by the American Kennel Club. This guide covers the feeding, care, obedience training, and handling of purebred dogs, in addition to giving the history of the various dogs and the latest standard breeds admitted to Kennel Club registration.

Fundamentals of dog training are discussed in "Simplified Dog Behaviour For Home, Car and Street" and "The Complete Book of Dog Obedience"

Handbooks on the various special breeds include such guides as "How to Raise and Train a Cocker Spaniel," and "How to Raise and Train a Boxer."

"The Book of Dogs", published by the National Geographic, has paintings of 112 recognized breeds of dogs and information about selection and care.

Cities Need Work-Together Spirit To Achieve Greatness

The idea, however, is not bad as it applies to Columbus and its peripheral communities.

This week two of these communities, Reynoldsburg and Hilliard, became cities and welcomed new governing bodies. Nevertheless they are not wholly independent in themselves. Their well being, their economy and growth will always depend greatly on the state of things in Columbus.

As we have often said, the time is coming when virtually all of Franklin county will be a metropolis and we'd better be ready for it.

There is every indication that populations will continue to expand and more annexation will result. There will be more tries at incorporation of new villages at Columbus fringe, but we believe that the people will not favor them and vote accordingly, as was recently done in the proposed Westview Heights case.

The existing towns and cities near Columbus should remain so. After all they are, in many cases, as old as Columbus itself and were far distant from the original Franklinton.

All this is in preface to a simple observation: that it's high time for the legislative heads of Columbus and all its neighbors to get together regularly, in face-to-face seriousness on problems that are common to all. Sewers, zoning and planning, water supply, parks, law enforcement, and the like — all need the spirit of togetherness behind them if we are to prevent a fiasco 25 or 50 years from now.

It is hoped, for example, that Mayor Westlake will show more foresight in coming months than he did in the past with Hilliard's sewer dilemma.

Similar situations will arise with each new year and administration to come. Columbus cannot justifiably turn its back on its neighbors, just as the smaller towns cannot remain islands unto themselves.

Department Of Agriculture's 'Buy Ohio' Plan Interesting

There is a new project brewing around the Department of Agriculture. Not brand new, but new this year. It is called "Ohio Market Basket."

Its purpose is to boost grown-in-Ohio agriculture products. According to Robert H. Terhune, director, "We have spent thousands of dollars and time and research to improve the farmer's production without doing much at all to increase his market."

Operation Market Basket, then, is a huge promotional program for the goods grown and marketed in Ohio. Director Terhune feels that there is much that can be done to enlarge the farmers' market in Ohio.

Biggest single effort is in the form of "buy Ohio market basket labels" on Ohio products. Benefits offered to the prospective buyer include not only the best products available on the market, nationally recognized as such in many cases, but also reduced price because of local availability. This simply means that more than patriotic pride is offered to those who "buy Ohio."

A recent case in example, is that of a large grocery chain, which was buying meat from all over the East and Midwest. When informed that the meat was available in Ohio, the company expressed the desire to buy locally. At the same time, some Ohio farmers were shipping their meat to markets that were three and four states away. These farmers were informed of the local market, and the grocery chain and the farmer both saved large sums of money by not having to pay shipping costs to and from distant markets.

Few people realize that Ohio grows everything but citrus fruits, and leads the nation in several areas of agricultural production.

Operation Ohio Market Basket is being administered by a board composed of Earl McMunn, editor of the Ohio Farmer; John Coch of Ohio Meat Packers; Lois Simonds and Riley Dougan of the Co-op Extension Service; Dr. Wilbur Gould of Ohio Can and Food Processors; and Karl Kahler of the Council of Retail Merchants.

In the nation, Ohio was first in crops grown under glass, second in sweet corn for the fresh market, third in maple syrup and popcorn, fifth in field corn and turkeys, and sixth in winter wheat, oats, eggs, grapes, and swine.

The moral of the story is summed up in the Ohio Market Basket slogan: "Ohio on our label means finer foods on your table."

Let's help Ohio by buying Ohio. Chances are you couldn't buy better.

Is A Gun A Suitable Birthday Gift?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

My youngster wants a gun. Is this a gift we can give him for his birthday?

Thousands of American parents ask themselves this question and it must be answered logically for all concerned. Mother's anxiety, Junior's natural desire to shoot, and Dad's parental responsibility for making correct decisions, are all involved.

A tall order? Not when the problem is handled with intelligence and knowledge.

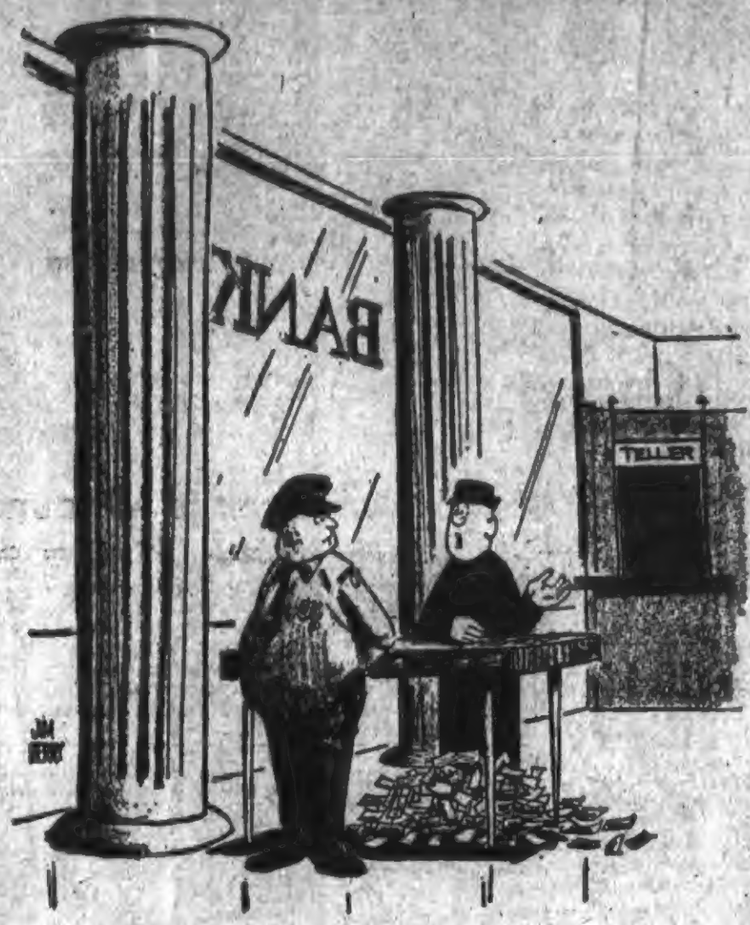
Countless well organized marksmanship programs throughout the country, in properly supervised junior rifle clubs, have demonstrated that shooting develops poise, self control, and a sense of responsibility in youngsters. Since 1926, when the National Rifle Association first developed its now-famous national junior shooting program, millions of young shooters have been taught to shoot with complete safety and to enjoy a traditional American sport.

The first thing parents must decide is whether their youngster has displayed a good sense of responsibility. Age is not a dominant factor, as many youths of nine or 10 are more dependable than others who are in their early teens. A youngster's personal and general reliability is the best measure to judge whether or not he may be given a firearm.

Once parents have decided to give this gift they should consider several other important matters. What rifle to give? A .22 caliber single shot, hand-operated bolt action is recommended. It is the safest type manufactured and an excellent one for a new shooter to receive. This rifle is not noisy, has very little muzzle blast and almost no recoil. It can be purchased in various weights and stock lengths to fit all youngsters. And it has all the safety features built into a modern weapon.

The next big question is where will he shoot? You don't want him to go out on his own—this is inviting trouble. In fact, when you present him with his new birthday present you want to emphasize as strongly as possible that he is not to even handle the gun until he has received proper instruction from qualified people.

To find out where and when your youngster can receive firearm safety instruction, call your Franklin County game protector Walter Evans at AM. 3-5926 and ask him for a teacher's name in your area. Periodically, classes are held by certified teachers under the sponsorship of the NRA and the Ohio Division of Wildlife. Madison County residents should call Alan Ward at UL. 2-9761.



Parents should not give a gun if they do not intend to follow through with strict rules for the use of the firearm and with safety training. Remember, guns in themselves are not dangerous just as automobiles are not dangerous. It is the untrained person using them that can make them so.

As with every freedom there is a responsibility. The chance to give a gun as a gift is not known in many countries. But an armed citizenry must make proper use of its weapons.

Shooting and hunting are wholesome sports and should not be denied to any youth who is ready for them. Youngsters do grow up and a sense of responsibility must begin. The next thing will be the desire to drive the family car, and then taking it on dates. The following step may be going away to school, and soon all will be out on their own.

If this is the year for a gun, present it confidently with a smile and a "happy birthday." And you stick by your resolve to help him learn how to use it.

AROUND EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES

Social Issues Should Be Taught

"Toss away the "cowardly approach" to the treatment of social issues in the classrooms if education is to meet the challenge of the cold war.

So states Canton Superintendent Gordon Humbert to school officials.

"There appears to be a superficial, cautious and cowardly approach to the treatment of basic, vital social issues in the schools today. If this situation is to be corrected, there must be open and frank discussion of freedom, American style versus Communism, contrasting civil rights . . . education . . . living standards . . . religion."

Marines Pleased At Toy Drive Response

To The Editor:

A great many children enjoyed a Merry Christmas this year, complete with unexpected dolls, games and other toys, because of the generosity of the warmhearted people in the Columbus area. The success of the "Toys for Tots" program certainly reflects the friendly spirits of our community.

Members of the 88th Rifle Company of the United States Marine Corps Reserve would like to take this means to thank everyone who contributed to the success of the "Toys for Tots" program. All of the Columbus Reservists extend a hearty well done and in addition extend a standing invitation to visit us at our home, the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, 240 N. Sandusky-st at any time.

Our deep appreciation is expressed to the Hartley Publications and all the people on your Staff. Your support was a most important factor in the success of the 1961 "Toys for Tots" Campaign.

The entire experience has been most gratifying. Well Done!

Goldwater Item Enjoyed

To The Editor:

I was so delighted to read your marvelous editorial "Yes, Della! There Is a Barry Goldwater" (which my 15-year-old daughter brought to my attention) that I would like to have another copy of it to mail to a friend.

Please keep up the good work of presenting the conservative, pro-American side of the news. Gen. Gruenther's remarks were very encouraging too.

I am enclosing a dime for one or more copies of "Yes, Della! There Is a Barry Goldwater."

P.S. Do you subscribe to LIFE LINE? It is a fine little paper. It may also be heard at 7:35 p.m. six days a week over WBNS radio.

Re: Little League Coverage

To The Editor:

I wish to take this belated opportunity and thank you so very much for publishing the accounts of the weekly Hilltop Lions Little League football games.

The little players developed quite an interest in the Hilltop Record and their parents were very pleased that the Record would consider the little fellows in such a big way. I know of one parent who sent copies of the Record to out of town relatives so they could read about her football playing son.

I also wish to thank the photographer who took the picture of the championship team and had it published.

The Hilltop Record is a fine community publication and again on behalf of the Hilltop Lions, I wish to thank you for your wonderful support.

Sincerely,
Karl J. Fulton

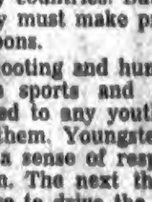
FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Tips Given For January's Food Budget

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS



THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, oranges, bananas, apples, canned citrus juices.

Vegetables — Cabbage, broccoli, potatoes, carrots, leaf lettuce, turnips.

If you have resolved to watch your food money more closely in the coming year, choosing generously from the foods in plentiful supply will get you off to a good start.

Mrs. Franks

January starts the year off right with a continuing abundance of beef and pork. After the fancy holiday feasting, a simple, basic meal like pork with cabbage or sauerkraut and dumplings [illegible] casseroles, potatoes can be [illegible] hours this well to look over all the pork cuts while you're shopping, for pork is now in the season of biggest supply and lowest prices for the year.

Broiler fryers will continue to be an economical main dish for a good supply is coming to markets. And, this is the season when large eggs become plentiful. This week they will likely be a better buy than mediums on a cost-per-pound basis.

Add to your shopping list other plentiful foods — apples, potatoes, cabbage and the root vegetables as turnips, parsnips and rutabagas.

This year's apple crop turned out to be even larger than expected and prices stay low even after storage costs are added. So, try to work apples into your January menus — offer them fresh to the youngsters when they come home from school.

Potatoes are also in bumper supply this winter and their price low is the lowest in a long time. Baked month and on through the winter.

Another vegetable likely to stay reasonable in price is broccoli, for winter production in Texas and Arizona is expected to be more than a third greater than last year. Volume in markets should be seasonally large during the next couple months. The winter carrot crop is also a good one and price tags likely to go lower. Cabbage continues as one of the lowest cost vegetable choices, while sweet potatoes, egg plant and green beans are at fairly low levels.

A tasty pair for breakfast might be grapefruit and honey. Crops of both are big this year and prices are attractive. Raisins are plentiful and make good additions to either hot or cold cereal.

And, if you do any baking at all, you'll want to add a dash of elegance with pecans. They, too, are reasonably priced. This year's crop is 48 percent above the 10-year average.

Four teams are enrolled in the new set-up, engineered by Jack Gibbs, a former Ohio Starter now employed by the Columbus school system.

McKinley Drugs and Berry AC gain the honor of opening festivities at 7:30 p.m., with M-C Wines and Beck's Sporting Goods matched in the finale.

Three rounds will take place, ending Mar. 14. At the conclusion of league play the winner will play a two-out-of-three series with the champion of the powerful Dayton AAU League.

GIRLS' FOUL SHOT TOURNEY

Silhouettes Win Senior Cage Crown At Glenwood

The folks at Glenwood Recreation Center haven't stopped a bit to welcome in the new year. In fact, activity of 1961 was so great that it just carried over into the new year.

Glenwood was a leader among City Recreation Centers in the past year and, according to Center Director Chuck Moore, 1962 is going to be just as busy and offer just as many opportunities for local youths.

To wind-up action for the old year, the Silhouettes defeated the Commodores, 83-70, to remain undefeated (5-0) and win the Senior Boys' pre-season basketball crown.

The second place Cavaliers maintained their position as they defeated the Satins 55-40.

Bill Wells was high for the winners with 16 points and Carl Runicka set the scoring pace for the losers with the same amount of points.

Moore reported Tuesday that the regular basketball season begins at Glenwood Jan. 9.

Mary Russel, one of the recreation leaders at Glenwood, announced this week that a basketball foul shooting tourney for girls will be held at the Center Jan. 4 through Jan. 10.

There will be three tournaments, Miss Russel said, in the following age brackets:

Junior girls, age 12 and under; intermediate girls, 13 to 15, and senior girls, 16 to 18 years of age.

Anyone interested in participating in the event can receive more information by calling Miss Russell at BR. 4-7416 or BR. 4-0298.

A Sports .. AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Last Year Was Really Sixty (One)derful . . .

Make a mental memorandum:

1961 will probably be remembered as one of the most active periods — sportswise — in and around Columbus to date.

Whether they be professional or amateur, local athletes made the world take note and wrote a most interesting chapter in the lives of sportswriters everywhere. From any press box, it was a banner year.

Perhaps the big news of 1961 on the high school scene in the city was the accomplishments by a young fellow named Bruce Draudt from Academy High.

Draudt's two victories in the annual state high school track meet last May should get the No. 1 rating in the accomplishments department.

The talented speedster won the 100 and 220 dashes in the Class A division and was Columbus' only winner in the state high meet.

South Went West . . .

1961 was the year that South High School grabbed championship honors in the Hilltop Relays. Other local track championships included Rosary, who won the County and District A, and Whitehall who took the AA District.

On the football scene, now history, Eastmoor's Warriors headed the list of powerhouse grid teams as they won the City League and chalked up an undefeated season.

It was the third consecutive City League grid pennant for Eastmoor who ranked seventh in the final United Press International Poll.

Doug Van Horn, tackle, was named to first team in both the UPI and Associated Press selections.

More Of Eastmoor . . .

The Warriors didn't specialize in football.

The basketball team there won the City loop with an 11-1 record. Its current basketball squad is moving into the 1962 season with a 3-0 ranking.

Eastmoor's Junior High ran close to the senior high squads when the baseballers traveled through the South section of the junior high league undefeated in eight starts.

Whitehall Of Fame . . .

Whitehall fared well in the state high wrestling meet in 1961. Mike Beery, Ted Hupp and Danny Gartner of the Ram team took 11th place in the state meet.

On the International League baseball scene, Larry Shepard piloted the Columbus Jets to their first pennant in 20 years and won recognition as the International League Manager of The Year.

More sports pages of 1961 were crammed with the news of Woody Hayes and his Buckeye footballers and Ohio State basketball and Jerry Lucas (the two have become almost synonomous) and currently sketching the National Championship picture.

Jackie Nicklaus had his year on the local golf scene while racing fans are still thinking about the big days at Beulah Park.

It's Been Fun, '61 . . .

Suddenly it's 1962. The year wil be written in headlines across sports pages everywhere and all that remains for 1961 is to put a final "30" at the end of this column.

PEN PALS MEET AFTER 34 YEARS

Teacher Finds Scotland A Land Of Calm People, Simple Pleasures

Ed. Note—The author of this story, Mrs. Mearl V. Weaver, 3613 Whitehead-rd, is a former member of the Hartley Newspaper staff, now a teacher of art in the South-Western City School District. She obtained the name of a Scottish girl 34 years ago in an exchange offered in a Girl Scout-Girl Guide magazine. They corresponded regularly. Finally, last year Mrs. Weaver and her son went to Scotland. Some of Mrs. Weaver's impressions follow:

By Elsie Weaver

It took but 12 hours last summer to span the 4,000 miles which have separated my Scottish pen pal and me for 34 years.

In the 12 hours my son, Craig, and I spent going from Columbus to Dundee, Scotland, we used eight kinds of conveyances: automobile, two planes (one was a jet), helicopter, U.S. airport bus, Scottish interurban train and two taxis.

At Prestwick Airport the Hartley Scots had a fitting welcome for us, typically understated: we were piped off our jet by a lone kilted bagpiper. A glimpse of the hills further reminded us it was really Scotland — they were round, green and bald of trees.

After a quick turn through customs in a building reminiscent of a summer cottage of the thirties, wicker furniture and all, we boarded a bus for Glasgow. Never in the three weeks we spent in the British Isles did we get used to going down the left side of the road with cars bearing down upon us from the right side, which is surely the wrong side, looking like they were about to smash into us! Most of the trip was spent trying to figure out the fare, two shillings, sixpence.

My pen pal, Nan Hill, and her sister Rose, were waiting for us in Glasgow. Although we had never seen each other, we recognized each other and exchanged waves and grins before the bus stopped. Bundled up in winter coats (it was July 5) and talking with Scottish burr and broad A's, the sisters got us onto the train to Dundee and we had several hours in which to try to understand what they were saying. I had to keep reminding myself this was English they were speaking.

Note Calm Temperament

In temperament and manner my pen pal was very much as I had expected, perhaps a little more reserved. (She had been warned that Craig and I talk and laugh a lot). With the exception of her exhuberant nephew everyone in the family is quiet and unemotional. In fact, never once did we see, or hear, in the Isles, a frown, a cross word, an argument, a reprimand to a child, and only once did we hear a crying baby!

Questioning my friend as to when the people there let off steam, she replied, "Oh, we do that at cricket games." I thought how often Americans would have to go to cricket games if that were their only outlet; it just wouldn't be possible to have them several times daily.

It wasn't too long before we all but forget that there were such things as wooden houses, big cars, garages and flies at home. These things are practically nonexistent in Britain. Almost everyone lives in a stone or brick house, usually a multiple-family type and few have cars.

We saw one garage in Scotland and my son Craig actually counted five flies. He still chuckles as he remembers how a girl on a Dundee bus jumped when she saw a fly on her arm. No buildings have window screens or screen doors; in fact, doors stand open all day.

Many Scottish houses have a canvas or plastic "shower curtain" over the front door when it's closed. Nan's nephew explained it was to keep the sun from fading the paint, but after observing the conspicuous absence of sunshine, I say it's to keep the rain off the door paint.

After seeing many red-cheeked babies in prams I wrote to my husband that I had never seen so many healthy-looking babies. A few days later I revised my first opinion; never had I seen so many wind-burned babies. If the people in Scotland and England are not red-faced and red-legged, they are pale pink. In fact, stares followed us everywhere because we were so tanned; some asked if we had been to the Riviera or Italy.

Hospitality Enjoyed

Surely the Scottish people are among the "salt of the earth;" their hospitality was tops. We were taken on all-day trips to ancient castles and cathedrals, treated to choice fresh salmon from nearby streams, taken on a beautiful trip through the Highlands. We stayed at quaint little hotel where the hospitality was considerably enhanced by the discovery of nice fat hot water bottles under the bedclothes.

We went to bagpipe band contests, a military tattoo, hunted ancestors among the gravestones of a church near Edinburgh and later in baptismal records of that city found what we sought. We snapped hundreds of color slides of palaces, moors, and, strangely enough, after all the ancient sights we had seen, a wonderful ultra-modern high school in Dundee with swimming pool, five-story buildings, beautiful campus and fabulous gardens.

Our two weeks in Scotland eclipses in memory a week in England and eight days on the Continent which came later. The only difficulty was that our experiences with these calm people made us react strangely for a brief while after we returned to America. Back at LaGuardia Airport we noticed a lady-like little girl of about eight years and a gentlemanly brother of about 10. "English children," we pegged them immediately. "See how reserved they are, how polite."

About that time their mother joined them, a real "slick chick" in skin-tight slacks. The children descended on her with a long list of "gimmies," and at her rejection of their requests, they stamped and spouted choice U. S. slang. We were back in America.

Got A Fish Story? Wildlife Division Wants It

Ohio Division of Wildlife personnel are searching for stories of "legendary" fish in Ohio.

These fish are the big tackle-busters of any species which have been hooked and lost so many times they gained a reputation.

Stories about them have grown through the years, sometimes told by the general public, more often by a circle of angling fanatics.

Frequently the fish have been given special names descriptive of their antics or size. Sometimes the stories stick to facts, often they exaggerate greatly.

Anglers who know of such a legendary fish are requested to send this information to Clarence Clark, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus. Facts wanted include location of [redacted] fish hangouts, size and the [redacted] stories of anglers who have tied into him in the past.

Seven Deer Die On County Roads So Far In 1961

Franklin County's seventh highway deer fatality of 1961 occured on Westerville-rd, just south of Morse-rd and within the city limits of Columbus in December.

Only two deer were reported accidently killed in Franklin County during 1960. Most of the fatalities in the two years have been within the Columbus city limits. Three were killed last January and four have fallen victim to automobiles during the last two months.

Sisters To Take Precautions Against Atom Fallout Danger

Precautions against atomic fallout are about to be implemented in 12 Columbus area Catholic convents.

Sister Mary Regina of Rosary Hill College, Buffalo, has just concluded two weeks of civil defense survey and classes for Sisters of St. Francis, Penance for Christian Charity [redacted].

OSF nuns are serving St. Charles Seminary and St. Therese Shrine in Bexley, St. Vincent's Orphange, St. Ann's Hospital, and the following Columbus schools: St. Peter's, Holy Rosary (grade and high school), St. Leo's, St. John's, and Sacred Heart Commercial High School. Others are working in schools and hospitals at Athens, Nelsonville and New Lexington.

On the advice of Buffalo, N.Y. civil defense authorities, Sr. M. Regina contacted the Franklin County CL office for help. "I was amazed," she said "at the progressive work of some volunteers here." She was referring particularly to the basement shelter, emergency power and water supplies, food and medical provisions which have been set up at St. Mary Magdalene School on the Hilltop.

The representative of the order encompassing 500 nuns in 34 convents in the eastern U.S. spent nearly an hour in conversation with Mrs. John Dehnert, organizer of the Hilltop school's plan.

Using all local information at hand and instruments provided by the Franklin County CD office, Sr. M. Regina conducted three nuclear defense classes at St. Ann's Hospital for 24 nuns of the Columbus area.

Any alteration of church property will be the financial responsibility of the parish according to Sr. M. Regina.

In addition, the order is supplying a seven-page survival plan to the mother superior of each convent. A questionnaire on shelter requirements is to be returned to Provincial Superior, Mother Isabelle, at Stella Niagara, N.Y. These will be evaluated and instructions for shelters will be sent back to each convent.

"We are compressing everything we can into our classes," Sr. M. Regina said. "There's even a recommendation that our sisters wear the white habit because of its superior resistance to radiation.

"Familiarity with instruments such as the docimeter and its charger, and with many aspects of first aid are being stressed," she added.

The sister, who has studied civil defense extensively in the East, observed that the Franklin County CD office has undertaken an especially ambitious project.

"I was surprised to see that every home and business house on every street is being surveyed for shelter possibilities. This is confined to public buildings in most communities elsewhere," she pointed out.

While her immediate project concerns convent shelters, Sr. M. Regina has also watched defense planning for school children. "The time element (warning time in Buffalo area schools is still considered sufficient to permit sending children home," she said. "Homes are close to the schools."

Defense preparations for the order are being carried out by nuns in Charleston, W. Va.; New Monmouth, N.J.; and by the provincial superior, herself, who travels to Greenville, S.C. They, like Sr. M. Regina, are usually science teachers who are familiar with the chemical and biological aspects of nuclear study. Sr. M. Regina holds a Ph.D. degree and is assistant professor of biology and director of bio-chemistry at Rosary Hill College.

West High School Holds First Photo Salon

A Photography Salon, introduced at West High this year and designed to encourage students in the used of a camera as a means of self-expression as well as a career, is expected to continue annually, with a gradually expanding scope.

Next year's event will be divided into two classes — news coverage open to members of the school's newspaper, and a general class open to all students.

Future plans of the salon include opening the event to all student photographers in Columbus and parochial high schools.

TAGGED FOR NEW YORK TRIP

WEST HIGH'S physics teacher, Gerald Odeck and a senior student, Tim Watson, have been named recipients of an all-expense paid, two-day trip to New York Jan. 19 and 20 as guests of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and Western Electric. They will travel by plane and while in New York will observe laboratories and hear lectures on scientific advancements, introduced last year by Ohio Bell, Western Electric joined in co-sponsoring the project this year. Odeck and Watson are the only two from Columbus chosen for the trip.

"SOLD, THE CLERK WILL BE GLAD TO TAKE YOUR MONEY"
And It's On To The Next Item On The Agenda

An Itch, A Bobble And A Twitch

GOING . . GOING . . GONE!

By BERNIE KARSKO

The man in the red flannel shirt scratches his nose, hesitates and scratches it again. Across from him another man appears nervous twitching his thumb along the side pocket of his overalls. Behind him a head wiggles as if to relieve a sore neck.

To the casual observer these gyrations seem quite common-place and would probably pass unnoticed. But none of them have escaped the watchful eye of Cy Ferguson. He's an auctioneer.

The itchy nose, vibrating thumb and bobbling head signified acknowledgment of Ferguson's chants of "two . . . forty, sixty, eight," and up. Spontaneously they stopped. Ferguson barked, "sold!" And it was on to the next item.

Ferguson, who has the personality of a Santa Claus and the physique to match, figures there are at least 100 different signals bidders use to signify they're willing to go a few bucks higher.

"For some reason or another they just don't want the other bidders to know they're onto an item," he explained. "Very few people holler out loud. They just use some little gesture they hope will not be seen."

It's not often, though, that one of the sneaky signs get past Ferguson. Recognizing them was one the things he was taught in auction school.

There are more than half a dozen of them around the country. The one Ferguson, a Grove City resident, attended was Reppert, in Decatur, Ind.

It's known as the Harvard and Yale of auction schools . . . maybe even a graduate school," he jokingly boasted as he pulled out a diploma he was awarded when he graduated.

Started As Teenager . . .

That was 20 years ago when he was still a teenager. "I used to auction off things for fun," he recalled. "People told me I was pretty good so I guess I wanted to see if they were kidding or not."

Surprisingly, Ferguson's first lesson at Reppert came in the music room.

"On some big items you have to talk solid for half an hour or more," he hastened. "You'd get hoarse in 10 minutes if you weren't in pitch. So the first they they do is to find out your proper voice level."

The course lasts for three weeks but the school has a sure fire system of eliminating the backward and shy in the first few days. Ferguson delights in telling about it.

"We'd gather in the classroom and the teacher would hand out items for us to auction them on some street corner in town. The first time it wasn't too bad," he continued, "old lamps, rugs and things like that."

"Unmentionable" Start . . .

"But the next day the teacher handed out some," he paused to search for the right words, "women's dainty unmentionables. You should have seen the guys scramble to go back home."

Ferguson held fast, went out and peddled his "wares" and is quick to admit that he's glad he did.

As an alumnus of Reppert he might recommend the school toughen the curriculum a bit now, "There's too many auctioneers around," he complained.

Three jobs a week is enough to keep him contented [illegible].

"A good auctioneer," he assured, "can make a comfortable living by only working that much."

How adept he is determines how much he makes. Most auctioneers work on a strict percentage basis. The fee is two per cent on farm sales, five per cent on real estate and 10 per cent on furniture.

Furniture Sale Is Fun . . .

Ferguson enjoys working all of them but picks furniture sales as the most fun.

"You usually get a lot of women at these," he pointed out. "It sure gives you a kick to watch them fighting for quarters and dimes."

Real estate is the most profitable. His biggest sale was a $100,000 deal. "It took me a full 35 minutes to end that one," he recalls.

Farm sales offer the biggest challenge—and occupational hazard.

"You have a lot more to work with on a cow than a couch," he volunteered.

"On the other hand," he quipped, "I've never had a couch chase me. Plenty of cows have."

Typical come-ons he uses at farm sales include: "This hay smells like it has cream in it." "You're buying this cow in working condition . . . look at the business end." And, when the bidding is slow, "thank God this animal can't hear how you're insulting him."

Little Bit About A Lot . . .

Knowing a little bit about a lot of things is essential in his profession. He usually goes out and inspects all of the items he'll be selling the day before a sale.

He's puts everything from boxes of groceries to blue wedding garters on the sale block but can't recall any instances of people getting any real treasures for a song. "I've heard of guys selling books for 50 cents that had $50 book markers inside," he said. "But it hasn't happened to me."

Other amusing things have though. There was the man, for instance, who offered the high bid for a small open trailer as well as a number of other articles, then hitched the loot to his car and drove away without paying.

You can understand Ferguson—well almost—when he's conducting a sale. "It's simple," he says. "The first figure is the amount that has been accepted, the next is a reasonable step higher and the third figure is some far-fetched figure."

The tobacco sellers use a special lingo. Most sums have their own little symbol—like ree for a quarter.

Ferguson politely asked if there were any more questions and then offered a farewell in becoming fashion. "Going . . . going . . ." and before he could say it, he was gone.

Church Council Reaffirms Stand

Members of the Board of Directors of the Columbus Area Council of Churches reaffirmed its stand in support of the Sunday closing laws in a resolution passed recently, according to Rev. Rudy H. Thomas, president of the council.

The resolution stated that the council "viewed with alarm the increasing tendency of retail stores to open for business on Sunday, which, we believe, is not only illegal, but detrimental to business, to family life, to the churches and to the community."

The council further urged strict enforcement of the closing laws and urged church members to refrain from "unnecessary business" on Sunday.

Laird is an office supervisor for an insurance [illegible].

Ternstedt Figures In GM Merger

Consolidation of the Brown-Lipe-Chapin Division of General Motors with the Ternstedt Division, effective Jan. 1, was announced by GM President John F. Gordon at Detroit.

Frank O. Riley will continue as general manager of Ternstedt and will be in charge of the consolidated operations, which will continue to be designated as the Ternstedt Division.

Brown-Lipe-Chapin has plants at Syracuse, N.Y., and Elyria. Ternstedt, with headquarters in Detroit, has plants in Detroit and Flint, Mich.; Columbus and Trenton, N.J.

Employment at the two divisions will not be affected by the consolidation, Gordon said, and operations will continue at all plants of the divisions. Both divisions manufacture automobile hardware and use many of the same types of manufacturing facilities, materials and processes.

Simply cut this out and tack it somewhere near your desk where you can refer to it everytime you write the date until "1962" becomes automatic. Isn't it nice to know that people still care?

Troop Plans Ahead

Troop 172, Hope Memorial Presbyterian Church, has several activities on its revised calender for January. During the next few weeks these things will be going on: Jan. 2, troop committee meeting; Jan. 8, troop meeting with a board of review; Jan. 11, hiking merit badge test; Jan. 13 and 14, campout at Camp Lazarus at which time scouts will put up bird feeders.

This troop has made up the entire year's calendar of activities and had them mimeographed so everyone will know in advance what will be going on. This is an excellent and extremely efficient idea.

Local Affairs Planned

The Southwest District will have many activities this year. There will be, as usual, the summer camps and camporees. Also there will be, for the first time, a winter camporee, at Camp Lazarus Feb. 17 and 18. A spring demonstration or display camporee to be held in a large area on or near the Hilltop is in the planning stage. A campfire open to the public with perhaps 1,000 people attending is envisioned by the district commissioners.

We hope 1962 will be a successful year for scouting, the most outstanding ever.

WWI Veterans To Seat Officers

The regular meeting of Capitol City Barracks 461 of Veterans of World War I and its Auxiliary will be held Sunday, Jan. 7 in the Veterans Memorial Building, Rooms 201 and 203 respectively at 2 p.m. There will be a joint installation of officers. A large crowd is expected.

MAYOR WESTLAKE SAYS:

Future Looks Good; You Can Quote Me'

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If you have any doubts about the glowing outlook for 1962, simply dial CA. 1-2211 and ask for Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake.

He'll verify how bright the future seems to be for real.

MAYOR WESTLAKE
Happiest New Year

Mayor Westlake chatted with a Hartley Newspapers' reporter last week about the new year and what Columbus residents can expect in this city. It was an inspiring talk that, somehow, reassures that things will get better if—for a moment—residents think things were bad in 1961.

"With the continuation of economy and efficiency in administration and assuming a continuing upsurge in business activity, it is hoped that all problems will be surmounted in 1962," Mayor Westlake said.

Just what are the problems in the otherwise bright future? The mayor put them this way:

"The financing of a 10 per cent pay raise for police and firemen ($800,000) and the continued heavy demand for poor relief money will pose serious problems for General Fund financing in the new year," he said.

The Capital Budget for 1962 is still in the process of formulation at this time, but the following major projects are expected to be undertaken or completed this year:

- Expressways.
- Sewer and sewage treatment operations in at least 10 different locations, and

Mayor Westlake said that projects for Parks and Forestry, Recreation and other divisions will be announced as soon as the Capital Budget is finalized for this year.

What about the accomplishments of the Westlake administration during 1961? Take note:

In the finance department, $600,000 was provided for poor relief and details were worked out for the necessary financing for an off-street parking facility at Parsons-av and Marion-rd on the South Side.

Other projects included the refinancing of the Long Street Parking Garage and the earnings from the city's expanded Treasury Investment Program are expected to exceed $550,000 in 1961. For the second year in a row, the city obtained a substantial refund from the Industrial Commission of Ohio on the

New Interchange May Solve Traffic Tangle At Sandusky-Broad

Creation of a Broad-st interchange in the Sandusky Expressway along with a speed up in efforts to extend Wilson-rd from Broad-st to Sullivant-av has been requested by Mayor Ralston Westlake.

The proposal to the state came during one of the city's talks concerning a five-year public works program for Columbus.

Previous plans were to wait until 1964 to improve the expressway but an increasing traffic accident record on that section of W. Broad-st has sparked the appeal for speedy action.

City Engineer Robert F. Werner recommended widening of Grubb-st just east of Sandusky to improve conditions along this heavily traveled expressway.

An off ramp for south-bound motorists and an on ramp for northbound cars now exists on the freeway at Broad-st. But east-bound traffic on Broad has difficult access onto the super highway.

Planning Director Jack Bachtel stated that the mayor's suggestion could be included in a study the state is now preparing for the West Freeway.

Wilson Road Again Discussed

The other traffic problem in question concerns people living in between Georgesville-rd and Hague-av. Residents in that area must go at least two miles out of their way for a direct access between Broad-st and Sullivant-av.

Bachtel and Werner were ordered to investigate the legal aspects of the problem.

Army May 'Floodproof' Columbus

What has been called a "virtually floodproof" plan for Columbus was revealed to Mayor Ralston Westlake and city officials by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The proposal was presented to the legislators in conjunction with work on the two major rivers in Columbus and the Mill Creek Dam.

Jerry Baumgardner of the Engineering Corps in Huntington, W. Va., gave the lawmakers drawings of the project which calls for levee repair work, widening of the channel and cleaning undergrowth from banks and revetments from Greenlawn-av to Frank-rd bridge.

If the suggestion is acted on this work would improve run-off of the Scioto during floods.

The city's share of the project is estimated at $126,000 and Mayor Westlake pledged support to Baumgardner that Columbus would cooperate by providing the matching funds.

Westlake added that he would take the matter up with City Council at the first opportunity for a request for funds must be made to Congress by the engineers by Jan. 26.

Printing Week Celebration To Be Observed Jan. 14-20

Plans for observing Printing Week, Jan. 14 to the 20, were announced by Harold Stegmiller of Central High School and Al McNulty of Western Newspaper Equipment Corporation, co-chairman of activities in Columbus.

On Jan. 11, prior to Printing Week, there will be a joint meeting-dinner of various graphic art groups at the Tai Lai Restaurant. Speaker for this meeting will be Dr. Harold Eiberling, Superintendent of Columbus Public Schools. His talk will be "Vocational Education in the Printing Industry."

Also during Printing Week there will be tours by the journalism and printing classes to various printing houses and newspapers including the Hartley Newspapers. There will also be a printing exhibit in the Gay-st windows of the former Roberts Store at Gay and High-sts prepared by the Vocational Printing Class of Central High School.

IT'S KNOTTING, REALLY!

"NO GETTING AROUND IT, the Dan Jacksons, 88 S. Westgate-av, really had a ball over the holidays—in fact, it's still in their living room. Last September Jackson [illegible] his brother-in-law, Otten Kaderly of Galloway, to give him "a small ball" of twine [illegible] from his hay baler. The Kaderlys evidently will go to any length to please. Following a family dinner the other night, they rolled this seven-foot, 100 pound ribbon bedecked ball through the Jackson front door. What to do with it? Mrs. Jackson, fit to be tied, quipped that the ball must leave the living room "soon."

Hilltop 'YM' Executive Is Named To Head Indiana Central Branch

By Betty Clary

Al Hollowell, executive secretary of the Hilltop YMCA for the past four and a half years, will move into a wider phase of the Y program next month.

His appointment as executive director of Central Branch, Indianapolis, Ind., was made this week. No successor has been named for the Hilltop post.

Al Hollowell

Viewing the promotion with mixed emotions, reluctant yet eager, Hollowell's regret at leaving the community, his friends and interests here, is tempered with the challenge of a higher position in the YMCA field.

Under Hollowell's direction, the Hilltop Y program has been multiplied in scope and influence.

Activities, formerly limited by the size and facilities of the old building at 2725 W. Broad-st, have been expanded in the new modern structure at 2879

Arrange Tribute To Hartley At 'Y' Annual Meet, Jan. 23

"A special spotlight is being reserved for someone at our YMCA annual meeting this year," Al Hollowell, executive director of the Hilltop "Y" branch, announced this week.

Hollowell disclosed that a recognition program will be held the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 23, for C. Carlton Hartley, immediate past chairman of the YMCA Board of Management.

The event will follow a 6:45 p.m. dinner at the Westinghouse Corporation, 300 Phillippi-rd. Several hundred 'Y'-active families and staff members are expected to attend.

Said Hollowell, "Mr. Hartley was one of the founders of the Hilltop 'Y' and has remained extremely active throughout its history. He served as chairman of the Hilltop Board for 13 years.

"He also served as a member of the Metropolitan YMCA Board of Directors and was the chairman of the first phase of the YM-YW Capital Funds Campaign. This program will afford the leaders and members of the Hilltop YMCA to say 'thank you' for his many accomplishments."

Meeting chairman and master of ceremonies will be William E. Jones, Howard Lloyd, nominations chairman, will conduct the annual election of members to the board.

Tickets ($1.75 for adults, $1.50 for children) may be obtained at the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr, or from any member of the board or Advisory Council.

First Year Completed By Council

Review, Reports, Election On Thursday Night Agenda

The West Side story — a success story — will be told Thursday evening, Jan. 11, at Gladden Community House.

It's the first annual meeting of the West Side Neighborhood Council . . . and if there were critics or skeptics a year ago when council was born, they'll be hard to find in the audience tomorrow night at 8.

Sam Alford, charter president, said he and his committee chairmen will have facts and figures to show what the active citizens' group is doing for the people.

Of special importance will be the report on the results of first-round talks between the WSNC Traffic Committee and the City Traffic Commission. Frank Schneider will recount the proposed traffic pattern changes and will report on current negotiations.

A. M. Wilder, field worker, urged everyone interested in the West Side to attend the town hall-like gathering. "Bring one or two of your neighbors," he suggested, adding, "Bring the youngsters, too. We'll have baby sitting service for them."

Final business of the evening will be the election of 1962 officers and area representatives. Bob McGuire will present the following nominations (one to be elected in each office):

Vice-president—Rev. Al Ross, 33 Chicago-av; Stanley Doran, 619 W. Town-st.

Representatives-at-large:

Chicago — Claud Jones, 186 Hayden-av; Louise Ampsaker, 145 N. Central-av.

Road, Park Sewers Top '62 Projects

SEWERS, DRAINAGE

Scioto Main Sanitary sewer (serving lower West Side, and perhaps eventually Upper Arlington and Hilliard), three parts, from near Williams-rd to McKinley-av and Harper-rd, $2.6 million $75,000 spent in 1961).

Big Run main trunk sewer, to Demorest and on to Kingford-rd, $850,000; and another section north to Sullivant-av, $350,000.

Expansion of South Scioto pumping station, ($15,000 spent on plans in 1961) rest of $245,000 to be allotted by 1963.

Central Avenue Underpass drainage, $75,000.

Dry Run Ditch relocating, Huron-av to west of Hague-av, $140,000 plus $10,000 spent in 1961.

PARKS

Purchase of 24 more acres for Clime-rd Park, $50,000. ($420,000 spent for 212 acres in 1961).

HIGHWAYS

Wilson-rd Extension, W. Broad-st, to Sullivant-av, engineering and land acquisition, $75,000.

Scheduled for 1963 is construction of a $10 million West Freeway from Sandusky-st Expressway to the west boundary of the city (eventually to go to West Jefferson).

Rev. A. L. Roth To Retire On June 1st

Rev. A. L. Roth, minister of Hillcrest Baptist Church for the past 13 years, has announced his intention of retiring from the pastorate on June 1.

Planned as a retirement from the duties of an administrative head of the church, not from the ministry, Rev. Roth expects to continue in his profession in a less strenuous capacity.

He has requested Hillcrest members to form a pulpit committee to secure a new pastor, and has volunteered his services as interim pastor in the event a new minister has not been found by June 1.

A minister for 43 years, he has served as pastor of five churches, including Hillcrest.

CENTRAL BOOSTERS CLUB

Central High School Boosters Club will meet Jan. 15, 7:30 p.m. in the school's main office. All parents and friends of Central are invited.

DOTTED LINE IN THE CENTER OF THE MAP INDICATES THE LOCATION OF THE PLANNED FIRST STEP IN CONSTRUCTION OF THE OUTERBELT.

Outerbelt Project To Begin In G. C. Area

The first major step in construction of the outerbelt that will circle Columbus will be taken soon, according to Fred Richardson, assistant chief engineer for the State Bureau of Location and Design.

Bids for a 2.7-mile segment in the southern part of the county will be let shortly, Richardson said. He explained that actual construction would begin soon thereafter.

The segment, which will connect I-71 northeast of Grove City with S. High-st just outside the Columbus city limits, will be the embryo of future construction. Work on the outerbelt will then progress northwest from I-71 and east from S. High.

To Cost $7 Million

Total cost of the initial project will be over $7 million with actual construction accounting for an estimated $6,032,000. Right-of-way costs were some $450,000.

Entire cost of the south-half of the outerbelt from U. S. Route 40 to State Route 317 will be over $30 million. Total length of this portion will be almost 25 miles.

The 2.7-mile length of freeway will span both the American Aggregate quarry and the Scioto River.

Elements for the first phase of construction have been secured and final plans are now in the process of being drawn, Richardson said.

Cloverleaf, Bridge Planned

The new construction will permit residents of the Grove City or Urbancrest area to enter the outerbelt which will have three lanes of traffic in each direction by means of a three-part cloverleaf from the southwestern freeway.

A similar cloverleaf will connect S. High and the outerbelt at the north end of the old Hartman farm.

A causeway, approximately 40 feet high, will cross the American Aggregate pit. A six-lane bridge, 628 feet long, will cross the Scioto. It will include 90-foot spans from each bank and four 112-foot spans in the center.

Old Route 104—Jackson-pk—running north and south just west of the river, will cross over the new freeway.

Meeting Sites Are Announced

Two meeting places were reported incorrectly in this newspaper last week. West Side Board of Trade election will be held following a 7 p.m. dinner Wednesday, Jan. 17, at Holiday Inn.

Presidents' Party of Hilltop Kiwanis Club will be held Thursday evening, Jan. 18, at Nationwide Inn.

premium paid in prior years for Workman's Compensation coverage.

Under the heading of "Flood Control," the unworkable Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District was replaced by the new Scioto Conservancy District and bids were taken in December of 1961 for the Scioto River Channel Improvement and Restoration.

Much needed work at the Port Columbus Airport was completed in 1961 and the Division of Electricity has a story all its own for the past year.

The division worked on six major projects, including installing 46 street lights on Main-st. from 18th-st to Alum Creek.

Six major tasks were handled by the Department of Public Utilities, most of them centering around bus service—reducing rates and increasing the size of the bus fleet.

The Division of Engineering and Construction rebuilt or resurfaced more than 150 miles of streets and alleys in the city.

Expressways took up a big part of 1961 (that story is told elsewhere in this Progress Edition) with much of the work so well started that 1962 completion is expected.

Westlake continued the administration's policy of "Selective Annexation," with approximately 983 acres annexed to the city. Activity ran big in the Urban Renewal projects, too, with Goodale Slum Clearance and Market-Mohawk District leading the list of five major tasks.

German Village was one of the prime targets of the City Planning Commission during 1961 along with a special duty adopted and now being put into effect for off-street parking for the Marion-Parsons business area.

The Division of Parks and Forestry, under Ray Dietz, added three parks to the city's system and the Public Lands and Buildings Department worked on floodlighting city hall and the safety building during the past year, along with five other projects.

The Recreation Department acquired Southview Park area land and purchased permanent seating for Schiller Park's music center, among other things.

The Fire Department completed No. 9 Engine House and dedicated No. 24 Engine House at Karl and Morse-rds last summer.

The municipal garage had a busy year converting from coal to gas, the Long Street Parking Garage's roof enclosure was completed and the Water Department headed a list of four projects with the completion of a 12-inch water main on Karl-rd.

The Sanitation Department purchased and placed into service 34 new packer-type refuse trucks and the Sewerage and Drainage Department completed Big Walnut suburunk sewer north and south of Main-st.

The Divisions of Fire and Police added patrolmen, conducted a "school" for baby sitters and continued home inspections for part of the year and new farm facilities were constructed through the utilization of local labor at the workhouse.

Housing and Building Inspection had an active year and improvements were made at the Columbus Zoo.

This is only part of the story, but it shows the big year 1961 was for the city. The 1962 story will, quite possibly, be longer.

In addition to the usual—planning and programming, refereeing games and occasional spats, supervising activities with a careful eye to safety, organizing and directing clubs and sports events, and always lending a sympathetic ear to a boy's confidence—he must also keep pace with growth.

A growing community and its expanding youth population, with the resulting need of an ever-increasing program, needed to be considered as the new building took shape.

Dedication of the structure Oct. 2, 1960, marked the real beginning, not the end, to program expansion.

Planned gym activities, basketball, softball, baseball and volleyball leagues in larger numbers, more crafts, classes, and the organization of new clubs soon followed.

A Hartley Newspaper Tribute To The Fellow They Call...

M. V. "Cap" Hoover

MILES V. 'CAP' HOOVER
Nearly a Legend

EDITOR'S NOTE: This week the editorial page in the Hartley Newspapers is devoted largely to telling the story of the life of one of Columbus' leading citizens, Miles V. "Cap" Hoover. Mr. Hoover retired from active participation with the South Side YMCA on Jan. 1. He will leave Columbus this month for a short trip to Florida and will return to his South Side home, 683 Stanley-av, in a few months to continue his aid to this city. Mr. Hoover typifies what can be done by one man in a community. He demonstrates civic pride in action and the good will works of his life warrant this tribute.

1946 "Y" Park Dedicated

1927 IN NOVA SCOTIA
Hunting Trip for Museum

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

There's a man living in South Columbus whose quietness has made more noise in the last couple of decades than all the area's soap box orators.

His name is Miles V. Hoover—but that's too formal. Too formal, at any rate, for a fellow like him. His name was shortened during his high school days to "Cap" and he has carried it all through life.

He says he was named "Cap" because he was captain of a basketball team at West High. He was a leader in high school but that activity was only an inkling of what was to come, what was to be produced by him for Columbus.

His life is living proof of what one man can do to stimulate his surroundings into betterment. He is an efficient organizer, a staunch leader, a rugged sportsman and, perhaps most important, a discoverer.

Retired Jan. 1 . .

"Cap" has retired, temporarily, from public life and from the job that gained him much local recognition — working with youth. He was executive secretary of the South Side Branch YMCA until Jan. 1.

They say that when a person surrounds himself with youth, he will remain young. Hoover will tell you there never was a truer statement.

Folks who know him claim that he'll remain ever young . . . that he'll forever keep his youthful, vital quality and his thirst for progressiveness and fresh ideas.

Although he is retired, the Hoover story doesn't end there. He'll be ready, willing and, above all, able to give aid to projects which urgently need his help . . . to give advice where advice is needed and to give moral support to programs on the "must" list in Columbus.

But, let's begin at the beginning.

Born On W. Town St. . .

"Cap" was born on W. Town-st and, as a youth, he attended Sullivant Elementary School (now housing the Columbus Board of Education) and is an alumnus of West High School.

This is when the "Cap" Hoover legend and magic began to take hold.

While at West he developed his deep interest in fellowship . . . organized associations with classmates and lifetime friendships.

He organized a group known as the MOWAC Club, the name comprising the first letter of each word—Men of West and Central (High Schools). The group was made up of young men from both schools who attended West Park Methodist Church.

The group became closer and closer and still manages to get together to this day and live among their memories for a few, brief hours.

After graduation, "Cap" attended Geneva College at Geneva, Wis., but never lost his love for Columbus. Perhaps it was this love that accounts for his tireless contributions to the city of his birth.

He found time to return home occasionally and attend the West Park Church and, for a time, was coach and captain of the basketball team.

After college, "Cap" worked for the next five years in the business world but was not satisfied. His heart was with the youth of this city and their problems, beliefs and need for guidance.

In 1922, he was asked to coach Pickerington High School's first basketball team.

Into Public Life . . .

One day he strolled into the YMCA and liked the surroundings. He thought it a friendly place and felt at home there. He was to feel at home there for the rest of his life.

In 1923 he joined the "Y" staff.

"I was filled with energy," Hoover said, "and all I asked was to have my energy guided—not slowed down."

It wasn't.

While with the "Y," he found time to work with junior high schools and officiated basketball in the local junior highs and refereed speed ball in the Franklin County high school leagues.

He was named president of the West High Alumni Assoc., and served in that capacity for four years. He organized the West Church Athletic Council and served as president of that group for three years.

Activities began to spiral.

For instance, he's a past member of the Agonis Club and member of the board of directors of that club for two years . . . for three years, he served as a member of the Shrine Patrol . . . in 1933 he provided volunteer leaders for the City Recreation Department playgrounds for the south and west sides of Columbus.

On And On And On And . . .

He kept joining and aiding. In 1925 he encouraged the City Recreation Department to purchase acreage at the Southwood School grounds . . . He was named the first chairman of the Columbus Recreation Department Commission and was successful in promoting an amendment to the City Recreation charter to remove the department of politics as much as humanly possible.

From 1943 to 1947 he served as a member of the Columbus Board of Education.

During World War II, he became chief air raid warden for zones 1, 2 and 3 and took charge of some 700 other wardens. In 1939, the Boy Scouts of America presented him with the Silver Beaver Award for his services.

And, if this list isn't impressive enough for you, consider these facts:

Started South Council . . .

The year was 1940 and "Cap" was to make history throughout the city in the next 365 days. It was this year that he organized the Council of South Side Organizations — a group which has fought for the good of the South Side in the ways that civic improvements must be fought for.

The CSSO has grown into an organization widely respected and, indeed, looked to for help in issues concerning not only the South Side but Columbus as a whole.

But, founding the Council was only a small activity of that year. He became chairman of the Franklin County Children's Building Commission and filled an unexpired term on the Child Welfare Board.

The year 1946 was busy, too. It was then that the South Side YMCA Park was dedicated on Rohr-rd, a project started by "Cap" in 1928.

In '46 he promoted the purchase of the Southview acreage to climax a campaign which took 15 years.

By this time, it seemed that all "Cap" needed to succeed was a plot of ground big enough to build a ball diamond or other recreational layout and a few youngsters.

He planned programs for youth and adults in religious, recreational and social clubs and, throughout the years, he worked through industries, churches, schools and community councils in the South Side for the betterment of the community and its citizens.

Traveled, Too . . .

"Cap" didn't confine all of his activities to Columbus, however, and found time to travel. In 1935 and again in 1939 he was a guest at the West Point Military Academy.

A few years ago he was the guest of former West Sider Col. Kenneth Kenerick and family in Hawaii. Col. Kenerick passed away in 1958 and Hoover, to keep the Kenerick name alive, founded the Kenerick Memorial Park at the South Side "Y" Park as a tribute to the distinguished military man.

He traveled in 1927, too, and went on a hunting expedition in Nova Scotia for the Ohio State Museum. Throughout the years, "Cap" has toured the rugged sections of this country with youths on hunting and fishing trips.

Key To His Success?

Hoover was filled with ideas. They were a combination of experience and imagination . . . with each succeeding one more superior.

Again and again one can discover clues to this man's life in the things he did. Almost everything he did was grounded with an abundant amount of common sense.

A list of all the things this man has done would go on and on. Many accomplishments have been left out here. In any case, of the many, many significant things this man has done for this city, none lacks interest for all people with any concern for Columbus and its well being.

"Cap" was fortunate enough to discover his "balance" at an early age and never really lost it. Essentially, he is a man who devoted his youth to youth and his later years also to youth. He believes that life is what one makes of it within the limitations of one's own sensibility and with the proper guidance.

He retained his capacity to implement this conviction.

He is living a "young" and vital life. He is, to a degree that few other civic leaders of Columbus have been, a discoverer.

It is because of all these things, and more, that Hartley Newspapers makes this tribute to a fellow named "Cap."

Starlings At Winter Feeders Can Try Patience Of The Best Of Bird Lovers

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROB COCHRAN

I've come to the conclusion that the smartest and craftiest bird that comes to our feeder is the starling. Both blue jays and cardinals are more wary and the red-bellied woodpecker stays for the shortest times as he gobbles bites of suet. But the starling is the smartest.

All birds are welcome at the feeder, but because starlings are aggressive and quarrelsome we try to drive them away periodically. It does not take them long to ignore hammering at the window. By opening and closing the window you can bluff them for a few more days, and then they lose interest in this [illegible].

Starlings also qualify as our peskiest bird. They irritate a lot of people. Millions of dollars have been spent to try to keep them off of large buildings, but because of their intelligence they give a hearty bird laugh to these attempts. Plenty of taxpayer money has gone into keeping starlings off public buildings in Washington and elsewhere, and few if any of these schemes have ever been successful.

People on the West Coast are just beginning to learn to live with starlings. Although the birds were introduced in New York City about 1890, it has taken nearly 70 years for them to spread throughout the country. Starlings are adaptable, hardy and willing to eat almost anything. Like the Norway rat, they seem destined to colonize the whole world.

To the average person, the starling is just another "blackbird." But starlings belong to a different family than the native blackbirds — grackles, cowbirds and their kin. Starlings has chunky bodies, short tails, long spikelike bills and their flight is swift and direct. Native blackbirds usually exhibit an undulating flight, rising and falling in its course.

If you can view them objectively, starlings are handsome in appearance. Their black plumage is sprinkled with light dots at this time of year. As spring approaches the dark bill becomes yellow and the feathers more uniformly dark and glossy and showing green and purple iridescence in bright light. Young starlings are dusky gray in late summer and early fall.

Roger Tory Peterson of the Audubon Society says the feeding habits of starlings are beneficial generally. Since starlings probe yards and fields with their long bills looking for food, they eat many worms, insects and larvae. In areas where the Japanese beetle is a problem, starlings are considered valuable in keeping their numbers down. It's a case of one pest thinning out another pest.

One of the most unusual things about starlings, to me at least, is their ability to imitate. They often give the call of other birds, and have been known to "wolf whistle" convincingly enough to turn girls' heads. They attain real mastery in imitating bobwhite quail, although I have never heard them give more than one "bob" in their call.

Well, the starlings are back at the feeder again. But if the Congress can't keep them off the Capitol, I might as well give up on the feeder.

STORY TIME, and a restful pause from more active play, is welcomed by three young charges of Mrs. Helen DiPietro at the Hilltop YWCA. Mrs. DiPietro conducts playschool at the YW for youngsters whose mothers are attending sessions in the planned programs for area women. The three tots are Beau, Mary Jane, and seated on the rocking horse, Sandy Rogers.

HILLTOP YW'S 'MISS HELEN' CAPTURES THE HEARTS OF HER YOUNG CHARGES

By Betty Daft

A babysitter with winning ways to young hearts is Mrs. Helen DiPietro of the Hilltop YWCA.

Proof of her success with the younger set is the usual rapid reversal of the situation —mothers who, at first, deposit their sometimes reluctant tots with Mrs. DiPietro soon find, on regular YW program days, the youngsters are most insistent on going.

One little boy even attended with a neighbor one day when his mother was ill.

"Miss Helen," as she is known to her young admirers, is on duty for all weekly YW programs, the YW Wives series each Wednesday morning, all day during "Tuesday at the Y," and Thursday morning for the "Fashion and Fitness" series.

Activities include a program of games, story time and a craft period. "Every child takes home something he has made," Mrs. DiPietro explained. "Even the little ones can draw a face or, with help, make something with paste and paper.

"They all keep busy. Each soon finds a little friend and they look for each other every week. There are toys and books of all kinds and, when the weather permits, we go outside for games or walks."

Cooking as well as kids occupy Mrs. DiPietro's interests. She won a Caloric gas range in the Central Ohio Food Show last fall for her entry of Princess cake with coffee-pecan filling and brown sugar frosting.

Mr. and Mrs. DiPietro are parents of one daughter, 11-year-old Toni, and the family lives at 4719 Annhurst-rd, Lincoln Village.

New 'Tuesday At Y' Series To Be Launched With Hobby Program, 'Faith Festival'

The fun and satisfaction of a joint husband-wife hobby that adds to the beauty of their home will be discussed by Mrs. R. J. Rogers during the morning opening program of the new "Tuesday At the Y" series, Jan. 16 at Hilltop YMCA, Valleyview-dr west of Hague-av.

Mrs. Rogers will use a rocker she is refinishing as a demonstration piece. Her husband has built much of the furniture in their home, and she finishes the work.

Rogers learned the art during his tour of duty with the Armed Forces, and Mrs. Rogers took a course in wood finishing during her freshman year at Little Rock (Ark.) University. She was later graduated from the University of Arkansas, College of Home Economics.

The series will include all features proven popular during the fall series.

A morning program will be followed by a gourmet luncheon and afternoon session, and a playschool will be in operation for young children. Anyone interested in more information may call Mary Miller, CA. 4-9121.

Featured at the gourmet luncheon planned by Mrs. R. B. Niswonger, will be an unusual vegetable soup with a bouillon base and homemade cheese wafers.

"Festivals of Faith," will be discussed by a panel during the afternoon program. Four women will each speak on her faith, explaining her church's festivals.

The panel will include Mrs. J. S. Resler, a past president of the Sisterhood of Temple Israel and a member of the board of Jewish Family Service.

Mrs. Alexander J. Glockner, who has done extensive work with the PTA groups in parochial schools and was formerly a member of the National Board of the National Council of Catholic Women, will speak of the festivals of her faith.

Greek Orthodox church will be represented by Mrs. Thomas L. Chase, a member of the Philanthropic Charities Board of the sixth diocese. This is a second year appointment by Bishop Siderius.

Mrs. Lowell Riley, a past president of the Women's Guild of First Community Church, and an active participant in the work of the United Church Women of Columbus and Franklin County, will discuss festivals celebrated by Protestantism.

CCL FEDERATION PLANS SESSION AT ART GALLERY

Columbus Federation of Child Conservation Leagues will meet Jan. 17 in the auditorium of the art gallery.

The executive board will meet at 9:15 a.m., followed by the general meeting at 10. Topic will be "Children-Present."

A musical program will be presented by Bexley Elementary, Crestview Junior High and Arlington Senior High students. Children are invited.

A baby sitting service will be available for the executive board meeting.

Mrs. Edwards To Host Glenwood CIC Class

CIC Class of Glenwood Methodist Church will meet Friday, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ruth Edwards, 479 N. Hague-av.

A Sports . . .
AUBLEGRAPH
BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Fun Poked At Upcoming Sports Year In Area . . .

It's that time of year again.

That time when we begin picking up the pieces of our New Year's resolutions that, somewhere along the way, have gotten shattered, smashed, broken, obliterated and otherwise forgotten about.

Don't cry.

There's still plenty to look forward to in '62. And, to make things brighter for local sports readers, here's what to look forward to in major sports circles around these parts for the next 365 days.

Since prognostication is, I'm sorry to say, not one of my virtues, chances are that this stroll into the future won't reveal anything tangible — but bear with me.

By sports activity, then, here's how it looks from here:

'Fight The Team . . .'

On the football scene in 1962, Marion-Franklin's Coach Ronald Mauller will be still waiting for his Christmas present — a win, just one win, any win.

Robert Jackson at South will pick up the nickname "Stonewall", tagged him by a Hartley Newspaper scribe and, with another year of age, will become a bit tougher—hoping that some of it will rub off on his players.

At Whitehall, Jim Bline will invent another training device (such as his "reminder" of a few seasons ago) which will help build his "dream team" which still won't give Eastmoor's Bob Stuart any non-league nightmares.

Walnut Ridge's Ralph Webster will be checking with another Webster to see what the meaning of the phrase "football field" is and then will hope that he gets to see a real, live one with lights, even.

Now Let's Dribble . . .

The District basketball tournament will go stronger than ever this year and Pepto-Bismol dispensers will be installed near refreshment stands for the benefit of local rooters.

Some clown will start a bit of a stink about basketballs being livelier than ever this year, not because they really are, just because it's something to talk about during the rest of the season.

Hockey? What About It?

Local hockey action will be held to a mimumium in 1962, mainly because there's a minimum of hockey arenas—if any.

Aublegraphing . . .

Milo-Roc Mendal A.C. will hold a round and square dance at the Elks Home, 1045 S. High-st, on Jan. 20 to help outfit local youngster teams with sporting equipment.

According to athletic director and trustee Tony Filichia, the affair may be highlighted by all of the 17 past presidents of the organization if the old-timers can be notified.

Connie Capretta, a local orchestra, will furnish music and costs are $1.50 per couple and $1 for a single admission.

Golden Glove Time . . .

The 1962 Golden Glove boxing tourney will open Monday, Feb. 5.

The popular event will be staged at the Old Memorial Hall on E. Broad-st.

Columbus will be represented by several Community Recreation Centers and other independent clubs.

Columbus boxers are urged to contact Sunshine, Thompson, Beatty, or Windsor Terrace recreation centers for training facilities. St. Stephens Community Center and the South Side Settlement House will also provide instruction.

Recreation, Paving Projects PlannedForValleyviewIn'62

By Mayor Norris Boothe

In Valleyview, the big accomplishment of last year was the paving of Eldon-av.

The project, which also involved some difficult drainage problems, cost the community some $8,000.

In all, over a block and a half received a hard surface for the first time.

During the coming year we have plans to build a basketball court for boys of the community at the park.

Also on tap during 1962 is another paving project.

We will put a new surface on either Murray-rd or Dibblee-av, depending on how much money the village has to spend.

If we have a large fund on hand, we'll pave Dibblee. If not, it will be Murray.

Olson Is Elected By Finance Firm

Wilfred J. Olsen, 2327 Dorchester-rd, was elected to the board of directors of Buckeye FinanCo Co. at an annual meeting held at 1248 W. Broad-st.

Sam Alford, president, announced that the board now consists of seven members: C. Richard Harbold, treasurer; William A. Burns, executive vice-president; Chet Long, vice-president; C. Milo Alford, secretary; Katie Shroyer; Alford, and Olsen.

Shareholders Get Report On Income

Operating revenues for the year ending Nov. 30, 1961 were $59,676,060, a gain of 4.3 per cent while operating expenses showed an increase of 4.7 per cent to $46,228,000.

TAILORED TO A 'T'

It's nice to be important, but it's just as important to be nice.

MEET KENNEDY

Two West High Reporters Get Real Scoop . . .!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A West High School lad will be scooping Ohio when his publication hits the streets on Jan. 22.

Thomas Baird, 333 Powhatan-av, decided last week that there might not be enough coverage of President Kennedy's trip here in honor of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, so he took matters into his own hands.

He arranged an interview.

Baird, along with a fellow student, Margaret Mays, 136 N. Chase-av, made all the necessary arrangements to get a front row seat at the birthday celebration dinner — they even got a little more than they bargained for.

Seated With Wheels . . .

Not only did the newshound twosome get a chance to talk with the President but, they told this paper Tuesday, they were wisked out of the regular press contingent and seated with Washington Press correspondents and Secret Service Agents.

Thomas Baird
. . . Not Every Kid

They were speechless.

So speechless, In fact ,that at Port Columbus, both had trouble finding the words when the interview was at hand.

Kennedy emerged from his private jet, jogged down the steps where he was greeted by DiSalle, and both strolled over toward the West High students.

"You look kind've young to be a photographer," Mr. President said to young Tom.

"Yes, Sir!" Tom replied, "I'm covering this for my high school paper."

Kennedy was hustled off by Secret Service men.

Still Got Story . . .

Minutes later Tom thought of a thousand questions he could've asked him, but didn't.

"I still think I've got a story," Baird told a Record reporter "It's not every kid who gets a chance to be in the Presidential press party."

In fact, both Tom and Margaret were the only high school students in the state to get the opportunity — complete with official press passes and all the necessary papers of veteran reporters.

"I'll never forget it," Tom said.

Does Tom's story make the front page of his paper, The Occident? "That I can't say," he said.

We rather think it will.

West Senior Banquet Set At Hillcrest

A trio consisting of Karen Theobold, Susan Kerr and Margaret Reynolds will highlight the entertainment at the West [illegible] School senior banquet Jan. 10 at Hillcrest Baptist Church.

The banquet is for those seniors who will be graduated this month and will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Emcee for the event will be Larry Maish.

Following is the program for the evening: blessing by Bob Jacobs; dinner followed with short talks given by David Randall, principal, and class president, Rich Rector; reading of superlatives by Billy Warner; entertainment by the trio; reading of the class prophecy by Joan Lorenz and Larry Maish followed with singing of West High Alma Mater by entire class.

Advisor for the event is Miss Jane Thomas while Larry Maish is in charge of entertainment and Jim Roberts will direct the decorating.

You heard, maybe, about the psychiatrist who has an inner-calm system in his office. — Kennedy.

Metropolitan Economy Displays Long-Term Growth Characteristics

By JAMES C. YOCUM
Professor of Business Research and Associate Director, Bureau of Business Research
The Ohio State University

In 1961, a year of recession and recovery, the economy of the Columbus metropolitan area demonstrated a relatively high degree of resistance to decline during the contraction of the cycle . . . and strength and vitality during the expansion phase that followed.

In 1961, despite recession, according to tabulations and estimates of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, the population of Franklin County rose to 716,116 from 682,962 at the April Census date in 1960 . . . over 18,000 births occurred in the County . . . the number of telephones increased 3½ per cent from 1960 . . . retail sales totaled $933 million, an increase of 3 per cent from 1960 . . . debits to accounts in all Columbus banks totaled $14.3 billion, a rise of 6 per cent.

The favorable long-term growth characteristics of Columbus area economy, both in actual performance over the past two decades, and in future potential, are well known. Efforts of the Industrial Development Department of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, of County and City officials, and others have brought new industries and businesses to the Columbus area, substantially enlarging its economic base, but changing its composition.

With greater industrialization the economy of an area is more prone to cyclical fluctuations. Columbus, however, seems to have taken its industrialization in stride even though a substantial part of the new industrial employment is involved in the manufacture of consumer durables, and therefore tends to be relatively cyclically sensitive.

Changes in some leading indicators of business activity in the contraction and recovery phases of the 1960-61 business cycle in the Columbus metropolitan area and in 7 other largest Ohio metropolitan areas provide a measure of the effect on and reaction to recession in the Columbus area. (The data are compiled monthly by the O.S.U. Bureau of Business Research).

THE 1960-61 RECESSION

Since World War II the United States economy has experienced 5 well-defined cyclical movements of contraction and expansion. The latest one is the relatively mild recession of 1960-61, which began after the peak level in May 1960 and reached its trough in February, 1961. The rest of 1961 was a period of business recovery which, although it lagged slightly in the third quarter, was enough to return the United States economy to pre-recession levels and to set some new historic highs.

Ohio, generally, has had about the same pattern of cyclical change as the United States. In 1960-61 the duration of the contraction was the same—9 months—in Ohio as in the United States . . . the cycle turning points were similar, although the downturn was slightly earlier in Ohio in some parts of the economy . . . the degree of contraction was somewhat greater in Ohio than in the United States in 1960-61, as in other recessions, because of the greater-than-average importance in Ohio of the more cyclically-sensitive durable goods industry.

The economic bases of the 8 largest Ohio metropolitan areas differ in composition and nature. Among the cities, therefore, there is considerable variation from the Ohio average in reaction to recession. Timing and duration of the contraction tend to be similar; the greatest disparities are in degree of change.

CONTRACTION PHASE REVIEWED

Comparisons of the declines, February 1960 (taken at the pre-recession "peak" instead of May 1960 because for most Ohio cities this was the peak month in manufacturing payrolls) to the February 1961 trough, in retail sales, number employed, automobile sales, total payrolls, and unemployment, indicate that Columbus ranks with Cincinnati and, in this recession, Dayton, as the Ohio cities most resistant to recession.

In retail sales, for example, the recession decline in Columbus was 2.2 per cent. Only Toledo with a 1.7 per cent decline, had a better showing. The decline in Cincinnati was 5.8 per cent, in Cleveland, 8.3 per cent, and in other cities ranged up to a high of 13.8 per cent in Canton.

In new automobile sales the recession declines were substantial in all cities. The number of cars sold dropped least, relatively, in Cincinnati where the decline was 22.1 per cent. Columbus, Toledo and Akron were close behind with 26 per cent, 25.9 per cent and

Approval Of 7.4-Mill Operating Levy Assures Bright Future For Schools

By DR. HAROLD H. EIBLING
Superintendent of the Columbus Public Schools

The year 1961 was a year of impressive growth for the Columbus Public Schools and a year marked by a critical educational decision on the part of the capital city's taxpayers.

As chief administrator of the Columbus Public Schools, I must mark as the highlight of 1961 the voters' expression of confidence in the job the Columbus Public Schools are doing in 131 buildings throughout the city. By passing the 7.4-mill operating levy on Nov. 7, the people of Columbus assured both the children in school now and the 12,000 to 15,000 additional children that we shall have within the next few years a program of education of the quality to which the city has become accustomed.

Because of the financial guarantees given us by the people during 1961, we of the administrative staff look forward to coming years with an increased dedication to bringing the people of Columbus and their children top educational returns for every dollar invested. In discussing a year past, there is sometimes a tendency to dwell upon cold impersonal statistics. Some of these statistics are indeed overwhelming. For example, Columbus Public School's total enrollment increased by more than 4,900 pupils during the year, reaching the amazing total of 88,544. To meet the instructional needs of these new pupils alone, your school system was forced to employ 160 professional teachers in addition to the 2,986 it employed one year earlier. At at average salary of $5,000, these 160 additional staff members represented an increase of more than three-quarters of a million dollars to annual expenditures.

Although figures are impressive, the significant forward strides of lasting importance to the children were found within the instructional program itself. In this area, experimentation and curriculum improvement continued to bolster the superior day-to-day instructional accomplishments of the staff.

During the past year . . .

• The entire mathematics program at both elementary and secondary levels underwent a thorough study and an entirely

Significant Church Growth Marked Throughout Year

By Dr. G. Weir Hartman,
Executive Director
Columbus Area Council of Churches

A significant year for the churches of the community, 1961 has witnessed continued expansion of buildings and facilities, a corresponding increase in the number and extent of services, and the most expansive interdenominational cooperation churches have ever achieved.

It also marked the 15th anniversary of the Columbus Area Council of Churches.

NEW CHURCHES

While much church work is unmeasurable, material expansion is indicative of other forms of growth. Four new buildings have been erected by congregations and dedicated within the year.

Five other churches have done extensive remodeling and added facilities for education and service activities. Ten new sites in strategic areas have been allocated by the Survey and Comity Committee of the Council, which means that new congregations will be established in those areas.

The most rapidly expanding areas are in the far north and east where most of these mission assignments have been made. In the metropolitan center community, there have been numerous relocations and changing of property due to inner-city changes and development of the freeways.

NSU

One major activity of the churches this year was the religious census of Columbus and the surrounding communities by 9,000 workers from 101 churches. Approximately 60 per cent of the homes were covered.

Results reveal that only eight per cent of the people have no church affiliations or preference. While not all of the 92 per cent are active members, they do have memberships or a strong enough preference to be stated. According to this standard, 69.5 per cent are Protestant, 19.5 per cent Roman Catholic, one per cent Jewish and .5 per cent other faiths.

Many thousands of new families were discovered for the churches. The largest denomination reported 16,000 families now known who were not known by the churches before the census.

NEW MEMBERS

Three congregations formally united with the Columbus Area Council of Churches, bringing to 145 the number of member churches of the council.

A GRAHAM CRUSADE

Plans for a possible Billy Graham crusade for Columbus were advanced. After two all-church meetings and a meeting with the Graham organization on the matter in late 1960, word was received that Dr. Graham would definitely come for a crusade in either 1963 or '64.

CHURCHES AND WELFARE

The response of the churches to welfare needs is noteworthy. For senior citizens' housing First Community Church announced plans for First Community Village in Upper Arlington and a few Presbyterian churches purchased Bristol Village at Waverly. These two units will add facilities for nearly 800 families or single persons in addition to the senior citizens housing plans announced last year by the Lutheran Welfare League.

Churches were also very active in attempting to aid the passage of the Welfare Levy on the ballot for the November election and in getting funds appropriated by the responsible government agencies for welfare.

A special committee is now

UNDERGROUND STORAGE
helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Huge, natural rock formations, thousands of feet underground in Ohio, are used by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company to store tremendous volumes of natural gas you need to heat your home in winter. These underground storage areas once contained supplies of "native" gas. This gas was used up several years ago. Now, gas piped to Ohio from Texas and Louisiana is pumped into the underground storage areas during summer. In winter it is withdrawn as needed to heat homes. On cold days as much as 55 per cent of the gas you use may come from storage. More than nine out of every 10 Ohio Fuel customers have gas for heating their homes today because of underground storage—another step in Ohio Fuel's constant program of progress to serve you.

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY

TWENTY-EIGHT DIAMETER PIPE is held in position after being laid on bottom of Olentangy River as part of $452,300 Ohio Fuel Gas Co pipeline project to deliver more natural gas to north Columbus, Hilliard, Upper Arlington and Worthington. This huge project, completed late in 1961, was the largest single construction job by Ohio Fuel in the greater Columbus area during the year. River crossing, east of Siemmons Gardens and west of Fenway-rd was completed in three days. Each weight used on the 400-foot pipeline section weighed 2,000 pounds.

186,539 Customers In County Now Served By Ohio Fuel Gas

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. invested $2,200,000 for pipeline construction and other improvements in Columbus and Franklin County in 1961 as part of its continuing effort to expand and improve natural gas service and increase operating efficiency, according to Wilbur T. Collins, Ohio Fuel Central District manager.

The company built 86 miles of new pipelines and extended gas service to 4,537 new customers in the area during the year, Collins said.

Coupled with these construction expenditures, Ohio Fuel utilizes the newest scientific devices and latest engineering techniques to bring the advantages of modern gas service to its customers, Collins said. As a result, he pointed out, Ohio Fuel now provides the comfort, convenience and economy of efficient gas service to 186,539 homes, commercial establishments and industries in the county.

Major pipeline projects completed in the greater Columbus area in 1961 included:

Upper Arlington and Worthington area supply line, $460,000.

Replacement of Hilliard supply line, $57,000.

Extension of service to new Knolls subdivision in Northwest Columbus, $27,000.

Extension to serve Forest Park Subdivision in Northwest Columbus, $23,000.

New lines to serve Huber Ridge Subdivision, near Westerville, $22,000.

Extension of service to new Walnut Ridge High School, Southeast Columbus, $14,300.

Extensions to serve Kipling Forest Addition in Northwest Columbus, $10,000.

Technology again figured prominently in all phases of the gas company's operations during 1961, Collins said. Ohio Fuel and its parent corporation, the Columbia Gas System, are conducting a continual search for more efficient and more economical methods of operation that will continue to assure customers the best possible gas service at the lowest possible cost.

The company continued to develop its underground storage facilities during the year. Underground storage, developed over the years at a cost of $61,000,000, makes it possible for Ohio Fuel to meet the tremendous winter gas needs of its customers at rates that are among the lowest in the nation.

Huge natural rock formations, thousands of feet underground in Ohio, are used by Ohio Fuel to store natural gas.

These underground storage areas once contained supplies of "native" gas which was used up several years ago. Now gas piped to Ohio from Texas and Louisiana is pumped into the underground storage areas during summer. In winter it is withdrawn as needed to heat homes.

Ninety-four per cent of Ohio Fuel's customers in the greater Columbus area now use natural gas for heating, Collins said.

In addition to underground storage, Collins cited wider use of automatic town border stations, plastic and aluminum pipe, remote control of transmission facilities, automatic billing equipment, compact cars for company travel as other primary factors that are contributing to increased economy and efficiency.

By looking at an exposed soil profile, such as a side of an open pit, you can determine much about the past history and probably future of the surrounding area, according to agronomists.

Producers Livestock Assn. '61 Sales Total $120 Million

The 78,000 livestock farmers in Ohio and portions of neighboring states who own and operate Producers Livestock Association, in 1961 sold approximately two and one-half million head of livestock for more than $120 million through the association, according to Gerald L. Hiller, 3233 El Paso-dr, who is secretary-treasurer and general manager.

The association maintains headquarters at 1561 Leonard-av and operates 15 branches in Ohio and three in Indiana.

The Ohio branches are at Cleveland with three sub-branches, Findlay, Wapakoneta and Washington C.H. with two sub-branches each; Columbus with three sub-branches, and Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Marion, Mt. Vernon, Coshocton, Greenville, Lancaster, Wilmington, Chillicothe and Hicksville.

Producers also operate a credit association which last year made loans totaling about two and one-half million; an order buying subsidiary, and a swine improvement association. It is one of the owners of the 45-store P and C Food Market chain in New York State.

Through the first 11 months of 1961 the 18 branch markets and the order buying company handled 2,273,961 head of livestock, a gain of more than 100,000 over the same period the previous year, Hiller reported. Headage in the 11 months consisted of 336,984 cattle, 83,501 veal calves, 1,125,892 hogs and 717614 sheep and lambs.

Gerald L. Hiller

Producers sold a large number of livestock on grade during 1961 the manager's report shows. Hogs are graded daily at most of the local markets and the top grade brings about $1 per head more than average hogs. The markets at Chillicothe, Coshocton and Lancaster hold a number of special graded feeder calf sales for calf improvement associations, and feeder pig auctions for pig improvement units.

Lester J. Utz of New Washington, O., is president of the 78,000 - member association, Leonard Yochum, Sabina, is first vice-president, and William Hoewischer of Sidney, second vice-president.

Orkin Expands To 44 Offices

During the past year, Orkin Exterminators, located in 39 states and the District of Columbia, expanded to 44 offices. Locally, the firm's offices are at 2289 W. Broad-st.

Orkin, the world's largest pest control company, is the only company engaged exclusively in pest control and termite control whose stock is publicly owned and nationally traded.

Net revenue and profits of the company for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, were highest in the firm's history. Net profit was $2,434,091, representing a 37 per cent increase over the previous year, Sanford H. Orkin, president, reported.

Date Is Set For 'Aircade' In Columbus

The sixth annual "Aircade for Citizenship Action" — one of a coast-to-coast series of 15 meetings sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States — will be held in Columbus, March 1, the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce announced.

This city is one of 15 key cities in the nation selected as a location for the one-a-day meetings which will center on discussions of vital issues before Congress, and the people.

The National Chamber's Aircade Meetings are so named because they encompass a series of cross-country chartered airplane flights to and from the various meeting sites by a team of National Chamber officers, committeemen and staff specialists.

The National Chamber believes that by attending the Aircade Meetings, business and community leaders and all other citizens will derive the following benefits:

—A first-hand, meaningful picture of what is happening in Congress.

—Background information on legislative proposals, and the strategems of proponents and opponents on these proposals.

—Advice on how to work more closely with Congressmen and Senators to make an individual's views felt more effectively in Washington.

—Information on how a citizen can build impact on the national scene.

Savings Earnings Set Mark In '61

Ohio's savings and loan associations distributed a record total of more than $125 million in earnings on savings accounts to thousands of Ohioans at the end of 1961.

Joseph E. Linville, executive secretary of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, said the 575 savings and loan associations distributed another $117 million in savings account earnings on July 1.

The combined total of $242 million is the largest sum ever paid by Ohio savings and loans in one year, Linville pointed out.

Central Ohio Scouts Interest Centers On '62 Camp Building

By Craig M. Weaver
Hartley Newspapers
Scouting Editor

The year 1962 will be an outstanding one for American scouting, now in its 52nd year, but more especially here in the Central Ohio Council.

Council-wide enthusiasm, encompassing nine central Ohio counties, is centered on fund raising, and the rebuilding and construction of old and new camps operated by the council.

New Camp Planned

In a campaign presently being conducted, the Central Ohio Council is raising money to establish a new long-term camp called Greenhills, near Logan. Efforts will be started this year to establish two sections of this camp for which $490,000 has been allocated.

A central service area for Camp Greenhills will be built and will contain ranger's cabin, service roads, storage and maintenance buildings, and electrical service. Two sections, almost identical, will each provide for 12 to 14 troops at one time.

Each section will include a rifle range, swimming pool, chapel, small lake, campfire circle, director's cabin, and a central showerhouse. The sections will then be broken up into troop campsites each with the necessities for tent camping. The two sections and a central service area will not crowd the camp and there will be plenty of just plain woods in the 1,128-acre camp.

Lazarus Renovation

Besides starting the fine new camp there will be the task in 1962 of renovating Camp Lazarus, near Delaware, which has served the council for almost 50 years. For 10 years Camp Lazarus has been inadequate to serve the camping needs of the 8,765 Scouts and Explorers of this area, according to the National Council.

It has a safe capacity of 2,000 Scouts, which is a small percentage of the number of Scouts who should be using the camp at any weekend in the school year, and at any given time in the summer.

Some of the facilities which are to be rebuilt or repaired will be the electrical system, water system, boat docks, septic tanks, swimming pool and health lodge. Some of the new projects are dining lodge, storage buildings, water tank, entrance gate, ranger's cabin, service roads, and a rifle range.

To accomplish the repairs and new building at Camp Lazarus and bring the camp up to present camping standards, $245,000 of the funds to be raised in the campaign is being allocated. Another portion will be spent for minor improvements of the council's five short-term camps.

TRANSPORT GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Economy—

25.7 per cent declines, respectively. In other Ohio city areas automobiles sales declines ranged up to 42.3 per cent in Canton and 46.3 per cent in Youngstown.

In number employed, the recession drop was 9.0 per cent in Columbus. Only Dayton showed a smaller decline — 5.9 per cent. In Cincinnati employment decline dropped 9.2 per cent; in all other cities the decline was 12.2 per cent (Akron) to 17.6 per cent (Canton).

In the increase in unemployment in the 1960-61 recession, Columbus had a substantially better record than any other of the eight largest Ohio metropolitan areas. In Columbus unemployment increased only 54.7 per cent, February 1960 to February 1961; the next best showing was in Cincinnati where unemployment increased 78.5 per cent. In the other six Ohio cities unemployment increased from 101.4 per cent in Dayton to 276.9 per cent in Youngstown during the recession period.

In total payrolls, Columbus also showed better-than-average stability. Columbus payrolls dropped 9.0 per cent, peak to trough; Dayton payrolls declined 6.7 per cent over the same period; Cincinnati, 9.4 per cent; Toledo, 13.3 per cent. In other Ohio cities the payrolls decline ranged from 15.8 per cent in Akron to 24.4 per cent in Canton.

Expansion Phase of the 1960-61 Cycle to Date

To October 1961, compared with pre-recession October 1959 (to eliminate effects of seasonal variation), Columbus made a better recovery showing, all measures considered, than any other Ohio city.

By October 1961, retail sales were 98.7 per cent of pre-recession October 1959 in Columbus, compared with 93.7 "per cent recovery" in Cincinnati, 94.1 per cent in Toledo. In Youngstown, October 1961 retail sales were 99.2 per cent of October 1959 levels, but the comparisons here and in Canton are complicated by the 1959 steel work stoppage.

In number employed, October 1961 was 98.6 per cent of the pre-recession October 1959 in Columbus compared with 97.3 per cent (Akron) to 96.2 per cent (Cleveland) in all other cities except Youngstown and Canton. In these cities again the comparisons are vitiated by the 1959 steel strike.

In reduction in unemployment from the trough, February 1961, to October 1961, Columbus is slightly ahead of other cities. Unemployment at the trough was cut 68.8 per cent by October 1961 in Columbus . . . compared with reductions of 67.3 and 67.2 per cent in Canton and Youngstown and 66.4 per cent in Dayton and Akron, and 59.1 to 57.5 per cent declines in other cities.

This analysis indicates that in the relatively mild 1960-61 recession Columbus compares favorably with other Ohio cities in cyclical stability. A similar analysis made earlier of the 1957-58 recession indicated that in that recession, also, the Columbus area economy was among the leaders in the Ohio cities in cyclical stability and vitality.

Regional Planning Board Plans Promise Heavy Schedule In 1962

If you happen to drive past the Franklin County Regional Planning Board's new building at 514 S. High-st, don't be surprised if the folks inside look a little underfed.

They have good reason. In fact, it's probably the only office in the city that doesn't know what a coffee break is. They hardly have time to take a lunch hour.

The RPC folks have been busy during 1961 and the schedule for 1962 looks so busy that they are planning to do most of their eating during the holidays.

Important projects affecting the Hartley Newspapers areas include, among others, according to Director Harmon Merwin:

- Land-use studies.
- Projects and studies concerning water.
- Thoroughfare and freeway work, and
- Map making.

"Land-use studies highlighted 1961 (and will be continued in 1962) by the planners who have done studies on such things as vacant lots in and around the county.

"We want to find out why the lots are vacant and a bit more about them," Merwin commented at the close of this year.

Most of the work done this year was on a regional basis, but work in and around the county area wasn't neglected—by any stretch of the imagination.

For instance, much county zoning work was completed. A comprehensive plan was prepared for Worthington and Canal Winchester and an "annexation study" was done for Winchester to give that village some guide lines as to annexation feasibility.

The commission strives to coordinate activities between city and regional staffs to prevent overlapping of work, Merwin added.

For one thing, maps have been made relative to the use of water which marks all the existing reservoirs, dikes, storm and sanitary sewers.

All information relative to the use of water will be coordinated with the Franklin County Regional Water Committee for a complete study of available facilities and future work along these lines.

A new regional base map has been completed which includes all of Franklin County, plus five miles in each direction outside of the county lines.

The first map has all the major streams, county lines and railroads while another has the freeways and major state highways. The commission is planning a third map to include all of the large regional facilities like airports, major parks and other significant institutional grounds, in connection with the land-use program.

This land-use idea has been broken down by Merwin and his staff into sections for speedier studying. For example, Arlington, Grandview and Marbleciff are all in a general area and that land is being studied as a "package deal."

"There are some areas," said Merwin, "which have to be dealt with individually, such as the southwestern part of the county which is different in that it is wooded and rolling."

The RPC staff also spent much of 1961 studying outerbelts and possible considerations of Rt. 161 in relation to it.

To helps with the work, two staff members were added last year, including associate planners Chuck Taylor and Richard Townsend.

"We'll really need them for 1962," Merwin said. "We're looking forward to an even bigger year then—and we're sure that we'll accomplish even more."

Ohio Population Report Is Issued By Ted Brown

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has completed the distribution to county officials copies of one of the newest publications compiled by his office, the "Ohio Population Report."

The 203-page book is based on 1960 federal census reports and contains various types of "breakdowns" of these figures, as well as maps and charts.

As compared to Census Reports of past years the Population Report is in standard size and contains many new features including maps, showing townships and other subdivisions; a brief history of the establishment of each county in Ohio; land and water areas by counties.

While the 1960 population figures were made known earlier this year and there have been "piece-meal" reports given out by various agencies during the year, the Population Report is a comprehensive compilation of all facts and figures in one volume.

IQ Tests Usual

More than 90 per cent of Ohio's secondary schools report using intelligence tests as a regular part of their programs, according to a recent Ohio State University publication. More than 40 per cent of the schools said that pupils and their parents have "little or no access" to the test findings.

Multi-Million Dollar Hospital Expansion Here Is Completed

By GRANT A. DRENNEN
Assistant Director,
Columbus Hospital Federation

The past year, 1961, saw the completion of a five-year, multi-million dollar hospital expansion program in Columbus; plans for a West Side satellite hospital, and completion of the of the ninth floor at Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Riverside Hospital moved into its new location on Olentangy River-rd on April 10, and has had a very high occupancy rate since then.

The Planning Committee of the Columbus Hospital Federation approved the immediate completion of the ninth floor when it became apparent that the 412 beds were insufficient to meet the demand at the new hospital. The ninth floor had been roughed in with the intention of completing it at a later date, bringing the hospital to a capacity of 500 beds by late 1962.

Grant Hospital moved into its new skyscraper facility on Labor Day weekend, placing 500 modern hospital beds in service. This hospital, too, has been crowded since its opening day.

On Oct. 29, Mt. Carmel Hospital dedicated its new Holy Cross Pavilion with 56 neuropsychiatric beds and extensive out-patient clinic facilities, bringing Mt. Carmel to 483 beds.

Children's Hospital expanded to 334 beds, but delayed the remodeling of an additional 66 bed section because of an apparent decline in the admission of patients under 17 years of age.

During November, there were 3882 general hospital beds available to the people of Franklin County compared with 2,264 in September, 1954. These beds were being utilized at a rate of 80.9 per cent occupancy, just 2.4 per cent below the optimum rate. During this time, beds other than those used for pediatrics and maternity were being utilized at the high rate of 88.2 per cent.

Studies are being made at the present time to determine the best method of reducing the over-loading of medical-surgical beds. Most hospitals have a waiting list for elective surgery despite vacancies in sections which can be used only for maternity purposes.

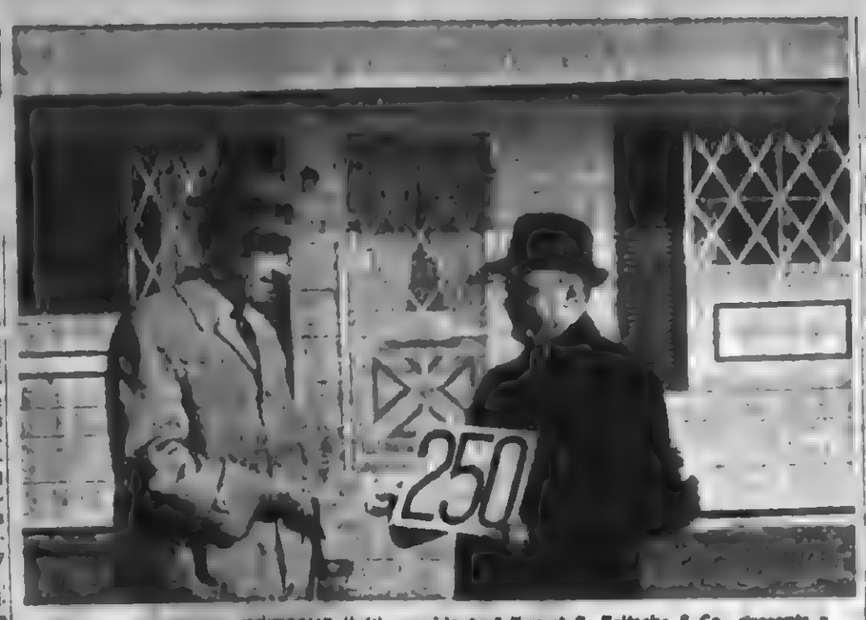
The 2,882 beds in the general hospitals represent 4.06 beds per 1000 population in the Columbus Metropolitan Area. If the population continues to increase at its present rate, planning officials estimate that 80 to 100 additional hospital beds will be needed each year.

The Planning Committee of the Columbus Hospital Federation has approved the construction of Doctors Hospital West, a satellite hospital of 70 beds, near Lincoln Village on W. Broad-st. This hospital will provide emergency room service, medical and surgical facilities, diagnostic facilities and out-patient services. The more complicated cases will be transferred to Doctors Hospital, Dennison and Third-ave. Construction is expected to begin as soon as weather permits.

Conversion to Research

Portions of the Town Street Section of Old Grant Hospital are now being converted. The Medical Education Foundation of Grant Hospital received a research grant to investigate steroid chemistry and its relation to cancer. Laboratories in the old building are being converted to house this project. Further conversion of the building for patient care is being delayed until the results of a Chronic Disease Study are completed.

The old White Cross Hospital plant at 700 N. Park-st also is being held in reserve until the best and most economical use can be determined. If the need for acute general beds is not critical, the plant can be converted to a chronic care hospital much more economically, and the cost of hospitalization there could be held to a minimum. A hospital of 200 to 225 beds will be maintained there when the type of service is determined.



Conversion of portions of Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital for use in the care of chronic disease patients was delayed by the failure of the levy for that purpose in November. The decrease in the number of tuberculosis patients has resulted in a large number of vacant beds at the county hospital. Studies indicated that these could best be converted for the care of patients suffering from chronic diseases. It is hoped that this may be accomplished in 1962.

A new Rehabilitation Hospital was dedicated on the Ohio State University campus in 1961. This hospital specializes in the rehabilitation of persons suffering from chronic diseases or from disabling accidents. Operated by the University Health Center, it provides another patient care service for the people of Columbus and the surrounding area.

While there are many problems yet unsolved in the field of patient care, 1961 brought into realization many new facilities for the treatment and care of the sick and injured. The problem of financing payment for the care of the indigent patient remains a serious dilemma. City and county officials are working with hospital administrators in an attempt to find a solution. If governmental and social agencies cannot pay for this care, the burden falls back upon the paying patient or his insurance carrier.

Every effort is being made to find more efficient methods of providing patient care, but the increasing demand for hospital care and advances in medical science continue to push costs up. People are alive today, and many who would have been hopeless cripples a few years ago have been restored to productive living because of these advances in medical science.

Franklin County has been extremely fortunate in having the extreme cooperation of medical and hospital people working to produce a modern hospital system for the benefit of all its citizens. The year 1962 should see even greater progress in the field of patient care.

ERNEST G. FRITSCHE (left), president of Ernest G. Fritsche & Co., presents a special $9.95 certificate to Harold G. Gockenbach, Jr., president of Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Assn., who holds a sign marking sale of the 250th home involving that low sum as a down payment.

Celebrate Sale Of 250th Home On Fritsche-Dollar Federal Plan

A little less than ten months after starting a new type of home equity program involving a down payment of only $9.95, Ernest G. Fritsche & Co. is celebrating the sale of its 250th home involving the unusual financing.

Almost $3 million has been loaned under the plan by Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association to home buyers in Fritsche's Holly Hills community in the Sullivant-av. area.

Here is how the equity program works. The home buyer agrees to perform certain non-technical labor equal to the value of the down payment.

He obtains an FHA-insured mortgage through Dollar Federal and puts down only $9.95 to cover the cost of insurance.

Typical of the non-skilled, do-it-yourself talents a home buyer can supply are purchasing and applying paint to interior and exterior surfaces, purchasing and applying seed and mulch to the yard, planting shrubs provided by Fritsche Co. and laying the stepping stones, also supplied by the builder.

The program was initiated last Feb. 26, after Ernest G. Fritsche returned from Oklahoma where he investigated the success of a similar program there. Fritsche contacted Harold G. Gockenbach, Jr., president of Dollar Federal, and the men worked out the financing plan. The prospective home buyer first qualified with FHA and Dollar Federal and secured his mortgage before the first shovelful of earth was turned on his house.

To what type of individual does this partial do-it-yourself style of home ownership appeal?

Some statistics worked out by Dollar Federal are most revealing.

Out of the first 187 applicants there were 75 different occupations including salesmen, engineers, laborers, school teachers, police officers, postal employees and a doctor. Almost one-fourth of the applicants were in the 25-29 age group with the 20-24 and 30-34 age groups finishing second and third.

Approximately 200 of the homes purchased under this agreement have already been completed and occupied. Most of the outside work was accomplished during the summer months.

In many cases families, friends and neighbors banded together to form a large labor force that worked on many homes, providing the new owners with a sense of community feeling and "pioneering spirit" that will remain a warm memory for years to come.

Thus for a $10 bill and a nickel change and a little easily managed sweat from eager brows, there are 250 new homeowners in Columbus. The Ernest G. Fritsche Co. and Dollar Federal are delighted with the results and plan to continue the program in Fritsche's other communities.

Projects Slated For 1962 Stir C. of C. Optimism

The year 1961 was relatively stable, with advancing trends in many areas of the local business scene. There were propitious happenings, and there were adverse happenings too, but all-in-all the picture at year-end and going into 1962 looks favorable, the Columbus area Chamber of Commerce said in an optimistic summary.

Building permit activity and plans for the coming year indicate an upward trend in construction, the chamber asserted. In the immediate future, it expects the beginning of such projects as the Christopher Inn; the City National Bank Operations Center; the Doctors Hospital branch; the Port Columbus motel; the medical building adjacent to Mt. Carmel Hospital; the Woolco store in Great Southern Shopping Center; and downtown building remodelings, new churches and much housing construction.

Retail Merchants Foresee New Highs In Sales

By P. D. Hale, Manager
Retail Merchants Association

Columbus retailing is entering the new year in the midst of a good business upturn.

Federal Reserve Bank figures show that local department and specialty stores surpassed their business for the four weeks of holiday shopping ending Dec. 23 by 8 per cent and over the 12-month period of 1961, sales were greater than in 1960 by 4 per cent.

By way of comparison, this figure is also 3 per cent greater than the gain for the entire Fourth Federal Reserve District, and is 1 per cent greater than the gain registered for the the country as a whole.

Figures and estimates from the Bureau of Business Research of Ohio State University would indicate that other types make gains in volume. The bureau study also shows that for the first 10 months of 1961 Columbus was the only city in the state to show any gain in sales. This fine record is good not only for the merchants but for the community as a whole, for it means continued high employment, large purchase of supplies, and large tax payments on the part of merchants.

The record is the result of several factors — merchandising skill, increased population, increase in number of outlets, greater income and general community growth and development. Merchants are proud to be a part of, and to have contributed to this growth.

There can be little doubt that people again are spending money. Many of the expert forecasters feel that the momentum ga[illegible] through the [illegible] months of 1[illegible] well over into the new year.

The local market will, in my opinion, continue to expand. New and expanding stores, merchandising and service policies that please the customer, increasing population and income, and sound consumer credit will all contribute to this expansion. Too, added government spending, and business and industrial expansion will still further insure a continuing growth throughout 1962.

Perhaps as good a summation of 1962 prospects as is possible was made by Presidential Advisor Walter Heller when he said—"Good times—new highs in business activity—record profits, and some headaches, too".

Barring unforeseen contingencies, the mercantile industry of Columbus should be able to surpass its 1961 record and establish a new high in sales volume in 1962.

Violation Crack-Down Is Slated

Increased enforcement of speed and stop sign violations on both Broad-st and W. Mound-st between the hours of 3 to 11 p.m. will be made by city policemen, according to an announcement of the Columbus Traffic Bureau.

On a city-wide basis police listed 981 accidents and 711 hazardous moving violation arrests recorded during the 15-day period of Dec. 16 through Dec. 31, 1961.

Of these accidents, 19 involved pedestrians, seven of whom were under 10 years of age. In addition to these arrests, radar units cited 231 hazardous moving violators.

ANSWERS THE

$9.95 QUESTION

Q. How is it possible to buy a quality home for only $9.95 down?

A: With the Ernest G. Fritsche Plan, you agree to handle certain of the finishing-up tasks on your home. Your work, plus the cost of the few materials required, takes the place of the normal down payment.

Q: What if I'm not handy with tools . . . or don't have lots of free time?

A. There's no carpentry, plumbing or electrical work . . . only things like painting and planting. Most people finish in three weekends.

Q: Is this some kind of land contract, or is there a second mortgage?

A. Absolutely not. You get prompt title to both house and lot with a single, FHA-insured mortgage based on standard financing and lowest possible monthly payments. Mortgages are placed through Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association of Columbus.

Q: How many people used the $9.95 plan?

A. So far, 250 Ernest G. Fritsche homes have been purchased for $9.95.

Q: Is this plan mainly for people who couldn't afford to buy a home with a regular down payment?

A. No. The purpose is to enable responsible families to have quality homes without waiting, and without emptying their savings accounts.

Q: Are Fritsche homes really quality built?

A. Every Fritsche home is built with the finest materials to meet or exceed requirements for FHA-insured home mortgages.

Q: What types of homes are available?

A: Included are ranches, split levels, bi-levels and two-story homes . . . some with as many as five bedrooms.

100 NEW BUSES IN 5½ YEARS

Eight new buses put into service in December 1961 brought to 100 the number of motor coaches purchased by Columbus Transit Company since July 1, 1956—date of the beginning of the franchise with the City of Columbus. That's a $2,569,126 investment in Columbus' future as well as progress for mass transportation, so vital to the community's prosperity.

established to make a study of the whole relief situation with the hope of establishing a plan of action to meet the welfare crisis in our community.

UNITY

Christian unity was a major concern of the churches this year. Many local congregations of the Episcopal, United Presbyterian, Methodist and United Church of Christ gave special attention to the famous Blake-Pike proposal for church union.

Awareness of our relationship to the world Christian community was fostered when five prominent churchmen from Columbus attended the sessions of the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches. They included a Methodist, a United Presbyterian, two American Lutherans and one from the Community Churches. There are 262 congregations in Columbus and Franklin County whose denominations belong to the World Body and 231 congregations whose denominations belong to the National Council of Churches. These churches embrace 118,000 persons.

DAY OF PRAYER SERVICE

The largest event held during the year was the first united service observing the 76th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer. The event was held in Veterans Memorial Auditorium Friday, Feb. 17, with Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., as speaker. Nearly 3,000 people were in attendance.

COUNSELLING CENTER

The program of the Community Counselling Center was expanded with the appointment of Rev. Arthur Witherspoon as director-counsellor. The center is open several days a week by appointment, and anyone is welcome to call for an appointment. The center will take any kind of problem which persons have and in case of need for further counselling, will refer persons to specialists in different fields of competence.

RELIEF

During the year, many tons of relief materials and clothing were contributed by the churches for world relief. Through the center at the Council of Churches, 135 N. Front-st, five and one-third tons were collected and sent to Church World Service. In addition, Lutheran churches collected and sent one railroad car load of clothing, plus what was given to local relief through such organizations as Goodwill Industries, Salvation Army and Volunteers of America.

One noticeable aspect of the church's emphasis is the increasing recognition of relief as a permanent and necessary role of the church in this century.

Schools—

new sequence of courses was adopted.

- A system-side program of grouping for quality learning at four separate levels of achievement was formulated.
- Experimental programs were begun in physics, mathematics, chemistry, consumer economics, and notehand.
- Instruction with programmed learning materials was begun in the areas of mathematics, language enrichment, electricity, Spanish, Russian and English.
- A team-teaching approach was tried in the area of history.
- Study committees were formed to evaluate current practices and modern approaches in the areas of language arts, social studies, and foreign language.
- Agreements booklets, which give purpose and direction and eliminate needless repetition, were published and distributed to all elementary and junior high teachers. Work on a senior-high agreements booklet was begun.
- Thousands of dollars were spent to replace outmoded textbooks and supply these free textbooks to the new pupils enrolled.
- Educational television was modified and enlarged to supplement the regular instructional program.
- Pupil-teacher ratios were held at their current adequate levels.
- An adult re-training program was inaugurated.

While instruction was the most important area of progress during the year 1961, finding, building, and adding the classrooms made necessary by unprecedented increases in enrollments was another top priority item. As part of the five-year, $29,850,000 building program approved by voters in 1959, the Board of Education sold $7,000,000 in bonds to meet these physical needs. From this sale of bonds, there materialized six elementary schools — Woodcrest, Watkins, Alum Crest, Sixth Avenue, Walford and Calumet. Construction of one senior high school, Brookhaven, was started in the northeast area of the city; and two new high schools, Whetstone and Walnut Ridge, were opened.

Also during 1961, additions of from two to eight classrooms were constructed at eight elementary schools and an eight-classroom addition was added at a junior high school. A dozen older schools throughout the city benefited by remodeling. Six sites were expanded and many new sites for future construction were purchased.

Looking forward to 1962, the people of Columbus can be assured that their educational program will be just as strong as it always has been and that curriculum improvements will continue to be made wherever and whenever weaknesses are objectively determined.

The national reputation that the Columbus Public Schools have established in economical and functional school instruction will also continue untarnished we feel sure. Planned for the coming year are a junior high school on the east side, a junior high school on the south side (to be opened in September, 1962), an elementary school, on near northeast side, two new elementary schools north, an elementary school in the east side area, an elementary school in the far east side, and an elementary school in the northeast area. Also to be accomplished during 1962 are the building of additions at Johnson Park Junior High, East High, Indianola Junior High, McGuffey (which will be converted from an elementary to a elementary-junior high), Dana Elementary, and Shepard Elementary. Remodeling projects will be undertaken at two senior high schools and five elementary schools.

Local Business Trend Accelerated

By JOHN J. MACKIN
Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce

The year 1961 has been one of accelerating business activity. A great part of it came as a result of the growth of the population in this Franklin County area.

The population of Franklin County, now estimated at 716,116 as of Jan. 1, 1962, increased by 2.8 per cent. The City of Columbus, at 490,774, increased by 2.6 percent. In the area outside the city, but still within Franklin County, the increase was 3.4 per cent.

Thus, with 225,334 persons outside the limits of the City of Columbus, there are 68.5 percent living in the city and 31.5 percent of the Franklin County population living in the suburbs and rural areas. This dispersal of the Franklin County population further emphasizes the need for development of all local communication and transportation facilities.

As compared to October, 1960, the Composite Index of Business Activity is 5.2 per cent higher in 1961. The pattern of 1960 business activity, when applied to November and December of 1961, indicates the Composite Index should wind up in the vicinity of 196.8, an increase of 5.2 percent over 1960.

In relation to total volumes of business in Franklin County, increases were to be expected in most of the components of the Index at the year-end. Other types of business, though not used in computation of the Index but equally important, also will have prospects to be cheerful about.

In recent periods, auto sales have shown increases and the construction business has been very active.

The building business, though a slow starter this year due mostly to inclement weather in the early months, made a remarkable comeback. At the end of October, it was showing the following record as compared to October of 1960. Total permits issued (11,972), up 3.8 per cent; total valuations ($112,936,534), up 18. 9 per cent; total dwelling units (5,903), up 33.8 per cent; total dwelling unit valuation ($70,316,630), up 25 per cent.

Among the components of the Composite Index, we have: bank debits which were up 6.0 per cent at the end of October; carloadings at 129,500 in October were up 12.1 per cent. Auto sales, spurting ahead in October showed a further gain in November.

During 1960 there have been many changes. The strike at National Electric Coil and the transit strike were among the two most publicized events of the year. Though the first of these two was confined essentially to those workers who were directly involved, the second affected the entire city. It was an expensive strike for the city, but the police did a superb job of moving traffic.

This brings up the question of how it affected business. There have been many estimates made of what it did cost the downtown businesses and others, but no definite figure was ever given. Retail business at the end of October was estimated to be 4.2 per cent behind last year.

Total employment, having been on the rise throughout the year, was, at the last accounting in October, estimated at 277,138. This was 4.0 per cent higher than October, 1960, and augurs well for the total annual payroll, the estimate of which will be completed at a later date. Manufacturing employment at 70,791, in October was the high for the year and 3.3 per cent over the 1960 figure.

Unemployment has been trending downward in recent months. At the present time, it is estimated in the neighborhood of 5,000.

The November election, bearing four issues of importance, was disappointing to some and pleasing to others, as all free elections must be. The results: The Columbus school bond issue passed, raising city taxes by $4. per $1000 to a new total of $31.40; the proposed city ordinance to regulate electricity rates was passed; the proposed Franklin County Welfare Levy was defeated; the State Issues ballot, composed of four parts, all passed, thus (1) providing for the filling of vacancies in the State Senate or House and (2) assuring continuity of state and local government operations in event of an enemy attack.

Columbus industrial and commercial expansion stayed level with the year 1960 in some cases and in others spurted ahead. In 1961, 13 new manufacturing businesses were established as compared to the same number the previous year. However, 107 new non-manufacturing business (wholesale, retail and service establishments) were established as compared to 93 in 1960.

Fifty-eight manufacturing firms invested $814,310 in new buildings and remodelings for the year 1961 while in 1960, 69 manufacturing firms invested $2,855,700 for expansion purposes. Wholesale, retail and service establishments, 600 in all, spent $24,506,295 for expansion while in 1960, 546 such firms spent $33,749,900.

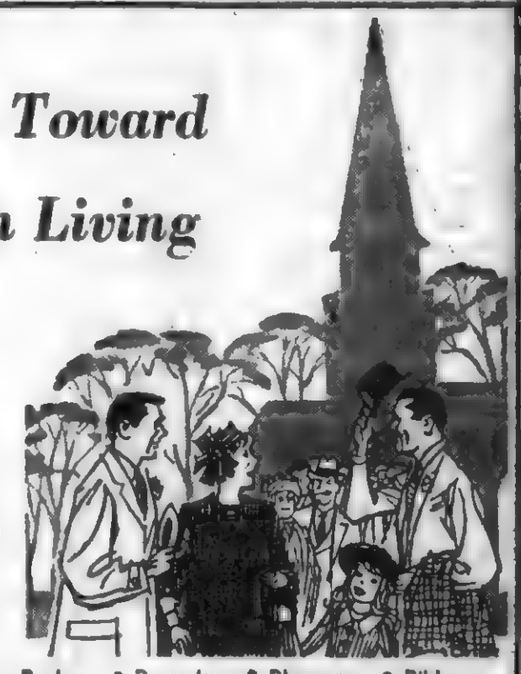
Following the existing pattern of diversification, new industries ran the gamut, including machine shops, chemicals, metal shipping straps, electronic devices, and household items.

Firms in other categories expanded dramatically throughout the Columbus Metropolitan Area: The Nationwide Insurance Co. began a new office building with an estimated cost of $1 million; the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. increased its capacity by 75 percent with a new five-story addition — the estimated cost to be $1 million; the U.S. Trotting Association announced plans for a new $450,000 headquarters building in the Goodale Urban Redevelopment Project; the City National Bank began construction of a new operations center to cost $300,000; Battelle Memorial Institute began construction of an $800,000 auditorium.

Defense contracts awarded to Columbus firms in 1961 amounted to $16,883,507 for 121 defense contracts. In 1960 88 defense contracts were awarded amounting to $28,823,087.

Total investment of new industries and local business expansions amounted to $29,323,055 in 1961 as compared to $39,642,390 in 1960.

More and more fruits and vegetables are going from farm to market prepacked for consumers, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.



WINDOW to the WORLD

The 500 to 1,000 calls going through this switchboard daily help the staff of Producers Livestock Association takes the pulse of the markets and do the biggest livestock selling job in the eastern Corn Belt. In 1961 they handled more than 2½ million head of livestock for 75,000 farmers, which earned more than $120 million. Eighteen of these farmer-owned markets are always at the service of the livestock industry.

Sidewalks Better When Streets Are Concrete Too, Says Engineer

Chances are that your sidewalk or driveway will last longer if you live where the streets are paved with concrete, according to H. G. Wood, district engineer for the Portland Cement Association.

Why there should be a connection between a concrete pavement out front and the durability of the concrete on a home lot isn't as odd as it might seem. Wood asserts there's a good, sound reason for it.

He explains that when cities set up standards for construction of concrete pavements for residential streets, they adopt specifications that assure durable concrete surfaces. The materials and workmanship that go into street pavements must meet these specifications. As a result, improved quality standards thus developed for big street paving jobs are reflected in the quality of concrete work on the little jobs, too. So it works out that walks and drives generally are more durable in the cities which build concrete streets.

The number of Ohio cities adopting concrete pavement as standard for construction of new residential streets grows significantly every year, Wood said, citing typical examples found in the suburban communities around the metropolitan centers of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, and Toledo. These are the areas of greatest home building activity.

In all, more than 50 Ohio municipalities now have subdivision regulations that make concrete paving an exclusive requirement for all new residential streets.

Many rapidly growing suburban communities are building subdivision streets in concrete because developers prefer to do so.

Programs of rebuilding inadequately paved streets with new six-inch concrete pavement have become widespread over Ohio. Cities that have undertaken such programs find that as the number of miles of concrete street surface increases, the amount of money required for routine maintenance of pavement surfaces decreases in proportion.

In the Columbus metropolitan area the City of Whitehall now requires all new streets to be paved with concrete. Whitehall also rebuilt a number of old streets with new concrete pavement during the past year. Concrete streets were built in 1961 in new residential subdivisions in Gahanna, Whitehall and Westerville.

Nine miles of concrete streets were built in Lincoln Village back in 1954 and 1955. Wood declares that the surface condition of these streets today attests to the durability and economy of concrete pavement, and that the sidewalks in Lincoln Village are in remarkably good condition.

This is King George-ay, one of the new concrete streets in Royal Manor, Gahanna tract developed by Brookside Builders. Paving was done in 1960 by N. J. LeCrone Co. as subcontractor for C. G. Jackson Co., who did the earth work. Engineering was done by Evans, Mechwart, Hambleton and Tilton.

Law Booklet Is Mailed By Brown

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced this week that he has begun distribution of the new "1962 Questions and Issues" booklet — a digest of laws relating to bond issues, tax levies, annexations and other community matters.

The 67-page publication is being distributed to Ohio's Boards of Elections who handle hundreds of question-and-issue elections each year during general and special elections.

Expansion Continued By Electric Company

The year 1961 has seen a gradual increase in the economy of the nation as a whole and also in the service area of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. Although the decline in the economy was felt heavily in many parts of the country, the central and southern Ohio area was fortunate that it was not too great here, a spokesman emphasized. For this reason, the economy has been able to move back to the point where it was last year and a little beyond. In the electric utility industry there has been a definite increase during the last quarter.

One of the reasons for this increase is the amount of electricity consumed per customer. This is an ever-increasing demand in the industry, primarily a result of the many convenient electrical time savers on the market today. Growth and prosperity spells out a challenge for the electric company whose budget and construction plans are scheduled to meet the needs of the customers for the next 15 years.

During the past year, the company has continued its expansion of facilities with the installation of new distribution equipment, transmission lines, and continuing construction of the new generating unit at its Conesville plant. All of this planning and the expenditure of approximately $22.4 million during the past year is a part of the continuing policy to provide dependable electric energy of all quantities at all times, for all customers.

The company's newest unit at Conesville will have a name-plate rating of 125 million total kilowatts when it is placed in service during the latter part of this coming year. As work on this unit progresses, the company estimates that it will spend approximately $21 million during the coming year.

The vast construction program being undertaken by the electric company is but a small part of the continuing efforts to speed the growth of the company and the area in which it serves.

During 1961, the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. initiated a long-range study of the economy of central and southern Ohio and its probable growth over the next 25 years. The study conducted by Battelle Memorial Institute will run for a two-year period and will attempt to provide guideposts for use by the company and by various communities and interested groups of the region for stimulating economic and cultural growth in the area.

In October, the company, along with Ohio-Midland Light and Power Co., announced an agreement for transfer to the company of certain of Ohio-Midland's electric transmission and distribution facilities located principally on the edge of the company's Columbus service area for a cash payment expected to be approximately $6,000,000 and the transfer to Ohio-Midland of minor portions of the company's facilities in Ohio-Midland territory. The contemplated net customer increase to the company was approximately 8,700.

The company heretofore has supplied all of the Ohio-Midland's power requirements at wholesale, and has agreed as a part of the transaction, to continue this practice. The transaction requires the approval of various governmental and regulatory agencies.

Working with other Ohio electric utilities, the company is constantly striving to improve facilities and service throughout the state. One of the major projects undertaken during the past year was a joint effort with the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. and the Dayton Power and Light Co. to study the feasibility of further interconnection of their electric systems. The study will in no way affect the independence of the individual companies.

Further interconnections made it possible to pool generating reserves, thereby reducing the amount required by each individual company. The service areas of the three companies constitute more than 40 counties and about one-fourth of central and southwestern Ohio, with a population of 3,800,000.

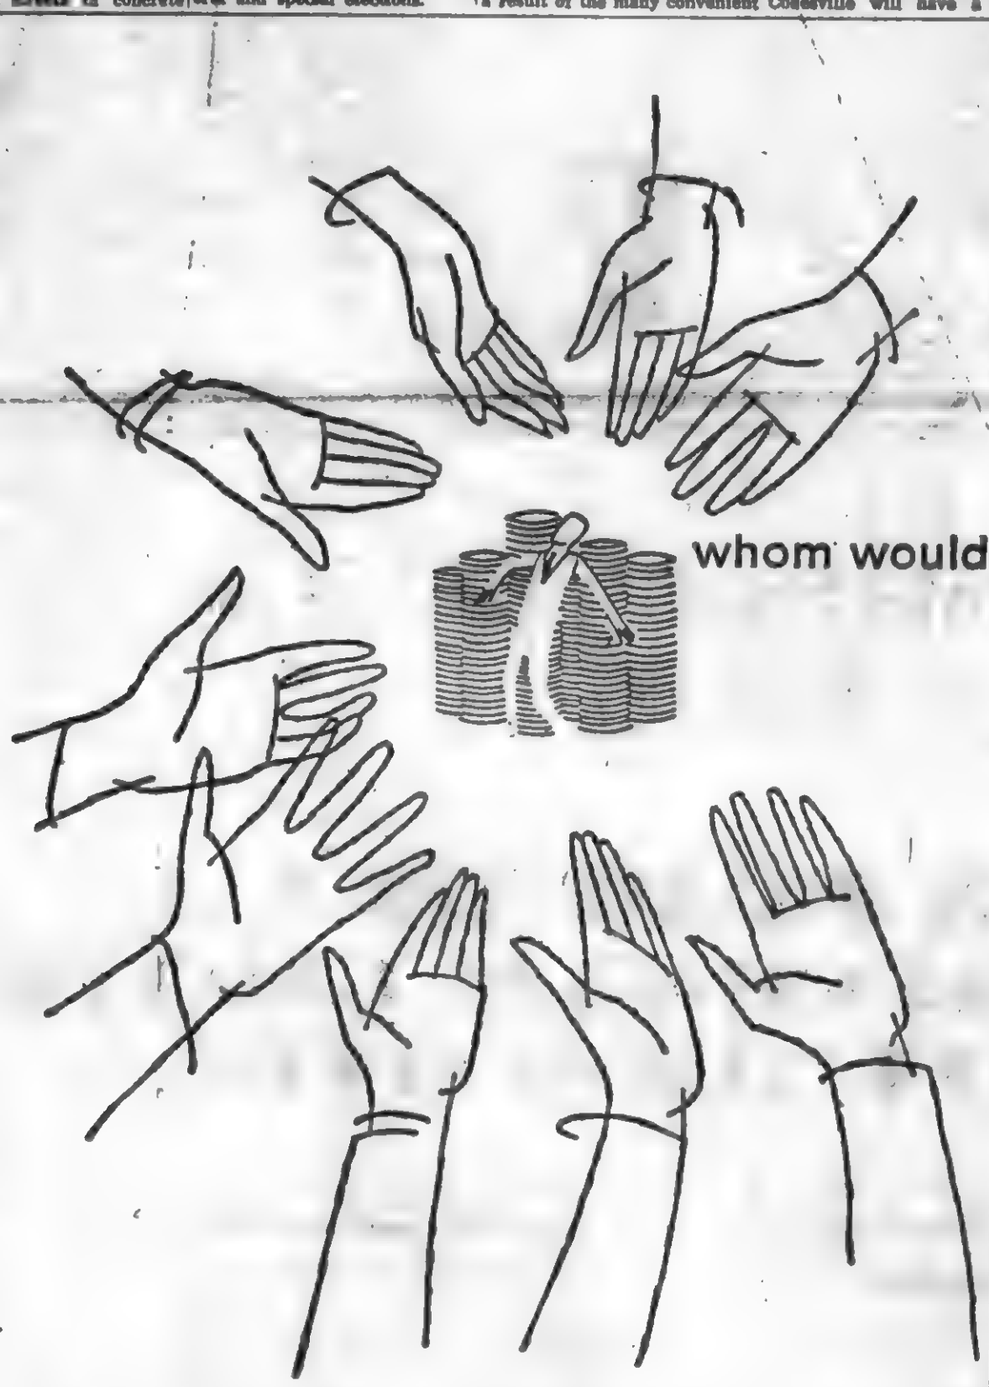
New Turf Course At Beulah Racetrack Adds To Attraction

Central Ohio thoroughbred horse racing enthusiasts will be treated to two fine sessions of "The Sport of Kings" at Beulah Park Jockey Club during 1962, according to Robert Y. Dienst, president and general manager.

Dates assigned by the racing commission for the spring meeting are May 4-26, and the fall meeting will be Sept. 3-29.

In addition to the regular schedule this year, fans will have the opportunity of also seeing a number of races on Beulah Park's five-furlong turf course, which was completed last year inside the main racing oval.

A novelty 20 years ago, turf racing today has grown greatly in popularity and is now a regular part of the programs offered by a number of nationally known tracks.



Beulah Park's new turf course had one test last fall to determine whether the turns and banking of the course would provide safe footing. The first race, at a mile and 70 yards, drew a full field, was hotly contested and run in a very creditable 1:45. Riders said the course was highly satisfactory.

Robert Y. Dienst

Attesting to the fact that Central Ohioans are indeed horse racing devotees, more than 179,000 persons attended the Beulah Park spring and fall meets during 1961.

Called one of the finest thoroughbred race tracks in the mid-west, Beulah Park Jockey Club provides an outstanding clubhouse with dining facilities, an excellent grandstand, many new barns and quarters for stable help and one of the finest racing administration buildings in the country.

whom would you trust with 84 MILLION DOLLARS?

A good question — and one that's answered simply by the words: "Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan" — because that is the amount of trust Central Ohioans have already placed in Buckeye. Why? Because Buckeye's ratio of reserves is considerably above the national average for savings and loan associations — because 67 years of friendly, helpful service by experienced personnel here in Franklin County have made Buckeye one of Ohio's oldest, largest, and most respected savings and loan associations.
The financial statement below shows Buckeye's growth to date — almost a $7,000,000 increase in assets since December, 1960 — another indication of the confidence folks have in Buckeye.

1961 Was Big Year For Ruff

For Thomas W. Ruff and Co., 110 S. Fourth-st, 1961 marked not one of its outstanding years, but the most outstanding in the company's 26-year history.

Sales for this business and contract furniture firm well surpassed the million dollar mark. Such installations as Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus Board of Education, and WBNS-TV made this possible in the business furniture line.

Four new employees — making a total of 19 in all, joined Ruff and Co. in 1961, three in sales and one in the service department.

Jack Gorman, president, said "When we moved further into contract and institutional sales the first of 1961 there was no question that our sales staff would have to expand also to keep our services at the high standards of quality we continually strive to maintain."

The late Tom Ruff established the business furniture firm in 1936, occupying a small portion of the company's present store located on S. Fourth-st. Since that time, the facilities have grown to its present size, including a six story warehouse on Front-st and 5,000 sq. feet of showroom space.

Other major installations in 1961 were Westheimer and Co., Mambe Motel in Ashland, Ky., The Ohio Co., Muskingum College, WBNS Radio, Radiology Dept., OSU and Bell Laboratories.

Another installation will soon be seen in the new Glenwood Methodist Church on Valleyview-dr. The firm will furnish and lay the carpets in both chapel and sanctuary of the new structure.

"We adopted the slogan 'Account on Excellence' in 1961," said President Gorman, "as a goal for our associates in their contacts with our customers.

"It emphasies the desire of the company to provide service as well as products."

Challenge And Growth Were Few Highlights Of Buckeye Federal

The year 1961 was marked by challenge, change, growth, excitement and outstanding success for everyone at Buckeye Federal — one of Columbus' oldest, largest, and most respected savings and loan associations.

One of the significant Buckeye events of 1961 was appointment of William S. Guthrie as president, replacing his father, C. C. Guthrie, who retired from the presidency after 50 years of service.

A former executive dean at the Ohio State University, the younger Guthrie began his tenure of office at Buckeye on Sept. 1. He, and his wife, Jayne, live at 2214 Johnstown-d, with their three sons and daughter.

His activities include participation on the boards of Children's Hospital, Multiple Sclerosis Society, Camp Alfred L. Willson, the Downtown Area Committee, Central Community House and First Community Church Board of Governors. A graduate of OSU he holds both bachelor's and master's degrees.

Financially, the Buckeye forged ahead in giant steps in 1961. Total assets reached $84,282,926, almost a $7,000,000 increase since December, 1960. During the year, $17,693,524 of new money was added to savings accounts, while $23,560,949 totaled the amount loaned on prime, well-secured first mortgages.

As in years past, Buckeye continued to maintain a higher than average ratio of reserves for the year, adding another safety factor over and above the standard Federal insurance program.

In service to customers, Buckeye set the pace by constantly improving all areas of customer service, and adding new ones, such as the Buckeye Better Homes Planning Centers, now installed and ready for business at all offices.

These centers, designed by Better Homes and Gardens Magazine, operate like a small library—loaning out a wide selection of books, pamphlets and magazines which deal with almost every aspect of "Better Living Through Better Home Planning." Subjects include home buying, building, maintenance, remodeling improvement and decoration. There is no charge or obligation connected with the use of this service.

Constantly expanding, the Buckeye began work on parking and drive-in facilities for their downtown office at 36 E. Gay-st. This new outdoor area of Buckeye's will cover 11,644 feet. It will be located at 39-45 E. Long-st, following demolition of the two buildings presently on these lots. (formerly Koller and Glicks).

Entrance and exit to the new facilities will be from E. Long-st and Elm-st.

In another move Buckeye received approval from Federal Home Loan Bank Board to open a new office in Morse Rd. Lazarus-Sears Center. This will bring the total number of Buckeye offices to four, with other branches presently located in the Great Eastern and Great Western Shopping Centers.

Buckeye is looking forward to even greater progress in 1962.

PROFESSIONAL MEN by the score, reflecting their need for personal strength, are among regular customers at the Christian Book and Gift Store, 179 S. High-st. Mrs. Mildred Smith, proprietor, comments on the growing trend as a sign of the times. "People with responsibilities are seeking direction and serenity of mind."

Christian Book-Buying Trend Seen As Search For Serenity, Strength

By Betty Daft

For more than money and merchandise change hands during the course of an ordinary business day at the Christian Book Store, 179 S. High-st . . . infinitely more valuable to the store's proprietor and its customers is the intangible exchange in every transaction.

And a steadily-increasing stream of professional men and executives are joining the hundreds of loyal customers who have found in Mildred Smith a warm and genuine friend, and in her books, the strength and serenity to cope with a troubled world's problems.

Starting about two years ago, the trend is startling in its scope. Physicians and surgeons, lawyers and attorneys, bankers and executive heads of business-es visit the store, and then return again and again.

"They ask for commentaries and concordances — helps in understanding the Bible, and for inspirational books," Mrs. Smith explains earnestly.

"More and more thoughtful, responsible people, recognizing their need for strength and wisdom are coming in regularly, buying for themselves and for gifts."

Mrs. Smith views the ever-growing list of professional men with humility and delight. "I am such a small part of this movement; it is so good to see people with great responsibilities becoming more aware of their need for personal strength.

"Parents, too, bought more Christian books and records for their children this year than ever before. And many great artists are recording religious music. These records are so popular we can barely keep them stocked.

"An Amplified Old Testament, its first simplified version, will be released in February, and is the big news of Christian book circles."

Each new customer at the store soon becomes a cherished friend. This interests and tastes and, in many cases, his family are as well known as his name.

"We try always for the personal touch," Mrs. Smith explained. "The store has never been merely a place for people to spend money, but a place to make friends."

The thriving store, started by a woman with no business experience and no merchandise training, has, in eight short years reached proportions that have won national recognition.

Business associates on every level — customers, salesmen and publishers — responded to her warm charm when she first launched the enterprise in 1953.

She credits their help and encouragement with her success, and rates that success by the hundreds of friends she has made through business contacts.

Alone and frightened in a strange city when her husband, a young naval pilot, died soon after the family's transfer to Columbus, Mrs. Smith threw herself into the enterprise in an effort to forget her grief.

First location of the store was in a small storeroom on E. Gay-st, and the move to its present location was made six years ago.

She continually views with amazement such honors as her recent selection by publishers as one of the top ten Christian booksellers in a three-state area.

"The real gold of this story," Mrs. Smith says thoughtfully, "is those wonderful customers—the ones who wait until I order a volume rather than buy it elsewhere, and those who will walk blocks to make a purchase from me, or just stop in for a visit."

And, in the opinion of her friends, from customers to the executives she visits on her many buying trips each year, Mildred Smith has returned a hundred-fold the happiness they have given to her.

Bill Owens Appliances Starts 34th Year

One of the few high volume independent stores in Central Ohio is starting into 1962 after a growth from a one room store in 1929 to the present large, modern structure at Lane-av and N. Star-rd.

According to owner manager William "Bill" Owens, "1962 will be our best year yet. We have plenty of free parking, easy accessibility to the store from all sections of Columbus and Franklin County and most of all quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices."

A large selection of ranges, television, radios, refrigerators etc., are on display in the 6,000 square-foot salesroom and warehouse at all times. A sizeable TV "theatre display" is on the premises where one may relax and make a selection, whether color or black and white strikes the fancy.

In choosing brands, one may select from such well known names as Hotpoint, Caloric, General Electric, Whirlpool, Zenith, RCA and many others.

Owens states that the growth has been such that he now has more than 25 employes in sales and service. Service has been a big factor in past and future expansion plans.

Many of the present and future low profit, large turnover businesses today can take a lesson from the Bill Owens Appliances as they have followed this concept for many years. There are also many plans for the coming year to expand our type of operation.

HAS ANYBODY GOTTA LIGHT? Arthur Dougherty, 780 Alton-rd, seems to be in the middle of the fire as four of his former fellow employes of the Dohrn Transfer Co. offer their services by lighting his 10-cent Havana. Dougherty who retired from the Dohrn Co. after 26 years of service, feted about 40 guests with a going away party at his home. From left to right are: Norm Clevenger, 859 Bricker-blvd, dispatcher; Jim Butts, 77 Dexter-av, salesman Arthur Dougherty; John Martin, 635 Wedgewood-dr, office manager and Jack Emery, 480 Old Village-rd, branch manager.

Dohrn Retiree Fetes Co-Workers

A former employe of the Dohrn Transfer Co., 130 N. Glenwood-av, turned the tables on his fellow employes when he and his wife honored his co-workers at a going away party in observance of his retirement.

Arthur Dougherty, 780 Alton-rd who had been employed by the local firm for 26 years when he retired Dec. 29 received 17 couples in his home Saturday evening where he, and his wife and the guests enjoyed a dinner, an evening of cards and entertainment.

While with the Dohrn Co., Dougherty served as a truck driver, dispatcher and dock foreman. In 1960 he was presented a diamond ring by company officials for a quarter of a century of service.

He and his wife now live in a new home at their present address where he spent his early years. Before building the new home he lived at 1094 Harrisburg-pk for 13 years.

Dougherty is married and is the father of one daughter, two step-daughters, one stepson along with 12 grandchildren.

THE YEAR IN AGRICULTURE

Record Production Brings Problems, Some Solutions

By Taylor Gross

In what has been a stormy year for the most controversial area of the nation's economy, agriculture seemingly progressed. This opinion is of course dependent upon a definition of "progress," but at least in a relative sense, it would appear a safe one.

Already, the Kennedy administration is claiming success for its farm program policies, with the ink barely dry on an official forecast of a 12 per cent reduction in the 1962 winter wheat crop.

Although it is true that economic progress has been made, it remains to be seen just how much of it will be felt by the farmer. Success or failure, the present programs are still under fire from many quarters, and seem to have more of a stop-gap than permanent status.

Biggest single effort in the subsidy-free market-government control battle was the Feede Grain Program put into effect this year. In order to measure its probable success, it is first necessary to reiterate its aims.

1. To improve the income of the farmer.

2. To reduce the amount of stock on hand as government surplus.

3. To reduce government costs.

Now, according to figures of the last two years, farm income is up from 12 billion in 1960 to 12.7 in 1961. This was due as much to other factors as to the program however, so it perhaps does not warrant as much enthusiasm as the administration is presently showing.

These "other factors" are primarily two. One is the fact that farmers put their poorest land into the program (diverted acres) and overfertilized on the remainder. This and heavier seeding brought a record high yield per acres, much higher than if they had worked all of the land in the crop. This is, however, still an indirect benefit of the program. The second factor is related to almost ideal growing conditions and exceptional weather during the season.

Unfortunately, the decrease in the harvest crop will not increase the farmers' income proportionately, but it did rise .7 billion dollars.

Considering the second aim of the federal program, government surpluses were reduced, even though by only a token amount.

The third aim is the hardest in which to pronounce success. Merely to administer the program itself is a huge expense, and certainly surplus was not reduced enough so that a smaller storage bill could overcome these new costs. In short, reducing government costs will prove a long hard road.

In Ohio, average wheat yield per acre was 72 bushels, 4 above last year's average. This was an Ohio record. The national yield (average) is 61 bushels, this also a record, and 6½ bushels above a year ago. Progress seems to bring ever more efficient methods of farming without in any way solving the farm problem.

In the area of criticism, it is hard to distinguish between what is purely political, partially political, and only slightly political. From the AFL-CIO position, anyone who opposes much social legislation, as well as labor benefits (minimum wage, etc.) as did the American Farm Bureau Federation in its national convention in Chicago, is definitely asking for trouble, and is a little too right-wing to boot.

The failure of the proposed program of the Ohio Farm Bureau in the national convention was attributed in part to the fact that it was a compromise attempt to join the efforts of both liberal and conservative groups. This, meaning simply that in a split of votes one or the other might win on pure strength of numbers, but that a compromise program was doomed to draw too few votes from either.

As always, politics pervades all, and it is rare that an acceptable economic solution is also an acceptable political one. At the present we seem to have none of either, so the problem is taken care of.

As for the coming year, token success of the present program will probably be enough to override objections, and will ensure its continuation for at least two more years, basically unchanged.

Farmers stand to fare about as well financially in 1962 as they did this past year. That means they aren't going to make a lot of money, but neither are they going to go broke.

Individual income will vary somewhat, depending on the commodities a farmer has to sell, but net farm income in the U.S. in 1962 will be near the 1961 level of $12.7 billion, according to Dr. Wallace Barr, Ohio State University Extension economist.

Volume of all farm marketings will be about the same as in 1961, and experts will be about the same to a little higher, Dr. Barr predicts. The general business outlook is relatively favorable, and consumer incomes should continue to rise, thus improving demand for certain commodities.

What happens to the income of dairy farmers in 1962 depends partly on the level of price supports to be announced by April 1. Prospects for higher supports are not encouraging, since an increase in milk production is likely and there already is a milk surplus. An increase in the cost of items a dairy farmer must buy could lower his net income below that of 1961, Dr. Barr points out unless adjustments are made in individual operations.

Hog prices in 1962 probably will average somewhat below the relatively favorable 1961 prices, due to an upswing in hog production. Prices to farmers in 1962 may be about $3 a hundred lower than for the same period in 1961.

Fat cattle prices should average about the same in 1962 with wider spreads between grades.

The economist sees lamb prices strengthening a little, but probably still under 1959 levels. Egg prices should hold slightly below last year's prices early in the year, but will drop substantially next fall if there is the expected increase in egg-type chick hatchings this spring.

Summing up: The storm has been with us for a long time, and despite occasional lulls and frequent predictions of fairer weather, the sun is not yet in sight.

Judge Seeks Second Term

Petitions are now circulating for the re-election of Judge Robert M. Draper to the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas.

Draper was appointed judge in 1956 by former governor Frank J. Lausche and was elected for his first term in 1958. He is seeking his second term for judgeship.

A member of the Columbus City Board of Education from 1940 to 1952, Draper presently serves as chairman, Board of Trustees of Hope House and is a member of the Board of Trustees for the Franklin County Retarded Children.

Judge Draper is a member of the Masonic Lodge, Past Grand Patron of the Eastern Stars of Ohio and St. John's Lutheran Church.

In 1960, he was selected as "Best Citizen" on the Hilltop by Hartley Newspapers.

He is a graduate of West High and Ohio State University, receiving an LLB.

Judge Draper resides at 104 S. Westmoor-av with his wife, Ruth, and is the father of two daughters, Nancy and Deborah, who are students at Denmison University.

Expressways Speeding To Completion In Area

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

They say that expressways are built to speed up traffic in and around a particular city but this end result will be anticlimatic to the speed being put on by the expressway builders.

A talk with Robert F. Mott, expressway coordinator with the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, revealed that speed was the key word in 1961—but it was only in first gear.

The committee will shift into second and third in 1962 to give Columbus one of the most modern expressway programs in the state.

It was a big year, 1961, for Mott and Co.

An important year in which the ground plans were laid. The various phases of the expressway program, including engineering, land acquisition, family relocation, demolition and construction progressed at various rates—but progressed, nonetheless.

The 1961 construction season was an overtime, all-out year on the part of local contractors to get as much work done as possible.

Construction progress continues in 1962 on those projects not yet completed or under construction, whose total costs amount to about $116,300,000.

Of these, approximately $80,000,000 worth was opened to traffic in 1961. It's a big chunk compared with cities of comparable or greater size including Cincinnati, Springfield, Cleveland and Dayton.

In Hartley Area

Here are a portion of the projects and costs and work done to date in the Hartley Newspapers areas as 1961 comes to a close:

Consulting engineers have been authorized by the City to complete the detailed construction plans for the South Leg of the Innerbelt—Front-st to Oak-st ($30,182,000) project.

Consulting engineers are proceeding on preparation of detailed construction plans for the East Freeway — Parsons-Fulton interchange to Outerbelt ($29,100,000) with most preliminary design elements having been approved.

West Freeway-Spring-Sandusky Interchange to West County Line ($26,783,000). Efforts are being continued to have complete detailed construction plans completed no later than 1964.

Outerbelt ($104,500,000)—special studies are being made of a possible alignment of the north segment of this project between Hilliard-Cemetery-rd on the west and Hamilton-Beechman-rd on the east along the general alignment of Overbrook-dr.

Land acquisition is proceeding under the advance procurement program in sections where the alignment has been settled.

Also, completion of detailed construction plans for the section connecting the Southwest Freeway with S. High-st (U.S. Rt. 23) is such that Mott predicts that letting of a contract for construction in early 1962 is expected.

Fort Hayes Interchange and the East Leg of the Innerbelt to Oak-st ($15,700,000). Construction bids for this project were received from seven bidders (three local) on Oct. 10 of last year.

Three of the bidders, including two local, says Mott, were under the engineers' estimate of construction costs of $6,563,500.

The contract was awarded on Oct. 20 to the John F. Casey Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., on a bid of $6,397,923 with a completion date of Oct. 31, 1962.

The schedule of operation on this construction calls for completion of sufficient roadway and ramps on the north portion of the project to link traffic on the North Freeway and the North Leg of the Innerbelt by Nov. 1, 1962, says Mott.

It Can't Happen Here? Well, It Has!

The greatest danger facing Americans today is their complacency. Daily we are taking an easy road that can lead to but one thing . . . disaster.

Among other things we are being forced to surrender our freedom of speech.

Look at the case of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., in which the Internal Revenue Department ruled that Timken's institutional advertising budget for several years was disallowed by the IRS.

Timken's advertising program has for years opposed our bending over backward toward a socialistic state. It was designed to help preserve our free enterprise system and preserve the Timken Company. Other privately owned business firms are faced with the same situation.

It can't happen here? It has happened here and it will get worse if we as individuals do not have the intestinal fortitude to stand up for what we believe is right.

As we get more government we are getting less liberty. This is but one of many examples of our need to stand up and shout to the right people that we have reached the end of the line in this whittling process.

Don't just silently complain . . . shout it out!

Lincoln Said It . . .

Judge Robert Draper reminds us that in our present state of confusion as to what and to whom we owe our allegiance for liberty, the following statement from Abraham Lincoln is helpful:

"We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven; we have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown, But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us."

West Side Council Continues Traffic Talks In City Hall

Despite bone-chilling cold Thursday night, 35 West Siders found inspiration to attend the first annual meeting of the West Side Neighborhood Council at Gladden Community House.

There they quickly "zeroed in" on electing new officers and warmed to the reports of accomplishments of the group in its first year.

Walter Cunningham, 148 Hayden-av, was chosen president of the executive committee of 10. He conducted the meeting in the absence of Sam Alford, 1961 president, who was ill. Cunningham is purchasing agent and traffic manager for Capital Elevator Mfg. Company.

Robert McGuire conducted the election. Glen Beach presented the report of the health committee, and Cunningham briskly reviewed 1961.

Traffic Negotiations Continue

Then the meeting shifted into high gear with a discussion of traffic. As explained by Traffic Committee Chairman Frank Schneider, his committee is in the midst of presenting the group's wishes to the Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission. In two meetings held with the commission this month, 10 WSNC proposals already have been approved.

Of four proposals tabled at the downtown meetings, one came in for the bulk of discussion Thursday evening. This (No. 16) involves installation of a traffic light to protect school children crossing at the intersection of Souder and Remick-avs. Although the city traffic engineer does not feel that traffic volume warrants such a light, the WSNC committee will continue to campaign for this safeguard.

Parents Repeat Stand

At the insistence of a delegation of Sullivant Gardens parents, Schneider promised that he will take the problem directly to City Council if the Traffic Commission continues to reject their appeal. Twice in the past two years, Sullivant Gardens residents have presented lengthy petitions asking for the traffic light, and the full force of the WSNC committee will continue to press city officials for action, Schneider said.

Other proposals tabled in the downtown negotiations include:

No. 1—Traffic light to be installed at Glenwood-av and Broad-st, with a 30-second, left-hand turn signal both north and south. Traffic Commission wants to eliminate light at Yale-av; WSNC does not.

No. 15—All through traffic to be excluded from residential streets between Broad and Mound-sts, excepting north-south traffic on Central and Glenwood-avs. Commission wants to make more extensive study of truck traffic routes.

No. 24—No one-way streets south of Sullivant-av, including Souder-av. Here WSNC committee was asked to choose between Souder's remaining one-way, and left-hand turns being eliminated at Souder and Mound.

Suggestions Rejected

Rejected by the Traffic Commission were six proposals from the WSNC list. One, No. 12, brought an alternate suggestion from the commission which Schneider explained to Thursday night's gathering in this way:

Proposal No. 12 reads, "Installation of trip traffic light at Cable and Central-avs to allow time for traffic flow west off Cable, not just pedestrian flow." City Traffic Engineer John L. Gallagher, stated that the existing traffic signal was there primarily to serve Chicago Avenue Elementary School pupils and residents west of Central-av, and that a study of traffic volumes there did not show that a vehicular traffic signal would be warranted.

Gallagher continued that making this a vehicular traffic signal would increase the traffic volume, which he felt was not the desire of the WSNC delegation. He added that the commission is considering relocating the pedestrian push-button signal half a block either north or south of Cable-av. Because of the weather factor involved in painting new cross-walks, he would prefer to postpone any change until spring.

Other rejected proposals include:

No. 6—Installation of a 30-second, left-hand, north and south, turn signals on present (or new) traffic lights on Broad-st between Central-av and the river.

No. 9—Replacing blinker stop signs at State and McDowell-sts with four-way stop signs.

No. 12—Leveling of curb lanes on Broad-st.

No. 14—Painting cross-walks for school children at Yale and Cable-avs.

Priorities for three new Columbus recreation centers in Hartley Newspaper areas were clarified by Mayor Westlake and his cabinet this past week.

Tabbed for construction yet this year, barring any last-minute financial snags, is a center in Westgate Park on the Hilltop and another adjacent to Lincoln Park School in the South Side. Their cost has been placed at between $360,000 and $400,000 each.

Next in line for construction, possibly in 1963, is a center in the Far East Side. It probably will be built adjacent to a proposed elementary school near Johnson Junior High School on Barnett-rd, north of Livingston-av.

These, and a fourth in Linden, are included in current five-year Capital Improvements budgeting.

"In terms of population needs, the East Side center should be built first," said N. J. Barack, Columbus Recreation director, "but it is only practical that we defer its construction so that it can be designed to complement the new school.

"The Recreation Commission this week hopes to set up a meeting with the Columbus Board of Education to map out our planning," Barack continued. "There can be considerable saving to the taxpayers if parts of a school building can serve recreation too," Barack said. Meanwhile, council Monday night made first steps toward acquisition of 4 to 8 acres for the Barnett-Rd site. Appraisals were paid for their work.

During current sessions with the City Planning Commission Mayor Westlake championed the cause of fellow-Hilltoppers who have long sought another recreation center. "They have waited longest," Westlake pointed out, keeping in mind the Batchelor Report of 13 years ago which said that Glenwood Center alone even then did not meet the community's needs. Planning Director Jack Bachtel last week said that about 50,000 Hilltop residents are not served by a recreation center.

Barack said a detailed description of the proposed centers could not be given until council releases the money and preliminary architectural studies begin. He said each probably would include a gym with locker and shower areas for girls and boys; an auditorium; separate rooms for games, meetings, and crafts; a kitchen; and office space.

Barack was unable to predict whether or not the Westgate center would be built onto the existing enclosed shelter house. "If we follow the Batchelor Recreation Survey suggestion, the director related, "the center will face Wicklow-rd between Algonquin and Powhatan-avs.

"If our money comes through in the next couple of weeks, we could start plans and specifications in the next 30 days," he speculated.

Site Choice Important, Council Says

Westgate Recreation Center plans came as good news to the Hilltop Community Council. At a meeting Jan. 11, the group decided to invite Recreation Director Barack to be a speaker at the Feb. 8 meeting at the Hilltop YMCA.

Among council members who have campaigned longest for the center are Mrs. Ray Cave, former civic improvement chairman, and Mrs. H. C. Booth. Since 1950 they have petitioned and met with city officials to plead for the center. Their hopes were brightened by the passage of the Recreation Bond Issue last year. As late as last month, they met with Mayor Westlake to urge that the Westgate project be given top priority.

"Now it is up to people to

Ex-West Sider Hoover Is Honored Monday

'Warmth Greater Than Any Sunshine' He Says

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The smell of roses intoxicated Miles "Cap" Hoover at South High School Monday night. But, it was secondary to the intoxication encountered by Hoover's many friends who stirred nostalgically on the stage and in their seats.

It was a time for memories . . . a time to bid good-bye to an esteemed South Side civic leader and the mixture, as Hoover so eloquently related, "created a warmth greater than any sunshine."

And, he was right.

So right, in fact, that tears seemed to be the order of the evening among some of the old-timers on hand for the festivities. But, they were short-lived tears that were drowned in the flood of laughter and warm smiles.

For more than an hour Monday night, some two hundred people saw "Cap's" life flashed back — touching on the highlights and stirring memories for most all of the onlookers.

Mixed in with the reminiscing were some noteworthy items concerning "Cap" and his future which, at this point, looks as if it may develop into just as an illuminating segment as his bright past.

For one thing, Mayor Ralston Westlake was on

COLUMBUS MAYOR Ralston Westlake is shown presenting South Sider Miles "Cap" Hoover with a commendation proclamation during a special recognition program in Hoover's honor at South Side School Monday night. Hoover was presented with a 1962 Ford Fairlane, among other things, during the "This Is Your Life" program. Hoover retired Jan. 1 after 26 years of service with the South Side Branch YMCA. He is widely known in this area for his work with youth. He'll stay in civic life after retirement, since Westlake appointed him to the Park Commission.

Three Generations Of Carpeting Know-how Woven Into Bill Rains

By Phyllis Hayes

Some men are fascinated by smashing atoms, collecting stamps, etc. — with Bill Rains, head of the Rains Carpet Co., 2504 W. Broad-st, it's carpets.

Carpets are not only his business but also his hobby. He's an expert on their weave, the manufacturing methods, types of wools and how they're used in making the carpeting . . . in short, everything pertaining to them.

Bill is the third generation of his family to head the business his grandfather began in 1922 as a rug cleaning and installation company. Later a retail store was opened at Rich and Locust-sts with a selection of 100 carpeting samples for the customers to choose from.

Today, Bill carries samples of more than 2500 types of rugs and carpeting that includes such far-out items as Belgian manufactured Navajo rugs and simulated fur with plastic backing for bathroom floors and walls. There are also Italian imports and inch-and-a-quarter custom made carpets from Puerto Rico. The emphasis, though, is on more conventional types of floor coverings. But exotic or conventional, Bill is an authority on all of it.

His interest is shared by the other members of his family all of whom either work or have worked in the company. His sons are both working with him now, Robert as manager of the cleaning plant, William as manager of the installation division, and both are learning the general management of the company.

This is to insure them from being faced with some of the problems Bill found after the death of his father when he suddenly became head of the company. He was fortunate then, he says, in having with him the late Nell Welch, who was bookeeper for Rains Carpets for 35 years.

Now he coordinates the three phases of the business—selling, cleaning and installing rugs and carpeting—and still finds time to be active in many Hilltop activities.

He is a member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, the Hilltop Business Men's Association, Knights of Columbus, a board member of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of St. Mary Magdalena Church.

He and Mrs. Rains will celebrate their 37th anniversary Feb. 8. They are particularly proud of their 20 grandchildren. Their daughter, Mrs. Helen Marie Modlich, has seven children; son, Robert, has three children, and son William, has ten.

The recent holidays, said Rains, were especially good because of the grandchildren and the fun of getting the entire family together at Rains home at 3097 Eakin-rd.

The only concession to "managing" with a family that size, Mrs. Rains said, is to have buffet style dinners rather than trying to seat everyone.

He and Mrs. Rains vacation in Florida as often and as long as business will permit and during summer months he can occasionally be found at the Oakhurst Golf Club. Bill took up the game only a few years ago, but his golfing buddies say he's real competition when the chips are down.

Rains would be the last one to admit his ability and inside knowledge of golf — but carpets . . . well, that's something else.

$12.7 Million Ohio Bell Expansion Planned In Area

Ohio Bell gave evidence of confidence in the new year Tuesday by announcing a $12,700,000 expansion and service improvement program for the Columbus District in 1962.

President Walter S. Sperling of Cleveland told newsmen that $11,800,000 of this total is for growth projects and modernization in the local exchange area.

Statewide, the 1962 record-breaking spending program will total $86,300,000 for expansion and service improvements. Ohio Bell has spent more than $75 million over the state in each of the past six years for expansion. In addition, Ohio Bell's yearly payroll in Columbus last year was $16.2 million.

Talking of local expansion, Sperling said that the $2 million "45" exchange office at 4646 Reed-rd would be placed into service next July to serve northwest sections of Columbus in portions of the present AMherst, HUdson, WOrthington and DUblin exchanges.

Sperling said that the need for further expansion and improvements in this area has been brought about largely by increased [illegible] for more and broader services.

He pointed out the importance of completing the conversion of the telephone numbering system to all numerals. The change, he said, is one of necessity due to a rapidly expanding population which creates a need for more telephone numbers.

So far, about 21 percent of Ohio Bell subscribers in the Columbus District have had their numbers changed to the seven digit type. Sperling said he hoped all numbers here would be changed within the next three or four years.

Telephones here increased by 19,800 during 1961, bringing the total in the Columbus District to 379,000. The Columbus District includes London where there was a gain of nearly 300 telephones in 1961, bringing the total telephones there to 6,160. Ohio Bell expects to add 21,000 telephones in the Columbus District in 1962.

Calling also was on the rise in 1961, as might be expected with the increase in the number of telephones in use. Local calls here last year averaged 1,931,000 a day, while long distance calls increased to about 36,000 a day, with about 40 percent of these being dialed directly by the customers.

School Patrol Rates Praise

Devotion to duty comes in pint-sized packages, too—among the heroes of last week's frigid weather who strove to make daily living safer, more comfortable, were the School Patrol Boys (and girls).

Long minutes standing on wind-swept corners, shepherding his charges safely across the intersection, took an heroic effort on the young Patrol Boy's part.

Youngsters were in an unusual hurry to get out of the cold; motorists were delayed by the weather and mindful of their cars' uncertain performance. Both were less careful, less alert to safety rules.

Patrol Boys were the necessary added strength in assuring elementary students' safe passage through traffic. The week called for extra reserves of alertness on their part, with disregard to their personal comfort.

Motorists and parents always should be appreciative of the School Patrolman for the part he plays in his fellow students' safety. This past week the corps earned even more respect.

"Corner Lifesaver"

West Side Council Example Of People Doing For Selves

And in that scant 12 months the council has become one of the most effective groups of its kind in the city.

Its list of accomplishments — both large and small — is impressive.

Among other things, it has:

• Been instrumental in pushing through a comprehensive traffic plan for the near West Side.

• Provided the stimulus for the first major clean-up campaign in the area "in years."

• Co-operated with the city in a program to sweep all streets in the neighborhood during a three-week period last summer, something previously unheard of.

But more important — by working only in the best interest of all its people—the council has won the support and enthusiasm of area residents.

It has become the people's spokesman and their sounding board.

How's the council managed to do it?

It's had a lot of beginners luck — no doubt about it.

And then too, a good measure of brashness has paid off—the council has been "naive" enough to "try" when a more mature organization would have expressed the futility of "trying."

But most of all, its accomplishments have been the product of hard work and enthusiasm.

It meant night after night of meetings by the council or one of its committees, either with city officials or with the public.

It meant stimulating the people to speak up for what they wanted.

It meant sifting through the welter of suggestions to determine which were good, then which were possible, and then designing the plan.

And finally it meant selling that plan to the city.

The council hasn't gotten everything it wanted in the traffic plan finally approved. But it's getting most of it. And as a result the West Side will be a better place to live.

Names?

There's a lot of people who deserve recognition. More than we can list here. Everyone who turned out for council meetings deserves a pat on the back for doing his part.

However, two men who've carried more than their share of their load are retiring President Sam Alford and incoming President Walt Cunningham. Fieldworker Al Wilder and Traffic Chairman Frank Schneider are two more.

So we say again, congratulations to the West Side council on its first birthday. May you be just as vigorous when number two rolls around and may others learn through your example.

Sees Great Hope In UN In Next Decade

To The Editor:

The next decade will be known as the United Nations Decade of Development. The United Nations gives us not only time to think and act but time for you and yours to live. Remember Pearl Harbor.

All mankind is involved in the sacrifice of human lives as well as natural resources. For instance in the Berlin situation, millions of people outside of these two countries may be hurt unless there is a settlement of the conflict. The United Nations provides an audience as a third party to help solve the conflict between two parties.

The only place where the majority of mankind can be reached in a vital audience participation is through the United Nations with 104 sovereign nations. Also, the UN will be able to administer agreements as well as provide policing after settlements. The UN with the 13 specialized agencies deal with every facet relative to the welfare of our people.

It is strange to hear people state that they are not for a representative form of council, conference, congress, etc. when our country pioneered in this type of representative assembly. Our elected or appointed representatives have not voted always as desired. But should our form of government be abolished? This is the proposal of those who say "do away with the UN." Each citizen is responsible for freedom and security as well as our elected officials. All that is needed for the evils of the world to succeed is for good men to do nothing.

War is a fight of principles. Perhaps the adversaries of the UN do not believe in what the UN determines in the preamble of the charter — — among which is to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small. Or, the objection may be to Chapter 1 Article 1, par 2: To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of people and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace.

The UN cost each American $1.04 last year. Compare this with the cost of military forces, hardware plus the sacrifice in flesh and blood. The UN has grown as an executive and legislative body under the leadership of the United States with authority to maintain peace in an expanding world.

As envisioned by the President Kennedy, the United Nations Decade of Development, supported by many who do not benefit from war, will be a United Nations with broad economic programs, strengthened peace-keeping machinery, a police force, an independent secretariat and strong executive authority.

Thank you sincerely,
Mrs. Charles L. Shaw,
47 Whitethorne-av,
Chairman, Education Committee

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Record Honey Crop Now In Food Markets

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, oranges, apples, bananas.

Vegetables — Potatoes, carrots, head lettuce, broccoli, cabbage.

Other Foods — Pork roasts, forequarter cuts of beef, large eggs, dairy products, honey.

There's lots of honey on the market this year — thanks to billions of busy bees who worked overtime last summer in fields and forests.

Mrs. Franks

This year's honey crop totals 276 million pounds. Marketing specialists say this is 33 million pounds more than average.

Honey is at its best uncooked—as a spread, topping or beverage sweetener. It's a natural for sweetening citrus fruits. Have you eaten honey on grapefruit? If not, don't let the grapefruit season pass without giving this combination a try.

Honey also adds special goodness to many baked products. The best of cooks recommend it in preparing puddings, custards, pie fillings, baked apples, salad dressings and on cinnamon toast. Brushed or drizzled on ham during the last half hour of baking, it adds extra flavor and a beautiful golden glaze.

Bread, cakes and cookies made from honey remain moist in storage. Usually it's best to use a special recipe. You can obtain a wide variety of these recipes from the American Honey Institute, Madison 3, Wis. A home economist for the institute has figured the correct amounts of honey to use.

But if you want to experiment with your favorite recipes, follow these suggestions: In cakes, simply substitute honey for one half the sugar. In cookies, the amount of honey that can replace the sugar varies with the type of cookie. For gingersnaps, honey can substitute for no more than a third of the sugar. For brownies, you can use as much as half honey; for fruit bars, up to two-thirds.

In both, the honey should be mixed thoroughly with the other ingredients. Combine honey with either the shortening or the liquid. Lower the baking temperature 25 degrees to prevent over-browning.

Keep liquid honey in a dry place. Store it at room temperature, not in the refrigerator, to prevent crystallization.

If it crystallizes, place container in a pan of warm water until crystals disappear and the honey is as good as new. Overheating honey will cause it to change color and flavor.

Therapeutic Value Of Outdoor Living Can't Be Measured In Dollars, Cents

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Outdoorsmen have a way of expression that belts home their homespun meaning. Take 81-year-old John Roche on fishing, he says: "I get into my boat sick, I come back well!"

And veteran hunter Havilah Babcock declares, "My health is better in November!" How can you say it more simply?

These men epitomize the blessings to be gleaned from the verdant outdoors. They know what many Americans have yet to learn, that the true values of God's great green cathedral are learned by loving, living and absorbing it, not from abusing it.

Thinking men with a reverence for nature's beauty and bounty would no more think of tossing a beer can into a lake or strewing about picnic leftovers than they would scattering the remains of a fellowship supper over the church lawn.

It is our heritage to enjoy Mother Nature's endless chain of wonders found fishing and hunting. It is our trust to preserve them for those who follow.

But, logic dictates, unless we know enough about the outdoors from actual contact with and study of it, we are not capable of properly preserving it. Doesn't it follow then, that if each of us would do more thoughtful hunting and fishing we would understand more fully the why and how to enjoy and keep it?

Folks complain now and then of the country going to the dogs. The fact is, the dogs are going to the country.

A national economic survey of hunting and fishing just completed shows that $145 million was spent in 1960 on the purchase and upkeep of hunting dogs. It is the second biggest item on the cost sheet of small game hunters, and ranks ahead of combined costs for food, lodging and transportation. The average hunter costs for that year were: hunting equipment $19.71, dogs $11.98, boats and motors $7.87, auto transportation $7.17, and food (for the hunter) $3.59.

The conclusion here is that the outdoors is worth a lot of money to our economy as well as offering a balm to frazzled nerves.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

City Shedding Its Entertainment Shell

They used to call Columbus a staid, unimaginative town — the provincial haven of the Midwest — and, for the most part, they were right.

Auble

It's surprising how cosmopolitan a town can become in a few, short years. How it can come into its own in the amusement field, for example without seemingly much effort at all.

No one really knows what brings a town such as Columbus out of its shell but everyone seems to profit and, more important, everyone seems to enjoy it.

And it's still on the grow.

Four or five years ago, you couldn't find a night club with a dance band—unless, of course, you dug rock 'n roll.

Name entertainers would gulp a few times when they saw Columbus on their itinerary.

If a band (like Kenton, Ellington or Miller) happened to breeze into town, they left wondering just what kind of a place this was.

It was even worse on the Latin American groups around the country — calypso or no.

And, people (not only the entertainers) began wondering.

They wondered how a town like Columbus — so vast and so "big city" on the surface, could give such a cool reception to music . . . real music.

They looked at Ohio State and expected clear, crisp minds that knew what was going on and they wondered why they would pack a house full for a rock 'n roll show when a name band would leave hungry.

But, times have changed.

The Kenley Players helped things — perhaps even started the swing toward making Columbus THE entertainment center of Ohio.

Others followed suit. Entertainers were beginning to be accepted . . . the crowds began screaming for more . . . and more was furnished.

Supper clubs opened their doors to all kinds of musical groups and, for probably the first time since the whole thing began, Columbus is known for something besides rock 'n roll.

In fact, rock 'n roll has taken a back seat at the amusement palaces even if it is still big on radio.

There's no doubt in my mind — the Columbus entertainment scene has taken on many new "twists" . . . for the better I think.

We're getting a high class, cream-of-the-crop-type of show business now — it's a very welcomed change.

John Auble, Jr.

MRS. JAMES G. WILLIAMSON

Nancy Leibensperger Bride Of James G. Williamson In December Nuptial Rite

Sunburst arrangements of white snapdragons and carnations with jade foliage decorated the altar of Hilltop Christian Church, emerald trees with ivory tapers in Swedish candelabra were used in the chancel and tapers with accents of roses and holly marked the aisles for the wedding of Miss Nancy Kay Leibensperger and Mr. James G. Williamson, Dec. 22.

Rev. George H. Alexander read the marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Leibensperger, 282 Demorest-rd, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling G. Williamson, 3117 Eakin-rd.

Miss Diana Rohr served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Menz and Miss Susan Leibensperger, niece of the bride.

They wore scarlet, ball-skirted gowns with matching petal hats and carried sheaths of peppermint stick carnations with accents of holly.

Mr. Richard Williamson served as bestman for his brother and guests were seated by Mr. Steven Miller and Mr. Clifford Shoemaker.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Williamson is a teacher at Hawthorne School.

Mr. Williamson is enrolled in the College of Engineering, majoring in physics, at Ohio State University.

Following a short wedding trip they are at home at 1485 W. Third-av.

St. Aloysius Scene Of Nuptial Mass Uniting Joanne Fisher And John Hone

Miss Joanne Carol Fisher became the bride of Mr. John Michael Hone Dec. 21, in a double-ring ceremony held at St. Mary Magdalene Church. Rev. Raymond Bauschard officiated at the nuptial mass at 11:30 a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl James Fisher, 2976 Parkside-rd, and Mr. Hone's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Hone of Philadelphia, Pa.

Aisles were marked with tapers, holly and roses and the altar was decorated with poinsettias and two large arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, and lighted by 66 ivory tapers in massive tree candelabra.

The Bianchi bridal gown of ivory delustered silk satin was assigned with a bell-shaped skirt, scissors pleat at the waistline with a semi-bow detail, wide scoop neckline with three-quarter sleeves and a full chapel train. The cummerbund featured embroidery of crystal and pearl.

Her tiered three-quarter veil of ivory silk illusion was caught to a matching Dior bow and embroidered in crystal and pearl. She carried a cascade of pearlescent grapes with clusters of phalanopsis orchids.

Miss Kathleen Fisher served as maid of honor for her sister, bridesmaids were Miss Mary Judith Stattmiller of Columbus, Miss Maurene Hone of Philadelphia, and the junior bridesmaid was Miss Theresa Hone, also of Philadelphia.

They were full-length gowns of sapphire blue with velvet bodices, satin belled skirts and cummerbunds, with matching pill-box hats trimmed in fur, and carried garlands of variegated holly, silvered grapes and ivory fugil chrysanthemums on white fur muffs.

Mr. William Hone, Jr., of Philadelphia, served as bestman for his brother and ushers were Mr. John Fisher, brother of the bride, and Mr. James Breslin of Philadelphia.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary of the Springs Academy and from the College of St. Mary of the Springs. She also attended the Fordham University School of Social Service in New York City, and was recently associated with the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, Division of Social Administration.

Mr. Hone was graduated from St. Thomas More High School in Philadelphia and Villanova University. He has completed his studies for a masters degree in business administration at the University of Pennsylvania, and is an associate of Touche, Ross, Bailey and Smart Co. of Philadelphia.

Effer-VESS-ence

This is Kay Jones, back again for our second visit with you . . . and hoping you'll help us out with some suggestions. Since we are interested in clubs and charities, we know how many groups will be suffering from the lack of money received from Sales Tax Stamps, now no longer available.

We are as concerned about this as you are and hope to do something through our own Vess Bottling business that will give you another source of income. We have several ideas floating around in our heads, but would welcome any suggestions you might have. Maybe Vess could give you credit for every carton of bottles returned . . . or credit on every case of beverages purchased. What are your ideas? Believe me, we are sincere in wanting to help all clubs and charities, to the best of our ability . . . so do give it some thought and drop us a line, won't you?

Since our line includes so many different beverages, there are unlimited opportunities . . . remember, Vess has 3-V Cola, Vess Flavors, White Rock, Hires Root Beer, Whistle and Bubble-Up.

We've run out of space today, so no room for a recipe . . . but try basting your ham with 3-V Cola or Bubble-Up the next time and see what a wonderful difference it makes.

We hope to hear from you soon on fund raising ideas, and meet you again here next week. Til then . . .

Hilltonia Library Serves Variety Of Cook Books

The saying that "one cook book does not make a cook" is proved daily at the Hilltonia Branch Library by the constant demand for many kinds of cook books, according to librarians.

The library's card catalog shows cook books for amateurs, for gourmets, for men only, and for professionals. Practically every type of entertaining is represented by books on chafing dish, casserole or buffet suppers, picnics, barbecues, formal dinners and cocktail parties. There are money-saving, and health-giving cook books, in addition to a wide selection of books on regional and foreign cookery.

Regional dishes can be found in such titles as "The Progressive Farmer's Southern Cook Book," "The New Pennsylvania Dutch Cook Book;" "Foods of Old New England," and "Rain, Hail, and Baked Beans."

Foreign cookery is represented by "Chinese Cooking for American Kitchens"; "Modern Swedish Cook Book", "Elna's Secrets of Mexican Cooking," "Italian Food," and "The Best of Taste," compiled by the SAC-LANT-NATO Cookbook Committee.

Persons seeking menus for easily prepared meals will find welcome suggestions in Marjorie Heseltine's "New Basic Cook Book," as well as in "365 Ways to Cook Hamburger," by Doyne

PIRATES DUMP WARRIORS, 54-50

Central Slashes Eastmoor's 17 Game Win Streak

By DALE EVANS and BILL PARKER

Central forced the Warriors of Eastmoor to walk the plank Friday by outscoring them before a capacity crowd at Central, 54-50.

The loss for Eastmoor ended a 17-game winning streak and also marked the seventh consecutive time the pesky Pirates have beaten them.

THE GAME was full of constant action from beginning to end. Eastmoor, operating with their football giants, and Central showing the usual fireball attitude, exchanged the lead several times in the first quarter, which finally ended in a 12-12 tie.

The rambling warriors, however, shot into the lead early in the second quarter on a jump shot by Frank Stavroff.

Eastmoor then prevailed their lead to their largest margin of the night 20-14.

NEVERTHELESS, Central's upset minded Pirates [illegible] the bulky Warriors into embarrassing turnovers and costly steals. Tommy Fullove, big gun for Central that night, and George Gilchrest executed several fast breaks to cut the lead to one point; but the visitors scored again to end the half 28-27.

Eastmoor, reverting to football traits, were very poor in their shooting, hitting only 15 of 62 attempts and missing 16 foul shots.

Central, who was too tight in the first half, hit 21 of 55 shots from the floor for 38 per cent.

THE THIRD period ended in a 38-38 tie which brought on the hectic, breath taking final period. Central, losing vantage when all-around players, Terry Taylor and Bill Jones fouled out, rebounded and played almost flawless ball.

Fullove, by scoring 11 points in his final stanza, paved the way for victory by scoring when most needed.

Eastmoor's final bid fell in vain as time ran out with the score 54-50.

CENTRAL, who is now tied with Eastmoor for second place in the city league competition, plays Marion-Franklin this Friday on the Marion-Franklin court.

A Sports . . . AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

USTA Fete Verified It: Something Nice With Horses

For a guy who grew up in the concrete residential district of Youngstown's north side, last Tuesday's dinner with the United States Trotting Association at the Deshler Hilton ballroom was quite an experience.

I've been told to stop horsin' around a few times, but other than that, the closest I've really ever been to a sleek, well-breed piece of horse flesh was out of a can and I fed that to my dog.

THERE'S SOMETHING magic about horsemen . . . a certain quality and likability that is seldom seen anywhere else. And, when they all get together like at last Tuesday's wing-ding, this "magic" expands all over the place.

Really Dedicated . . .

The USTA men are dedicated to the sport of harness racing like no other dedication witnessed to date.

They have a real love for the sport (not, particularly, the money) and have a genuine interest in America — in one of America's proudest sports, as so ably told by Byron D. Kuth, USTA director and chief counsel from Chesterland, O.

Call 'em all a bunch of farmers if you want to, but for my money these folks are Americans in the best sense of the word. They're not gamblers, out for a fast buck, but folks you'd be proud to have to live next door . . . proud folks with abundant sense of humor adding up to a rare and refreshing combination.

Take, for example, William B. Murray, the USTA director. He's from Wellington, O., and serves as director for the USTA. Murray acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and kept the laughs coming.

Judge Praises Ohio . . .

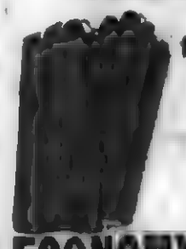
Nat U. Hill, circuit court judge from Bloomington, Ind., was the principal speaker and told the group that "any horseman who can win a race in Ohio can win a race anywhere."

The personable Hill, a horse breeder himself, related how his big ambition was to find a horse which could win a race against the tough competition at the Franklin County Fair and other Ohio tracks.

And, they tell me, the racing talent in the Columbus area can stand up against any anywhere in Ohio. And, I believe them.

Witness Wayne T. "Curly" Smart, who was recently re-elected president of the Harness Horsemen's Association. He thrilled fans for years with his prowess with trotters—just for an example.

See You Trackside . . .



So, the horse atmosphere has met man and it looks like we'll be spending a little more time trackside—not hoping that the nags will go a little faster but, rather, hoping that this horse "magic" will rub off on me.

WLW-C Is Sports Conscious

"Sports on the move" could well be a slogan synonymous with WLW-C. The TV 4 station, local outlet for the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation, has recognized over the years the great interest that competitive athletics hold for people in this area.

The pioneer television station in Columbus was first to televise Ohio State football, Jets (formerly Red Bird) baseball, high school basketball tournaments, bowling, wrestling and harness racing in this area.

Most recent of its talked-about and widely-viewed sportscasts have been the Ohio State basketball games, including the holiday tournament in Los Angeles. Because of WLW-C and three enthusiastic sponsors—every Buckeye rooter sees O.S.U.'s home and away games. Those scheduled from now till the end of the season will all be Big 10: Minnesota on Jan. 20; Purdue on Jan. 22; Northwestern on Feb. 3; Iowa on Feb. 5; Minnesota on Feb. 10; Michigan on Feb. 12; Michigan State on Feb. 17; Iowa on Feb. 20, and Wisconsin on Mar. 3.

WLW-C also picks up NBA Pro basketball which will be seen every Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Jimmy Crum and Clark Smith, known to sports fans and televiewers in this area, lead a hectic life when "sports are on the move." Crum, WLW-C sports director, who has been in the business ever since he was 14 in Mansfield, and took his free time in high school to become sports director of WMAN radio, just returned from an 8,444-mile trek as part of his job. He left Columbus for Los Angeles, along with Clark Smith and WLW-C's production manager, Jack Anthony, to cover the Ohio State games in the holiday tournament.

Railroad B&L Re-Elects Harris, Other Officers

G. D. Harris, president and director of the Railroad Building and Loan Co., 60 E. Broad-st, was re-elected to these two offices at the stockholders' meeting held Jan. 8.

Other directors re-named were R. H. Wild, chairman of the board; Donald W. Glenn, M. A. Gire and Harry Hofheimer.

Following the annual meeting the directors re-elected all present officers and personnel. Wild was elected vice-president; Mary McQuiniff, secretary; C. C. Wolf, treasurer; Doris M. Fogle, assistant secretary, and Lawson Moyer, O. L. Finks and Wanda Beck, tellers. Gumble & Hofheimer were retained as general counsel.

The secretary's report for the year showed the total assets of the company Dec. 31 were $11,009,663.

President Harris announced plans to complete extensive remodeling of the company's office building in mid-summer.

Training With Medical Unit

Army Pvt. James T. Mitchell, 17, son of Charles E. Mitchell, 1177 Highland-av, recently participated with other personnel from the 546th Medical Company in field training Exercise Snowflake in Germany.

His unit supported the fourth Fourth Armored Division in the exercise which was designed to test communication and patient evacuation procedures.

A medical aidman with the company in Karlsruhe, he entered the army in June 1961, and arrived overseas in November. Mitchell completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

ST. ALOYSIUS SCHOOL, RECTORY, SOCIAL HALL BEING RAZED

A 82-YEAR-OLD LANDMARK, soon to disappear from the Broad-st scene is the old St. Aloysius School. Demolition of the brick building, at right, vacant since the new parish elementary at 45 Midland-av was opened in September, is now under way. Also being razed are the old rectory at the rear of the original school and the frame social hall. The new rectory is located at 32 Clarendon-av. This view of the demolition is from rear of the lot, looking towards Broad-st. The area, when cleared will be used as a playground and parking lot.

Talks On Red Evils Set At Bethlehem

"The Land of the Free and Evils of Communism" will be the subject for a series of discussion sessions at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 598 S. Harris-av, each Wednesday evening from Jan. 17 to Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m.

Jan. 17, a film strip, "Communism on the Map," will be presented.

Copies of "Masters of Deceit", by J. Edgar Hoover, will be distributed. Chapters of this book; and tape recordings on the subject of Communism (furnished by the Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Company) will constitute the source of material for the discussion periods.

The public is invited to attend these interesting and informative programs.

GREENE IS INSTALLED

HILLTOP BUSINESS ASSOCIATION Executive Secretary C. H. Campbell (left) and Probate Judge Joseph Van Heyde (right) were among the first to offer best wishes to Nelson Greene, Jr., following his installation Jan. 10 as association president. 'Cap' Hoover—hand, briefly, to confirm Hoover's appointment to the Parks Commission.

The 63-year-old South Side YMCA executive secretary until Jan. 1 desired to remain in civic life and appeared elated over Westlake's appointment.

He'll begin his new job following a few months in Tampa, Fla.

The reason for Westlake's brief appearance — along with Council President William Hicks — was due to City Council meeting the same evening.

"We're doing what we used to do at West High School, 'Cap'," the mayor said to Hoover, " . . . playing hookey."

Westlake continued his tribute by saying, "Thank you for all you did for all of us. You have too much ability and energy to be idle. Your services will be used to great advantage in the Parks Commission."

The Mayor also read a proclamation honoring Hoover and Council President Hicks read a resolution of tribute.

Telegrams and tape recordings flooded the auditorium from Hoover's many friends while Mrs. Grace Hoover, "Cap's" mother, smiled proudly from the first row center, flanked by Mrs. C. L. Dumaree, wife of the master of ceremonies, board of education official and former South High principal.

Highlighting the evening was the presentation of a 1962 Ford Fairlane to Hoover by the program committee which represented the appreciation of all those who knew him.

They flattered him further with several standing ovations.

During the "This Is Your Life" segment of the program, narrated by Hoover's long-time friend and chief WBNS announcer Russ Cantor, some of the following people and accompanying comments were presented:

R. L. DICKINSON (First hired Hoover at the YMCA) — "The three years you worked for me made a great impression and you gave great contributions to the life of the community . . . I'm proud of you."

ALVA EDWARDS (Former South High principal) — "You spoke our language, 'Cap' . . . we could work with you in an unique way."

BILL HESS (Head football coach at Ohio University) — "Everyday, in so many ways, I use the same guidance practices you taught to me."

DR. RAY BETHEL (Long-time friend and South Side physician) — "Your influence in the South Side has been tremendous . . . you're a great and successful man."

JAMES A. RHODES (Former Columbus Mayor now State auditor) — "You constructed and cultivated the youth of our city . . . you're a Christian gentleman and a man with a cause."

The praises and eulogies glowed on. They came from folks like Mary Borror, a telegram from Dr. Harold Eibling (detained with the flu), Dr. William Heintz, Clyde Moore and a host of others.

WILLIAM HICKS — "We used to have lunch together, "Cap," and you'd tell me whether I was heading the right way or the wrong way . . . I'll still look to you for advice . . . I wish you well in your retirement and God's speed."

SOMEONE THINKS ABOUT ELECTRICITY

The nice thing about electricity is that you don't have to think about it. You don't. But the man shown here does.

He's an engineer whose plant is considering a move. It's his job to make sure there's plenty of low-cost electric power available at the as-yet-undetermined new plant site. That's where we come in.

Our job is to not only sell him on the merits of our electric service, but on the merits of the entire Columbus area. We take our job of "selling" Columbus seriously. Because every new industry we help bring into Columbus means new jobs, new money in circulation, new growth for all of us.

Helping industry everywhere realize that Columbus is advantageously located "in the middle of marketing America" is one of several important services we perform in addition to supplying you with economical electric power. We thought you'd like to know about it.

Population explosions . . . decentralization . . . changing patterns of living . . . out of these emerges a new power—the suburban newspaper—serving all factors. It is the vital, dynamic force in communications to its community and therefore to the nation.

The progressive suburban newspaper recognizes its new position, its growing responsibilities. It must keep its readers informed on such important topics as local tax rates, zoning laws, public utilities, schools, local elections . . . on civic projects and problems of community concern. It must report national and urban developments as they relate to its own community progress. It must meet the challenge of leadership.

The Suburban Press Foundation, originating in the Chicago area, is a membership association of progressive suburban newspaper publishers banded together in a cooperative research and development program. Its primary objective is to help publishers determine and meet their responsibilities to the suburban people . . . to suburban business and industry . . . and to the entire suburban community.

Council—

HTR — W. S. Council 3-60 P H ramps on Town and Rich-sts and Greenlawn-av.

No. 8—Replacement of blinker light at Grubb and Town-sts with a permanent traffic light at Gift and Town-sts.

No. 11—Installation of a traffic light at Davis-av and Town-st (delayed until one-way system comes to Town and Rich-sts).

No. 20—Straightening and widening of Central-av at Mound-st.

One-Ways Approved

As reported earlier in this newspaper, the 10 WSNC proposals approved by the Traffic Commission are:

No. 2—Elimination of parking on the south side of Cable-av from Central-av east to Yale-av. Erection of stop signs at Princeton and Cable-ave and yield signs at other street intersections on Cable.

No. 3—Retention of all traffic lights presently placed, except changing the one at Davis-av and Broad-st to one at Souder-av and Broad. It should be noted that a pedestrian problem exists at Hartford-av and Broad, where the area's only grocery store is on one side of Broad, and the Post Office is on the other.

No. 7—Conversion of the following streets to one-way, running from Broad-st on the north to Sullivant-av on the south.

South — Cypress, Avondale, Martin and Souder. North—Dakota, Hawkes, Hartford and Davis.

No. 10—Erection of speed law signs on all West Side streets.

No. 17—Taking down of no-parking signs erected on the south side of Renick-av during construction of the expressway.

No. 18—Conversion of the following streets to one-way, running from Central-av to Ryan-av: Union-av, west; and Walsh-av, east. Thomas-av was deleted by necessity.

No. 19—Erection of stop signs on State and Rich-sts from Central-av to Yale-av.

No. 21—Request of attention and solution to underpass flooding on Central-av north of Mound-st.

No. 22—Retiming traffic light at Avondale-av and Broad-st to allow longer span of time for school children and other north-south pedestrian traffic to cross.

No. 23—Erection of good lighting under the expressway at overpasses of Rich and Town-sts and Sullivant-av.

After so complete a presentation of WSNC accomplishments, enthusiastic West Siders agreed that about the only "holes" in the program were those in the donuts served with coffee at the close of the meeting. The next public session will be held Thursday, Mar. 8 at Gladden. The executive committee will meet Thursday, Feb. 8 to name committee chairmen for 1962.

Get Gas, But Stop Motor

If you want to spare your favorite service station attendant a possible severe fine and jail sentence and avoid a costly repair bill yourself, shut your motor off next time you get gasoline.

At least one motorist discovered the consequences last Thursday of what can happen if you don't.

His idling car backfired as he was getting gas at a Livingston-av station starting a fire in the fuel tank.

The City Code specifies that an attendant can be fined as much as $500 and sentenced to six months in the workhouse for pumping gas into a car which has its motor running.

But, Lt. Richard B. Evans, a member of the fire prevention squad, said that first offenders are usually only fined $15.

A number of service station managers said they were aware of the law but pointed out most motorists complain when they are told to turn their motors off.

help select the proper site for the center," Mrs. Booth said. "And one way is to come to Community Council and discuss it."

"Original plans are way out of date," she declared. "I personally feel that the most accessable spot is near the circle at Parkside and Westgate-av," she added.

HELP WITH REPORT

How Much Gold In Fort Knox? Ask Us . . . Or, Roberta

By John Auble, Jr.

It just goes to show ya, . . . if you want all the news, just pick up a copy of the Hartley Newspapers. We even take the "hiss" out of history.

The whole thing started last week with a phone call from Roberta, an eighth grade student at Roosevelt Junior High School, who asked, "Excuse me, Mister, but could you tell me how much gold there is in Fort Knox?"

"Not quite sure," we said.

"I think I saw it printed in your paper," she persisted.

Sure enough, it was in the Dec. 27 issues. Publisher C. Carlton Hartley had uncovered it and printed the item in his Spectator column.

We even scooped the U.S. Treasury Department with our little gem of information.

You see, Miss McCala needed the information for a history project assigned her by Samuel Williams, history instructor at Roosevelt.

So, she wrote to the Treasury Department in Washington, D.C. requesting a list of information — including the amount of gold now at Fort Knox.

She received all the information she needed —all, that is, except the gold figure.

She felt her history report just wouldn't be the same without it so she gave Hartley Newspapers a call.

Now, the 13-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCala, 1321 Oakwood-av, feels confident that her history report is a success — even though she hasn't received a grade on it yet.

"I was sure glad to find out the information," she said, "and I'm going to buy my very own subscription to your newspaper."

Oh yes, for anyone else writing history reports on Fort Knox, there's exactly $19 billion dollars on hand this year.

Tell 'em where you got it.

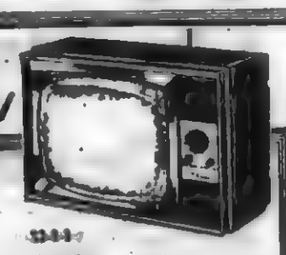
All persons having Ohio Vendor licenses are required to file their next semi-annual sales tax returns by Jan. 31, 1962, for the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1961, according to announcement today by the Department of Taxation, Division of Sales, Excise and Highway Use Taxes.

Returns mailed to the Treasurer of State should be postmarked not later than Jan. 31, to avoid a $1.00 a day charge for delinquent filing.

To assist vendors with these returns, the Department of Taxation has arranged that examiners will be available at the 1st District Office, 240 Parsons-av, telephone CA. 1-1265, Ext. 242, and the Central Office, 68 E. Gay-st, 3rd floor, to assist vendors from Jan. 1 through Jan. 31, 1962, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Saturday, 240 Parsons-av, only, 8 a.m. to 12 noon).



Vendors seeking assistance from examiners will be required to present all records necessary to substantiate the figures to be reported.

THANK YOU'S of many descriptions were handed to Publisher C. Carlton Hartley, Tuesday night at Westinghouse auditorium, in special tribute to his 14 years of community leadership in the YMCA. About 400 persons attended the Hilltop "Y" branch's annual meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley (right) assisted by friends, display some of the mementos of the evening. These included plaques, certificates, a scroll, caricature, bound volume of letters, Hilltop's traditional King of the Hilltop crown and "trophy," and a framed peacepipe, fashioned by youngsters of the "Y" Indian Guides. Others in the picture are (from left) Al Hollowell, executive director of the Hilltop "Y"; William E. Jones of the "Y" Board; and Richard Ninde, member of the Metropolitan Board and chairman of the second phase of the Metropolitan YM-YW Development Campaign. Mrs. Hartley received an orchid from Hilltop "Y" Mothers' Council.

'Y' Testimonial Honors Publisher For Service

"We have conquered our own Mt. Everest . . . and C. C. Hartley inspired us to climb."

With these words William E. Jones, Hilltop YMCA Board member, set the spirit of a program Tuesday evening that attracted 400 people to Westinghouse Auditorium.

Members, parents and friends of Y'sdom packed into the cafeteria and later the auditorium, to mark the first year of the new Hilltop Branch YMCA, and to pay tribute to Hartley and others "whose vision helped make this community-wide program possible."

The testimonial, feature of the Hilltop YMCA annual dinner meeting, honored Hartley for his role in the 14-year history of the local facility and in the advancement of "Y" work throughout the city.

Mrs. Hartley shared honors with her husband, "for her generous cooperation and understanding," and was presented an orchid by Mrs. Harry Miller, president of Hilltop "Y" mothers' council.

Rick Curtis and Dan Walker expressed youth's gratitude for the "Y" by presenting plaques to Hartley and to Jerry Spears, charter members of the Hilltop "Y" Board.

Spears Gives Response

Spears, in his response, credited the support of the community for making the recreation facility possible in a relatively short span of time. He addressed the audience with "Thank God and thank you for providing a place for young people to go and take part in activities of this type."

A life membership in the Hilltop Longhouse, YMCA Indian Guides, was accompanied by a peacepipe, gifts to "Big Chief Hartley" from the young braves. Mel Senerius, big chief of the Franklin County Indian Guide Federation, made the presentation.

Dewey Parris, international director of Y's Men and charter member of the Hilltop Club, instituted jointly by Hartley and Robert Schmidt in 1955, handed the honor guest a plaque and life membership in the club. Victor Karl is president of Hilltop Club.

C. H. Campbell, executive secretary of the Hilltop Business Association, lauded Hartley for his "continuing efforts to make the Hilltop a better place to live," and presented him a version of the traditional King of the Hilltop "trophy" awarded annually at the Bean Dinner, and conferred the title, "Honorary King Of The Hilltop."

Representatives of the Metropolitan YM-YWCA were on hand with commendations for his leadership in the joint Development Fund Drive, and presented him with his likeness in caricature drawn by Eugene Craig.

Present were Mrs. Harold Schellinger of the YWCA Metropolitan Board; Fred Hill, past president of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA and present member of the group.

Richard C. Ninde, member of the Metropolitan Board and chairman of the second phase of the YM-YW Development Campaign, and C. J. Dyer, general executive of the Metropolitan YMCA.

John B. Roman, chairman of the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management, presented Hartley a bound book of letters sent from "Y" associates — former board members and friends.

And, Madison County commissioners named him an honorary citizen of the county.

Hartley, receiving the honors with mixed emotions, declined full credit for the YMCA program on the Hilltop, explaining earnestly, "This was not of my doing. This is the will of a community who saw a job to do and set about doing it.

"The vision of those associated in this effort has resulted in something fine for the community. And now I would like a hand in finishing the job at the Hilltop "Y" — and would be happy to serve on a committee to do something about providing a swimming pool."

Hartley, publisher of Hartley Newspapers, was charter president of the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management and served until 1961, and was chairman of the first phase of the YM-YW Metropolitan Development Campaign.

Dr. A. J. Wold, minister emeritus of Hoge Memorial Church gave the prayer of dedication. Rev. James Dunaway, Glenwood Methodist Church gave the invocation.

D. E. Fighter spoke a welcome on behalf of Westinghouse, explaining that the company was returning hospitality received from the "Y". He recalled many times in many cities during war years, when facilities were hard to find, that meetings had been arranged at the YMCAs, and lauded the leaders for their neighborliness.

Division Conducts Own Review Of JDC Incident

State Department of Mental Health and Hygiene officials are looking for ways to prevent another disturbance at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center, 2280 W. Broad-st. A person-to-person interview of youth supervision employes was being concluded today.

Five boys, between the ages of 15 and 17, were dislodged last Friday morning by Ohio State Patrol tear gas after they barricaded themselves in the institution's TV room. They apparently were incited by a 17-year-old who was about to be transferred to Boys Industrial School.

The boys were still in the institution today, pending the outcome of the investigation being conducted by John Ferguson, chief of the Division of Juvenile Research.

Ferguson said he questioned 17 staff members Monday and seven more Tuesday, asking each for suggestions on how to avoid such incidents in the future. "Most of the replies pertained to improved operational needs," he said—"better recreation, for one."

"I have yet to talk to anyone who has said he is afraid of these youngsters," he continued, "although the cottage parents must remain alert constantly for signs of trouble. In terms of population (just under 300) we seem to be well staffed except in the case of sick leave and vacations."

In Friday's incident, the boys broke up about $100 worth of furniture and put a TV set out of commission. They also tore out restraining screens and broke a window.

Ferguson said there is little segregation in the institution which consists of a number of wards under one roof. "This is because most of the boys and girls are here for only a few weeks during a classification process. After that they are moved on to the appropriate institutions," he said.

"We do have 26 of the most unruly ones in two special wards," he added, "and another 40 are receiving psychiatric treatment." None of the inmates was being questioned about the Friday incident, Ferguson said.

One former JDC employe interviewed by this newspaper said the work of a cottage parent "certainly is no picnic." "There is no security for them when the wards are locked up," she declared. "Actually, the department has to scrape the bottom of the barrel to fill the jobs. And when I left last year, those people were being hired at only $220 a month. It's hard to get dedicated people at that wage."

Runaways from the institution are fairly common. The fence, although heeled up in some places to a height of 10 feet, can be scaled. Several N. Wheatland-av residents have seen the getaways, but few seemed alarmed that the youngsters would break into the homes. "They're too

Valleyview's Mayor Dies

Norris S. Boothe, 66, of 514 N. Harris-av, Mayor of Valleyview, died unexpectedly in the emergency room of Mt. Carmel Hospital Tuesday night.

Boothe, a retired railroad employe, was appointed to the village's top office three years ago to serve out a year remaining when Charles Ringer resigned.

He then ran for the office two years ago and won. In November of 1961 he was again elected.

Boothe was a member of the Hilltop Lutheran Church and Nebacati F&AM.

He is survived by one daughter, Myrna of the residence; two sons Dr. Norris Boothe and Dr. Harry Boothe, both of Chicago, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Jerry Spears Funeral Home.

Norris S. Boothe

Second-semester classes include arc welding, electric motor repair and rewinding, electronics II, machine shop, machine shop theory, practical algebra and geometry and trigonometry.

Additional classes will be organized in other vocational subjects provided a minimum of 15 qualified adults register and facilities are available.

Fees are determined on a cost basis.

Churches Are Asked To Aid Welfare Drive

Because of the reported crisis in the local welfare situation, several South Side churches—representing the South Side Settlement House — are requesting West area churches to join and support a campaign to collect necessities.

One of the churches contacted was the Glenwood Methodist, which was asked to collect "canned and dried foods, warm used clothing — especially for children 5 to 10 years of age — blankets and comforters."

Mrs. Harrison Jones, president of the women's society at Glenwood Church, said the requests were sent by letter to many church groups which support the South Side Settlement.

The Settlement will serve as a distribution point for all church-collected items.

The Welfare Problem — with suggested solutions — is reviewed on this week's Hartley Newspapers editorial page.

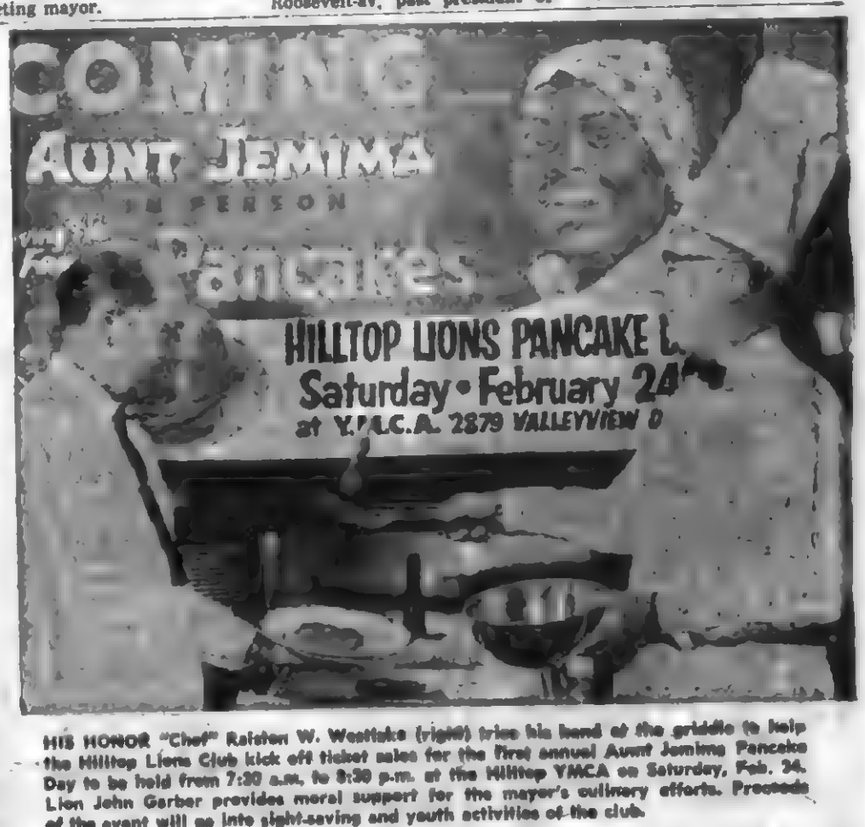
Citizenship Committee Aiding School Project

The same booklet that has been used by thousands of immigrants who are working toward U.S. citizenship has also been selected to help Columbus area school children observe "Freedom Appreciation Month" in February.



Citizenship Committee Inc., has placed an order for 200 copies of "Manual of Citizenship," a publication of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It is to be distributed to every teacher of American history, government or history in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, to elementary school principals and to every branch librarian.

Mrs. George Briner, 1058 S. Roosevelt-av, past president of the Citizenship Committee said the manual "tells in lay language what most Americans don't know about their own country."

"It is distressing," she said, "that most of our foreign-born know more about our documents, presidents and history than we do. We think it is commendable that Superintendent Eibling has suggested Freedom Appreciation Month here." She said Monsignor Bennett Applegate has requested 75 copies of the manual for parochial schools.

Part of the cost is being underwritten by Ann Simpson Davis Chapter of the DAR through arrangements by Mrs. Harry Emrick, 283 S. Huron-av, regent.

Pancake Day To Replace Hilltop Lions' Annual Light Bulb Sale

No one's asked you yet to buy tickets to the Hilltop Lions Aunt Jemima Pancake Sale to be held Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Hilltop YMCA?

"Don't worry; they will!"

This was the promise of Robert Bethel, general chairman of the pancake sale, a project which will replace the traditional "Light for Sight" lightbulb sale of the Hilltop Lions Club.

Bethel said that each one of the 30 Lions in the club has "two whole fistful of tickets and will be approaching friends, relatives and neighbors starting this week. Since the project has the approval of the City Charity Solicitations Board, you may find club members knocking on your door in a "cold-canvass" attempt to sell tickets. In case you are not approached, come anyway. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Benefits go for the sight-saving and youth activities work of the club and every cent of the proceeds will go for the good of the Hilltop and West Side communities, Bethel said.

Electric griddles, loaned courtesy of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., will be turning out heaps of steaming pancakes continuously from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 24. Aunt Jemima will be there in person all day.

Tickets, costing $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under the age of 12, entitle holders to eat as many pancakes as they wish, with a generous serving of link sausage, and choice of milk or coffee to drink, Bethel

How Much Gold In Fort Knox? Ask Us . . . Or, Roberta

By John Auble, Jr.

It just goes to show ya, . . . if you want all the news, just pick up a copy of the Hartley Newspapers. We even take the "hiss" out of history.

Pretty, red-haired Roberta McCala did — now she's all smiles.

The whole thing started last week with a phone call from Roberta, an eighth grade student at Roosevelt Junior High School, who asked, "Excuse me, Mister, but could you tell me how much gold there is in Fort Knox?"

"Not quite sure," we said.

"I think I saw it printed in your paper," she persisted.

Sure enough, it was in the Dec. 27 issues. Publisher C. Carlton Hartley had uncovered it and printed the item in his Spectator column.

We even scooped the U.S. Treasury Department with our little gem of information.

You see, Miss McCala needed the information for a history project assigned her by Samuel Williams, history instructor at Roosevelt.

So, she wrote to the Treasury Department in Washington, D.C. requesting a list of information — including the amount of gold now at Fort Knox.

She received all the information she needed —all, that is, except the gold figure.

She felt her history report just wouldn't be the same without it so she gave Hartley Newspapers a call.

Now, the 13-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCala, 1321 Oakwood-av, feels confident that her history report is a success — even though she hasn't received a grade on it yet.

"I was sure glad to find out the information," she said, "and I'm going to buy my very own subscription to your newspaper."

Oh yes, for anyone else writing history reports on Fort Knox, there's exactly $19 billion dollars on hand this year.

Tell 'em where you got it.

THANK YOU'S of many descriptions were handed to Publisher C. Carlton Hartley, Tuesday night at Westinghouse auditorium, in special tribute to his 14 years of community leadership in the YMCA. About 400 persons attended the Hilltop "Y" branch's annual meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley (right) assisted by friends, display some of the mementos of the evening. These included plaques, certificates, a scroll, caricature, bound volume of letters, Hilltop's traditional King of the Hilltop crown and "trophy," and a framed peacepipe, fashioned by youngsters of the "Y" Indian Guides. Others in the picture are (from left) Al Hollowell, executive director of the Hilltop "Y"; William E. Jones of the "Y" Board; and Richard Ninde, member of the Metropolitan Board and chairmen of the second phase of the Metropolitan YM-YW Development Campaign. Mrs. Hartley received an orchid from Hilltop "Y" Mothers' Council.

'Y' Testimonial Honors Publisher For Service

"We have conquered our own Mt. Everest . . . and C. C. Hartley inspired us to climb."

With these words William E. Jones, Hilltop YMCA Board member, set the spirit of a program Tuesday evening that attracted 400 people to Westinghouse Auditorium.

Members, parents and friends of Y'dom packed into the cafeteria and later the auditorium, to mark the first year of the new Hilltop Branch YMCA, and to pay tribute to Hartley and others "whose vision helped make this community-wide program possible."

The testimonial, feature of the Hilltop YMCA annual dinner meeting, honored Hartley for his role in the 14-year history of the local facility and in the advancement of "Y" work throughout the city.

Mrs. Hartley shared honors with her husband, "for her generous cooperation and understanding," and was presented an orchid by Mrs. Harry Miller, president of Hilltop "Y" mothers' council.

Rick Curtis and Dan Walker expressed youth's gratitude for the "Y" by presenting plaques to Hartley and to Jerry Spears, charter members of the Hilltop "Y" Board.

Spears Gives Response

Spears, in his response, credited the support of the community for making the recreation facility possible in a relatively short span of time. He addressed the audience with "Thank God and thank you for providing a place for young people to go and take part in activities of this type."

A life membership in the Hilltop Longhouse, YMCA Indian Guides, was accompanied by a peacepipe, gifts to "Big Chief Hartley" from the young braves. Mel Senerius, big chief of the Franklin County Indian Guide Federation, made the presentation.

Dewey Parris, international director of Y's Men and charter member of the Hilltop Club, instituted jointly by Hartley and Robert Schmidt in 1955, handed the honor guest a plaque and life membership in the club. Victor Karl is president of Hilltop Club.

C. H. Campbell, executive secretary of the Hilltop Business Association, lauded Hartley for his "continuing efforts to make the Hilltop a better place to live," and presented him a version of the traditional King of the Hilltop "trophy" awarded annually at the Bean Dinner, and conferred the title, "Honorary King Of The Hilltop."

Representatives of the Metropolitan YM-YWCA were on hand with commendations for his leadership in the joint Development Fund Drive, and presented him with his likeness in caricature drawn by Eugene Craig.

Present were Mrs. Harold Schellinger of the YWCA Metropolitan Board; Fred Hill, past president of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA and present member of the group.

Richard C. Ninde, member of the Metropolitan Board and chairman of the second phase of the YM-YW Development Campaign, and C. J. Dyer, general executive of the Metropolitan YMCA.

John B. Roman, chairman of the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management, presented Hartley a bound book of letters sent from "Y" associates — former board members and friends.

And, Madison County commissioners named him an honorary citizen of the county.

Hartley, receiving the honors with mixed emotions, declined full credit for the YMCA program on the Hilltop, explaining earnestly, "This was not of my doing. This is the will of a community who saw a job to do and set about doing it.

"The vision of those associated in this effort has resulted in something fine for the community. And now I would like a hand in finishing the job at the Hilltop "Y" — and would be happy to serve on a committee to do something about providing a swimming pool."

Hartley, publisher of Hartley Newspapers, was charter president of the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management and served until 1961, and was chairman of the first phase of the YM-YW Metropolitan Development Campaign.

Dr. A. J. Wold, minister emeritus of Hoge Memorial Church gave the prayer of dedication. Rev. James Dunaway, Glenwood Methodist Church gave the invocation.

D. R. Fighter spoke a welcome on behalf of Westinghouse, explaining that the company was returning hospitality received from the "Y". He recalled many times in many cities during war years, when facilities were hard to find, that meetings had been arranged at the YMCAs, and lauded the leaders for their neighborliness.

Division Conducts Own Review Of JDC Incident

State Department of Mental Health and Hygiene officials are looking for ways to prevent another disturbance at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center, 2280 W. Broad-st. A person-to-person interview of youth supervision employes was being concluded today.

Five boys, between the ages of 15 and 17, were dislodged last Friday morning by Ohio State Patrol tear gas after they barricaded themselves in the institution's TV room. They apparently were incited by a 17-year-old who was about to be transferred to Boys Industrial School.

The boys were still in the institution today, pending the outcome of the investigation being conducted by John Ferguson, chief of the Division of Juvenile Research.

Ferguson said he questioned 17 staff members Monday and seven more Tuesday, asking each for suggestions on how to avoid such incidents in the future. "Most of the replies pertained to improved operational needs," he said—"better recreation, for one."

"I have yet to talk to anyone who has said he is afraid of these youngsters," he continued, "although the cottage parents must remain alert constantly for signs of trouble. In terms of population (just under 300) we seem to be well staffed except in the case of sick leave and vacations."

In Friday's incident, the boys broke up about $100 worth of furniture and put a TV set out of commission. They also tore out restraining screens and broke a window.

Ferguson said there is little segregation in the institution which consists of a number of wards under one roof. "This is because most of the boys and girls are here for only a few weeks during a classification process. After that they are moved on to the appropriate institutions," he said.

"We do have 26 of the most unruly ones in two special wards," he added, "and another 40 are receiving psychiatric treatment." None of the inmates was being questioned about the Friday incident, Ferguson said.

One former JDC employe interviewed by this newspaper said the work of a cottage parent "certainly is no picnic." "There is no security for them when the wards are locked up," she declared. "Actually, the department has to scrape the bottom of the barrel to fill the jobs. And when I left last year, those people were being hired at only $220 a month. It's hard to get dedicated people at that wage."

Runaways from the institution are fairly common. The fence, although heefed up in some places to a height of 10 feet, can be scaled. Several N. Wheatland-av residents have seen the getaways, but few seemed alarmed that the youngsters would break into the homes. "They're too

Adult Trade Classes Set At Central

Second-semester Adult Vocational Trade Extension classes, part of Columbus Public Schools' program for more than 25 years, will begin at Central High School Feb. 5.

Adult Vocational Trade Extension classes are offered to develop further the skills and technical knowledge needed by an individual already engaged in a trade or industrial occupation.

Registration will be held for one hour only, from 7 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 31, in Room at Central High School.

Second-semester classes include arc welding, electric motor repair and rewinding, electronics II, machine shop, machine shop theory, practical algebra and geometry and trigonometry.

Additional classes will be organized in other vocational subjects provided a minimum of 15 qualified adults register and facilities are available.

Fees are determined on a cost basis.

Churches Are Asked To Aid Welfare Drive

Because of the reported crisis in the local welfare situation, several South Side churches—representing the South Side Settlement House — are requesting West area churches to join and support a campaign to collect necessities.

One of the churches contacted was the Glenwood Methodist, which was asked to collect "canned and dried foods, warm used clothing — especially for children 5 to 10 years of age — blankets and comforters."

Mrs. Harrison Jones, president of the women's society at Glenwood Church, said the requests were sent by letter to many church groups which support the South Side Settlement.

The Settlement will serve as a distribution point for all church-collected items.

The Welfare Problem — with suggested solutions — is reviewed on this week's Hartley Newspapers editorial page.

Notice To All Subscribers

Your co-operation is earnestly requested in notifying Hartley Newspapers of any change of address prior to the time you move. The Post Office Department has increased to 10 cents the cost of returning undeliverable copies to us.

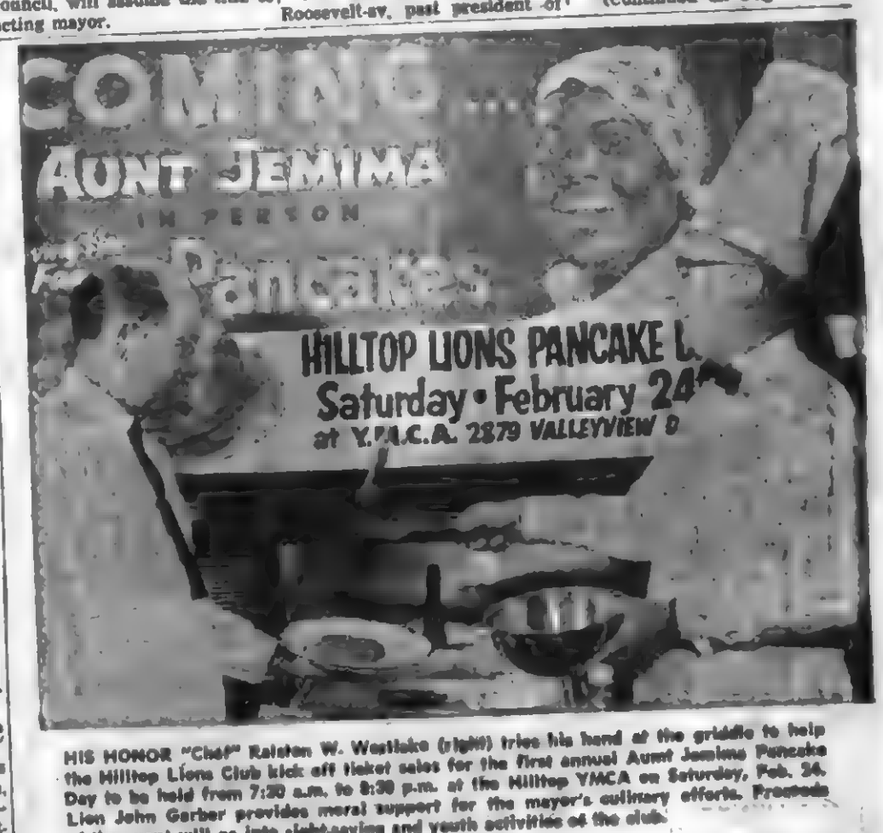
Citizenship Committee Aiding School Project

The same booklet that has been used by thousands of immigrants who are working toward U.S. citizenship has also been selected to help Columbus area school children observe "Freedom Appreciation Month" in February.



Citizenship Committee Inc., has placed an order for 300 copies of "Manual of Citizenship," a publication of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It is to be distributed to every teacher of American history, government or history in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, to elementary school principals and to every branch librarian.

Mrs. George Griner, 1066 S. Roosevelt-av, past president of the Citizenship Committee said the manual "tells in lay language what most Americans don't know about their own country."

"It is distressing," she said, "that most of our foreign-born know more about our documents, presidents and history than we do. We think it is commendable that Superintendent Ebling has suggested Freedom Appreciation Month here." She said Monsignor Bennett Applegate has requested 75 copies of the manual for parochial schools.

Part of the cost is being underwritten by Ann Simpson Davis Chapter of the DAR through arrangements by Mrs. Harry Emrick, 233 S. Huron-av, regent.

Pancake Day To Replace Hilltop Lions' Annual Light Bulb Sale

No one's asked you yet to buy tickets to the Hilltop Lions Aunt Jemima Pancake Sale to be held Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Hilltop YMCA?

"Don't worry; they will!"

This was the promise of Robert Bethel, general chairman of the pancake sale, a project which will replace the traditional "Light for Sight" lightbulb sale of the Hilltop Lions Club.

Bethel said that each one of the 89 Lions in the club has "two whole fistsful of tickets and will be approaching friends, relatives and neighbors starting this week. Since the project has the approval of the City Charity Solicitations Board, you may find club members knocking on your door in a "cold-canvass" attempt to sell tickets. In case you are not approached, come anyway. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Benefits go for the sight-saving and youth activities work of the club and every cent of the proceeds will go for the good of the Hilltop and West Side communities, Bethel said.

Electric griddles, loaned courtesy of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., will be turning out heaps of steaming pancakes continuously from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 24. Aunt Jemima will be there in person all day.

Tickets, costing $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under the age of 12, entitle holders to eat as many pancakes as they wish, with a generous serving of link sausage, and choice of milk or coffee to drink, Bethel

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Hilltop Longhouse of Indian Guides met at the "Y" last week and outlined preliminary plans for their annual Match Box Derby. Tentative plans call for this year's event to be held Apr. 1. All Big and Little Braves will receive further information in the next edition of the "Smoke Signal."

A nominating committee was set up to select a slate of officers for the coming year. Current Longhouse officers are Chief Bob Kerr; Sub-Chief, Al Stephens; Tally Keeper, Bill Myers; and Wampum Bearer, Bob Walker. Mel Benerius is now serving as the Franklin County Federation Chief and Stephens as Federation Tally Keeper.

Members of Hilltonia, Westmoor and West Jr. Hi-Y Clubs held their monthly combined meeting Monday at the "Y". Aurelius Thomas, former West High graduate and Ohio State All American, was the high light speaker. Westmoor and West are now in the closing stages of a popcorn sale.

Rick Finke and Bill Johannes have been selected by West Sr. Hi-Y to be the two representatives to the Youth-In-Government Model Legislature. These two candidates will travel to Otterbein College Feb. 10 to participate in a pre-legislative training conference. Members of the West Club are now in the process of developing a bill which will be presented at this program.

The Annual World Service Mint Sale will begin Feb. 16. Members of Hilltop "Y" Gra-Y, Jr. Hi-Y and Indian Guide tribes will participate in this venture to raise funds to carry on the work of the YMCA in 76 countries around the world. These salesmen will be competing for a fine selection of prizes for top efforts.

A camp savings plan is now available for all prospective Camp Willson campers. Stamps are sold for 25 cents each and all money saved by this method is applied towards the cost of attending camp. Further information is available at the Hilltop "Y" office.

The Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Dance Team has resumed its regular schedule of practices at the "Y" on each Saturday morning at 8. Russ Crawford is serving as Tom Tom Boster for this group.

The Hilltop YMCA annual meeting will be held Jan. 23 at Westinghouse. Tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.50 for boys under 18. Tickets are available at the "Y" or from members of various "Y" groups.

At a recent Longhouse Pow Wow judging of outstanding tribal properties was held. Two "Y" secretaries from Columbus served as judges. The Cheyenne tribe took top honors in the totem pole and property box classes. The Pawnee tribe took first place in the tomtom category. A special mention was given to an invitation made by a member of the newly formed Crow tribe.

All regular programs are now under way. The youth center hours for grade school youngsters are from 3:15 to 5 each day after school. Junior and senior high school students who hold Hilltop YMCA memberships are eligible to use this facility each evening, Monday through Thursday from 7 to 9. Feature length movies are highlighted each Saturday morning at 10 with the exception of the first Saturday of the month, which is set aside for "All Day at the "Y".

The Youth Coin Club will again be meeting each Monday evening at 7. Immediate plans call for an election of officers. Any youth member of the "Y" is invited to join this group.

March Of Dimes Still Very Important

With the promise "Your Dimes Will Do It Again," the 1962 New March of Dimes campaign has begun.

Well we know what your contributions to this national voluntary health agency did to polio. With March of Dimes funds The National Foundation financed the development of the Salk and then the Sabin vaccines.

Now the National Foundation's nationwide medical research program is being applied to the prevention of two other disabling diseases, birth defects and arthritis. Actually, these two are even more formidable than polio ever was. Arthritis affects 11,000,000 Americans. Of these 30,000 are children and adolescents and 16,000 of these youngsters need medical care each year.And each year 250,000 children are born with a significant birth defect. That's one out of every 16 babies.

The need is immediate and pressing. Often these diseases can overwhelm a family — both economically and psychologically.

So the March of Dimes organization has expanded its traditional and unique patient-aid program by authorizing aid to victims of all kinds of birth defects and financing evaluation clinics and special treatment centers at hospitals and other medical institutions in many parts of the country. These facilities offer the expert services of medical specialists working as a team to alleviate the medical, economic and social problems of the patient and his family.

All of this will mean a greater demand for research and medical skills. Therefore, part of the funds raised in January in this county will be set aside to train new hands in research and medicine under The National Foundation's program of professional education.

Your dimes — and dollars too — will do it again if you say "Yes" to the New March of Dimes.

COMPLEX PROBLEMS now facing families on relief are cause for many community meetings such as this one at Lincoln Park School in the South Side. John Maloney of St. Stephen's Community House (back to camera) is giving the best advice he can to a crowd of more than 100 persons.

People Must Take Action To Solve Welfare Situation

An almost unbelievable number of people in the Greater Columbus area right now are faced with impossible choices.

We refer to those on reduced poor relief and the children who are suffering because of the cutback in services at Franklin Village.

As the grip of water has become tighter, the plight of some families has dipped to the depths of simple survival. Already seriously short of food, they now are found living in shabby, unheated rooms. Freezing weather has curtailed even the humblest of outdoor labor.

The near fatal monoxide poisoning of a family of 13, huddled around a pot of charcoal made big headlines. But what of those cases almost as bad, that are not reaching public notice? Agencies close to these people are holding meetings to give the answers as squarely as they can. The victims are told simply that the poor relief-county home levy failed in last November's election and the budget had to be slashed nearly in half. Now we face the consequences.

It is true that some families are perennial problems. They fail to save anything for "a rainy day." They spend it on booze or gambling. But they may be negligent in other ways not so corrupt. In a show of hands at a recent emergency gathering of reliefers only half had even bothered to go to the polls to vote for the very levy that could have helped them!

But the need is immediate. Social agencies, such as the South Side Settlement House are grasping for the solution. Mrs. Fannie Eisenstein, of the settlement staff, told Hartley Newspapers this week: "It's very hard to execute the program of this United Appeal agency when people are starving to death."

The settlements may hold some of the answers during the current days of struggle. They are for the most part located in the areas of greatest distress. They know the people. What they need now is more resources—human and material.

Could not the settlements and welfare houses do more if: 1. more neighbors, churches, service clubs would volunteer their spare evenings to gather food, clothing, other necessities. 2. they could be local distribution points for surplus commodities. (A destitute family which spends a dollar for cab fare to pick up foodstuffs downtown is losing much of what it gains.) 3. some recreation programs could be shelved temporarily in favor of a miniature employment agency project. It is our belief that there are hundreds of widows, elderly and others among the homeowners who would have a few pennies to give reliable reliefers who could spend a morning washing walls and windows, or making simple home repairs.

It is important that the public be made to realize that not all welfare cases involve "chiselers," just as the fact that not all politicians are mixed up in graft. Granted, there are some on the welfare list that don't deserve to be there. But, as we said in our endorsement of the Welfare Levy last fall, the innocent should not suffer.

Administrative problems must be worked out. Funds assembled must be well spent. The need is NOW . . it must be dealt with NOW.

Readers Take Issue With Observation On Tax Ruling Against Timken Co. Ads

To the Editor:

I read the column by C. C. Hartley with great interest but with little sympathy.

Your writer deplored the Internal Revenue Department ruling that the Timken Roller Bearing company's advertisements "designed to help preserve our free enterprise system and preserve the Timken Co." was to be disallowed.

To allow a deduction for such purposes seems in direct contradiction to your avowed detestation of "welfarism" and making us "soft." Considering Timken's resources, that company can afford to pay for its own opinions, without, what amounts to a direct subsidy from "us taxpayers." Perhaps I should demand a four cent refund for the mailing expense incurred in sending this letter and my opinions.

I haven't noticed that your paper berates price-fixing by corporations so as to bilk taxpayers and consumers. Neither have you condemned quick write-offs, tax-relief, rebates, cost-plus contracts, tariffs, and direct subsidies for the same business firms, which actions constitute government coddling. Certainly it is this very coddling which is leading us down that abysmal road to socialism.

Again, why subsidize advertisements to "preserve the Timken Company" and distorted copy? What is good for America may be good for the Timken Company but the reverse isn't necessarily true; viz., that what is good for the Timken Roller Bearing Company is good for America.

In an era when conformity, guilt by association, and hounding of "heretics" is common-place, your concern for what you call "freedom of speech" and "liberty" is far from touching. When you consider, for instance, that a large number of fellow Americans are "unfortunate" in being of a darker complexion that most of us, and are denied rights and decent treatment guaranteed by our Constitution, and (in light of what we profess as a "free" society), then your lamentations for the Timken Company sound like bleating to me. Freedom and liberty means freedom and liberty for all.

Very truly yours,
Batvin Kramer

P. S. I'm certain you are not going to print this letter.

To the Editor:

Pardon me if I disagree with the vision of The Spectator in his Timken Roller Bearing Co. observation: "It Can't Happen Here? Well, It Has!"

The Spectator's view, and his words, are totally at variance with facts, and the implication that the Timken Company was denied the right of expression is totally, and to my mind, intentionally, false.

A few years ago the Timken Company started a newspaper advertising campaign against labor unions. They were large ads, half a page, expensive, and devoted solely to vicious propaganda against all labor organizations.

The company in its income tax returns, listed the cost of this campaign as a "business expense," thereby for all practical purposes, passing the cost on to the federal government.

The Internal Revenue department decided that inasmuch as these ads made no reference to Timken products and service, but were purely the personal expression of animus by some official of the Timken company; the cost thereof could not be listed as a business exemption.

When therefore the company was faced with the payment for this propaganda out of its own treasury rather than from the public treasury, the campaign was discontinued.

There was no question of "Free Speech" involved here unless you contend that the cost of widespread propaganda on controversial subjects should be made free to all by passing the bill to the public treasury.

Mama Duck's Judgment Not Always Best, Government Biologists Find

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Now they've done it — discredited mother love and disparaged parental good judgment. It shouldn't happen to a duck. But it is happening, and to ducks.

According to long-standing sentiment, it's mama duck's job to shelter and protect her brood and to prepare them for survival in a hostile world. But dispassionate observation shows that this is not for the birds.

U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologists report that once hatching is accomplished, the mother duck is nothing but a liability to the family. Jerry Stoudt, working in Saskatchewan found that pintail broods were better off without a mother. And over in Alberta, Allen Smith noted the same thing to be true with mallards. Broods orphaned at an early age made a better go of it than did those having the "advantage" of maternal guidance.

It's a low blow to motherhood, but here are the facts why: Hen mallards are a foot-loose lot and do a good bit of wandering around from pond to pond. Young birds follow the hen, of course, and these excursions over ground make them vulnerable to predators. But a brood without a mother seldom leaves the pond until grown to flight stage. They avoid the pitfalls of land travel.

Also, the mother duck is a worrisome sort and, aside from normal wanderings, any disturbance at the pond and she heads for land. And again, the young get into trouble.

Young ducklings with and without mothers behave differently, too. Those with, seem to develop a false sense of security. They wander widely over the pond, make sorties into tall vegetation and peep regularly to keep in touch. But the constant yapping puts them in touch with hungry vermin hiding in the shadows, as well as with mama and one another. And they get picked off regularly on these noisy ventures afar.

But orphans hang together and keep their mouths shut. When trouble crops up, they dive or hide in aquatic vegetation. It proves to be far safer than running to the shore with the "sagacious" old hen.

So there you are. It is hardly comforting information and it leaves one less thing that we can be for. But biological facts are biological facts.

Believes U. N. Has Great Weaknesses

To The Editor:

I should appreciate the opportunity to reply to the very hopeful article, concerning the coming "Decade of Development", submitted by the Education committee chairman local chapter for the U.N.

We Americans should remember Pearl Harbor. We were talking when we should have been acting—even as now.

Our country has become the greatest social, political, and economic structure known to modern man. We accomplished our ends through contempt of endless discussions, and a genuine dedication to dynamic constructive action.

Pearl Harbor "happened" to us while we were discussing peace with men who were not remotely concerned with peace. The Japanese knew our conversational mood, and to further divert our attention from facts sent special negotiators to impress and delude us. December 7th took place as scheduled.

The mention of "audience participation" is more a fact than an expression, as any surviving Hungarian freedom fighter could attest. Hungarians died — we "talked."

I agree that "the UN with the 13 specialized agencies deals with every facet relative to the welfare of our people," and based upon this statement and the following direct quotation: "will be a United Nations with broad economic programs, strengthened peace-keeping machinery, a police force, an independent secretarial and strong executive authority," I fear for America, and for freedom everywhere on this earth.

Why does the chairwoman delete the reason for any reference to "God" having been left out of the U.N. charter? Why is the fact that: our constitution becomes secondary to, and worthless in the face of, an adverse decision "handed down" from the UN "executive authority" — left out in glorifying the U.N.?

Let it be understood that when the writer of the article speaks of "congress," "council," "fundamental human rights," neither she, nor does the U.N., mean these words in the sense known to Americans. Here it is helpful to remember history — in particular present attitudes regarding and regulating the peoples under the heel of the Soviet Communists.

It should be clear to the world that the U.N. is of no value to the majority of mankind so long as the USSR continues to "talk" in New York, while committing crimes against humanity, as the opportunities present themselves elsewhere in the world.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Fresh Produce Supplies Returning To Normal

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit, oranges, apples, canned citrus juices.

Vegetables — Potatoes, broccoli, turnips, acorn squash.

At this writing, things are looking up for food shoppers at the fresh produce departments. After a few rough weeks, because of rains and deep freeze temperatures in Florida and Texas, shipments of produce are getting back to normal.

Florida's vegetable crops are recovering fast and little damage was done to their citrus fruits. In Texas, citrus fruits and leafy vegetables were damaged most. The more hardy broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower crops are expected to show only slight damage. Carrot harvest will continue even though the tops were frozen.

The total effect on vegetable crops will show up in quality rather than price increases. For example, lettuce and leafy vegetables will show some frost burn on the leaf tips. Tomatoes will not be as red as usual and more of them may have weather cracks.

The loss to citrus crops in Texas is cushioned by large crops of oranges and grapefruit in Florida this year. Thus market supplies of both fruits should continue relatively large.

Juice oranges out of Florida remain reasonably priced. True, you'll see higher prices on these oranges by the dozen, but the oranges have grown larger so the cost per serving has not increased. There's still good tangelos available; the tangerine season is over. Navel oranges from California have not changed in price.

Large Supplies Of Dairy Products

Specialists in the dairy industry say milk production in this country is expected to increase further in 1962. For consumers this will mean another year of ample supplies of dairy products.

But, this increase in output is of real concern to the dairy industry and to the Department of Agriculture. Per capita use of dairy products (combined total) has been on the decline since 1955 and is expected to drop a little more this y[illegible].

We are using less of the products high in milk fat but more of those high in solids-non-fat. Generally speaking, consumption of milk, cream and butter has declined —ice milk desserts and many types of cheese continues to rise.

The decline in milk consumption has been attributed largely to the diet consciousness of people in this country and their efforts to reduce their intake of fats.

Retail prices on dairy products, especially processed products, are influenced by the government price supports. Levels for the 1962-63 marketing year will be announced before April 1 and go into effect on that date. In the meantime, little change in retail prices is likely.

BARGAIN SHOES

When is a bargain, not a bargain? Whenever you buy shoes that do not fit, regardless of how little you pay for them, they are no bargain. In fact, in misery, suffering and nerve-wracking pain, bargain shoes can turn out to be very expensive. Shoe sales at this time of the year are a necessary evil . . . we have to dispose of odds and ends left over from the season. But, unless you find a pair of shoes that are exactly right for you and your shoe man measures your feet and fits the shoe on and says it is right for you . . . beware of bargains. Along the same line, watch out for discount shoe stores where you "cripple yourself", the service of fitting is, or should be, part of what you pay for when you get shoes. It may save you money to pay a little more for shoes that a trained shoe man fits.

Effer-VESS-ence

We're well into the New Year now . . . remembering to write '62 instead of '61.

This week we took inventory of our supplies here at Vess Bottling. Everything turned out shipshape, except our bottle supply! There must be hundreds of homes overburdened with empty bottles. The average family consumes about 200 bottles of soft drinks a year! Bottles cost a frightening amount of money—we can only keep the prices of our Vess products down by getting in at least an average return of bottles. So can we ask a favor of you? If you have any bottles still around the house from the holidays, help yourself to some money and let the children take them back the next time they are out. Thanks a million. Remember, our products include 3-V Cola, Whistle, Hires, White Rock, Vess Flavors and Bubble-Up. It will help us keep the stores amply supplied.

We have been giving you some Vess cooking hints each week . . . and wonder if you have any recipes using our beverages that you'd care to share? Also, we want to thank those of you who have sent in suggestions for how we can help in raising money for clubs and charities through our beverage sales . . . money to replace that important tax stamp money you used to count on.

We love hearing from you . . . and hope to answer everyone through this column or by mail. See you next week. Drop us a line, will you?

Fairness Stressed At Midas Shop

Fred Fry is manager of the Midas Muffler Shop at 3269 W. Broad-st, a branch of the national muffler chain that originated 15-minute installation and a life-of-the-car guarantee for its products.

Fred says a man comes to respect the advantages of quality. That's what led him to his favorite sideline—community service. Through his church and lodge, Fred is trying to promote quality in a very special product, people.

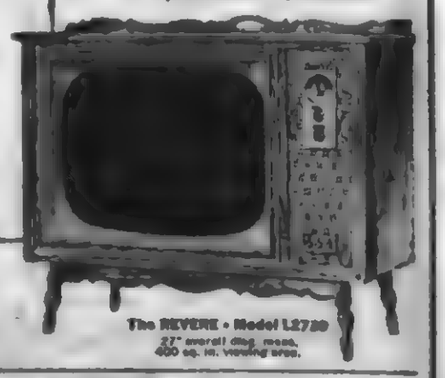
As an active participant in the community programs of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and the West Gate Masonic Lodge, Fred searches for new ways to spread his personal doctrine of fellowship.

In his business life, Fred finds daily opportunity to practice the Golden Rule.

"You must do more than just talk about fairness to your fellow man; you have to practice it, and no one has better opportunity to do that than the business man."

Fred believes his business service to the community keeps pace with his church and lodge activities.

"Midas shops don't just sell mufflers. They sell a new concept in automotive repair. We install mufflers while the customer waits. Each installation is backed with a written guarantee providing replacement for only a service charge as long as the car remains in the possession of the purchaser.



The Midas Shop also provides seat belts and shock absorbers. Customers may wait in the solid comfort of a modern waiting room, from which they can watch the actual work being done on their cars.

Says Fred:

"We sell top service and top products, and stand behind them. To me that's contributing to the community in the best way a business can."

"Good automotive parts, such as seat belts, shock absorbers and mufflers, make for better and safer cars. It's a great feeling to know that you are in the business of automobile safety—one of our country's number one problems."

Shortages Cause Layoffs At Goodwill

One of the next persons to be laid off at Goodwill Industries, unless more materials are received immediately, will be Catherine S. Catherine has been with Goodwill for nearly two years and has "loved every minute of it."

She supports herself and her mother, and her job in the textile department of Goodwill Industries is her only source of income.

She is a typical worker in the department, which normally employs 40 persons. But 30 per cent have already been laid off.

Goodwill's raw materials are usable discards from homes and businesses — clothing, shoes, toys, furniture and office equipment — which 350 handicapped workers recondition and resell.

Donations may be deposited in Goodwill's collection booths, or picked up at home or office by request. All contributions are tax deductible.

Groups are invited to tour the Goodwill Industries sheltered workshop at 1331 Edgehill-rd. For information on any part of Goodwill's program, call 294-5181.

Tax Deadline Is January 31

Employers in this area are reminded that Jan. 31 is an important tax date. It is the deadline for reporting and paying income and social security taxes withheld for the calendar quarter ended Dec. 31, 1961.

Employers should use Form 941 to report their tax liability for that period, and mail it, along with depositary receipts and full payment of taxes due, to District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Cincinnati.

The law provides that taxpayers who made timely deposits in local authorized banks, or Federal Reserve Banks, of the taxes due, have an additional 10 days, or until Feb. 13 to file their returns. Depository receipts must be submitted with the return.

10-Week Course In Folk Dancing Starts Jan. 30

Russia, England, Germany, the United States — the people in each of these countries do have something in common — they all dance. People in every country in the world have their own national dances which are a part of their way of life. As the name indicates, folk dances are meant to be done by everyone.

There is plenty of opportunity to enjoy traditional American folk dancing — square dancing; but the dances of some other country may be even more enjoyable.

The Columbus Folk Dancers are holding a ten-week introductory course featuring some of the European folk dances which are the most popular in the United States. These dances will be held weekly, beginning at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 30, at St. Stephen's Church, 20 W Woodruff-av. Cost per person will be 50 cents per session, or $3 for the entire course. It is recommended that comfortable clothes be worn (especially low-heeled shoes for the ladies). Further information may be obtained by calling Miss Pat Newman, BR. 4-4616, 40 S. Huron-av; Miss Margaret Schwab, HI. 3-1822, 1505 Miller-av; Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, AM. 7-2139, 576 Melrose-av, or Miss Joyce Melick, BE. 7-1702, 4600 Eastway-ct.

Folk dance patterns vary from dance to dance — the rhythms may be slow or fast, simple or intricate — the dances may be done by couples, by groups in lines, circles or squares, by all men or all women—it is not essential to come with a partner in order to have fun folk dancing. Why not try it for yourself?

Observance Week Set For J. A. 'Tycoons'

Partnership of business and youth will be spotlighted in Columbus Jan. 28 to Feb. 4 during the celebration of National Junior Achievement Week.

Junior Achievement is an organization which enables teenagers to obtain valuable business experience by organizing their own companies to produce and sell goods.

At the beginning of each school year, J.A. companies sell stock to raise capital, purchase raw materials, manufacture their individual products and conduct sales campaigns. Prior to closing of the school year, the companies close their books hopeful of showing a profit and reimbursing their stockholders.

The youthful "tycoons" work under adult supervision supplied by Columbus businesses acting as sponsors in the J.A. program. This year there are 32 Junior Achievement companies utilizing the talents of 673 teenagers.

Observance of Junior Achievement Week will be highlighted by an open house Jan. 29 to Feb. 2 at J.A. headquarters, 214 N. High-st at which members of the teenage companies will be seen working with their products. Hours will be 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Dwight Black Named West High Head Baseball Coach

Dwight Black, social studies teacher at West High School, has been appointed by David P. Randall, principal, to head the 1962 baseball coaching staff.

Holding an excellent record in local and state baseball, Black has racked up a number of awards.

Among these was the 1947 state Class B baseball crown when he led his Hamilton Township nine through the county, district and regional obstacles to capture the horsehide laurels.

IN 1948 HIS team from Canal Winchester was the runner up in the Franklin County title bout as well as runner up in the Central District match. The Canal Winchester nine won the Franklin County title in 1949.

He led the team on through the Central District and regional contests and lost to Cincinnati's Taylor Park in the state semi-finals with a 2-1 loss.

A TEACHER AT West since 1957, he had taught at four other schools where he coached the diamond squad. He began with the Hamilton Township schools in 1944 and transferred to his native Canal Winchester in 1947 where he remained three years.

He later taught at Big Walnut and Scioto Valley high schools before coming to West.

HE SAID THAT he was proud of the students whom he had taught and coached during his teaching career. Black noted several outstanding educators and coaches in the Columbus area.

Among them were Bob Miller, coach at Canal Winchester, the assistant coach at Westerville, J. Fowler, Ted Cherry, the assistant coach at Whitehall and Eugene Beard, a principal and former coach now with the Groveport school system.

Black a graduate of Ohio State University, lives near Ostrander with his wife and five daughters.

Davey Visits Centers

Davey Moore, world featherweight champion, conducted several clinics leading up to the Golden Glove Tourney.

The popular fighter passed out entry blanks and also shared some of the tops that have made him a world champion.

HIS SCHEDULE included: Beatty Recreation Center, the Thompson Recreation Center, Windsor Terrace Recreation and Sunshine Recreation Center.

Moore, who is in top condition, is a strong advocate of proper training. He personally is interested in the welfare of youth and is very much concerned that all fighters be in condition.

MOORE, WHO is scheduled to fight the latter part of February, is one of the busiest title holders in recent years.

His ring accomplishments have brought him many honors. He has been lauded at many banquets and also will be a guest at the Columbus Touchdown Club's annual awards dinner this Friday.

A Sports .. AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

'Girl That I Marry Will Be Tackle For Tennessee'

Whaddya hear on the sports beat?

Ans. — Plenty.

Some of it silly scuttlebutt, other info explains perplexing developments and some items may even become headlines of tomorrow.

There's no better place to ladle out the stuff wholesale than in a column. So, here goes:

WE RECEIVED in the morning's mail a little item which contains all of the aspects mentioned above. A press release said that a group of psychologists have concluded that woman is every bit as good at athletics as man — that is, if she is encouraged.

However, parents don't encourage girls to pursue athletic interests — usually.

The feeling is that there is something definitely unfeminine about a wisp of a lass who goes around a big part of the day saying such things as:

"I'M SURE my batting average would be higher if I kept my left foot a bit steadier," and "Would you like to know how many field goals were kicked by pro footballers in 1957?"

Lest We Forget . . .

But, let's not forget that some of our greatest athletes have been women.

Take, for example, Matilda Lorence Monsky. She was born in the early 1600's to a squash player, Isaac Monsky, and his wife, Loretta.

AT A VERY early age, when other little girls were putting their baby dolls to beddy-bye, Matilda was studying high jumping maneuvers by scribbling figures on a shovel with a piece of coal in the light of the fireplace (No, wait just a minute, that was Lincoln; what she did was draw with a crayon on the walls of her living room).

"Say, hey," she would say, "high jumping would be a bit easier if sawdust was put at the bottom of the bar in a pit. . ."

Her father and mother would murmur: "Why doesn't the kid play house or jacks or doctor and nurse or something like that? She's growing up to be a square or something."

Brother's Keeper . . .

WHEN HER BROTHER, Wilhelm, became England's leading track man she would help him train.

At times, pretty Matilda was known to stay up all night working out running strides so that when Wilhelm awoke in the late morning he would know what to do at practice sessions.

She even wrote his book, "Winning A Decathalon For Fun And Profit," and was awarded the Olympic Society's gold medal.

BUT, ALAS, she was never invited to the Society's summer lawn fete or the winter ball.

"There's nobody who doesn't like Millie," they would say around the Society, "But, of course, we mean not like love, more like respect . . ."

She was never married, never had a beau as far as anyone knows, and when she died at the age of 98 she left behind thousands of pages of neatly drawn track and field events which nobody bothers about or consults today.

BUT A LOT of the silly women of that time, who couldn't tell you a track event from a canoe, had husbands and families and went to fancy dress balls and heard men say they were gorgeous.

And kings waved at them and great bearded poets wrote tender love verses about them to prove, we think, that as far as girls and athletics are concerned—FORGET IT!

Aublegaphing . . .

THE AGONIS CLUB will again sponsor the 20th annual Central Ohio AAU basketball tournament which is open to all men's and women's amateur teams in Central Ohio.

The tourney will be played at the Catholic Center (formerly K of C) and will start on Sunday, Feb. 4 with subsequent games being scheduled for Feb. 11, 18 and 25.

Entries will be accepted at Columbus Recreation Dept., Room 124, City Hall, up to noon, Jan. 31.

The track and field classic for Ohio boys and girls, between 9 and 15 years of age, will be a one-day event at the Knox County Fairgrounds Aug. 11. About 1000 are expected to turn out.

Untouchables, Lakers Lead Glenwood Boys' Basketball

In games last week the Untouchables defeated the Wildcats by a score of 34-27.

Curtis Holloway and Paul Mayes led the attack for the winners with 12 and 11 points respectively. High point man for the losers was John Francis with 16 points.

THE LAKERS, with Jeff Garnett pacing the offense with 16 points, edged the Cardinals 28-25. Ken Jackson also scored eight points and played a good floor game for the winners.

The Devils were defeated by the Untouchables 36-26 in the other game of the week.

anxious to get away," one woman said. "They usually head north for the ravine."

Said Ralph F. Lombard, 156 N. Wheatland: "We used to have troubles when the boys played near the fence. They often shouted vulgar words to women and girls in the neighborhood. But during the last year or so we've had nothing to complain about. Their play areas are being moved to the back."

Commenting on the new TICO facilities (training institution for severely disturbed youths) on Wheatland-av, just north of JDC, Lombard said: "It seems utterly ridiculous to me that the state would build a security institution in the center of a city. That fence can be 'taken' too."

Mrs. John Murnane, 119 N. Wheatland, said JDC hasn't been a worry to her family. "It seems to be well protected, and we hardly see anybody now," she related. "In fact, we kind of miss watching some of their ball games."

Mrs. Catherine Reinscheid, 106 N. Wheatland, said she and her family have seen inmates hopping the fence from time to time. "They just lay a coat or jacket over the barbed wire, and they're off. But we don't worry, really. When we moved here my youngsters were small, and I had to tell them why those children were in there. My children have always been warned to stay away from the fence and not to bother them."

Committee Elects

Newly elected officers include Lytle Zuber, 85 E. Gay-st, president; Miss Arbelle Burley, 1107 Berkeley-rd, vice-president; Miss Catherine McLean, 1620 E. Broad-st, treasurer, and Mrs. Sriner, secretary.

Another Smith

Georgia education department officials did a double take recently when they ran across the folder of a former teacher named: "Mrs. Smith." A check with Smith revealed his father had given that name so that, in a county full of Smiths, he would not be confused with others.

Jo Meets Bullocks

Former Mayor Jack Sensenbrenner stopped by the office this morning to say "Hi."

Jack's spizerinctum is always enough to buoy one up, but he was in especially good spirits as he proceeded to tell of activities on the part of an organization known as Bipartisan Committee for Good Government in his behalf to be a candidate for mayor in the next city election.

Up until now we have had the notion that maybe Jack wasn't too sure he would be a candidate. Right now we really believe he means business.

Well, it looks like Columbus is in for a real interesting campaign.

Hats Off to Rand

We tip our hat to Rand Hollenback, publisher of the Clintonville Booster, on his reappointment to the Columbus Civil Service Commission after having served 18 years on that board.

In this long period of service Rand has faced many tough assignments but has always had the fortitude to stand up and "call them as he sees them."

Many have disagreed with him, at times, but we must all agree that we need more men of this type in public positions. Congratulations, Rand!

Meeting of the West Side Board of Trade will be held Wednesday, Feb. 7, following a 7 p.m. dinner at Holiday Inn.

Temperature Doesn't Hamper Underwater Explorers' Program

By JACK L. ALLEN

While some not-so-hardy sports fans sit at home in front of the fireplace watching winter sports on television, members of the Columbus Underwater Explorers Club enjoy a brisk dive in near freezing water as part of the club's winter sports program.

The seven-year-old club, oldest in the area, with a safety record of equal length, took the first icy dip Jan. 14 at Clark's Lake below Harrisburg.

Elements were ideal. Temperature of the air, 46; water 36; visibility at the bottom, four to five feet, depth reached, 30 feet.

Diving in pairs, the seven members that made the first winter plunge made dives averaging 15 minutes in length. Isothermic protection (wet and dry) suits were used. A 75-foot diver line returned the teams to the five-by-five-foot opening in the ice, with the second diver using a buddy line.

A must under club rules, the diver line prevented the members being trapped under the 10-inch thick surface ice.

The major portion of the club's 35 members comes from the Greater Columbus area and represents numerous lines of employment.

Activities include sport dives as well as photography missions and exploration. During maneuvers under the latter heading members salvage boats, equipment, and other objects lost in [illegible] as a commercial venture.

Several of the members do dive commercially however, and two of the members are on police emergency diving teams.

With the price of equipment running rather high, members design and manufacture a lot of their articles of clothing, as well as some of the photography units for movie and still life.

Waters from Canada to Florida, and from Ohio to California have been explored by members of the club, with some of the members making 120-foot bounce dives in the deeper bodies of water located in Canada. The bounce dive, which is straight down and back up, is for depth, with 130-feet pretty well being maximum for one-lung equipped divers.

Strict membership rules, plus stiff safety rules and qualification requirements holds the group to a small number. But all of these things have rewarded the club with seven years of fun without incident.

As a public service, Columbus Underwater Explorers participate in WRFD radio's Outdoor Show each year, and give numerous safety demonstrations at other water shows and area pools.

Newly elected officers of the club are: Ed Lawson, 413 Virginia Lee, president; Herb Gregory, 1786 Devinshire-rd, vice president; Grace LeRoy, 911 S. Hague, recording secretary; Bill Bibler, 1201 W. 19th-av, and Dean Potts, 367 S. Harris-av, treasurer.

TAMING OF CREEK TO COST OVER $200,000

Dry Run Rerouting Ordered

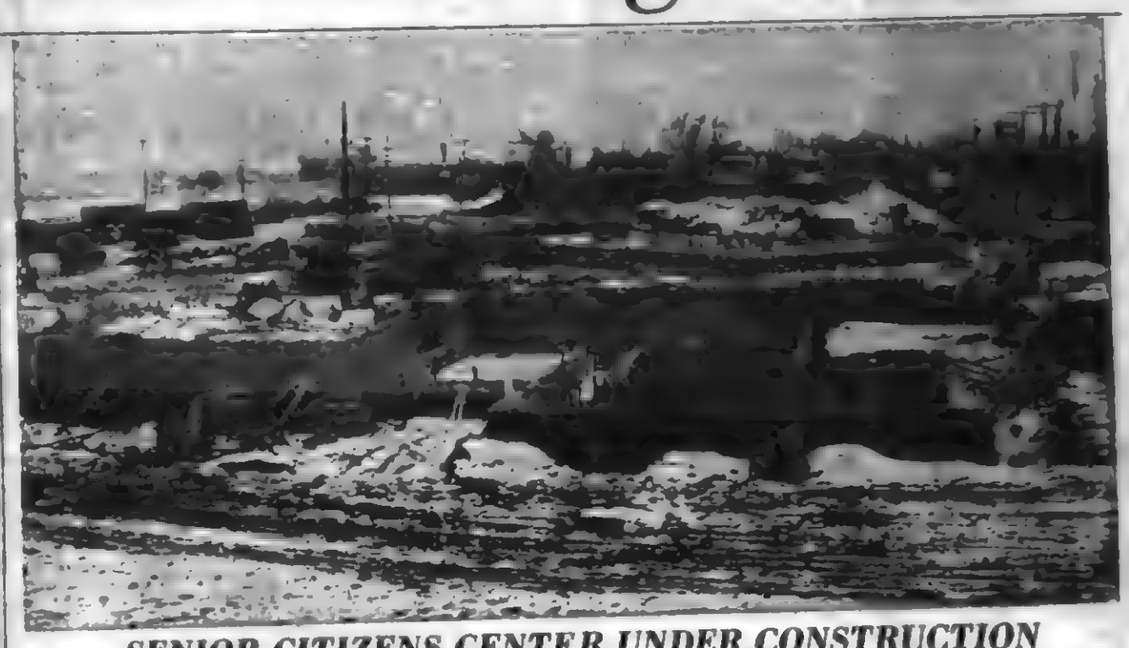
The city is about to spend an estimated $200,000 or more to tame the flow, yet retain some of the beauty, of Dry Run in the vicinity of N. Haldy, Roys and Chesava.

Council Monday night authorized the service director to proceed with advertisements for construction bids. Engineering has been in progress since last March. All easements have been secured except one with a resident and one with the railroad.

The creek's steady erosion and flooding have worried residents and city officials alike for many years. In 1959 Dry Run made headlines when it erupted farther downstream and flooded out hundreds of West Side residences.

Not Cheapest Plan

Carl Schoene, chief of the Division of Sewerage and Drainage, acknowledged that it would actually be cheaper to "buy up all the eroded creek bank and pipe the stream underground." But some of the homeowners are reluctant to give up the scenic aspects of Dry Run.



Schoene said some of its attractiveness will be spoiled anyway because the water is to be run through a six-foot rectangular concrete channel from Haldy-av, downstream to the south line of Friends Rescue Home.

The firm of Jennings and Lawrence has outlined the following plans for the project:

The flow of the creek is to be split so that a controlled amount of water will follow its present course. The bulk of the Dry Run's water, however, will be caught north of the railroad tracks, a distance east of the Valleyview pedestrian underpass, and by means of a 66-inch pipe will be bent out around the tunnel ramp and run easterly 1,450 feet. It will then rejoin the old section of the creek north of the present culvert.

Engineers said a 15-inch bleeder at the westernmost junction of the pipe will send enough water over the old creek route to keep it in operation. The portion of the present ditch from the alley west of Huron-av to Haldy will be closed in with 27 to 30-inch pipe. A 48-inch storm sewer now drops into the creek at Haldy.

From there, the flow in the new channel will be 60 per cent less during heavy rains than it has in the past, Schoene said.

SENIOR CITIZENS CENTER UNDER CONSTRUCTION

A MECCA FOR THE ELDERLY from throughout Franklin County — the Senior Citizens Center — is now under construction on the near West Side. In the foreground here is the recreation building which will house craft rooms, a library, kitchen, cafeteria and activities sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department. In the background is the high-rise apartment being built to meet the specific needs of the elderly. The $2.5 million project, located between Sullivant-av and Rich-st, opposite Sunshine Recreation Center, is scheduled for completion in early 1963.

Parents Ask City For Better Traffic Controls At Schools

City Traffic Commission, after hearing pleas from several Hilltop parent groups who want improved child traffic safety in school areas, has promised to have some answers ready at its Feb. 13 meeting.

Delegations recently asked for traffic signals at Valleyview-dr and Westmoor-av and at W. Mound-st and Wayne-av.

Mrs. Rodney Thomas pointed out that because of all the traffic lights on W. Broad-st, people coming from Great Western Shopping Center use Valleyview-dr as a fast way out of the junction. In addition, she said, employes from Westinghouse, GM and other factories clog the road with traffic.

Westmoor Junior High and Valleyview Elementary schools in that vicinity have a combined enrollment of close to 1,500 children.

Mrs. Thomas said the school safety patrol boys "do a marvelous job" but that they need something like a flasher light to help them. Traffic is especially knotty during bad weather when so many parents drive to the schools to pick their children up, she said.

Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher recounted that a petition had been received and that a survey was being run. Mrs. Thomas stated that a previous traffic check was made there during hours when traffic was not particularly heavy. "Between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. and at 3:30 p.m. it's like Broad and High," she declared.

Another member of the delegation, Mrs. Harold Griffith, pointed out that the new Glenwood Methodist Church, the YMCA and the swimming pool are bringing more children to the area. "It's a very precarious situation when they try to cross the road, especially in the path of the semi-trucks from new factories in the vicinity," she said.

Mound-st Enforcement Hard

Speaking for the W. Mound-st case were Mrs. John Baker (for St. Agnes School) and Mrs. Robert Iden (for Hilltonia Junior High School). Jack Gallagher told them that enforcement, especially on the pupils' part, has been a very serious problem in this vicinity. He declared that there has been a disregard of the traffic signal at Wheatland-av and W. Mound-st by about 30 per cent of the children. Jun-

Ban On All Parking Proposed For Entire W. Mound Length

City Traffic Commission has decided that it's best to sweep all parked cars off of W. Mound-st. If City Council gives the okay, parking will be banned at all times from Souder-av in the West Side to Brinker-av on the Hilltop. A clean-up of congestion at Sullivant-av and Central also is being studied.

The first action began as a request from Police Capt. F. C. McWilliams. Police wanted the W. Mound ban to reach from Souder-av to Central-av. Committeeman Jack Kirwin then recommended the extension to Brinker, longer than three miles in all. The committee agreed.

Capt. McWilliams also spoke up for better approaches to Central-av at Sullivant-av. He asked for a left-turn ban in all directions at the intersection. After prolonged discussion, the group decided to study a final recommendation made by the traffic engineer.

It would: apply a left-turn ban, both directions, on Sullivant-av at Central-av; effect no parking at any time on the south side of Sullivant-av from Guilford-av to the first alley toward Central-av; and apply no parking at any time on the north side of Sullivant-av from Brehl-av to Central-av.

Influenza Sweeps Local Schoolrooms

An onslaught of influenza, widespread among school children, has caused the closing of St. Aloysius and West Jefferson schools, and is accountable for dropping attendance below average at city schools.

C. L. Dumaree, assistant superintendent, said however, that there is now no indication that Columbus schools will be closed.

"Absenteeism has not been of a percentage, or the infection of a nature to justify closing schools," he continued. "The problem has not been called to official attention by individual principals or by public health officials.

"The usual absenteeism runs between eight and 10 per cent. Schools with 1,000 students, recording the absence of 200 or 250 students, will have only an additional 10 or 15 per cent of absenteeism," Dumaree continued.

A Hilltop physician judged the scope of the influenza by the number of cases he was treating. His nurse estimated 400 calls had come into the office during Tuesday alone.

Characteristics of the infection were described as headache, sore throat, coughing, nausea and vomiting, accompanied by fever.

It is identified as being a 'B' strain flu, usually less serious than the 'A' strain to which Asian flu belongs, and of shorter duration.

West High Senior Dies Tuesday Of Pneumonia

The unexpected death of West High School senior John McKinney, 17, of 2918 Vanderberg-av, Tuesday, has been attributed to pneumonia. He was discovered dead in his bed shortly after 1 p.m. by a younger brother and the emergency squad was summoned.

The boy had been ill with a cold for the past two weeks, according to his physician, Dr. William G. Schmelzer. He was much improved Monday and had watched television until late evening.

Dr. Robert Evans, coroner, fixed the cause of death as a fulminating pneumonia.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by Wylie B. Shroyer Funeral Home, 1278 W. [illegible].

John McKinney

Evans Fears Pneumonia Epidemic

Four deaths in the city in the past two days have been attributed to hemorrhagic bronchial pneumonia, the type that claimed John's life.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, county health commissioner, expressed concern over the disease with, "If this situation isn't checked it may soon reach epidemic proportions."

He warned that people must seek medical help.

The symptoms were general, he said, with high fever, sore throat, aching feeling, shortness of breath, diarrhea and a runny nose, and closely parallel symptoms of the flu so prevalent among school children.

'WELFARE BREAKDOWN,' THEY CALL IT

What Will You Do About The Billy Crabtrees In This World?

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

According to psychologists, 21-year-old Billy Crabtree is just another product of welfare breakdown.

He didn't look so cold and statistical to me as he sat in the Mercy Hospital X-Ray room last Tuesday morning. But, it is realized that he is part of a social threat that's hitting the greater Columbus area in many cases as a result of lack of welfare funds.

Billy, who is my age, was wearing a scuffed red jacket and a wrinkled green shirt. His worn blue jeans and tattered shoes tell this story far better than than I'll ever be able to.

Let's start at the beginning.

The name, Billy Crabtree — no more than that — was brought to my attention last Monday night by Bernie Wohl and Fannie Eissenstein of the South Side Settlement House.

I had called them about any outstanding welfare hard luck cases on the books there. They told me about Crabtree and said that they'd call me tomorrow and let me know if I could talk to him.

Tuesday, Bernie called and told me that young Crabtree had been beaten by his father, Chester, and that his leg had been injured. They were taking him to Mercy Hospital and asked me to go along.

Billy had his ankle badly twisted by his father who is divorced from his mother, Dorothy, and, according to the law, doesn't hold any visiting rights.

He stops by about twice a week, however and, Billy says, "is usually drunk."

He was in that condition Monday, got in a fight and it all ended at Mercy Hospital.

Now, young Billy is faced with the decision of preferring charges against his father or not. He doesn't think he will . . . he couldn't even strike back at him during the fight [illegible] day.

Billy lives with his wife, Mary, (she's 16) at the [illegible] main-av address, along with his mother, four brothers and two sisters. "Mom always manages to make the food stretch around," he said.

His mom is on welfare — has been for a while. Money is always short but, Billy says, in the last three or four years things have really been getting bad, or worse, if that was possible.

The action by Billy's father is called, by psychologists, a "welfare breakdown." They saw that things got so bad there's nothing left but violence, along with stealing, and both lead to jail.

"This is what happens," Wohl whispered as he sat in the X-ray room. "You see, the people of Columbus are going to pay for defeating the Welfare Levy . . . they'll pay for it in the debris of those who break down — they'll pay for it through penal institutions and jails. It's a shame the money couldn't be used before the fact instead of after."

Billy is a product of "after the fact." He seems to be a sensible kid, but didn't go further than the seventh grade at Marion-Franklin High School. "Me and Mom had to take care of things at home," he said.

"Mom and my brothers and sisters and my wife mean everything to me," he added. He's been married since June

Solutions In Welfare Are Seen

County commissioners see as a partial solution to welfare needs a special tax levy to be proposed by the Columbus Hospital Federation to place the medical indigent section of the County Welfare Department on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

The hospital federation's proposal was received last Monday afternoon when the commissioners were to consider it along with a 2.5 mill special tax levy asked last Monday morning by the Child Welfare Board.

CWB asked for a special levy for five years to reinstate standards, personnel and services cut recently by $393,066 to keep within present income and to meet future demands.

The hospital federation said it is asking a 1-mill levy which would raise $1,800,000.

Commissioners said that if voters approve a special levy for medical treatment of the poor that the present $700,000 allocation for this purpose would be released for other welfare needs, including an increase of subsistance standards.

The welfare department spent $1,200,000 on medically indigent in 1961.

The commissioners also took the view that they cannot submit all levies proposed, including one for poor relief, for the May 8 ballot.

Commissioners must act by Feb. 7 on any levy proposal or proposals. They have considered possibility of submitting the CWB and hospital federation proposals as one levy.

The money would be collected for the county general fund but would be pledged to specific purposes.

Henry J. Robinson, representing the hospital group, told commissioners last Thursday that a health levy would benefit the poor relief program and hospitals.

He said 70 per cent of poor relief clients have physical disabilities and are unable to work.

At the present time, the County Welfare Department owes $800,000 in back medical bills.

Heart Council Expands Area Of Service

The Franklin County Heart Council announced the opening of the Cardiac Work Evaluation Center to be held in the City Health Building once a week on Wednesday, beginning Feb. 7, at 1 p.m.

Evaluation Centers such as this have been functioning successfully in many cities of this country dealing with important cardiac - work determination. Frequently, personnel for medical sections of industry are presented with a vexing problem; what to do about the good employe who is known to have had a "heart attack" and has been absent from work for some three months and then presents himself along with a slip from his physician stating he "may return to light work." Frequently, the empolye's experience qualifies him only for work of an arduous type. He may not have seniority rights for a "light work job." Rather than jeopardize the man's life, he is placed on extended leave as suitable work is unavailable. This is not a happy solution to either the man or industry.

Cardiac patients may be referred to this Center by their physician on a non-fee basis for evaluation. Detailed team approach to the work potentials will be made by the cardiologist, vocational counselor and medical social worker. A recommendation relative to the work capacity of the patient will be made to the referring physician who in turn may make this available to industry with the patient's consent. This service is felt to fill the community need.

Army, AF Survey Area Wage Rates

The Departments of the Army and Air Force are conducting a supplementary survey of the Columbus area which started Jan. 23. It is being coordinated with a more comprehensive survey being conducted in the area by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Wage information gathered from local industrial firms will form the basis for review of present wage schedules covering blue-collar type federal jobs paid under the Wage Board System. If the survey should warrant a change in Wage Board pay schedules, new rates would become effective about April.

The Columbus General Depot is the coordinating installation for the survey. Participating installations include Lockbourne Air Force Base, Headquarters 20th Army Corps, Fort Hayes and Defense Construction Supply Center.

Watson and Ocock visited the laboratory Jan. 22 as part of Bell's program to encourage high school students in science careers. They were selected for the trip by Dr. Harold H. Elsling, superintendent of schools, and his staff of principals.

Briggs Insurance Agency Marks 35th Anniversary

Many years ago, 35 to be exact, Joseph Briggs started in the insurance business At that time he wrote his own applications, handled all his claims and did everything necessary to make an agency successful.

This he did for many years without help or aid. Insurance at that time, like life itself, was fairly simple. Rates, policies and procedure were uncomplicated and today's changes were almost unheard of. Insurance needs in those days were small compared to the demands of today. Seldom, if ever, was anyone sued for damages because of auto accidents or accidents occurring on sidewalks, steps, etc.

J. M. Briggs

J. M. Briggs, Jr.

W. A. Mayes

Today a member of the public can be and usually is sued at least once in his lifetime for negligence. It was a rare occurrence for anyone to lose possessions because of theft, burglary or robbery. Today such losses are commonplace.

Because of the greater needs and wider range of coverages necessary for the protection of the public Briggs from time to time expanded his office and added office personnel. Joseph M. Briggs, Jr., joined his father in 1950 as an associate.

In 1959 Walter A. Mayes was brought into the agency which was then known as Joseph M. Briggs Insurance Agency. A partnership resulted and the name was changed to Briggs Insurance Agency with Joseph M. Briggs as senior partner and principal owner, and with Walter A. Mayes and Joseph M. Briggs, Jr., as partners.

Now the agency is staffed to handle any and all lines of insurance that is necessary to meet today's needs—homeowners, automobile, fire, liability, burglary and robbery, theft, bonds, life, financial responsibility and assigned risk to mention a few. Either of the partners or Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Dunham or Mrs. LeSueur are available at all times to serve clients.

Elsewhere in this edition of The Hilltop Record and Rural-Urban News will be found an ad which announces the agency's celebration. The partners invite readers to clip the coupon, fill it out, bring it in for a useful gift and be eligible for other awards.

The Joint Campaign Clinic of the Men's and Women's Division of the UJFC took place last Sunday, Jan. 28, at the Nationwide Inn of W. Broad-st.

Guest speaker was Isadore Hamlin, executive director of the American Section of the Jewish Agency.

The average man has three colds a year, and these cost industry approximately 90 million working days annually.

Newspapers Fading? Not Necessarily In Suburbia

The recent scuttling of two old ships of the Fourth Estate in Los Angeles has been the topic of much comment. Folks are wondering if newspapers have a future.

Of course they have. It may not be like the past . . . but it can be good.

Newspaper people naturally are concerned that so many publications, especially the dailies are merging or "folding." The trend to one-newspaper cities is not a healthy one. Among other things it can lead to complacency in the good investigative reporting that so often uncovers corruption in government. It can also take away the competitiveness in advertising which is so important to trade.

But while the number of large daily operations is diminishing, an amazing resurrection has taken place in recent years in the weekly suburban newspaper field. Los Angeles is a good example. We exchange subscriptions with one chain there that is similar in many ways to the Hartley Newspapers. Just last week the West Coast publisher announced that he is purchasing a new press that will enable him to double the size of his papers. This, in a city which just lost two daily newspapers.

The suburban press is expanding and improving all over the country. Small publishers are finding new ways to beat rising costs. They are switching to new printing methods that produce a better looking publication with less labor. Some are pooling their funds to build one printing shop to serve the needs of several companies. And they are upgrading their editorial standards.

Television, of course, has been responsible for forcing many changes upon newspapers, and radio as well. There's no denying that TV's you-are-there immediacy in presenting the news is about the ultimate. So daily newspapers no longer put out extras, and radio is switching to good music via FM and is programming for the motorist.

The shifts of population and industry to the suburbs have accelerated the demand for local news and advertising which can best be accomplished in the community press. You have only to read some of the business publications of the newspaper profession to see what is taking place.

The people need a voice. That is where the Hartley Newspapers come in. Our staff is a dedicated one, true to the cause, and does not feel it is producing an inferior product. Neither, in a fit of self-appraisal, are we saying that our product is as good as it can be. Should we think so, progress toward a greater objective would cease.

Bright Spot Of The Week

With self-improvement in mind, the Hartley-Newspapers have assumed membership in such organizations as the Ohio Newspaper Association, Suburban Press Foundation, and Accredited Home Newspapers.

And in this direction we solicit the assistance of our readers. It is their comments, complimentary or critical, that will inspire us to greater achievement.

Reader Wonders If Some Organizations Practice Humanitarianism They Preach

To The Editor:

I'm sure the owner of the bad case of bronchitis or asthma or whatever it had been medically diagnosed as, was unaware of how his cough dominated the meeting last week at Lincoln Park School. The constant coughing lent the appropriate note of neglected humanity that the group meeting about the welfare problem seemed to need, if there weren't enough other signs. Deprivation and want seemed to be in evidence, not only in the ones who asked questions, but in those who didn't, as well.

If Mr. Mitchell of Newburgh, N.Y., had walked in I'm sure he would have been able to pull the correct label out of thin air to pin on the group, and the community which voted down the Welfare Levy would have cheered his astuteness. Mr. Mitchell who seems to have solved nothing in Newburgh has left his influence everywhere else as God's right hand man, department of human misery.

Since your editorial was headed: "People Must Take Action to Solve Welfare Problems", I would like to ask a few questions, whether I get any answers or not:

1. Do the churches in the city feel they are demonstrating leadership in the problem of helping these underprivileged citizens? Does a welfare case have to be a member in good standing to merit a basket at Christmas and Thanksgiving, and a reputation of being "deserving" the other ten months of the year in order to qualify for these year-end "bonuses"? What are the social action committees of the churches doing to incite a little social action?

2. What are the public-spirited and civic-minded organizations such as Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Jaycees (downtown and branches) taking up in the place of arms about this (what I call) "civic" problem? Any voters in these groups?

3. What about the responsibility of the Parent-Teacher associations and their council? The Childhood League, Child Conservation League, Mental Health Association, etc. — do they have this problem on their agenda for immediate discussion? These organizations exist presumably because once there was an expressed spirit of eagerness to provide a community climate of wholesome growth for young people. Aren't the children of people on welfare entitled to the regard and consideration given children of people not on welfare?

It seems as though every organization has its particular "function" and none of our voluntary groups seems to have as its function that of lobbying against human misery in the name of humanity.

How can a man named Mr. Mitchell from the city of Newburgh, state of New York, wield more influence on the voters of Columbus than the face of one hungry child seated by a charcoal burner which gives off poisonous fumes in the city of Columbus, State of Ohio?

What about the teachings of Jesus? The parable of the Good Samaritan? Will the actions of the Columbus Real Estate Board in directing defeat of the Welfare Levy, be recorded in latter-day religious annals as the modern way of dealing with a situation of helplessness?

There is no doubt considerable question in the minds of many thoughtful people that the welfare problem can ever be solved. I too wonder. I am not sure that there is any magic solution anywhere to getting people off caseloads by simply giving them a decent standard of living.

But we have no right to decide that slow-starvation, malnutrition, neglected illness, improper housing, and lack of demonstrated concern on the part of the rest of us is the solution either. Solutions don't come off a bargain-table — any more than the cure to physical illness comes from a low-priced quack doctor.

Unless there is more to be gained from humane treatment of every individual, welfare case or not, than there is to be lost, then every remnant of human kindness might as well be thrown out the window, because it no longer has any usefulness.

I sincerely commend you and your paper for helping to keep this problem in plain view in your paper.

'Cap' Still On Cloud 9

Dear Friend Up-North:

Today I am sitting on a Florida porch, to protect me from the sun; the temperature is in the 90's, the birds are singing, flowers are in bloom and I understand why Southerners are sluggish.

I feel like an astronaut who has been shot into the heavens by the kindness of his many friends and now they must be informed of his landing. The trip was a pleasant one and the 1962 Fairlane robot did not falter once. I expect to stay here until April then return to good old Columbus town for a beautiful spring.

It was just a week ago that I was given one of the most uplifting times of my life — the expressions of appreciation were more than any one man deserves. How to repay you all for your generous kindness remains to be answered. God is love and He will help me find the answer. Until I can, please accept these humble thanks to all for the letters and personal congratulations, publicity through the radio, newspapers, and TV, also for the beautiful Fairlane and check.

The privilege of working for you and with you, to be accepted as a friend by so many young and old alike was sufficient reward. In my judgment the flowers you tossed to me I must return to each of you, as volunteer leaders, contributors and boosters who made my work possible.

Thanks for the memory,
"CAP" (Hoover)

'Desolation Coming'

To the editor:

Did you know that we are living in the Saturday evening of time? When God's Sunday rises, He will be back for His People.

Take for instance the welfare people starving, on top of other things, read the Book of Daniel in the Bible and see if this is not the beginning of desolation that He foresaw. Then read the book of Revelation and you can see that the beast has already formed. . .

Read your history book and see the country that lost its power, (wounded as unto death). Look at the power it has now and still getting more. Isn't that Germany?

Compare the history books to the Bible. People haven't forgotten God. They are too full of sin to live for Him . . .

This is the beginning of tribulation. People should seek God, while He is yet to be found.

A Reader

We Have A Friend . . .

To The Editor:

Please accept my gratitude and appreciation for having printed my letter in your fine newspaper. Even if my views were entirely consistent with yours, my thanks would be extended for printing them, but under the circumstances, when the era of the many small-town, independent newspapers, as fast fading out, and is supplanted by fewer and larger papers, the responsibilities of the press assumes larger proportions.

The opinion of the opposition should be given its voice too, for it is by this very act that you can make "free speech" the valid and viable thing that it should be.

It is very commendable of you to shoulder your journalistic obligations so well by permitting and making the letters-to-the-editor page a voice of the people, and a public forum in the best traditions of the American town meeting.

Hoping you will continue in this salutary vein.

Sincerely
Batvin Kramer

We Turn The Other Cheek

To The Publisher:

I have just read your item in the Spectator of Jan. 18 and am following your advice to voice my complaints.

How have you managed to reach the low point of printing such pure unadulterated tripe? Is your all-out obsession with the income tax that you have to pay blinding you to all else and so dulling your senses that you are ready to make any rash claim and support any narrow-minded point of view just to achieve one miserable selfish end? I am appalled that you can express such extreme sympathy with a company (Tumkrm) that issues purely political material and then has the gall to claim it as advertising and attempt to deduct the expense from its income tax.

If I as an individual or any other person or company were to have similar political material published in your newspaper or any other would you also support our right to discount this on our income tax returns? What other forms of dodging the income tax do you also recommend?

Mr. Hartley are you making any sense at all? Do yourself and all of us a good turn, take some time off to reflect on the extremes to which your hatred of the income tax are driving you. Where is this horrible socialism that you keep seeing in your nightmares? What is it that you can honestly oppose: social security, unemployment insurance, relief for the needy?

Unfortunately for you and others of your ilk this is no longer the 19th Century. The poor and needy do not have to wait hopefully outside your door for the occasional crumb that your generous nature may deign to throw their way. Does this irk your would-be feeling of superiority to your less fortunate fellow men to such an extent that you would cry "socialism" and "communism" at every humanitarian and democratic step that is taken to strengthen our people and our will to combat communism?

If your true desire is to prevent our weakening and succumbing to the incursions of communism then you had better realize that any real internal support for communism will come only from people who are hungry, dismayed and in need of assistance. All your shallow cries of freedom and liberty ring hollow in an empty stomach.

If you really want to fight communism be certain first that the ordinary people who form the foundations of this country are sufficiently well fed, well clothed, well housed and well treated by your kind not to be tempted by the appeals made to them by communism.

Don't cry wolf at every effort that is made to protect you from the very thing that you most dread. Wake up, this is the 20th Century. You can't go back and what's more only very, very few of us really want to.

A DEMOCRAT
Mr. Milne A. Schwartzberg

P.S. Maybe if you publish this letter you can deduct it as advertising from your income tax.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Tips Given For February Food Shopping

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

FRUITS—Grapefruit, oranges, bananas, frozen orange juice.

VEGETABLES—Potatoes, broccoli, leaf lettuce, celery, canned corn, frozen French fries.

PROTEIN FOODS — Pork roasts, sausage, beef shoulder cuts, beef liver, lamb, large eggs, cheese.

February is here already — and a quick look at your calendar shows many occasions for mealtime celebrations.

For the meat dish, the man behind the meat counter says there will be a continuing good supply of beef, perhaps a little above a year ago. Pork supplies for the month will also be plentiful. Of course we must keep in mind that old man winter is still with us, and movement of livestock to market can be slowed down. However, when this happens, it usually means only temporary shorter supplies with fewer featured cuts offered. Smoked meats do not reflect changes in price as much as fresh cuts.

Turkey stocks continue to be extremely large. The large birds are one of the most economical values in the market, if you can use that much meat — or have freezer storage space. Large eggs are at one of their low-price points of the year — a better buy than the smaller sizes.

As for fresh vegetables, it appears that you need not worry too much about deleted supplies . . . on the basis of "what to eat" anyway. Supplies of tender vegetables are always smaller in winter than at other times of the year, and recent damages done in Florida and Texas made further cutbacks and caused prices to increase. Economy-minded shoppers will keep potatoes on the list, as well as turnips, rutabagas and parsnips. Broccoli, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower prices show little change.

You can also rely on processed vegetables to stretch the dollar. As a result of large 1961 packs, stocks of all frozen vegetables are above last year, with sizeable increases in broccoli, cauliflower, corn, lima beans, snap beans, spinach and frozen French fries. Supplies of canned corn are especially large; there's a good volume of green beans and sauerkraut.

With Washington's birthday around the corner, it's good to know that both canned and frozen cherries are in plentiful supply for pies, ice cream toppings and tarts — prices are reasonable.

Apples are priced lower than usual, and it looks now as though plenty of good citrus fruit from Florida will continue to come our way at reasonable prices.

For a taste of spring (not at bargain prices) there is more hothouse rhubarb in the market, more pineapple has arrived from Mexico and Hawaii, and some of the South American luxury fruits are available.

Trapshooting Fast Becoming Popular Year-Round Sport; League Growing

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Which of the outdoor sports is growing the fastest? You might know, but I certainly do not. Camping? Boating?

Carl Walker, co-owner of the El Rancho Motel on Route 40 near New Rome, makes a good case for trapshooting. "Shooting a shotgun at clay targets is becoming a popular year-round sport," says Walker. And he cites the rapid growth of his El Rancho Gun Club as evidence.

Opened last year, trapshoots are now held every Wednesday evening (under lights) and every Saturday and Sunday afternoon. Just three years ago there were no public trapshooting facilities in the Columbus area. First to open was the Dar-Lee Club, 388 N. Taylor-rd, which was well received by area shooters.

More than 300,000 targets were used in the first year of operation at El Rancho, which represents a lot of burned gun powder in my book. While American Trap Association-registered shoots are held by Walker and his brother-in-law partner, Myron Gifford, the vast majority of these targets, some one-quarter million, were shot just for the fun of it. The ATA-registered shoots attract the experts from around the state. But most of the shooters at El Rancho could be called beginners, and this is why Walker calls trapshooting a fast-growing sport.

The interest is certainly present. On a Wednesday night a couple of weeks or so ago, the temperature was four degrees below zero at 8 p.m. But there were trapshooters out. They could go in the clubhouse and warm up frequently, but the scorekeeper almost froze, according to Walker.

Membership at El Rancho costs $3 and entitles you to certain privileges, although non-members are welcome to shoot. Clay targets cost members one cent less, and shotgun shell-reloading components are offered for sale at cost. There are 211 members at present.

A shooting league composed of four teams was organized the first year and Walker expects this type of shooting to become more popular. In preparation for this he expects to move the league shooting to another night this season. His plans also include a movable skeet outfit, so that both trap and skeet will be available.

In recent years, fishing has become an all-year sport as more and more anglers have responded to the challenge of cold weather and ice fishing. Now, with two fine shooting clubs, area gunners may pursue their sport at any season.

It has been my observation that women and teenagers are taking to trapshooting along with Dad. Soon, someone will be calling this a fine family sport—and, of course, it is.

"You know what month I'm referring to, Ashley!"

Ronda Graham, Gary Link Repeat Marriage Vows Sunday At Hoge

The altar of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, mums and daisy chrysanthemums with frosted emerald foliage, and lighted by ivory tapers in two pairs of Swedish candelabra for the Sunday wedding of Miss Ronda Gayl Graham and Mr. Gary Lee Link.

Frosted jade foliage trees completed the chancel decoration and aisle tapers with white roses and ivy marked the pews.

Effer-VESS-ence

We had a lot of things we wanted to talk about today, but they'll have to wait, for we have the most wonderful cake recipe you've ever used . . . and there won't be space enough for gossiping if we give you the recipe . . . and we want you to have it to try right away.

½ cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup Whistle Orange, 2 cups flour, 1 teasp. soda, 1 teasp. salt, 1 teasp. baking powder, 1 cup raisins, ½ cup pecans.

Grind raisins and nuts. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat well. Add flour (sifted with other dry ingredients) alternately with Whistle Orange. Add raisins and nuts. Bake in layer pans 350° - 375° oven about 30 minutes.

Turn out layers and while cake is hot, spoon ¼ cup Whistle Orange over cake. Cover with wax paper and let stand about 8 hours.

Ice with Whistle Orange Fluff Icing.

Whistle Orange Fluff Icing (Small mixer bowl. Time 5-8 min).

1 cup sugar, 1 egg white, 1 teasp. orange rind (optional), ⅓ cup boiling Whistle Orange, ⅛ teasp. Cream of Tartar.

Place sugar, egg white and cream of tartar in small bowl of electric mixer. Turn on fast speed and immediately add boiling Whistle Orange. Beat until fluffy. Add orange rind if desired and continue to beat until peaks form.

HAND ME DOWN SHOES

A young mother with three little boys ranging from a year old to four, was buying shoes for the older one. After we had him fitted he reached into a paper bag and brought out several pairs of worn shoes and asked me if I would see which pairs could be worn by the two younger boys. She said that the older boy had been easy on shoes and some of his out-grown shoes were too good to throw away. I told her that I would gladly measure their feet but that I was "agin" handing down shoes and explained why. I had her feel the inside bottoms of some of the worn shoes. They were ridged and bumpy where the other child had made a foot-print in the shoe. No other child's foot would be the same or fit into the mold made by the first child, consequently it would cause pressure points and could do damage. Only in a case of dire necessity should shoes be handed down.

The Dragons beat the Bearcats 50-40 to put them in first place with a 3-0 record. The Celtics won over the Merchants 56-42.

The Senior Boys have added a new team which defeated Sullivant Gardens 47-45 after overcoming a 20-point lead which Sullivant Gardens obtained, and in the second game of the evening the Cowboys pushed the Rebels out of first place.

BOXING

They are also preparing for the Golden Gloves Tournament.

SUNSHINE has 27 boxers who are working very hard to keep in condition for the various events.

WRESTLING

All boys who are interested in learning about the sport of boxing, should come to Sunshine and participate in this activity.

THE WRESTLING group at Sunshine will be preparing for a interesting wrestling tournament which will be held Mar. 10 at Whetstone Recreation Center.

Arts and Crafts

The arts and craft classes at Sunshine Recreation Center have enjoyed a week of experimenting in color and design. The use of old magazines and texture paper has opened a new media of expression for participants in the art program. Classes are held regularly in the art room of the center. The ore-teen classes are scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 every weekday and the teen-age classes are held every Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Tumbling

Tumbling and Gymnastics at the center are going very well. Boys and girls are both enjoying the new rope. Girls tumbling classes have reached 25 while the boys have 20 in their class. Classes are open to boys and girls ages 7-13. Boys classes meet on Monday and Wednesday at 4 and girls meet at 5.

Hi Fi Dance

The Hi Fi Dance with Gene Fullen and company will be held at the center, Thursday Feb. 15 starting at 7:30 p.m. and going until 9:30 p.m. The dance is open to teen-agers in the ages of 13-18.

Sewing

A new class has begun as Sunshine for girls and boys between the ages of 7 and 12. The group's first general project is making a wardrobe for dolls. At the end of the sewing class in March, the children will have the dolls and doll clothes to take home. As another side project the group will be making patterns — skirts for the girls and vests for the boys. The class has been limited to eight for the time being, and is already full.

Baton

There are two baton classes now in session at Sunshine. One class for intermediate meets every Monday and Wednesday in the afternoon. The girls are making up and practicing their own routines. Another class for beginners meets Friday afternoon. In this class the children learn the basic principles of baton twirling. Both classes have been limited to 12 girls each.

Girls Leaders

Plans are underway for a new girls club at Sunshine. The club will be especially for girls between the ages of 12 and 14. It will be a social club where the girls will learn social usage and will also act as a service organization. The club will meet every Tuesday night at 8.

Piano Lessons

The piano class has been growing and now there are more than 40 young musicians in the group. Teenagers have also taken an interest in this activity.

The classes are scheduled for Tuesday afternoons, 3:30 until 5:30, for pre-teenage children. The teenage group meets in the evenings of the same day from 7:30 until 9:30.

Pre-Teen Club

The Pre-Teen Club holds its meetings at two different times — the 6-9 age group meets at 6 and the 10-13 meets from 7:30 until 8. The dances are as follows: 6-9 age group from 6:30 until 7:30; the 10-13 from 7:30 until 9:30.

Table Tennis

Sunshine Recreation Center's top table tennis players will face a new challenge in participating in the citywide table tennis tournament within the next few weeks.

The participants profited from the table tennis demonstration that was conducted by members of the Columbus Table Tennis Association Jan. 22 in the game room.

Central Wins Two In Weekend Games: North, Portsmouth

By BILL PARKER and DAVE EVANS

Central's Pirates, pursuing a city-league championship title in basketball, did away with two games this weekend — one big one and one not so big.

Friday night action with North went this way:

THE PIRATES beat North on the Bucs' court by a score of 59-55.

Central jumped to a 16 to 8 lead in the first quarter, slowed down in the second quarter, and then found themselves behind at the half time 30 to 27.

The Pirates, using their fast break to their advantage, came back strong in the third and fourth quarters and were able to be on top as the clock ran out.

TERRY TAYLOR led the Pirates with 13 points. Tom Fullove and Dave Roberts also had 11 and 10 respectively for the Bucs. Charles Bryson and Terry Kneisley held high honors for the losers with 17 each.

Central, tied with Eastmoor and Linden-McKinley for first place, will meet the Panthers on their court this Friday night.

Reserves: North 59, Central 54 (OT).

THIS IS HOW it looked Saturday night at Portsmouth:

The Pirates did away with once powerful Portsmouth, 79-38, in a non-league contest Friday at Portsmouth.

PORTSMOUTH, last year's class AA state champs were completely outclassed by the speedy Pirates who have won 7 out of 10 meetings with the Trojans dating back to the 1933-34 season.

Central, who shot into a 6-0 lead, awed their hosts by mounting it to 21-9 for the first quarter score.

Instead of cooling off though, the Pirates got hotter with Ray Revels contributing 11 points with fine rebounding, along with game high scorer, Tommy Fullove's 14 points.

CENTRARL'S SECOND team was also impressive with Don Poling and Cliff Moxley each scoring 9 points each in the second half. The Buccanneers are now 8-1 overall and 6-1 in league competition.

The Portsmouth game sets the stage for the all-important contest with Linden-McKinley this Friday. Linden and Central, along with Eastmoor, are all tied for first place, but this week's tilt at Linden will lessen the leaders.

AUBLEGRAPH

Wherever There's Big, Tall Men Look For Fred Taylor

For those of you who thought you came face to face with Paul Bunyon this past week, here's a few suggestions:

1. Get more sleep, or
2. Check this city's convention schedule.

THE LUMBERMEN came to town Friday and Satur-.ay—flannel shirts, et al. They were at the Southern Hotel, climaxed by the Ohio Forestry Association's Logger's Supper last Friday.

We were glad to see that Fred Taylor, Ohio State University basketball coach, was on hand as the principal speaker. Taylor isn't one to shun a speaking engagement because the occasion isn't big enough to make the sports page headlines.

59th Annual Meet . . .

The Ohio Forestry Association, an organization of conservation-minded people from all over Ohio, was established in 1903. This was the 59th annual meeting (convention) of the group.

The Logger's Supper, where Taylor spoke, is the convention banquet which has proven to be unusual and extremely popular, according to Forestry's Assistant Executive Director Arthur E. Day.

"IT WAS AN occasion which invited informality, the logger's wool or flannel shirt being the preferred attire for the evening's festivities," he said.

They maintained an atmosphere as close to the old-time logger's chuck shack as possible, with some deference to propriety, of course.

Taylor had a good time, too. He knew that lumbermen came in big packages, but he was amazed to find out that some were almost as big as Jerry Lucas.

Call Me A Cab . . .

Jovial Tommy Richardson, the International Baseball League president stopped in the other day and shouted:

"Somebody call me a yellow cab."

"Okay, 'You're a Yellow Cab'," said one of the local scribes proving that all of the talent doesn't come from the big cities.

Then, after a few bars of an ancient soft shoe routine, ex-vaudevillean Richardson got down to serious business and chatted about the league and, specifically, the Columbus Jets.

The league has adopted a 154-game schedule opening Apr. 25 and closing Sept. 9. Toronto will be in Columbus to help the defending champion Jets launch their 1962 drive on Apr. 25.

The old-time showman was in town last weekend with other International League directors who convened at the Deshler-Hilton to discuss the opening season.

With The Mat Men . . .

With five teams assured and another tentatively set, the City League wrestling meet will be held at Eastmoor's gym on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 10.

Eastmoor mat officials say that the prelims will begin at 12:30 p.m. with semi-finals at 2 and finals at 4.

Jim Porter of East is the manager of the event.

Linden is still tentative but the definite entries are Central, East, Eastmoor, Walnut Ridge and West.

All's Not Gold . . .

The Columbus Golden Glove tournament will get underway at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 6 at the Old Memorial Hall.

Columbus will be represented by Sunshine, Thompson, Beatty and Windsor Terrace Recreation Centers.

South Side Settlement House, St. Stephen's Community Center and the new Training Institution of Central Ohio on W. Broad-st will also send candidates.

Tickets are available at Marshall's, 46 N. High-st.

Hilltonia Library Books Help To Solve Problems

Numerous books which help solve personal problems and meet the strains of modern living are available at the Hilltonia Library.

A new and realistic approach to solving every day problems is given by Norman Vincent Peale in his new book, "The Tough-Minded Optimist."

Other recent books which offer help in surmounting the stumbling blocks to happiness and well-being include "A Guide to Rational Living In an Irrational World," "In Search of a Working Philosophy of Life," "The Magic In Your Mind," "How to Live Every Day of Your Life," "Time Power for Personal Success," "Success Through a Positive Mental Attitude" and "Living a Happy Life."

Lowell Ditzen's "The Storm and the Rainbow" outlines practical and realistic solutions to many of the personal problems which every individual must cope with during his lifetime—unhappiness, suffering, personal tragedy and sorrow.

Many famous persons have also written guides to successful living. Actress Loretta Young's "The Things I Had to Learn" and Eleanor Roosevelt's "You Learn by Living" are two of the most recent.

In addition, material can be obtained on psychology for everyday living, love and marriage, problems of children and teenagers, psychiatry, psychoanalysis and related subjects.

Schools Ready Projects For Freedoms Festival

By Betty Daft

Operation Freedom Mailbag, a project initiated at Westmoor Junior High by the school's vice-principal, has been adopted and personalized by many other west area schools as their own effort in the city-wide "Festival of Freedoms" observance during February, marked by all Columbus Schools.

Launched at Westmoor by Paul Masys, the Mailbag plan was designed with a two-fold purpose . . .

"It offers teenagers an opportunity to express their appreciation, through letters, to servicemen stationed abroad, and it is hoped this interest in their personal sacrifice will have a who receive them," Masys explained. morale-boosting effect on those

"Just as important is the effect their answers have on these students. The letters broaden their horizon; make the whole world a classroom and give added meaning to the names and places in the news."

Other schools have adapted the plan to their own use. Highland Avenue, John Burroughs, Valleyview, Georgian Heights, Eakin, West Broad, West Mound Westgate, Hilltonia, Starling and West High have expressed interest in the venture.

Masys explained the timely need for such a project with, "The recent call-up of National Guard and Reserves by President Kennedy has affected many families on the West Side, and the sacrifices of our neighbors is the cause for freedom should not be taken for granted."

Students have submitted the names of friends and relatives serving in such areas as Berlin, Viet Nam, Alaska, Japan and Spain. Letters to these servicemen are sent from the school, and answers come to the school for distribution to various classrooms. All will be compiled in a scrapbook to be sent to the Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge in the spring.

West Siders are encouraged to send the name, rank, service number and address of those they know in service, and Westmoor students will write.

IV and was concerned about bringing children into this kind of a life.

"I guess I'm lucky," he said. "I don't think we can have any children." To Billy, this was one bright spot in a black world. He was cut in the groin when he was eight while sliding off a bicycle handlebar.

"I didn't want to tell anybody about it," he said, "so I sewed it up myself. Not many people believe that, but it's true."

A couple of weeks ago, Billy went out to find a job. He was interviewed by some 23 prospective employers. They all said, "Sorry." His Dad didn't believe him so he went back and got a written statement from each of them.

"Things have been rough ever since I can remember," he said, with a trace of a smile. Billy has learned to smile most of the time — he puts up a good front.

What about his home? His younger brother, Bobbie, 19, had a job for a while and bought the family a television set. They don't know what they'd do without it — it takes their minds off of being hungry.

They don't own a toaster; the only real appliance they have is a percolator they received from the Settlement House.

There's more to this story but it all sounds the same. Billy isn't one to wallow in misery . . . he just felt like talking and was interested.

He's got one dream, however. He'd like to be a barber. We kind've think he'll make it, too . . . some day.

Right now, he's among thousands of other welfare cases throughout Columbus who hope their burdens will ease.

Wohl tells us that local grocers are becoming more and more concerned with petty thefts, but there's a switch. Folks aren't hitting the cash registers . . . they're stealing bread and milk.

Gallagher invited all the delegations to return Feb. 13 to hear results of traffic surveys in these areas.

The commission approved stop-and-yield signs on N. Burgess-av and on Ogden-av and at Ridge-av. The request came from Floyd Brosuff, 248 N. Burgess-av.

The group also cancelled earlier plans to make Thomas-av one-way west. West Side Neighborhood Council Traffic Committee asked that the request be rescinded to accommodate traffic at the plastics company.

Two baby boys who died Monday of bronchial pneumonia, showed signs of having the hemorrhagic type.

An earlier death a few days ago brings the total to five within the past week.

Dr. Evans expressed grave concern over the situation.

of charge a booklet on "Fall-out Protection" issued by the office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense. Local post offices have received many thousands of these booklets and to date the requests have been few and far between. These are printed by the U. S. Government Printing Office and it would be hard to estimate what the cost has actually been. Of course, one way to get rid of the books would be to send them out by the postal carriers, thus adding to the postal deficit.

Civil defense has never been a popular subject but the department is still attempting to inform us whether we want to be informed or not.

We would suggest that you take a minute and drop in at your post office and pick up one of these booklets.

Around The Council Fire . . .

Can-Ka-Donska Camp Fire group entertained parents at a New Year's Eve party at the Hilltop Methodist Church. Following a program there was group singing and piano music by Linda Morrison.

Refreshments were made and served by the girls.

The Merry Blue Birds had a Council Fire Dec. 19, at which time they were awarded Money Bag charms for their effort in the Annual Camp Fire candy sale.

The girls also gave a playlet.

The Ki-Yo-Tom-mi group is growing vines and plan to transplant them into decorated plastic vases later this month. About Feb. 11 they plan to present them to the patients at Alum Creek Hospital. A song fete and a small party will conclude the program. Mrs. C. [illegible] Gordon is the leader of this group.

Gay Blue Birds, organized October 1961, under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Kreasger and assisted by Mrs. Julius D'Andrea meets at West Broad Street School. For more information call BR 8-6709 any evening.

The girls enjoyed a trip through the Donaldson Baking Co. plant, Dec. 27.

The Merry Marigolds, led by Helen Kilbourne, spent the afternoon of Dec. 9, at the Virgo Fish Hatchery. Kenneth Moore arranged the trip.

Reflecting on the active growth of the Camp Fire program here during the past year, district leaders voiced thanks to all people of the community who have helped support the organization.

Girl Scouts Arranging International Program

Fiftieth Anniversary Juliette Low International Friendship program will be a very special thing for Girl Scouts of the Hilltop neighborhood and their parents and friends.

Impressed with the planning, officials of the Westinghouse Appliance plant, Phillippi-rd, have set aside their auditorium for Girl Scout use Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18.

Starting at 2:30 p.m., all 21 Hilltop troops will cover 11 program fields by means of skits and table displays. The theme will be "Honor the Past, Serve the Future." Group singing and a massive flag ceremony will be other highlights of a program lasting nearly two and one-half hours. Mrs. H. C. Boothe is chairman of the project.

Also on the committee are Mrs. William Senulis, program; Mr. and Mrs. James McKenna, properties; Mrs. James Mullins, publicity; Mrs. D. T. Crawshaw, music; and Mrs. Louis Boehringer, flags. Mrs. Robert Duncan, Hilltop neighborhood chairman, will give the welcome.

Various portions of the program will be devoted to badge and rank requirements, international friendship, dramatics, puppets, camping, homemaking, first aid, folk dancing, sports and games, and community service.

Special emphasis will be placed on the "Dimes For Daisy" national campaign to finance exchange visits and an assistance program for foreign Scouts.

Hadassah Books Hadar Quartet

All groups of the Columbus Chapter of Hadassah have joined to present another first in Columbus in the form of the outstanding Hadar Quartet.

This Israel folk-lore ensemble will be featured at Hadassah's joint donor HMO and Medical Center affair Sunday evening, Feb. 2, in Temple Tifereth Israel at 8:30 p.m.

Newt Hahn Is Named Prexy

Newt Hahn, the local softball player, has been elected president of the Swan Club for 1962.

Other officers are Vice-President Lou Brown, Second Vice-President Lou Martin, Secretary George Shadwell, Treasurer Bill Fritz and Athletic Director Paul Jink.

Representatives of Kiwanis clubs in the newly-formed 10-W Division will assemble for a council meeting Wednesday, Jan. 31, in Chicago Avenue Christian church. West Side Kiwanians will be hosts.

At the West Side club's regular noon meeting, Jan. 31, Duane Carter, a veteran driver in the "Indianapolis 500" will be a guest and show a film.

West Side Kiwanians have chosen Sunday, Mar. 11, as the date of their Annual Pancake Feast at Gladden Community House.

I sought to hear the voice of God, and climbed the topmost steeple. But God declared: "Go down again, I dwell among the people."—Louis I Newman

Folk Dance Course Slated

The Columbus Folk Dancers are holding a ten-week course in folk dancing on Tuesday evenings at St. Stephen's Church, 30 W. Woodruff-av. The first meeting was held Jan. 30, but the class is still open and anyone interested is urged to attend. Sessions start at 8 p.m.

This is an introductory course in folk dancing and offers an opportunity to learn many dances that are popular today. Folk dancing differs from square dancing in that many dances are done in circles with or without partners, or in various groups of couples. These dances come from all over the world and many have been handed down from one generation to another.

The registration fee, per person, for the classes, is 50 cents per session or $3 for the entire course. For further information call Miss Joyce Melick, BE. 7-1702, 4600 Eastway-ct.

FOUNDATION FUNDS

Children's Hospital Will Open Metabolic Birth Defect Center

Twenty Ohio Chapters of The National Foundation have contributed to make possible a new Special Treatment Center for metabolic birth defects to be opened on Feb. 1 at Columbus Children's Hospital.

This Center will specialize in the diagnosis and treatment of body chemistry disorders with which thousands of children are born, including imbalance of normal enzyme, hormone, metabolism and other chemical functions.

This installation, focusing on "molecular" disease, is one of the many special treatment centers for birth defects being established throughout the country by local chapters of the National Foundation.

Like the others, it is supported by the March of Dimes. Located at the Children's Hospital, the Special Treatment Center will serve as a referral point for patients throughout the state.

"Birth defects, long a neglected problem and now a target of the March of Dimes organization, are responsible for the crippling and handicapping of more American children than any other category of human disorder," Donn Alspach, chairman of the Licking County Chapter of the National Foundation, said Wednesday in announcing the new clinic.

"Children so afflicted usually require complex care both in the hospital and after they go home. One of the most important services of the new March of Dimes Treatment Center," he said, "will be to combine in one institution the diagnostic and treatment efforts of the various medical and laboratory facilities required to cope with these problems."

The new Treatment Center will provide diagnostic facilities and follow-up care for patients with a number of hereditary diseases commonly called "inborn errors of metabolism."

"The Children's Hospital was chosen for this installation because of the outstanding success of its birth Defects Clinical Study Center (also established and supported by National Foundation funds) began two years ago for the care and study of children born with hydrocephalus or spina bifida," Alspach explained.

The Birth Defects Clinical Study Center, in cooperation with family doctors, has already treated more than 200 afflicted children.

The Special Treatment Center will be under the supervision of Dr. William O. Robertson, associate professor of pediatrics at the Ohio State University College of Medicine.

Dr. Orville Greene, director, division of endocrinology, Dr. William Newton, director of laboratories, Dr. Hilda Knobloch, director of the clinic of child development, Dr. J. F. Ambuel, director of out-patient clinics, Dr. Warren Wheeler, director of the Rh laboratories, Dr. T. K. Oliver, director of newborn services, Dr. Donald Hosier, director of the division of cardiology, and Dr. Ernest Johnson, director of the division of physical medicine and rehabilitation, will also take an active part in the operation of the clinic.

While the Licking County Chapter of the National Foundation will provide March of Dimes funds to insure initiation of the new clinic, a number of National Foundation Chapters among the state's counties have contributed toward the initial cost.

Blame Owner For Theft Of Automobiles

When a stolen car endangers motorists and pedestrians on the highways, a big share of the blame often rests on the owner, says Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club.

A year-long study of car thefts in one state shows that in 48 percent of the cases the owner had left keys in the car. In 17 percent more, the key had been removed, but the ignition was left unlocked.

Police officers urge that owners remove keys from parked cars. In some cities it already is an offense subject to fine not to do so. As an additional precaution, police urge that car doors be locked.

A person trying to break into a car is much more conspicuous than one inside tinkering with the ignition.

These questions plus helpful suggestions on budget planning and management of money for the single parent family will be discussed by Mrs. Bertha Everhart, Home Economics Agent of the Franklin County Cooperative Extension Service, when she meets with the Greater Columbus Chapter of Parents Without Partners, Inc., Tuesday, Feb. 6 at Trinity Episcopal Church at 8:30 p.m.

All interested single parents are invited to attend. Custody of one's children is not a requirement. For further information regarding Parents Without Partners, write to 125 E. Broad-st, Columbus 15.

EMD Sets Mark In Dollar Volume

Buoyed by a sharp increase in tonnage during the second half of the year, Eastern Motor Dispatch, Inc., wound up 1961 with the biggest total dollar volume in its history, officials of the truck line have revealed.

EMD achieved the record without an increase in rates and without adding territory, although there was an increase in operating costs, officials said.

At mid-year, revenues were down three per cent from 1960 levels, but the second-half rally enabled the truck line to close with an over-all increase of five percent over the previous year's total.

EMD operates primarily between Ohio and the Eastern Seaboard. The line has 13 terminals in five states.

When Your Sacro-iliac Slips

DR. HUMPHREY

DR. ARNETT

The sacro-iliac, or "sacred arch", is the triangular spinal segment that bears all the weight of the upper body. It is a sensitive and vital spot. The joint is formed by the juncture of the bone called the sacrum, at the base of the spine and the hip bone called the ilium. Thus the joint is called — sacro-iliac.

Movement of the joint beyond its normal range can occur from overstrain, accident or a fall. It can occur from a sudden twist of the body when it is off balance or in the act of lifting in combination with the twist. When a misplacement occurs, pain is usually severe and sudden and it may occur anywhere from the waist down. Home remedies are usually of no value and some may even make the pain worse. Only when the bones are restored to their normal position can the irritation and pain be eliminated.

Doctors of Chiropractic can usually correct the misplacement in short order thru adjustive manipulation of the affected parts.

When trouble arises your Doctor of Chiropractic is the one to consult for he has made a special study of this important joint and in the correction of its misplacements. Chiropractors are educationally prepared and instrumentally equipped to combat sacro-iliac troubles through the use of a complete program of correction. This is accomplished with gentle manipulation and supplemental physical therapy as necessary to bring about positive correction.

THE TREND IS TO CHIROPRACTIC.

Welfare Talk (It Doesn't Pay Rent) Continues

WEL'FARE' (wel'far') n. (ME. wel fare, fr. wel well + fare to go) State of faring, or doing, well; esp., condition of health, prosperity, etc.; negatively, exemption from evil or calamity. — (Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary).

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Welfare, contrary to popular definition by Webster, is not a state of faring, or doing, well. Just ask those on poor relief, they'll tell you—even if many of them didn't make it through the seventh grade.

Those folks who have been living this word for the past few months know all too well that it's not the "exemption from evil or calamity" that it's supposed to be.

In fact, it has become—in Franklin County—just that:

Evil and/or calamity.

The story has been told in headlines and through word of mouth. It's been discussed and re-discussed many times. Newspapers are giving more and more ink to the problem.

Certainly, all's not well with welfare . . . and, more disheartening, it doesn't look like it'll get much better. It does, however, look like things will get much worse.

There has been one woman who, perhaps, has single-handedly done more in educating the public toward the welfare crisis than anyone else.

Her name is Mrs. Fannie Eistenstein—a personable talker—and she's currently a worker at the South Side Settlement House.

It's people like her who have brought this problem to the home front of the ignorant and, with the facts she had to work with, it wasn't a hard problem.

Her most recent plea was last Monday at Columbus City Council. Nothing was settled there either, incidentally, but Mrs. Eisenstein told this newspaper Tuesday:

"At least, many people are now beginning to realize that we're faced with a real problem."

She added:

"We went to council because the people feel that they have to put their case clearly as they can to the city. They feel that if they raise the question with council and other interested groups do likewise, then before the next rent check and gas bill there may be an answer."

But, how can an answer come when officials—both city and state—have different views on the matter? Is it a problem of not enough studying the situation?

For instance:

Columbus solons said that there's a possibility that some deficit spending could be done before the Days of Grace

Dr. R. J. Miller keeps our hopes up with this contribution clipped from a magazine:

Fishing is a chance to wash one's soul with pure air, with the ripple of the stream and the shimmer of the sun on the blue waters.

It brings meekness and inspiration from the glory and wonder of nature, and charity toward tackle-makers. It brings mockery of profits; the quieting of hate and lift of the spirit. And it brings rejoicing that you do not have to decide a darned thing until next week . . .

Something for Nothing Will Kill Us!

Most of us as youngsters were taught that we should be paid for the job we did. If we did a better job we would be paid more. If we improved our product we should be entitled to more.

The recent success of New York electrical unions in getting a 25-hour week is certainly not in line with this thinking. They have sought and have secured a lot more than they were entitled to by this teaching. Their increase was not an earned increase but was something for nothing.

We maintain we are entitled to more if we do more or if we improve our product.

Today wages should be raised if the price of living goes up. Or they should be raised if the worker improves his production or the product.

Destruction of this nation can come about very easily with a continued insistence on something for nothing.

DIAGRAM SHOWS the eastern two-thirds of Westgate Park, and the probable areas where a $400,000 recreation center is to be built soon. Shaded lines indicate the site recommended in the 1947 Batchelor Report on Recreation. X's mark other sites under consideration.

Westgate Center To Be Discussed At Public Meeting

There's a space for a place in a spot that's a park in the middle of The Hill. But where shall it be?

Hilltop residents may have an important voice in settling this riddle. It concerns the location of the newly-approved recreation center for Westgate Park.

Nick Barack, director of the Columbus Recreation Department, has promised to hear out all opinions at a meeting of the Hilltop Community Council at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 8 at the Hilltop YMCA. The public is invited.

There have been undertones of disagreement, especially from residents near the park, as to where the proposed $400,000 center should be built. Wicklow-rd people reportedly favor placing it on Parkside-dr. while the Parksiders think it should by all means face on Wicklow.

Only two letters of suggestion, however, have reached Director Barack since the project was announced in mid-January. Hilltop Community Council, through its corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Bolles, urged that the building be placed as close as possible to the present east-end playground. This is the site (near the present open shelter house) suggested in the Batchelor Report on Recreation, compiled in 1947. Barack favors it, too.

The other letter, from Mrs. Robert Duncan, 32 Haldy-av, presents the feelings of a group represented by Mrs. H. C. Booth. The women have been active in Girl Scout and Teen Council work. They favor placing the center at the Westgate-Parkside corner of the 45-acre park.

Barack said there have been two other sites considered: (1.) near the parking lot on Parkside and, (2.) adjacent to the existing closed shelter house, west of the lake. The director said Linden Center was built onto its original shelter house, although not everyone favored it. Trees are a factor in Westgate, he observed.

Barack pointed out that a swimming pool for the park is in the 1964 slot of the Capital Improvements budget. "To date," he said, "I have received no letters pro or con from the people about the proposed pool." Pools at Sunshine and

Christian Doctrine Is Pattern For Business Success--Miller

"Jesus' commands apply to communities and business groups, as well as to individuals . . . Christian teaching engenders our trust and concern for the well-being of our neighbors, as well as respect of the law."

These remarks were delivered in a straight-from-the-shoulder way here last Thursday from J. Irwin Miller, prominent industrialist and president of the National Council of Churches. He addressed a combined audience of the Hilltop, West Side, West Franklin and Grove City Kiwanis clubs at a noon luncheon at Monaco's.

The chairman of the board of Cummins Diesel said Christian doctrine serves to remind the businessman constantly of his moral responsibilities.

"The perils of the world are great, beyond anything in the past," Miller declared. "We can either destroy our planet or build together for peace. The church has a very important part in the voice of liberty and can give us purpose which, if fulfilled, can bring us wealth beyond anything imaginable."

Miller was in Columbus Thursday principally to address the annual meeting of the Columbus Area Council of Churches. He appeared at the Hilltop assembly at the invitation of Rev. Harold Dutt, chairman of the Columbus Council's committee on evangelism. Other guests were Dr. James Stoner, the speaker's pastor from Co-

No Garbage Pickups On Lincoln's Birthday

Because of Lincoln's birthday, Monday, Feb. 12, the Sanitation Department will not pick up that day. The next pick up will be a week later.

Stickers have been placed on containers to notify the public.

There also will be no pick ups on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, but there will be regular pick ups on Thursday, Mar. 1, according to Arthur J. Bellar, superintendent of the Division of Sanitation.

NEARLY HALF A CENTURY of practice has perfected Edward Scanlon's technique of 'phone fixing. Retired Friday after 45 years as a telephone repairman, his skilled hands make a final adjustment to a telephone of Mrs. Peg Warren, 470 Townsend-av.

Telephone Man Retires With 45-Year Record

By BETTY DAFT

Service with a smile . . . wearing a rose in his cap, is the identity many area residents have given Edward B. Scanlon, of 1163 Richter-rd, retiring telephone repairman.

Thirty-five of his 45 years as a repairman has been spent servicing phones in western Columbus. "In those years," he says with smiling satisfaction. "I've fixed most of the phones on the Hilltop and West Side—been in most of the homes, met most of the people."

And the familiar figure, always wearing a rose stuck jauntily in his cap, has personified friendly helpfulness to the customers he served. Never without a rose, he wears fresh ones grown in his own garden during the summer and, in winter months, an artificial bloom.

Seventy-five fellow employes of Ohio Bell honored him last Friday with a party. He was presented with a plaque for his 45 years' service, a lifetime gold service pass, assuring him entry in any telephone office in the

It's Boy Scout Week All Across The Nation

Uniforms of blue and gold, khaki and forest green will be conspicious this week. Hundreds of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Southwest and Capital Districts will join their brothers all across the nation in observing Boy Scout Week.

Throughout the Central Ohio Council there will be 52nd anniversary banquets, parties and parents nights. Window displays, library and school exhibits will be other features. Some of the hardier boys are even going camping over the weekend at Camp Lazarus.

Meanwhile, downtown from Feb. 9 to 11 one troop will set up and operate a model campsite on the Statehouse grounds.

Scout Sunday, Feb. 11, will be observed in many local churches. The Third Annual Council Recognition Service for the Protestant religious award will be held at 2:30 p.m. that day at Broad Street Presbyterian Church. More than 90 boys will be honored. Scouts of the Jewish faith will attend services Friday evening (Feb. 9) and Saturday.

Theme of this year's celebration is "Strengthen America—Character Counts." Scouting in the nine-county Central Ohio council is being given a special boost this year. More than half of a $750,000 Camp Improvement Fund has been subscribed. The drive will wind up in a month.

Balloon Sales Will Aid Heart Film Library

Inflated red heart-shaped balloons will give a circus atmosphere to downtown Columbus and suburban shopping centers Saturday, Feb. 10, when more than 700 Ohio State University fraternity and sorority members take part in the Balloon Day in connection with the annual observance of Greek Week.

The balloons will be mounted on gaily striped sticks and will sell for 25 cents apiece.

The proceeds from the sale will go to the Central Ohio Heart Association's film library, which includes more than 100 films available on loan to civic groups, schools and churches, clubs and fire and rescue squads.

In all, 19 stations will be manned by members of 45 fraternities and 20 sororities working in two-hour shifts in groups of four from 10 a.m. until

Scott Krauss Heads Easter Seal Drive

Scott Krauss, 2635 Asbury-ln, veteran news agency director and civic leader, will direct the local fight against crippling in the 1962 Easter Seal campaign. He has been named as honorary chairman of the drive for the Franklin County Society of Crippled Children by Robert R. Williams, president of the board of trustees of the society.

The seal campaign is scheduled for Mar. 15 and will continue through Easter Sunday, Apr. 22. Funds from the drive will be used to continue and expand direct services to the physically handicapped regardless of age or crippling condition.

Krauss is founder and president of the Scott Krauss News Agency, 1180 W. Goodale-blvd, and is active in community affairs. Always vitally concerned in the welfare of the crippled child, he has served as a trustee and a vice-president for the Franklin County Society's Board of Trustees; served as chairman of the crippled children's committee of Columbus Rotary Club for 15 years and was honorary chairman of the Easter Seal campaign in 1947.

Easter Seal Societies for Crippled Children throughout the nation are marking 1962 as the 41st year of giving services to the disabled. The national organization is the oldest voluntary health agency in the United States serving the physically handicapped.

North Birds Visiting Ohio This Winter

Bird watchers throughout Ohio are reporting uncommon numbers of rare winter visitors. At irregular intervals, birds which normally winter far to the north of Ohio invade the Buckeye state in unusual numbers. Apparently this is one of the big invasion years, according to widespread reports.

Species which have been reported include evening grosbeaks pine siskins, redpolls, pine grosbeaks and unusually large populations of snow buntings. Many of these birds appeared in larger than average numbers on Christmas week bird counts which are held annually.

Many southern birds which frequently remain in Ohio during the winter were scarce or absent on these annual census lists. These species include robins, bluebirds and song sparrows, among others.

"So, if you are interested in unusual birds, better keep an eye out for some of these winter visitors," said one of the Division of Wildlife fieldmen. "If you maintain a bird feeder, your chances of seeing them are even greater."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT —

A plain bar of iron is worth $5. This same bar, when made into horseshoes, is worth $10.50. If made into needles, it is worth $4285. If turned into balance wheels for watches, it becomes worth $250,000. This is true of another kind of material — YOU. Your value is determined by what you make of yourself. — James M. Hughes lumbus, Ind.; William G. Turner of the Cummins Diesel plant on Phillippi-rd; and Dr. Weir Hartman, executive director of the Columbus Area Council.

Miller made no mention of the National Council's efforts to refute isolated accusations that it is communist infiltrated. Recent investigations have shown little, if any foundation for these charges.

"Ninety per cent of the National Council's work has been in the form of food and medicine for overseas, aid to transient working families, missions, Sunday school materials in depressed areas, and program and building helps in rapidly-expanding population centers," Miller said.

Speaking as a man who is also on the boards of many banks and industries, the NC of C president said, "You as business and professional men have a good idea of the sense of National Purpose that can advance us today. You should not shun changes in business but welcome them. To be strong a nation and its businesses as well must assume risks."

Continuing his topic, Miller said, "We have to earn our standard of living. Businesses thrive on competition, and it is true that experimenting businesses usually succeed.

"Government needs to make note of these things," Miller declared. "It should ask, 'What is the best way?' instead of being so engrossed in what is 'liberal' and what is 'conservative;' what is 'private enterprise,' what is 'government?'"

Monthly Camping, Radio Club Among Many Interests of Scout Troop 172

By Craig Weaver
Boy Scout Reporter
Hartley Newspapers

What makes a Boy Scout Troop flourish? It's the volunteer work of many leaders with varied interests who share their enthusiasms with the boys in the troop. Also, all of them are interested in camping, which is one of Scouting's main phases.

One outstanding troop of our district which has special interest groups going strong as well as many troop projects is Troop 172, sponsored by the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church. These Scouts go camping every month of the year, including two weeks at summer camp. The troop has taken over bird conservation duties at Camp Lazarus during February. At the camp they also plan to remodel the George Rogers Clark longhouse.

One of the parents, Daniel Umberger, a holder of an amateur radio operator's license, introduced his hobby to the Scouts and brought about enough interest that they started their own radio club, station W8CUE. Among the club's activities is the building of an emergency mobile amateur radio station on the troop trailer.

Flight A is Troop 172's drill team. Adult advisors who share their knowledge of drill formations are Glen Baker, Air Force ROTC Drill Team; Tom McGill, Pershing Rifles and Dave Morris, S. Army Reserve. Captain of the team is scout Tom Wemyss. Mi-Gi-Si Namid, or Indian dancers, is the name of a specialty dance team. Advisor is Dave Wright. Chief of the dancers is scout Ron Nighbert. Vice-chief is Scout Jim Gaskill.

After digging back into old troop records, members of Troop 172 have compiled the list of scoutmasters and past leaders who have helped their troop for the past 30 years. In order since the first one, J. H. Wolfe, the records show: Lee C. Beaumont, Elwood Spring, A. W. Kanaby, Richard M. Beem, Norman Line, Jack Hostetter, Ralph Duncan, Lou Carswell, Hobart Cassell, Jack Spencer, Dave Alban, and John D. Birle, the present scoutmaster.

Troop 172 has 40 active members plus a fine committee which plays a large part in the troop's success. Between the leaders and the scouts there are seven Eagle scouts in the unit. Six of the present leaders started Scouting in the troop.

Westgate—

Schiller parks are in the 1963 planning.

Westgate Park is already served by a fieldhouse, the open and closed shelter houses, a tennis court, picnic areas, wading pool, blacktopped play areas, and several ball diamonds, as well as the lake. Bonds to finance the new center are about to be sold, but an architect cannot be hired until the money is released, Barack said.

The recreation director said he will urge the Community Council to form a special park committee to be a liaison with his office. He also favors establishing an advisory council for the center, even before it is built. Three persons already have indicated a willingness to serve, he said.

Welfare—

May 8 balloting.

Ohio Governor Michael V. DiSalle, when contacted by this newspaper, said that nothing could be done until the May 8 voting.

In fact, when DiSalle spoke at a Bexley Democratic club last Thursday night, he was asked if anything could be done before the voters went to the polls again.

At that time, the governor said "No."

Of course, those on welfare realize that nothing can be done—like by magic—immediately. It takes time.

"There's been so much happening lately in the welfare problem," Mrs. Eisenstein said. "So many accidents have occurred and so much poverty has been brought to light that people are willing to look at the picture and examine the critical need. This is something, anyway."

But, there is much more examining needed.

Some of it will be done next Thursday, Feb. 22.

A community conference on welfare—which is expected to emphasize Christian responsibility—will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA auditorium.

Rev. Russell M. Jones, Columbus Area Council of Churches; Dr. Paul Carmack, Ohio State University, and Father Raymond Goode, assistant director of Catholic Charities, are handling most of the planning.

To date, in the past week, county commissioners have decided to place a 1-mill levy on the May 8 primary ballot.

Also, Franklin County reliefers have been promised federal surplus cheese now that refrigerators, which the County Welfare Department said it didn't have and the U.S. government requires, were made available by the State Agriculture Department.

This is something, anyway.

Scanlon has been serving telephone users in Columbus longer than the company he retired from. He started as a repairman with Citizen Telephone in 1916, and continued in his trade when the company consolidated with Ohio Bell in 1921.

More than an assigned territory, the city's West Side has been the scene of his life.

West Side Athletic Club

"I grew up on Hartford-av," he recalls, "and was a member of the West Side Athletic Club that met in the old West Market House on S. Gift-st. We all went to Gift Street Methodist Sunday School.

"Later, as men, we played basketball, and, after that, we formed the Pastime Club."

Scanlon was president of the club for 25 years.

Rescued Children

Two Hilltop children owed their lives to Scanlon. Helen and Donald Steinbrook were saved from drowning by Scanlon when their boat overturned Aug. 28, 1938. A city fireman rescued a third child in the boat.

The telephone company awarded Scanlon the Vail Award for his heroism.

Mr. and Mrs. Scanlon are parents of a daughter and two sons —Mrs Kenneth Gochran, 2698 Bernadette; Jerry, a switchman with Ohio Bell in Lithopolis, and Jim at home, an employe of F&R Lazarus & Co.

Scanlon looks forward to retirement years contentedly, with plans for "just loafing. Time for gardening and raising roses, and time for fishing."

Fund Will Benefit Boys For Years To Come

"Oh boy . . . that's for me!"

Heard that lately in your household? If there's a boy or two around you're likely to hear it often.

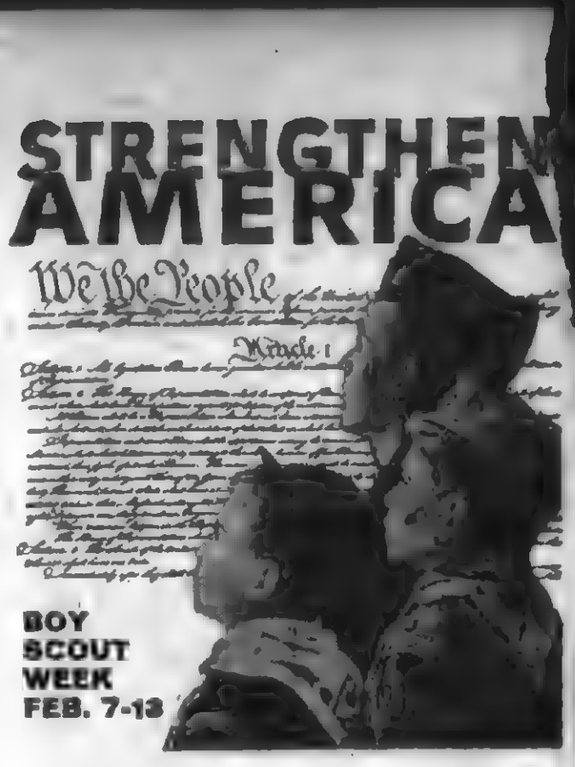
But thinking collectively, 84,390 boys could be saying it this week . . . the 52nd birthday of Boy Scouting. The figure represents the boys of Scouting age in the Central Ohio Council. Yet, only 18,286 of these boys are being reached by one of our best character-building programs for youth. By 1970 we'll have an estimated 130,000 boys of Scouting age.

How can we attract and serve a bigger percentage of these boys in the next decade? By emphasizing the "outing" in Scouting! And that is precisely what is behind the current $750,000 "Boy Scout Camp Capital Development Fund." Now at its midpoint, timewise, the fund has been subscribed over 50 per cent.

Some of the area's biggest industries and finest executives are conducting it. They're giving handsomely of both time and money. This week the drive is reaching home level. And it's the first time in years that the Scouts have asked Mr. Average Citizen for money outright.

What will the fund buy?

1. The rehabilitation and expansion of Camp Lazarus in Delaware County. Present facilities on the 319-acre site have been obsolete and inadequate for the last 15 years.



2. Construction of two long-term campsites on the council-owned 1,126-acre Greenhills Reservation in Hocking County. This land was purchased in 1953 for $25,000 with funds collected from Scout-O-Rama tickets sold by boys, with assistance from Executive Board Members. Greenhills, given currently planned development, will serve Scouting needs until 1970.

3. Development of minimum sanitary requirements for five existing short-term or weekend campsites in Hocking, Union, Fayette, Madison and Jackson Counties. These sites have been given to the council but need wells, toilets and other minor improvements.

For 52 years the program of the Boy Scouts of America, in cooperation with community institutions such as the churches, schools, service and veterans groups, has provided boys with training in the skills of the out-of-doors built on the precepts of the Scout Oath and Law. Not only have these boys had fun, but they learned, through practice, the real meaning of self reliance, initiative, cooperation and the acceptance of responsibility.

During Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, the movement is inaugurating its new program of national purpose entitled, "Strengthen America . . . Character Counts." Inspiration came from the President's Commission on National Goals.

Here is a youth program for our times, currecently bringing "duty to God and Country" into the lives of thousands of boys in our area. It's a program we urge all to support.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

'The Tube' Is Playing Heck With Fellowship

Members of lodges, clubs, service groups and civic organizations are growing more concerned each meeting about the number of empty chairs in their midst.

These same organizations a few years ago were concerned with quite the opposite — what to do with all the people. Some groups were forced to set membership restrictions and maintain waiting lists. But not anymore. Now bylaws are being revised to lower the minimums in order to remain in existence.

Allen

Consider for a moment the groups you no longer hear mentioned. Groups you yourself may have belonged to. The easiest to point out is the diminishing number of granges.

The trend of ten years ago has so completely reversed itself that many organizations find themselves in the red.

Why is this happening?

Many reasons, some personal and dealing only with the individual or the individual organization, suggest themselves.

Television, which seems to catch the blame for everything unexplainable, may really have something to do with it.

I cite the following:

To see a basketball game a decade or more ago, one had to journey to the local high school or YMCA gym. To take in pro football, you signed up for a tour train, destination Cleveland or New York. For big league baseball a similar trip or cross-town drive to Red Bird Stadium was necessary.

Locally scheduled amateur and semi-pro events were packed with the same loyal fans week after week. Now industrial leagues draw only a few close relatives, and how long has it been since the semi-pros thrilled cage fans in the former K of C gym?

Then there are the theatres. So many have closed their doors, it's hard to recall all the names. Even the first-run downtown theaters have been affected.

Granted. Television has raised the level of home entertainment. And certainly the cry of a few years back to "draw the family together" has been realized to some extent.

So, the service clubs adopt attendance incentive programs to draw away from the TV sets, and those that don't set fewer places at the luncheon tables. Maybe that's life.

What is really alarming is the fact that TV hasn't been credited with a downward trend in crime, unemployment or divorce. So what has the togetherness got us?

Why not get back in the swing of things — attend the next meeting of the Masons, K of C, Kiwanis, Friday-night Poker for Four, or what have you.

While "the tube" or the bowling schedule may be the first and handiest thing, let us recapture some of the fellowship and good times of old. —Jack Allen.

Says Many Welfare Cases Just Not Interested In Bettering Themselves

To The Editor:

In Mr. Auble's article, you ask "What will you do about the Billy Crabtrees in this world?" I should like to ask, "What are they trying to do for themselves?"

No one objects to helping those in need, but if this case typifies the type of people asking for help I, for one, intend to vote "no" again.

What "man" of 21 has the right to marry, expecting the taxpayer to pay for one more person? If jobs are not available to him and his kind because he did not even try to avail himself of an education (free) then there is always the Armed Forces where he can be doing something for others (for a change) while receiving training to suit him for a job later on.

I, personally, know several families who scoff and sneer at the rice, oatmeal and other foods given to help them. They are not even interested in learning how to prepare these items to make them more palatable.

This "man" won't file charges against his father for abusing him, yet the welfare will probably have to pay his hospital bill. If allowed to get by with this, that drunken sot will probably try it again, perhaps killing someone next time.

What kind of mother would permit this drunk to come around "two or three times a week" and abuse her family? I know I would not. Why did she let these kids quit school in the seventh grade?

Please don't think I have always had plenty and don't know how it feels to be poor. This couldn't be further from the truth. We are barely making ends meet, need dental and other care but we don't expect others to shoulder our problems. Why should the Billy Crabtrees?

Your reporter seems like a fine young man. Don't allow him to commiserate with people of this caliber.

Cites Church's Record Of Public Assistance

To The Editor:

In reply to Mrs. Frances Belcher (Letter to the Editor, Feb. 1) who stated, "I would like to ask a few questions, whether I get any answers or not."

Here is an answer to question No. 1. concerning the church's helping under-privileged citizens: I am employed by the First English Lutheran Church, E. Main at 22nd-st. In the limited space of this letter I cannot begin to tell all the different things that the Christian Service Committee of that church does to help the people in the community. Certainly they gave Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets — not only to "members in good standing" but also to non-members of the church.

This church goes one step further. Good is given at all times of the year to emergency cases — welfare check late in arriving, just until welfare check arrives, check not sufficient to feed a large family and pay the rent, came to Columbus to find work — these are just a few reasons for people obtaining food, guidance and perhaps a bit of human kindness.

First Lutheran Church has a Neighborhood Center program under the leadership of a qualified social worker. Young people of the community meet here every day after school for fellowship, games, guidance, crafts and many other activities. There is a full staff of qualified paid group workers.

Naturally all of this takes money. You may be interested to know that the members of First Lutheran Church raised $87,000. to help carry out this program. To raise this amount of money "for others" speaks well for the Christian spirit of the fine members of this church. I feel that I can "brag" about this church because, as I stated before, I am employed there and am not a member of the congregation.

Thank you for your timely editorial (in "The Spectator") on space communications. I am sure many citizens agree with you in not wanting further "pocket picking" by an insatiable Federal Government when private enterprise can conduct the same work so much better.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Use Of Corn, Safflower Oils Increasing

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Grapefruit, oranges, apples, canned and frozen citrus juices.

Vegetables — Potatoes, cabbage, lettuce, celery, frozen broccoli.

Diet-conscious Americans may think they are eating less fatty foods. But they aren't. Average consumption of fat is at an all-time high. This has led to considerable research and discussion on the effect that high-fat diets and particular kinds of fat may have on human health.

Mrs. Franks

The relative merits of different fats have been widely discussed—and advertised. But conclusive evidence is still lacking, leaving many consumers uncertain about the whole matter.

Margarine and oils (cooking and salad) are in the spotlight. Consumption of both products have reached a new high. Soybean oil and cottonseed oil are the main oils used in margarines and cooking oils. Peanut oil and corn oil make up a much smaller part of the total used.

Recently, however, margarines and cooking oils made from corn oil, peanut oil and the lesser known safflower oil have been widely promoted. By inference it has been suggested that some of these oils may be "less harmful" to health than certain others. In evaluating the merits of the different products, keep in mind that "health" inferences are largely unknown.

Consider cost, too, since there are considerable variations due to differences in wholesale prices of the various oils used. For example, present wholesale prices per pound on crude oils are approximately as follows:

Corn oil, 20 cents; peanut oil, 20 cents; cottonseed oil, 13 cents; and soybean oil, 10½ cents. In September, safflower oil was quoted at 19 cents a pound compared with 17½ cents a year earlier.

Thus we can expect retail prices to be higher on the oils and margarines containing relatively large amounts of corn, peanut, and safflower oil.

What is Safflower Oil?

Safflower is a relatively new crop in this country—first grown here around 1945. At present it is grown mainly in California, Arizona and parts of the northern great plains. Production has been increasing steadily for several years, but the volume of oil available is quite limited compared to other food oils mentioned.

Safflower oil is light in color, bland and readily usable as a salad oil and in margarines, mayonnaise and shortenings.

But since the supply is still limited, safflower oil products aren't likely to take a large part of the cooking oil and margarine market for now. And prices likely will be relatively high.

Local Families Should Enjoy Hearing Of Wally Taber's Great Adventures

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Once your name and number get in Wally Taber's address book, you can expect a call at any time. For he's a man who keeps on the move, and his trips through Central Ohio are likely to occur at odd hours. Usually he is on his way to Africa or Alaska or some other remote spot.

But you will be able to pin down this foot-loose adventurer for sure on Feb. 17, 18 and 19 when he will be in town appearing at Veterans Memorial under sponsorship of the Allied Conservation Clubs of Franklin County. This will be the third time that Taber has toured Ohio narrating his outdoor color movies. Families that have seen him before have come to expect the finest in outdoor entertainment when Wally is on the stage.

The pair of films to be shown this year come from above the Arctic Circle and below the Equator, and feature hunting with a bow and arrow. "Caribou Country" was filmed in the famous Brooks Range in Alaska. It shows the little-known Caribou Eskimo—people that call this wilderness their home. Also, there is exciting footage of Dall sheep, moose, caribou and grizzly. Taber is quite a fisherman, and his scenes showing grayling and lake trout will almost make your eyes pop.

Tests Courage Against Rhino

"River Safari" will take you down the Ruvu River of Tanganyika from lofty Mount Kilimanjaro to the Indian Ocean. On this trip Taber has evidently outdone himself, for he shoots a harmless rubber-tipped arrow at a rhino. When the beast turns to charge, he gives him another in the face to completely discourage him. "This was done merely to show the ease with which one could hit so mammoth a target," says Taber. "I recommend a Weatherby-magnum rifle for killing such big and tough game."

Lion, elephant and buffalo sequences are also included along with other kinds of African game. Some of the film is in slow-motion so that you can get a really good look at these animals.

Taber does not appear to be a madman, but some of the stunts he pulls are purely for your entertainment. Beneath a calm exterior, lies an adventurer—a man who will do anything, once. It is not easy to find such men nowadays, and in talking with him you get the impression that you are in the presence of a reincarnation of Daniel Boone or Davy Crockett. His home state of Colorado was too small for former newspaperman Taber, as are the United States and North America. Any continent is too small to hold him, and he now ranges the world.

In addition to his adventuring spirit, Taber has an uncommon gift of translating his experiences into the spoken word. He is an accomplished story teller, and his commentary adds a lot to his films. For a rare treat, travel with Taber at Vets Memorial February 17, 18 and 19 at 8 p.m.

Effer-VESS-ence

The response from you club women regarding fund raising ideas has been wonderful . . . and we thank you. Many felt it would be easiest to save bottle caps. So . . . as long as your project is for charity, we WILL REDEEM BOTTLE CAPS ON ALL VESS PRODUCTS . . . AT ½ CENT EACH CAP, STARTING FEBRUARY 15.

Vess Beverages include: VESS FLAVORS . . . WHITE ROCK, HIRES ROOT BEER, WHISTLE, 3-V COLA AND BUBBLE-UP. Remember, every bottle cap your club members save is worth ½ cent for your charity fund. Spread the word, let all your members and friends know about it. This is one project the children will be glad to help out with, too.

Vess is happy to be able to offer a fund raising method to replace the tax stamps so many of our organizations used to depend on. Just bring in your bottle caps (in lots of 150 or more) . . . sorted by products, in bags (plastic preferred, but paper acceptable), from February 15th on, any Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon from 12 noon to 3 p.m. . . . to VESS, 1056 W. Fifth Ave. Collect them for as long as you like before redeeming them. Wonder which club group will realize the most from this project?

See you next week . . . with more details on your Vess Bottle Cap redemptions.

There's A Big LIFT With National Beauty Salon Week

National Professional Group Salutes Beauty Of Our Women In 12th Annual Observance

The twelfth annual observance of National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 11-17, by 65,000 members of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association will bring forth special attention to the beauty of American women, according to Evelyn E. Bunge of Chicago, president of the nation's professional group of cosmetologists.

"We always dedicate National Beauty Salon Week to more beautiful women, since it is our belief that the beauty of American women is one of the nation's most precious assets, often overlooked when politicians talk about national production statistics," said Miss Bunge.

Leonard Benner of Bellevue, Washington, vice president and ational Beauty Salon Week project director, stated that the national association this year is attempting to give more free beauty care treatments to unfortunate patients and residents of various hospitals, homes for the aged and institutions than ever given before. This institutional welfare program is part of the extensive project undertaken by more than 1,300 units throughout the nation.

"The Congressional Record, newspaper editorials, ministers of all faiths, institutional directors and others have all lauded the wonderful work of our people in giving free beauty care, highlighted during National Beauty Salon Week, but given throughout the year," said Mr. Benner.

"Our Association is particularly proud of the contributions we have made in advancing the progress of our beauty profession, to the extent that cosmetologists from important foreign lands have expressed their recognition of our outstanding artistry and service," said Joseph Weir of Knoxville, Tennessee, executive chairman of the NHCA public relations committee. "The Week has given our members the opportunity to appear before many groups and is an integral part of the development of community leadership among our members."

National Beauty Salon Week is celebrated with parades, open houses in salons, essay and poster contests, hair fashion shows, special events to raise funds for scores of charities.

'Dancing Hair' Coiffure Is New Spring-Summer Style

The Summer Waltz Coiffure.

This is the "Summer Waltz" coiffure in the new "Dancing Hair" fashion trend which was designed by the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association in a gracefully feminine, demurely disarming hair style.

It features the dancing waves that swing and sway in rippling rhythms, now framing the face, then circling the crown, or lifting the nape area with pert flip-ups of curl.

The wave patterns dance generally in a horizontal flow, a "Dancing Hair" fashions, especially charming for carefree summer wear.

Professional permanent waving and expert hair shaping give the coiffure its ease of care and allow the hair to swing freely with the fluid wave patterns of dancing hair for a season of young and gay feminine grace.

This "Summer Waltz" coiffure is being featured for National Beauty Salon Week, which will be observed Feb. 11-17, dedicated to more beautiful women.

Books Offer Hostess Aids At Hilltonia

Homemakers who want ideas on party planning and entertaining a perennial problem—will find helpful suggestions in books at the Hilltonia Branch Library, according to librarians.

One of the most recent books of party ideas is Nata Lee's "The Complete Book of Entertaining," which offers practical suggestions for every phase of party giving, from initial preparations to clean-up. The author, a New York caterer, covers types of parties, ideas for themes, etiquette of invitations, menus and recipes, and other aspects of successful party giving.

Other recently published party handbooks include "Party Fun," by Margaret Muiac; "Good Housekeeping Party Book," "Family Book of Home Entertainment," by Florence Brobeck; "Betty Crocker's Party Books," "Time for a Party," by Ruth Brent.

"Party Book," by the Kelvinator Division of American Motors Corporation; "The Cokesbury Party Book," by Arthur Depew; "Games and Fun for Parties," by Sylvia Mager, and "The Master Banquet and Party Book," by Beatrice Plumb.

Ideas and suggestions for table settings and decorations can be found in Zelda Schulke's "Holiday and Party Table Settings" and Helen Sprackling's "The New Setting for Your Table."

Food is always a matter of concern for the hostess and cook books at the library will provide suggestions for menus and recipes. Especially helpful are such titles as "Menus for Entertaining," by Juliette Elkon, which outlines party menus for 72 parties ranging from a supper for two to an open house for 100.

"Holiday and Party Book," by Sadie LeSuer; "Party Foods Book," by Lucina Larson, and "Snack and Party Cook Book by Vivian Reads.

Ideas for hors de'oeuvers and snacks are given in Alice Schryver's "Complete Hors d'oeuvres Book," and Helen Brown's "The Book of Appetizers."

The library also has books on planning games and icebreakers, table flower arrangements and other aspects of party giving.

Fad Spelled Backwards Is 'DAF(fey)' And, High Schoolers Say, They Are . . .

THIS IS one of the daffiest fads to hit local high schools. The boys started it . . . they call them "Weirdo Shirts." Jim Rickets, 16, of Marion-Franklin High School demonstrates the shirt he made to pretty Pat Atkinson who shrugs her shoulder wondering just what it's all about. The guys make the shirts themselves out of old sweat shirts on which they inscribe such things as eyeballs and unhealthy-looking people.

By John Auble, Jr.

Fad spelled backwards is "Daf".

Add an "f-y" to the end and you'll just about sum up the new looks that are showing up.

Many people believe that it is in schools where fads are started — fads which, sometimes, end up dictating the dress, make-up and composure of the American animal.

One big change is rapidly occurring, we discovered, after interviewing a sampling of local high school students, and that is the fact that the dress hemline is falling.

After countless months of raised eyebrows by school officials and others, the students have decided that they "just don't like those old short skirts anymore."

Some indicated that it was because of the recent cold weather—it's hard on the knees.

One of the most unusual fads is being carried on at Marion-Franklin High School. The boys started it there — other schools have picked it up.

The fellows call them Weirdo Shirts" and they make them themselves—mostly out of sweat shirts.

They take the pullover-type sweaters and draw weirdo designs on them such as eyeballs and unhealthy-looking people. One boy said that they scare the girls away and that's the only drawback.

Also in male wearing apparel are the poncho coats. The kind that slips over the head and hangs down below the waist. They're usually made of wool and woven in bright plaids.

A Columbus Board of Education ruling that garments hanging below the waists of students—not tucked in—has left some of the schoolboys wondering if the ponchos are "legal."

What about the girls?

Besides the hemline—it seems that the current trend is toward big (check that—enormous) purses. That's so the girls can carry big enough combs to handle the new hair styles.

It's the "puff" look on top. Page-boys, pixies, et al are exiting and the girls are trying to look as much as possible like one big bubble.

Other trends? Check these:

- Eye make-up—and lots of it.
- Ostrich feathers to make boys' "going steady" class rings small enough to fit dainty fingers.

Coats, for the girls, with fur collars.

After reading the list of fashion changes—including the fur collars—one Hartley Newspapers' scribe asked the question, "All this is good—but 'fur' what?"

Free TB Tests Scheduled For W. S. Schools

The Tuberculosis Society will offer free tuberculin tests to an estimated 580 first, seventh, and 11th-graders at six West Side schools Wednesday, Feb. 7 and Friday, Feb. 9.

The TB Society will have offered the needle-type skin tests to 5100 students in every Catholic school in Columbus and in Franklin County by Feb. 20.

West side schedule follows: Wednesday — St. Cecilia, 434 Norton-rd; St. Mary Magdalene, 478 S. Roys-av; Friday — St. Agnes, 2350 W. Mound-st; St. Aloysius, W. Broad and Clarendon; Holy Family, 594 W. Broad, and Rosemont, 713 W. Broad.

A positive reaction to the tuberculin test shows that there are TB germs in the body but does not necessarily indicate active disease.

Positive reactors and all adult members of their households over age 15 will be chest X-rayed to try to locate the source of infection. Household contacts under 15 will be tuberculin tested. Records are kept on all "positives" so that they can be medically watched and guarded against future TB breakdown.

X-Ray Cruiser At Local Firm

The Tuberculosis Society's X-ray Cruiser will serve more than 150 employes of International Harvester Co., 3700 Sullivant-av, Feb. 9.

This Little Piggie . .

Lives there any parent or grand parent who hasn't played the "piggie game" with precious little wiggling toes? This little piggie goes to market, this little piggie stays home! I'm doing it now with five grand children. Right now I'm worried about what is going to happen to some of those little piggies from the shoes some of these thoughtless manufacturers are turning out. Little feet do not come with pointed fore-parts and we are all ready finding three and four year olds with corns because parents thought pointed toed shoes looked more stylish. If you must subject your own feet to silly styles, all right. Chances are, your own feet are ruined to start with. But, buy your children's shoes for what they do, not what they look like. Have them fitted and make sure they're right in size and shape. One pair of feet must last a life time, there's no spare parts available.

WINS ONE, LOSES ONE

Central Splits Win Column In Action Over Weekend

BY BILL PARKER AND DAVE EVANS

The Central Pirates won one and lost one in action over the weekend. They dropped Friday night's game to Linden but came back Saturday to win from Zanesville on the loser's court.

ON FRIDAY

The Central Pirates weren't hot enough to keep up with the hot-handed Linden Panthers last Friday night and were defeated 74-61.

The Panthers, led by Tony Kent and Mike Strapp, were behind at only one point in the game and that was an early 5-0 lead after the tipoff.

The Pirates were down at the end of the first quarter 17-13 and Kent had nine of the 17 points. The Bucs battled back and were down by one point at the half, 34-33.

The Panthers had dead eyes in the third and fourth quarters. In the third quarter Don Clark hit four long jumpers as Linden was gradually pulling away. In the fourth quarter Mike Strapp, the little 5'4" guard, stole the ball twice, hit a set shot, and made four free throws for 10 of the Panthers' last 14 points.

The Panthers' Kent and Strapp had 22 and 19 respectively. Tom Fullove led the Pirates with 24. Kent hit nine out of 18 field goal attempts for 75 per cent. The Panthers shot an even 50 per cent. The Pirates shot a high 30 per cent.

The Bucs' loss gave them their second defeat in the City League with six wins. The Pirates are now in second place. Linden, now 7-1, is tied with Eastmoor for first place in the City League.

A Sports . . AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Bands All That'll Be Missing From Tourney

We can always tell another year has gone by when a letter hits our desk with the return address: Ralph T. Webster, Walnut Ridge High School.

Webster is the tournament manager for both the Class AA and A Central District basketball get-together and, from the looks of his plans, it's going to be another exciting year.

ONE CHANGE, though, is that there will be no bands allowed to attend games. Rumors say this stemmed from "unsportmanlike conduct" displayed by one instrumental group last year.

So, this time around all of the noise is going to have to be produced by the spectators.

The Class AA tourney, like always, is slated for the Fairgrounds Coliseum while the Class A school teams will hold down the fort at the Marion Coliseum. They'll be in Columbus for the finals, however, on Mar. 9.

Feb. 24 Is Post Time . . .

Feb. 24 is the starting time for the AA competition. Action in this classification will run until Mar. 10.

The drawing for AA will be held at Willard's Restaurant, 2143 E. Main-st, Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. The A drawing will be held at Dennison University, Granville, Feb. 25 at 1 p.m., following a dinner.

AND, EVEN if the bands have to stay home, there'll be plenty of color added by the cheerleaders. Six of the young ladies in uniform will be admitted free to the session when their own team is playing.

We'll be reviewing further tournament details in later columns.

Gloves Kicked-Off Feb. 6 . . .

Feb. 6, 8 p.m., was kick-off time for the first session of the Golden Gloves tournament which will get underway at old Memorial Hall.

A second session will be held Feb. 8.

Entries thus far have surpassed the number received last year and it looks like this is going to be one of the big sporting events in Columbus this season.

In the tourney there will be a total of eight weight classifications and two divisions. The winners in the Open division will go to Chicago to compete in the National finals.

Tickets may be obtained at Marshall's, 46 N. High-st. There is a limit of 200 ringside seats for each session, Gloves officials tell me.

Tickets are $1.24 for general admission at the gate and $2 for ringside.

Fiberglas Folly . . .

Maybe it's just useless, John Uelses . . . I like to believe it isn't, but it does look that way.

You added another chapter to track record books last Friday night when you became the first man in history to clear 16 feet, vaulting 16¼ in the Millrose games at New York.

A dark shadow was cast on your remarkable mark. It's been cast by doubting Thomases and those doubting Thomases will continue to question and re-examine the evidence no matter how foolproof things seem.

Roger Maris tasted the doubting Thomas scourge when they questioned the "liveliness" of baseballs. Now, John, they're questioning the "liveliness" of that fiberglas pole you use to vault with.

"It's like a whip," said veteran trainer Jock Semple. Retired pole vaulter Don (Tarzan) Bragg said, "the fiberglas pole should be declared illegal."

It probably doesn't make any difference to you, John, but I'd like you to know I'm not going to question your track prowess. Your ability, potential and past record are all the evidence we need.

Vikings Take Intermediate Boys Crown At Glenwood

They won the title on the strength of their defeats of the Celtics and the Cavaliers.

The pre-season league ended with a three-way tie for first place. The Vikings, Celtics and Cavaliers all had 8-1 records. In the play-offs, the Cavaliers defeated the Celtics 46-36. Steve Conrad, with 15 points, was high point man.

In a closely contested game, the Vikings edged the Cavaliers 34-30. Dave Holdern, with 11 points, was high point man for the Vikings.

Game high-point honors, however, went to the Vikings' Steve Conrad with 12 points.

Miss Elliott In Foul Shot Win

Sharon Elliott, of Glenwood Recreation Center, won the inter-center Senior Girls' foul shooting tournament Jan. 11. Sharon had a score of 17 out of 25 baskets.

Cathy Bible placed third in the inter-center Junior Girls' foul shooting tournament with a score of seven out of 15 baskets.

Knights Win

On Jan. 3 the Knights edged the Boppers 27-26 in Glenwood Recreation Center's Senior Girls Basketball league.

AT SUNSHINE

Horseshoe Meeting Is Slated For Feb. 18

With the idea of forming three different leagues in Ohio, a general horseshoe pitching and promotion meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 18, 2 p.m., at Sunshine Recreation Center, 677 Sullivant-av.

Last season two leagues were formed—one in the city and the other in the Ohio loop.

Melvin Dodge, Columbus Recreation supervisor, and his staff, feel that there are many horseshoe pitchers in the area who can't qualify for those two leagues.

This year, they plan to include a Handicap League. A 70 per cent handicap system will be used in this loop.

HANDICAP

Each team will consist of three players with one substitute if so wanted. The team captain will make all decisions as to which of the four players will compete if a substitute is carried.

The standings in this league will be based on four points per series, Peterson Point System, with the totals of all three players being added together to determine the points for each game.

CITY

Each team will consist of five players with two substitutes if wanted.

The team captain will make all decisions as to which of the seven players will compete if substitutes are carried.

The standings in this league will be based on total points of five scratch games thrown for victory or loss.

OHIO

Each team will consist of five to ten players with five making the team and the rest serving as substitutes.

This league is played inter-city on a home and home basis. This loop this year will be conducted by the Alliance, O., Recreation Department.

Clinton Hodges, last year's secretary, will serve again this year.

AT WORTHINGTON

Whitehall Will Lead Big Mat Tournament; City Wrestlers Set

Two big wrestling meets will steal some of the thunder away from the local high school basketball scene this upcoming weekend.

Whitehall, defending champion, will lead the field of eight teams at the sixth annual Worthington Invitational. This Saturday event will get under way at 12:30 p.m. for the prelims and 7:30 p.m. for the finals.

Besides Whitehall, others participating are Toledo DeVilbiss, Sandusky, Fremont Ross, Circleville, Upper Arlington, Franklin Heights and host Worthington.

CITY MEET

The City High mat event is slated for Eastmoor's gym with six entries, including Central, East, Eastmoor, Linden McKinley, Walnut Ridge and West.

Prelims are set for 12:30 p.m. and finals for 4 p.m.

LINES SIGNS ON LINE

ED SADA WON'T REPORT TO JETS

Infielder Ed Sada, one of the sparkplugs of the 1961 champion Columbus Jets, will not report for spring training at Daytona Beach next month.

Sada, who batted .235 in 110 games in 1961 with 10 home runs and 45 runs batted in, missed the playoffs last season because of returning to school.

He has been placed on the club's "restricted list."

Cooper also revealed that southpaw pitcher Dick Lines had signed his 1962 Jet contract, making seven Jet players now under contract.

Lines, who had a 9-10 record with the Jets in 1959, hurled for San Diego last season, appearing in 34 games, winning five and losing nine and compiling a 4.18 earned run average.

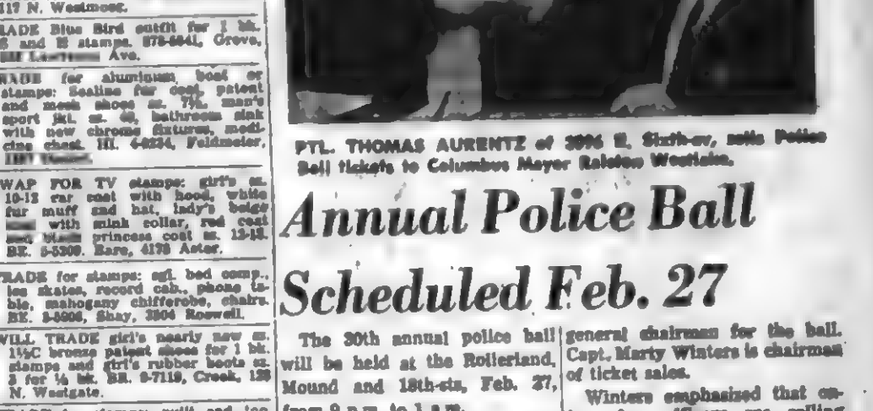
Annual Police Ball Scheduled Feb. 27

The 30th annual police ball will be held at the Rollerland, Mound and 18th-sts, Feb. 27, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.



Music will be provided by the Al Weslohn orchestra and vocalist Jayleen Gray. Weslohn was formerly with Jimmy Dorsey.

Chief George Scholer is the general chairman for the ball. Capt. Marty Winters is chairman of ticket sales.

Winters emphasized that only a few officers are selling tickets this year. This change is intended to avoid having the same person or firm solicited repeatedly by different patrolmen, he said.

Anyone not contacted by a ticket seller can call police headquarters, CA. 1-1166, and tickets will be delivered. Proceeds from the dance are used to provide for the widows and children of deceased policemen.

All officers will have tickets for three weeks prior to the ball to oblige persons who wish to buy them. They will not solicit, Winters said.

HERE FEB. 14

HAL SHUTZ, nationally famed Hammond organist and Columbia recording star, will perform in free public concert at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Feb. 14, in the North High School auditorium, 100 Arcadia-av. TB Film on Hand For Local Groups

The problems of a devoted doctor helping patients face the tragedy of active tuberculosis and her struggle to overcome public apathy about this dangerous disease are chronicled in a new film, "Merry-Go-Round," now available free to Franklin County clubs, community organizations, parent and professional groups from the Tuberculosis Society.

"Merry-Go-Round" dramatizes the full impact of the TB problem and raises many questions for the viewer. A member of the Tuberculosis Society's speakers' bureau attends each showing to introduce the film and answer questions.

Tax Man Finds Filing Mistakes

P. L. Charles of the Internal Revenue Service said that some taxpayers are erroneously adding their city tax withholdings to their federal tax withholdings and reporting this total amount on their federal tax return as federal income tax withheld.

Errors of this type only delay prompt processing of the return. Charles states that city tax withheld can only be properly reported under the Itemized Deduction category "Taxes," by those individuals who itemize their deductions.

This bird knows the weather. It has been cold outside—in some places about as cold as it ever gets.

What weathermen called a "fantastic" polar air mass invaded Ohio early in January and turned the state into a virtual ice box. Record below zero temperatures were common in many communities.

Because of the severe cold, you possibly have used more gas than normally to heat your home. Your gas bill could be higher than usual.

Your gas company delivered record volumes of natural gas to homes.

As a result, there has been warmth and comfort in hundreds of thousands of Ohio homes, even when the weather outside challenged the hardiest of birds.

I Remember Dad

Many memories have been brought back these past few days since the death of my father, E. F. Hartley, on Sunday.

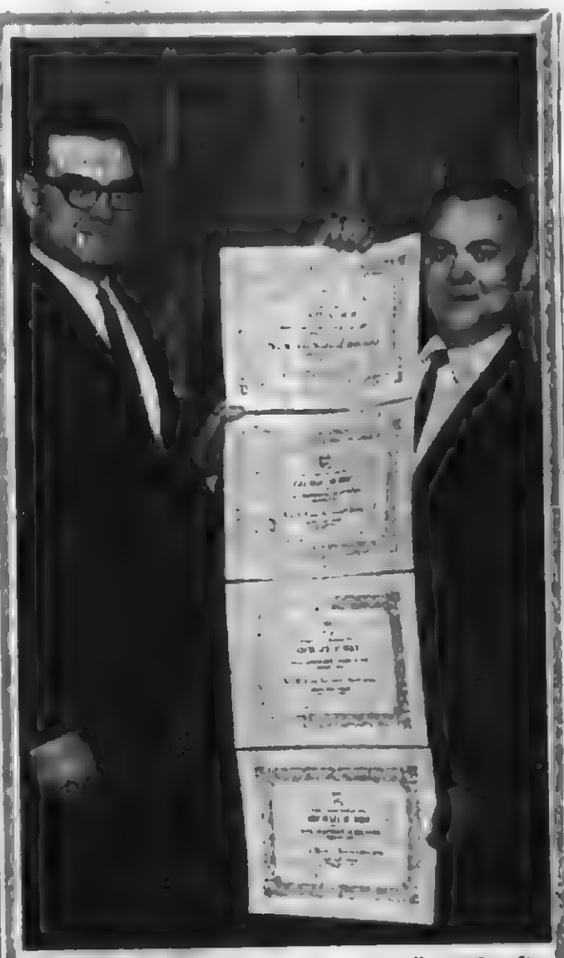
I am reminded of the days when we lived down on the Ohio River on the West Virginia side at Cox's landing, north of Huntington, and the many times our Dad, who was the railway mail clerk, tossed a little package off the Baltimore & Ohio mail car as it made the trip from Pittsburgh to Kenova. Here was a great delight . . . a package of Juicy Fruit gum!

And then the memory of how Dad and Uncle Jim (his uncle, who is still living in Florida) kept jacking the piano up a foot or so each day as the water from the 1913 flood entered our home. But when the top of mother's piano had reached the ceiling above and could go no further it seemed to serve as the turn on the faucet that cut off the water and the flood started back down, with no damage to the piano.

Dad was one of the first people of our river community to own an automobile . . . an old Studebaker. And if it wasn't laid up with a broken axle we'd enjoy it much as it went some 25 miles an hour over strictly dirt roads. It was a real event when we took off for Cleveland and took two whole days to make the trip. We stayed all night in Circleville as we went north. Today I cover the same route from Huntington to Columbus in three hours.

Mom and Dad wanted their kids to have a better education than I was getting from the one room school and when I was in the fourth grade we moved to Huntington. Dad had a lot of ups and downs financially and Mom used to say that if we owned chickens they would come up every six months and cross their legs to be tied, when we had to move because we couldn't pay the rent.

One of my fondest memories of Dad dates back to when I was in high school and he met me on the front porch with a razor strap when I failed to be home at the appointed time. But I have always been proud of every swing of that strap. Needless to say it was never necessary to use it again.



Our moving about seemed to be directed by my further schooling and in the fall of 1926 we came to Columbus when I entered OSU. And the need of a job resulted in my part time employment at the Hilltop Record.

Two years after I graduated Dad and I had the good fortune to begin a unique father and son association. He was my apprentice and learned the newspaper business from me.

On the eve of the big depression in the fall of 1929 when I had gone into business for myself with the purchase of The Greenfield Times, Dad and the family were living in Ravenswood, W. Va., where the going was especially tough with him in the role of the unemployed.

Dad had taken a correspondence course in accounting and so I asked that he come to Greenfield to set up my bookkeeping and assist on the paper. This he did. But FOUR AWARDS—One for general excellence, two for editorial achievement and one for advertising excellence—were won by The Hilltop Record at the Ohio Newspaper Association annual meeting, Feb. 8 to 10. Displaying the honors are George F. Bracken (left), advertising director for Hartley Newspapers, and Marcus T. Orr, managing editor.

A Winner!

The Hilltop Record won the third highest award for general excellence last Friday in competition with large circulation suburban weeklies from all over Ohio.

The awards climaxed the Hooper Newspaper Show of the 29th Annual Meeting of the Ohio Newspaper Show at the Deshler-Hilton. In separate classes The Record also won second prizes for local feature stories and advertising excellence and third place for local news coverage. The Kettering-Oakwood Times was named first in general excellence.

The Hilltop Record, now in its 45th year, is edited by Marcus T. Orr. Orr wrote three of the winning stories. They featured: the late Elmer Adair who kept 70 antique clocks running accurately in his home, Jimmy Dehnart who built an automated treehouse for his pet squirrel, and Jerry Campbell, who through surgery, was able to hear for the first time in his 11 years. Other winners were written by Betty Daft, describing how YMCA swimmers discovered historic elk bones in a camp lake; and by John Auble, Jr., a creek-bank interview of a pair of schoolboys who revealed their fishing secrets.

Opinions Vary On Location Of Park Recreation Center

Barack Says Building To Rival Whetstone's

By SAM DOBBINS

"If you were to pin me down I would have to say that I favor the site proposed in the 1947 Batchelor Report."

Those were the words of City Recreation Director Nick Barack commenting on the proposed Westgate Recreation Center to an enthusiastic audience at the Hilltop Community Council Thursday evening.

The meeting came several days after the city announced that a $400,000 recreation center will be started this year in 45-acre Westgate Park.

One person in the group who mentioned building the center at some location other than Westgate Park drew heavy criticism from the audience.

Another later commented that "four families in the southeast vicinity of the park definitely favor the center, but we would like to see it placed in the center near the lake."

"The biggest problem, however, is the traffic," said Frank Christ, 450 S. Westgate-av. . . . "and we definitely need sidewalks. Westgate is on a through street, yet it only has two lanes. We think it is very important that a traffic check be made to prove that the street should be widened. The city should build sidewalks along the border of the park."

Wonders About 'Troubles'

In answer to one person who seemed to oppose the center because of troubles teenagers might cause, Barack commented, " I would want my boy or

Recreation Liaison Committee Formed

A special liaison committee of Hilltop residents has been appointed to study present recreation conditions in the area.

The appointments made by Hilltop Community Council President J. Robert Frakes came following a recommendation by City Recreation Director Nick Barack urging such a group be formed.

Members of the new committee are: Mrs. Philip [illegible], 404 N. Brinker; Gerald A. Willey, 848 Harris; Charles Moore, 229 S. Hague-av; Mrs. Charles L. Shaw, 47 Whitethorne and Mrs. Frank Bowles, 3130 Ridge-av.

Purpose of the committee will be to study recreation problems and act as a liasion to the city Recreation Commission, reporting their findings and making suggestions.

The main interest of the group at present is the city's proposed recreation center at Westgate Park.

Hilltop Council has taken no stand as to where the proposed center should be located (it was erroneously reported last week that they had.)

However, Mrs. Arthur O. Hall, of the executive board said that the new committee will study the situation and make a decision in the future.

Urge Residents To Write

The committee is urging residents to send properly signed letters stating their views and opinions on the matter. Authorized representatives of groups are also urged to voice their opinions to the committee.

Mrs. Hall reported that mainly negative comments on the issue have come from those opposed but the committee would also appreciate letters from individuals and groups that state specific plans and ideas for the proposed center.

Mrs. Hall added that all suggestions and opinions will be considered by the committee and then reported to the City Recreation Commission.

The group also invites Hilltop residents to attend the community council meetings held the second Thursday in each month.

Democrats Exhibit Most Activity In May Primary Tries

A good handful of West area names were among those filed as candidates for the May 8 primaries. Last Wednesday was the deadline for the official listings with the Board of Elections.

Charles Meeks, 66 Clark-pl (D), has filed for State Representative.

Three local men are among the Democrat hopefuls for the county commissioner's vacancy this year. They are: former commissioner D. J. Kunz, 5366 W. Broad-st; former city clerk Russell D. Drake, 105 N. Chase-av; and Val Boehm, 53 S. Huron-av. A fourth, Edwin P. Bringman, of 1497 King-av, was ruled ineligible. Four Republicans have filed for the contest also. None are local.

Another Democrat, Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, has filed for re-election as Common Pleas Judge, (Jan. 1 term).

A little more campaigning than usual is imminent in the local slots on the County Democratic Central Committee. In the West Side's Ward Nine, Frank A. Schneider is being challenged by Evelyn J. O'Hara; and in Ward 10, Harry M. Burns is challenged by Charles A. Page. Francis J. Boehm was the lone signer in Ward 11.

Among the Republicans only single candidates appear in each local ward listing. They are as follows: Ward Nine—Charles R. Davies; Ward 10—Karl A. Brownlee; Ward 11—Lawrence S. Roach; Ward 31—James B. McKenzie; Ward 32—Joseph M. Enright.

More JDC Complaints Are Studied

An investigation probing conditions at the State Juvenile Diagnostic Center on W. Broad-st has been authorized by Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

The request came to Dr. Richard E. Wolf, a Cincinnati psychiatrist following complaints by the institution's employes regarding present operating conditions.

The JDC has been a point of controversary following an incident involving inmates at the center Jan. 19. Five inmates at that time barricaded themselves in a room protesting transfer of a fellow patient to BIS.

Among other alleged complaints by employes that sparked the investigation are that trumped-up charges against them are going into their record folders making them look bad.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, JDC principal reportedly denied the [illegible].

Dr. Wolf, of a five-member citizens' board said he hoped to begin the investigation by the end of the month.

He requested that any person making accusations come to the council to support their charges.

Director Haynes said that the accusations would have to be checked and if the charges were true action would have to be taken.

"If they can't be substantiated, there's nothing we can do," he was quoted to have said.

E. F. Hartley Funeral Held Wednesday

Emmett F. Hartley, 73, father of C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of Hartley Newspapers, died Feb. 11 in Mt. Carmel Hospital and was buried Wednesday afternoon in Greenfield Cemetery.

Mr. Hartley had been in failing health several years. He died following a cerebral hemorrhage.

A resident of Greenfield, he retired in 1957 as business manager of The Greenfield Times. The newspaper was purchased in the fall of 1932 by his son and converted to daily publication in 1933. It was during that year that E. F. Hartley came from Ravenswood, W. Va., to set up a bookkeeping system for the firm.

He quickly grew fond of the job he had undertaken as a temporary interlude and remained with it a quarter of a century. Earlier he had been a railroad telegrapher, mail clerk

City Ready To Extend Clarendon

Columbus City Council this week declared its intention to extend Clarendon-av south of W. Mound-st to the alley north of Whitehead-rd.

When completed, the construction will link two existing segments of Clarendon-av, which runs from Broad-st to Eakin-rd.

Involved in the appropriations are parcels owned by Harold R. and Mary J. McVay and a strip conveyed to Camp Chase Realty Co. by Anna and John Barlow.

Council held up action this week on a move to acquire five acres for a new women's workhouse on Jackson-pk.

Councilmen Fornof and Southwick balked at the city's having to pay $12,000 to $15,000 for the site, near the present Municipal Workhouse. They asked for more time to inquire into the pricing of the land.

Boy Scout Fund Teams To Give First Reports

All team captains and workers in the public phase section of the Boy Scout Camp Development Campaign in Area B will hold their first report meeting Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Art and Craft Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, according to an announcement by E. M. Erickson, Area Chairman. Area B includes all of Franklin County.

At this meeting progress reports will be received from each section of the public phase of the campaign. These sections are the Scout Family, Primary Gifts and General Public.

To date, through the efforts of the Initial Gifts Phase which includes the Industrial, Commercial and Major Gifts divisions, a total in excess of $426,700 has already been subscribed.

Money raised will be used to remodel Camp Lazarus in Delaware County; build two new camps on Greenhills Reservation in Hocking County, and establish minimum facilities on the five Council-owned weekend or short-term camp sites. These facilities are badly needed for the Scouts in Central Ohio Council for present facilities will accommodate only 22 per cent of the boys eligible and desiring to go camping.

Report meetings will continue weekly in each area, at the same time and place for a total of four meetings.

SPEAKS TO TEENS

Ann's Tongue Is Mightier Than Pen . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Dear Ann Landers, the bard of the advice writers in this country, swept into Columbus last Friday and gave some frank, off-the-cuff, to-the-point and on-the line tips for teens.

Lovely Ann, whose appearance belies the harsh words she dishes out, gave her almost-famous-now talk to the student body at South High School.

And, to put it straight, we emphatically relate — they thought her nothing short of great.

"Almost one-fourth of my mail come from teenagers," said Mrs. Landers with a trace of a smile. "That's why I like to talk to them."

She has other reasons, too. Like, for instance, she says the kids want to see "what the old battleax looks like."

Ann has been writing the "friend for those who have no friend" (or, too many friends) column for just six short years. She has gained national popularity almost overnight and is considered the top advice writer.

Why? Chalk it up to her magic personality and her straight-forward comments like, for instance, these:

"I'm finally convinced that sex is here to stay," or "Don't park in the car just to talk. When the moon starts shining and the stars begin to twinkle you can run out of conversation real fast."

Most of Ann's talk centered about love, petting, necking and how far to go — answers to which were listened to by an edge-of-their-seats, wide-mouthed audience.

"I found out that teens are between total bliss and complete misery at least two dozen time a week," she grinned. "To a 16-year-old girl, a pimple can be a tragedy."

Ann brought belly laughs from the students with such comments as, "Don't rush into marriage. It's not one, big, glorious dream or playing 'house' forever. It's inlaws, tears in the pillow, doctor bills and diaper rash."

Miss Landers stressed the need for education and compared U.S. students with those in Russia whom she visited in 1959. "Over there," she explained, "The teens are serious-minded . . . they're not a bunch of non-productive loafers. If they do well in high school they're sent to the universities free of charge. If they don't do well they aren't even allowed to pay for themselves through college — they're given jobs building roads or working in factories."

About teens and sex, Ann said this:

"Sex is like dynamite — it makes all the difference in the world what you use it for. Many girls talk themselves into believing that they're desirable because they let boys go as far as they want to. They're not desirable, though — just available.

"The female of the species is the big loser in the game of heavy romance. It's up to the girl to call the signals. A smart girl keeps her head, dignity, peace of mind, reputation and her boy friend."

Statistically speaking, advice-giving Ann related that one out of every seven brides in America is 17. The average age of the groom is 21.

"Don't marry for looks," she concluded. "looks change. An adorable crew-cut can grow out — or, depart forever."

As long as Miss Landers was giving out advice so freely, I thought I'd cash in on some of it!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've worked and worked on this story but I'm not sure that I captured the real 'you' for our Hartley Newspaper readers. Gee, I don't know what to do and need help right now. Please rush your answer to me 'cause I want to be a newspaperman real bad — or should I forget the whole thing? — FRUSTRATED.

'Big Brother' Is Watching

In Wrenshall, Minn., a high school English teacher's idea of instructing his students about communism has landed him in hot water.

He assigned the book "1984" by George Orwell to students for the purpose, he claimed, of helping them understand the dangers of communism and other totalitarian systems. A school board member protested that the novel is "vulgar and full of full of sex." The teacher was first fired, then reinstated after he agreed to use the book only as "voluntary reading."

Pupil Movement

In an effort to end half-day or split sessions in some schools while rooms in other schools stand vacant, a unique class relay system has been started in Cleveland. Children from nine schools will be transported, complete with their teacher, each day from their "home" school to vacant classrooms in other school buildings.

Key Clubs Worth While

While the Columbus Board of Education's ban on high school clubs has a lot of merit, we feel it is causing the exclusion of something good. We speak of the Key Clubs of Kiwanis International.

Key Club can not be made synonymous with the snobbish, self-centered, fraternal type of organization which certainly has no place in a high school. Instead, like Kiwanis, Key Club is an out-going, service-dedicated program operated by high school boys of high caliber.

Key Clubs are now flourishing in Grove City, Whitehall, and Mifflin High Schools and Columbus School for the Deaf. Their records are impressive. Their potential for building character is widely recognized. That is why 199 new Key Clubs were formed in the United States last year. College level clubs, called Circle K, were increased by 75.

Kiwanis in action was graphically illustrated recently when Ed Jenkins, 1961 president of the Lancaster club, received a letter from a mother telling how she felt about the Lancaster High School Key Club. Excerpts from her letter follow:

We feel that we owe your club a debt of gratitude that we will never be able to repay except in the form of our deep appreciation.

"Let me explain. Our son was certainly a problem boy up to about three years ago. He would stay out nights and run around with other boys who we know have been in serious trouble. We were suspicious that he had been involved in several incidents and that if caught he could have ended up in the institution where you work. (Boys Industrial School)

"One day he came to me and said that if certain boys whom he knew, could belong to the Key Club, why couldn't he be a member. His father and I both explained as near as we could all the qualifications. He must have made up his mind right then to qualify, for he started to stay home at nights and study. He changed from a surly, discourteous boy to just the opposite.

"In the past three years his grades have changed from just passing to slightly under an "A" average. He treats us like he now loves us and respects our judgment. His father and I both want you to know that we honestly believe that his desire to belong to the Key Club has certainly changed our boy into what we most desire.

"I might add that he became a member and if you have followed all its activities you will see that he is doing his share to uphold its honor and traditions.

"Both his father and I want you to know that we firmly believe in this Key Club at Lancaster High School and are very strong supporters of it. We want you, also, to know that Mr. Bishop, their advisor, is held in very high regard by both of us.

If you ever have occasion to use this letter in any way please refrain from using our name as the after effects might react on our son."

This experience in a Lancaster family could well be duplicated in many Columbus homes if Key Clubs were permitted in the high schools.

Feels Older People Here Are Victims Of Unfair Real Estate Tax Systems

To The Editor:

You said in your recent editorial that widows and other elderly people could give help to reliefers for washing walls, etc.

Just what kind of a job would they get in exchange for the money spent? And would you want your mother to take someone into her house without credentials? Just because they are on relief does not make them someone to have in your home.

And what relief do the retired people (who live on small pensions) get from heavy real estate taxes?

Florida has a $5,000 exemption for those of us who have paid taxes all our lives (and they keep getting higher).

Let those young reliefers and mothers of illegitimate children help themselves. Retired people (not pensioners) get no help with medical problems and pay the same for everything that they had when they were young enough to work.

I know of three widows — not on old age benefit or relief — who have had to sell their homes because of upkeep and high taxes.

Do something for people in this group by way of help in exemption — we can no longer work, even though we want to, because we have passed 65.

Friendly Community Benefits Hospital

Thanks to the growing interest on the part of Central Ohioans, the holiday season has been made more meaningful for some 2500 patients of Columbus State Hospital.

Franklin County residents participated through personal service, material gifts and financial support.

Ward or cottage Christmas parties brought not only entertainment and holiday foods but the friendly contact which is so important.

On Christmas day, attractive gift boxes were distributed to all patients, each containing an assortment of small articles, all contributed by residents of our hospital district.

An innovation this year was the operation of a gift shop, where patients, otherwise unable to send gifts could select a small article for a relative or friend. This was then mailed, in the patient's name, out of contributed funds.

In many instances Franklin County residents provided, for specific patients, some article which they particularly desired.

Franklin County made a substantial contribution to meet the total Christmas needs and, on behalf of patients, we wish to commend the participating groups and individuals.

Special mention should be made of the Franklin County Mental Health Association which secured widespread support for this project, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert J. Nekervis, 4308 Lawnview-dr. The chairman for Hilltop and Grandview, Mrs. J. Dean Strausbaugh, 1075 Roxbury, was assisted by an active committee.

Yours Sincerely,
Lowell O. Dillon, M.D.

'Weirdo Shirts' Condemned

To The Editor:

The publicity by picture and article of the "weirdo Shirts" published in the Hilltop Record of Wednesday, Feb. 7, 1962, was noticed but not appreciated.

For some time our students at West High School have made a very honest attempt to improve their general appearance. It is our opinion that students who take pride in their appearance also take pride in their school work.

Polished Gentlemen

A Fort Worth, Tex., radio dispatcher received an interesting gift from his brother. The gift was a comb with a sponge where its teeth should have been. The dispatcher is bald.

Hot Lamp

Indianapolis, Ind., mayor received a letter containing $9 for a red lantern taken from a street blockade in the 1920s. The letter explained, "We were riding in a model T. We had a lap robe, but no heater, so I took the lantern to keep warm."

Good Record

The seacoast town of Bridlington, England, issued a list of rescues made during the past summer which included freeing 77 fingers stuck in deck chairs.

"The governments of the Soviet Union and the United States spend millions a year to win friends and influence people abroad," says the Portland Oregonian. "But the bureaucrats and cloak and dagger agents of neither can exhibit such results of success as those that can be attributed to American private enterprise."

The peoples of the world, it goes on to observe, want all manner of products of American production or origin, ranging from chewing gum and hamburgers to automatic dishwashers. And it's a well known fact when well-heeled Soviet officials leave this country for home they commonly go laden with American goods that aren't available over there.

At the end the Oregonian makes this significant point: "These are all superficial things. But is it not possible that, like so much on the surface, they are representative of attitudes that lie deeper, that are more profound, more significant in the critical struggle for men's minds? Although the whole world mimics Americans, even our faults, very few anywhere seem to want to do things as the Russians do them, except perhaps ballet."

Many Pioneer Phrases Still In Use

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

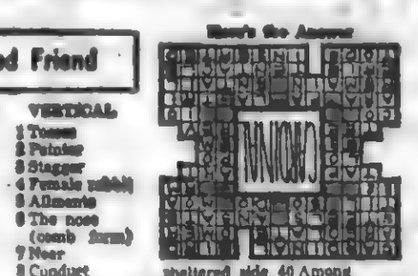
The statement that this country was settled by a bunch of squirrel hunters and fur trappers is no idle myth.

Our everyday conversation is laced with terms from a hunter's vocabulary, even if it is the space age. The first man on the moon, if he is an American, might radio back "I arrived here lock, stock and barrel and my trip here was no flash in the pan."

Both of these descriptive phrases are holdovers from former days when they had different meanings.

Lock, stock and barrel is used mostly today to denote completeness — the whole thing. It might also mean entirely, without reservation. The expression stems from colonial days when a gun, once acquired, was seldom scrapped or disposed of for a new one. Instead, when a part wore out or was broken, a new part was made or procured, such as the trigger and hammer assembly (the lock) or perhaps a new barrel. When it was desired to emphasize completeness of anything, the essential parts of an article were itemized — lock, stock and barrel — the whole gun.



A flash in the pan is a derogatory phrase signifying a big fuss over inconsequential actions. For the pioneer a flash in the pan was something more. Armed with a flint lock musket or rifle and perhaps facing an angry bear it could mean life or death. For if he pulled the trigger and the priming powder in the pan at the breech merely burned with a flash without discharging the gun, the shooter was victim of an embarrassing, disgusting, and sometimes even tragic experience.

Here are some of the common expressions of today that originated in the jargon of shooting. A little fanning of the embers of memory will undoubtedly recall many more.

Lock, stock and barrel; flash in the pan; our plans misfired; set your sights high; he scored a bull's-eye; draw a bead; keep your powder dry; don't fall short of the mark; straight as a ramrod; he overshot the mark; he is loaded for bear; sharpshooter; crackshot; a shot in the dark; he goes off half-cocked; he is all primed for the occasion; hair-trigger nerves; hold your fire; always be a straight shooter; hit dead center; and shoot the works.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Food Packaging Is Big Business

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, oranges, apples, bananas, canned and frozen cherries.

The packaging of food today is big business — a business that has received a lot of attention in recent months. Many surveys have been taken to find out, among other things, what consumers like and dislike about the packages they buy, what changes they want, and whether they feel present packages are deceptive in one way or another. So-called deceptive or misleading packaging practices have come under special scrutiny and the subject of recent government investigation.

Mrs. Franks

This attention to the food package points up the importance packaging has attained in the food picture — both as a means of protecting food quality and as a selling tool.

Years ago when foods sold in bulk — in plain sight — food shoppers were more concerned about getting honest weight than in the package. Today, pre-packaging of foods into consumer size units has increased tremendously, and for several reasons.

The major reasons are:

• To protect and maintain quality. Consumers, in general, appear to be more and more quality conscious and demand higher and more uniform quality in their foods. More and better packaging has helped to bring this about.

• For easier handling and storage. Packaged items are better adapted to the modern large volume, self-service method of retailing. Generally speaking they are easier to transport, handle and store.

• For salesmanship. A package designed with salesmanship in mind makes the product easy to identify, easy to look at, and easy to choose. From the consumer's standpoint, brand names on the package may provide a useful guide to quality.

What About the Cost?

Estimates are that of every $20 spent for groceries, $1.50 to $2 represents packaging costs. This would be from 7 to 10 percent of the retail cost. For some products the package cost is slight, while for others it maybe almost as great as the cost of the food itself.

For the most part, however, packaging costs are not unnecessary expenses. As indicated before, packaging protects food, helps to maintain quality, provides convenience in storage and handling and is often a guide in buying.

However, excesses and abuses in packaging should be eliminated. One way this can be done is through consumer rejection of such products. Remember, when you put a package into your shopping cart you are casting your vote for it.

Businesses To Be Solicited For Heart (Day) Fund

Paul Mezaros, 895 Harwood-lr, is serving as chairman of mall business solicitations on he West Side of Columbus dur-ng the Heart Fund's Heart Days For Business currently under way. Heart Days For Business is just one segment of the month-long heart drive that began Feb. 1, and is sponsored by the Franklin County Heart Council. During this period, volunteers are calling upon local business, industry and professional men to contribute to the drive.

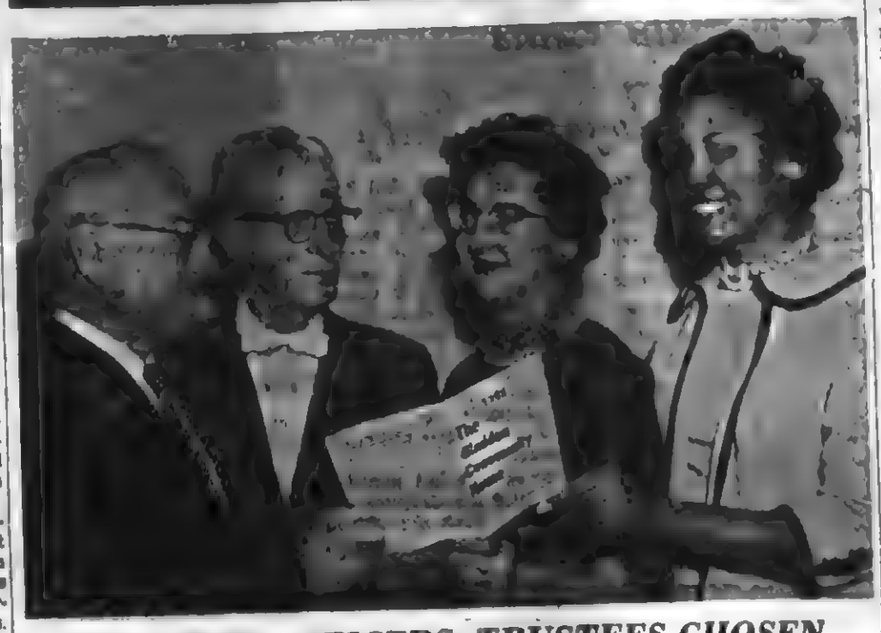
Volunteers who are working under Mezares in the West Columbus area, listed according to their business addresses, are Paulin- Poddy, 462 W. Broad-st; Anthony Pensoni, 907 W. Broad-st; Ralph Burrell, 1378 W. Broad-st; Ernest Gibson, 2604 Sullivant-av; Gene Wolfe, 3427 W. Broad-st; Steve Long, 647 Harrisburg; Rubin Abramson, 40 S. Yale; Sam Levine, 800 McKinley-av; Gilbert Coffman, 3341 W. Broad-st; Paul Morley, 164 Wilson-rd; Paul Lugger, 2781 W. Broad-st; and S. P. Freidland, 214 S. Glenwood.

It was emphasized that business people should be especially interested in helping the Heart Fund because of the following facts released by the Central Ohio Heart Association:

Industry loses 69 million man-production days annually at a cost to industry of more than one billion dollars due to the heart diseases.

Almost half of the deaths occurring in the 45 to 64 age group — the most productive years of life — are attributed to the heart diseases.

One out of every three men who die between ages 25 and 44 is a victim of heart disease.



According to Heart Association figures, more than one million dollars have been invested by CORA in medical research in the last 12 years.

A large part of Central Ohioan's contributions to the Heart Fund are invested in research projects at institutions such as Ohio State University, Mt. Carmel and Children's Hospitals. Last year, CORA invested $158,230 in such projects.

Through research, scientists hope to find the means of preventing the heart diseases and therefore cut down the large number of premature deaths and disabilities resulting from them every year.

along with it he used the broom, melted metal, filled pages and sold subscriptions on the rural routes.

In fact, back at that time he claimed to know every family in a radius of ten miles of Greenfield and what kind of a dog they owned. Many a family that today reads The Times started taking the then new daily when Dad traded a subscription for a couple dozen eggs, a hen or a basket of tomatoes.

A couple years later, when I had a chance to buy The Hilltop Record in Columbus, we decided that Dad knew enough about the newspaper business by now that he should take over as manager.

He continued to manage The Times until late in 1957 when he retired. But retirement never kept him away from The Times office.

And so it was that a father learned the newspaper business under his son. But the son also learned many new phases of the business from the father.

Greenfield has been good to Dad and he had many friends here. Many of his old friends have gone before him.

Hard luck seemed to trail him almost to Greenfield. On his way to this city back in 1932 he had an accident in Mt. Sterling. He was injured and his car badly damaged when it skidded and hit a utility pole.

The Highway Patrol called me and I in turn solicited the aid of Ralph Clyburn who in his old Chandler eight drove to Mt. Sterling and brought Dad to Greenfield. Ralph was the first Greenfield man Dad met.

Today, Ralph, in the role of mortician, and a very close friend, delivers him to his last resting place in Greenfield Cemetery.

This is "30" for Dad!

FIT ABOVE ALL

If you have noticed our new sign designed by our good neighbor Bob Jones and now hanging over our store, you'll see a circle in which the word FIT comes over the word ABOVE which in turn is over the word ALL. That's our slogan and our creed . . . FIT ABOVE ALL.

There're dozens of stores where you can buy shoes but mighty few shoe stores where shoes are fitted. No other store, to my knowledge, uses all of the fitting helps or goes to all the bother we do, to make sure that your shoes and your family's shoes are fitted.

We wait on one customer at a time, we measure both feet standing, we make pedo-graph foot prints of every one, we prove the amount of space to grow in children's shoes with the Visu-Meter and we keep a card index fitting record of every pair of shoes fitted. Finally we have in our stock almost 10,000 pairs of good shoes to insure a fitting.

Correspondence Courtship Ends With Marriage In Foggia, Italy

A West Side girl, United States citizen since June, returned to her native Italy last fall to marry the man she had known only through correspondence.

The Cathedral of Lucera, Foggia, Italy, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Dina Scinto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michele Scinto, 122 S. Hawkes-av, and Mr. Michele Ricci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stesano Ricci of Lucero.

MR. AND MRS. M. RICCI

The couple took an extended, three months' tour of the country before leaving Italy, and arrived in Columbus two days before Christmas. They are now at home at Hawkes-av address.

The former Miss Scinto and her father immigrated to the United States in 1956, and her mother, sisters and brother followed.

Her mother had met Mr. Ricci after her daughter left Italy, and when she arrived here told Dina of her approval.

The two began writing and, in time, the courtship by correspondence developed.

Although her parents were a little discouraging, Dina was sure that her mother's approval and choice would be her own, and returned to Italy for the marriage.

Her bridal gown of ivory organza over net was designed with a bodice re-embroidered in lace rosettes and seed pearls, and full-length sleeves and neckline edged with pearls. Her full-length veil was caught to a crown of crystal beads and she carried an arrangement of white carnations on netting.

Her bridal gown and trousseau was the gift of the bridegroom's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Egidio Maiocco of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. Ricci is associated with the Union Co. as a seamstress and Mr. Ricci is employed by Gallo Trailers.

At luncheon, Mrs. Wallace Metcalf, 6233 Alkire-rd, Galloway, who also has made a hobby of growing and using herbs, will serve a salad bowl with choice of dressings, herbs, and other additions. Guests will "build their own" salad.

Mendenhall received his training at Marietta College and the University of Pittsburgh, and has served previously in an administrative capacity at Longview State Hospital in Cincinnati and Woodside Receiving Hospital in Youngstown. He will speak from the financial and operational point of view.

Cost of the day-long program, including luncheon, will be $1 to YWCA members or to family members of the YMCA. Playschool, under the supervision of Mrs. Tony DiPietro, will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. without charge.

Effer-VESS-ence

First of all, thanks for your letters and phone calls telling us how pleased you are about our ½ cent bottle cap redemption plan for your charity organizations. It's our way of saying thanks to you for your patronage over the years.

Here are some rulings to help you get the most out of this plan.

1. Vess of Columbus Co. will pay any non-profit, charitable or service organization one-half cent (½c) for every bottle cap from 3-V Cola, White Rock, Whistle, Vess Flavors, Hires Root Beer and Bubble-Up. Only caps from these products are acceptable.

2. Bottle caps may be brought to Vess . . . 1055 West Fifth Ave. . . for redemption any Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon from 12 to 3 p.m.

3. Bottle caps must be presented in quantities of 100 or more.

4. Bottle caps must be sorted by products and presented at our office in bags (plastic preferred).

5. Checks (figured on ½ cent for every bottle cap redeemed) will be sent to recognized organizations. No checks can be made payable to individuals. Funds collected must be designated for a charitable project.

6. Vess reserves the right to reject projects or organizations not adhering to the rules and conditions set forth.

7. Termination of redemption offer will be announced two weeks before closing date.

Good luck to you all. See you next week.

Local Sesqui Queen To Be Named Mar. 15

The Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce began its search today for Miss Columbus Sesquicentennial in connection with the sesquicentennial celebration to be held in Columbus during the year 1962.

The young lady must be between the ages of 18 years and 26 years of age on Mar. 15, 1962, and must be a resident of the greater Columbus area. She must be single and never been divorced or had a marriage annulled.

Any contestant who meets the above qualifications should send her name and address to the Sesquicentennial Queen Committee, care of Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce, 30 E. Broad st, or call the Junior Chamber of Commerce office, 228-2773, to obtain the entry blank and the rules and regulations.

Ten finalists will be selected by the committee to appear before the panel of local citizens at the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Thursday, Mar. 15. The judges will select Miss Sesquicentennial from these ten finalists and she will be crowned at that time.

She will appear at many celebrations honoring the sesquicentennial and receive numerous prizes.

The entry blank must be obtained, filled out, and mailed to the committee not later than Mar. 10, 1962.

WW 1 Vets Are Invited To Dinner

Veterans of World War I, Barracks 461, is extending an invitation to all World War I Veterans and their wives to attend a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Veterans Memorial Building in rooms 206 and 207.

The Washington birthday dinner will be served free by women of the auxiliary. Reservations may be made before Feb. 19, with Mrs. J. Schmidt, 782 S. Brinker-av, BR. 4-2920.

In 1958, the 85th Congress granted the organization a Congressional charter. The organization is one of the fastest growing Veterans organizations. A national membership of 300,000 is the goal by the time of Washington birthday dinners.

The organization is working to obtain for the veterans of World War I the same treatment by the government accorded to the Civil War and the Spanish-American War veterans, taking them out of the category of "the forgotten man."

It also approves a sound Americanism program to combat the subversive groups, particularly Communanists.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Willard F. Merry, 201 S. Sylvan-av, publicity chairman.

Jerry Spears Funeral Facilities Dedicated To Serving Community

Jerry Spears, Funeral Directors and Ambulance Service, owners and managers of funeral facilities, 2693 W. Broad-st, is dedicated to serving the people in the community. Investments have been made and the youngsters educated in the schools here. The local merchants have furnished supplies needed during the years.

Community status has been a primary interest, Spears Sr. said. Property has been improved progressively until the Hilltop can be sure that no other area can boast of a facility that can surpass it in service or accessibility, he asserted. It is cheerful, homelike, and ample provisions are made for comfort and convenience.

Drinking fountains, rest rooms, ladies lounge, telephone, wheel chairs, parking plaza that is lighted completely and an attendant when necessary. There are two large chapels and several other parlors for visitation. Each is as private as a family desires it to be.

Furnishings in the display room are marked accurately so that any family can select casket, vault and clothes within the range that they desire, Spears said, adding that each family can readily know the taxable and non-taxable items and the total cost of the service at the time of selection.

The funeral home is completely air-conditioned and properly amplified so that the service may be heard anywhere on the premises when desired. Properly trained and licensed personnel are always present and ready to serve. Whether it is to make removal from the residence, or to provide some comfort or convenience at the funeral home or premises, a well trained staff member will serve, according to Spears.

"Your physician will be called to prepare the necessary certificates and permits are secured," "Information will readily be supplied for insurance applications, for social security, veteran's claims or state aid situations and notarized when necessary.

Jerry Spears, Sr.

Jerry Spears, Jr.

"The family minister will be called and transportation provided when he desires it. Calls are made to the cemetery or crematory and arrangements completed and escort service is arranged if the family desires."

"There is provision for every convenience for the family and the most modern scientific method of preparation and restoration art. However, it is with a strong conviction that the purpose of the funeral is to assist the bereaved family to soon find normal readjustment. Funeral directing is very different from operating an appliance facility."

"Spears provides prearranged service when the families wish to have it done, but there is no solicitation by the staff. When pre-payment is made, the firm explained, the entire amount is deposited, in both names, in trust under the State Trust Regulation, and the whole amount will be refunded if the family so directs. No interest is charged and the transactions are made and retained in the community. The National Better Business Bureau approves this approach that gives full information and keeps all transactions fair to all the people concerned, it was pointed out.

There is no effort to promote "Burial Insurance", according to Spears who said the old-line insurance companies can and do offer policies that cover human needs and are prepared to give that service more efficiently and more reasonably than any group has reflected until now.

"A salesman whose job is to sell burial insurance, and incidentally funerals, would hardly be a welcome guest nor would his solicitation be in accord with Ohio law," Spears stated. "No solicitors will call from Spears, nor no hand bills or 'To Occupant' by mail."

Spears operated the first straight ambulance on the Hilltop. During all the years, since 1928, the ambulance and inhalator service have been provided for your comfort and well being. "Every now and then" Spears said, "some friend will tell us of the times when that service probably saved a life of a member of his family."

Anything that is good for the community is given full support of the Spears family and staff Spears asserted. Churches, YMCA, clubs, recreation, United Appeal, civic projects, and many other community projects that will contribute to permanent values in the community will have full cooperation, he promised.

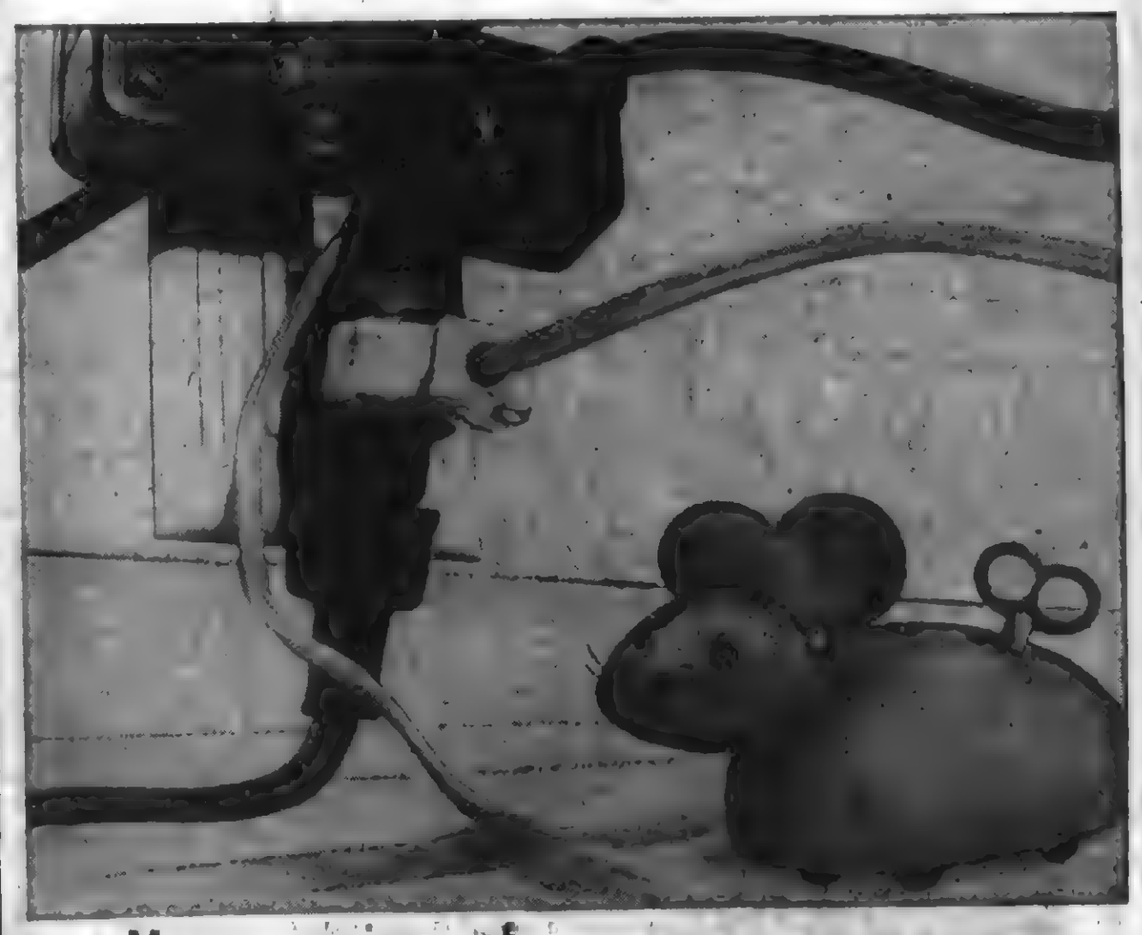
This bird knows the weather. It has been cold outside — in some places about as cold as it ever gets.



What weathermen called a "fantastic" polar air mass invaded Ohio early in January and turned the state into a virtual ice box. Record below zero temperatures were common in many communities.

Because of the severe cold, you possibly have used more gas than normally to heat your home. Your gas bill could be higher than usual.

Your gas company delivered record volumes of natural gas to [illegible].

As a result, there has been warmth and comfort in hundreds of thousands of Ohio homes, even when the weather outside challenged the hardiest of birds.

Overloaded circuits, insufficient outlets are sure signs of low housepower. That means your house has inadequate wiring ... means trouble with electric washers, dryers, ranges, air conditioners, irons and other appliances. These electric servants can't perform as they normally should. And you suffer the added inconvenience of blown fuses when you use too many appliances at one time.

First step to take in resolving a low-housepower problem — call your electrical contractor. He can give you an accurate rewiring estimate and install plenty of circuits to help you live better electrically!

WW 1 Vets Are Invited To Dinner

Veterans of World War I, Barracks 461, is extending an invitation to all World War I Veterans and their wives to attend a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Veterans Memorial Building in rooms 306 and 207.

The Washington birthday dinner will be served free by women of the auxiliary. Reservations may be made before Feb. 19, with Mrs. J. Schmidt, 782 S. Brinker-av, BR. 4-2920.

In 1958, the 85th Congress granted the organization a Congressional charter. The organization is one of the fastest growing Veterans organizations. A national membership of 300,000 is the goal by the time of Washington birthday dinners.

The organization is working to obtain for the veterans of World War I the same treatment by the government accorded to the Civil War and the Spanish-American War veterans, taking them out of the category of "the forgotten man."

It also approves a sound Americanism program to combat the subversive groups, particularly Communnists.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Williard F. Merry, 301 S. Sylvan-av, publicity chairman.

Jerry Spears Funeral Facilities Dedicated To Serving Community

Jerry Spears, Funeral Directors and Ambulance Service, owners and managers of funeral facilities, 2693 W. Broad-st, is dedicated to serving the people in the community. Investments have been made and the youngsters educated in the schools here. The local merchants have furnished supplies needed during the years.

Community status has been a primary interest, Spears Sr. said. Property has been improved progressively until the Hilltop can be sure that no other area can boast of a facility that can surpass it in service or accessability, he asserted. It is cheerful, homelike, and ample provisions are made for comfort and convenience.

Drinking fountains, rest rooms, ladies lounge, telephone, wheel chairs, parking plaza that is lighted completely and an attendant when necessary. There are two large chapels and several other parlors for visitation. Each is as private as a family desires it to be.

Furnishings in the display room are marked accurately so that any family can select casket, vault and clothes within the range that they desire, Spears said, adding that each family can readily know the taxable and non-taxable items and the total cost of the service at the time of selection.

The funeral home is completely air-conditioned and properly amplified so that the service may be heard anywhere on the premises when desired. Properly trained and licensed personnel are always present and ready to serve. Whether it is to make removal from the residence, or to provide some comfort or convenience at the funeral home or premises, a well trained staff member will serve, according to Spears.

"Your physician will be called to prepare the necessary certificates and permits are secured." "Information will readily be supplied for insurance applications, for social security, veteran's claims or state aid situations and notarized when necessary.

Jerry Spears, Sr.

Jerry Spears, Jr.

"The family minister will be called and transportation provided when he desires it. Calls are made to the cemetery or crematory and arrangements completed and escort service is arranged if the family desires."

"There is provision for every convenience for the family and the most modern scientific method of preparation and restoration art. However, it is with a strong conviction that the purpose of the funeral is to assist the bereaved family to soon find normal readjustment. Funeral directing is very different from operating an appliance facility."

"Spears provides prearranged service when the families wish to have it done, but there is no solicitation by the staff. When pre-payment is made, the firm explained, the entire amount is deposited, in both names, in trust under the State Trust Regulation, and the whole amount will be refunded if the family so directs. No interest is charged and the transactions are made and retained in the community. The National Better Business Bureau approves this approach that gives full information and keeps all transactions fair to all the people concerned, it was pointed out.

There is no effort to promote "Burial Insurance", according to Spears who said the old-line insurance companies can and do offer policies that cover human needs and are prepared to give that service more efficiently and more reasonably than any group has reflected until now.

"A salesman whose job is to sell burial insurance, and incidentally funerals, would hardly be a welcome guest nor would his solicitation be in accord with Ohio law", Spears stated. "No solicitors will call from Spears, nor no hand bills or 'To Occupant' by mail."

Spears operated the first straight ambulance on the Hilltop. During all the years, since 1928, the ambulance and inhalator service have been provided for your comfort and well being. "Every now and then" Spears said, "some friend will tell us of the times when that service probably saved a life of a member of his family."

Anything that is good for the community is given full support of the Spears family and staff Spears asserted. Churches, YMCA, clubs, recreation, United Appeal, civic projects, and many other community projects that will contribute to permanent values in the community will have full cooperation, he promised.

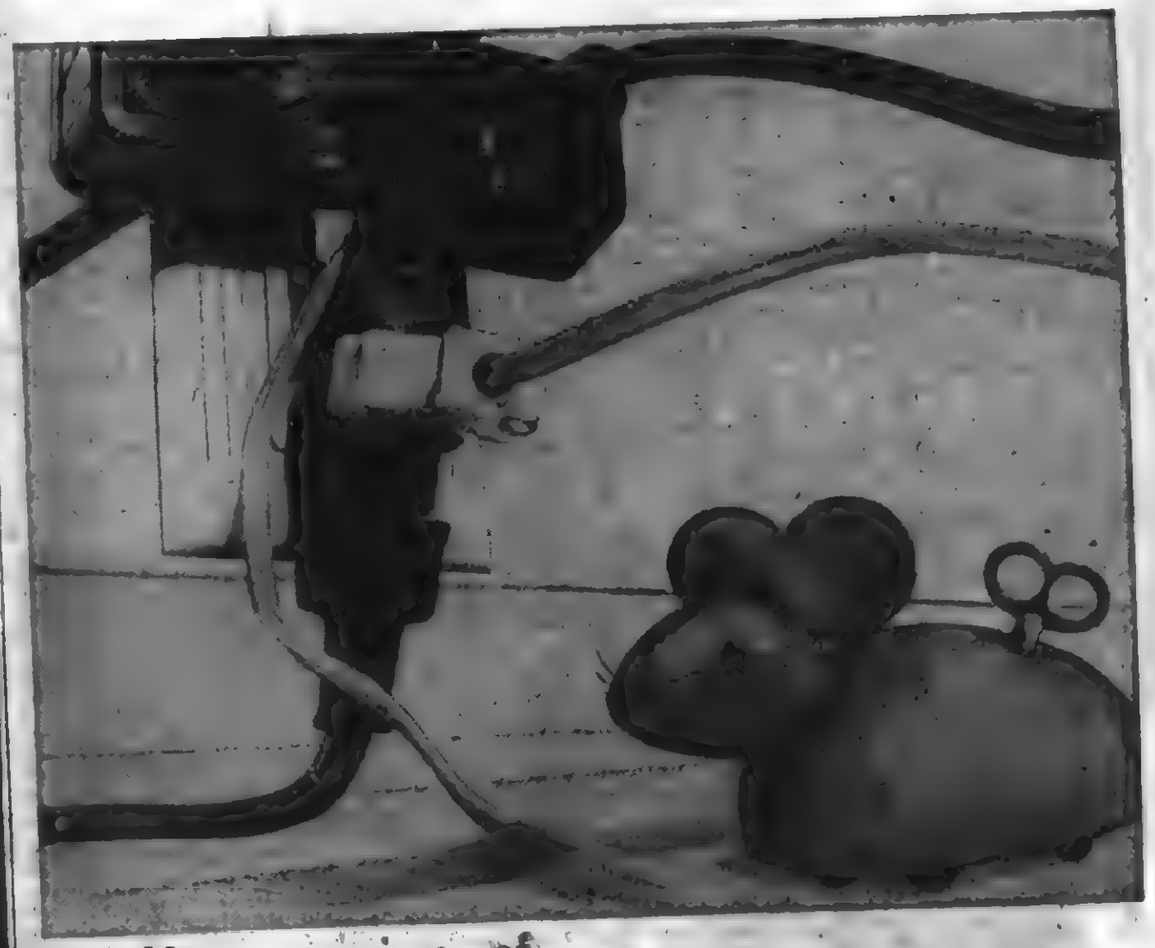
Brother, it's been cold out here!

This bird knows the weather. It has been cold outside — in some places about as cold as it ever gets.



What weathermen called a "fantastic" polar air mass invaded Ohio early in January and turned the state into a virtual ice box. Record below zero temperatures were common in many communities.

Because of the severe cold, you possibly have used more gas than normally to heat your home. Your gas bill could be higher than usual.

Your gas company delivered record volumes of natural gas to homes.

As a result, there has been warmth and comfort in hundreds of thousands of Ohio homes, even when the weather outside challenged the hardiest of birds.

Overloaded circuits, insufficient outlets are sure signs of low housepower. That means your house has inadequate wiring ... means trouble with electric washers, dryers, ranges, air conditioners, irons and other appliances. These electric servants can't perform as they normally should. And you suffer the added inconvenience of blown fuses when you use too many appliances at one time.

First step to take in resolving a low-housepower problem — call your electrical contractor. He can give you an accurate rewiring estimate and install plenty of circuits to help you live better electrically!

AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Okay . . . What Sport Do You Think Toughest Of All?

Chaos reigns toward the end of the week.

The athletic member of our Hartley Newspaper staff — Jabberin' Jack Allen — and I practice judo chops (on each other) and do contortions while we eavesdrop on the nursery school next door to our happy home, trying to find out when the cookie and milk time is.

(Allen can smash through a 16'¾" stack of copy paper, incidentally, while I shatter 16'¼". We figure to set new world records soon.)

Everybody else plunges into such cerebral gymnastics as thinking up cooking recipes for our Society Editor. (Any recipe I come up with is immediately thrown out since I submitted an ingredient sheet for peanut-butter flips a few months ago.)

The joy and gaiety usually mounts as the more enthusiastic of our geniuses climb to the tops of their desks—or slag heaps—to address the adoring multitudes, which usually consists of someone from our classified advertising department wondering where she made the wrong turn.

Bit Of Sociological Research . . .

It was in this kind of atomsphere of happy anarchy the other day that we all conducted a vital bit of sociologcial research:

What would be the toughest sport for guys — spectacularly out of shape — to take part without any conditioning?

JACK ALLEN: "I say ice hockey. Have you ever tried going at a fast pace in a small area on a pair of slippery steel strips? It's especially rough in the pro ranks—there's no margin of error since you can't stop and start as fast as you can in other sports."

MARCUS T. ORR (burrowing triumphantly up from his slag heap where he'd just located a 1919 edition of the DeKalb Illinois State Teachers' College brochure): "But Jai Lai is tougher. You have to be extremely alert—along with everything else. You have to watch out that you don't get hit by that . . . whatever it's called. It's a fast "game."

THE RESIDENT GENIUS (ME, MAN, ME): "You guys are all wrong. Water polo is the toughest. Even when you're loafing you've got to tread water to stay afloat."

SAM DOBBINS: "Soccer is toughest of all. There's more body contact. In football you know what's coming off but in soccer you never know—you just keep running and running."

LEE DIMOND: "I agree with Orr. Jai Lai, they tell me, is one of the fastest moving sports going. It calls for agility and balance at all times."

BILL GRESS: "I'm sure it's boxing. All the parts of your body are going at once. Just try holding your hands up for three minutes and see how long you can go."

Here's The Real Winnr . . .

But the truth is that the toughest sport is the one in which we all appear to be champions. That's automobile-manuevering-on-icy-streets. The conditioning program is a rigorous one: brain surgery by an angry orangutan.

Eatin' Like Bears . . .

The Ohio Bearcat Football Association ding-a-linged the phone the other day and asked if we could please do anything about the weight problem.

They explained further:

It seems that the boys who quality for Bearcat football league teams are just getting too darn heavy. The parents are feeding them too much and, the boys are eating like real Bears.

Believe it or not, the Association is concerned. So concerned in fact, that they've decided to have a meeting Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. in the Chittenden Hotel to discuss the problem and try to find a solution.

All Bearcat coaches and officers are invited to attend — and, oh yes, a lunch WON'T be served.

Whitehall Will Host Sectional Mat Meet

Whitehall — already a tradition among high school wrestling powers in the few short years that the school has been in existence — is preparing to host THE wrestling extravaganza Feb. 16 and 17.

Those are the dates of the East and West Sectional Wrestling Meet slated at the school in weight classes from 103-pounds to Heavyweight division.

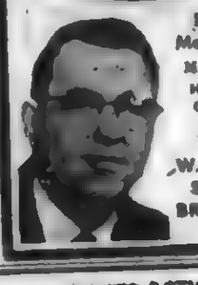
For the first time this year, the boys reaching the semi-finals will qualify for the District Finals to be held at Franklin Heights High School Feb. 23-24.

Because of this there will not be any matches after the quarter-finals. Four boys from each sectional will be seeded for the finals.

Schools participating include:

EASTERN SECTIONAL: Circleville, Bexley, Hartley, East, Eastmoor, Linden, Mifflin, Ohio School for the Blind, Walnut Ridge, Bishop Watterson, Whitehall, Groveport, Watkins Memorial, Granville and North.

WESTERN SECTIONAL: Franklin Heights, Grandview, University, Arlington, West, Grove City, Pleasant View, Hilliard, Washington C. H., Worthington, Plain City (Jonathan Alder) and Central.



Officials will attempt to seed one, two, three and four boys in each weight class. A meeting for seeding will be held Feb. 14, 7:30 p.m. in the Men's Gym Building (Room 36) at Ohio State.

Prelims start on Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. and quarter-finals get underway Feb. 17 at 8 p.m.

East Sectional referees are Les Eisenhart, Tony Montonaro and Richard Tavitagan. From the West are John Peters, Ted Georgeff and Jim Bline.

SUNSHINE SPORTS SCENE

BOXING

Sunshine Recreation Center's Boxing Team was really shining in the Golden Gloves first round of the tournament held at Old Memorial Hall last Thursday.

Dave Sanford had a knockout along with Mike Amrugey while Kelly Arthur received one knockout and a decision. Danny Hyell rounded out the bouts with a decision.

The boxing team from Sunshine won another match at Marion. Glen Pack defeated Inzy Garcia from Sandusky. In the main event this gave Pack his 12th straight win. Pack hopes to lead Sunshine boxers to a win in Golden Gloves action this month.

BASKETBALL

Several exciting ball games highlighted the Basketball League at Sunshine Recreation Center this past week.

Mike Birchnell continued to play good ball in the junior action as he held his Panthers to a 31-29 victory over the Nuggets. Mike got 12 points as did James Brooks for the losers. The Hot Shots romped over the Buckeyes 47-26 with David Sams scoring 14 and James McCloud nine. Shorty Lewis led all scorers with 18 for the losers. Mike Parker also scored 16 for the losers. The Hot Shots five ball advice told the story. They had eight players in the scoring column.

In Intermediate action, the Merchants overwhelmed the Warriors by a score of 56-29. Rich Calhoun scored 21 and Steve Drake 20 for the winners. Tom Chatman and Sonny Watson scored nine each for the losers. The Hawks won an over time squeaker from the Dragons 35-33.

The Hawks made 17 out of 24 foul shots to ice the victory. John Behnand scored 13 on two fielders, and nine out of 11 at the charity stripe to lead his team. Robin Eyer scored 16 points for the losers, with only one other man left on the floor for his team because of the foul situation, Robin personally stalled for most of the last quarter and part of the overtime to protect the large lead and almost pulled out the victory.

The Knights defeated the Red Bandits 38-36 behind 14 points each from Warren Boyd and John Burris. Ralph Vincent and Dick Kettell scored nine each for the losers. The Bearcats defeated the Celtics 52-30. Ron Wyant from the Celtics and Mel Monfort of the Bearcats got 18 each to lead their teams.

In Senior action the Pirates beat the Rebels 34-26. Glen Dondly led the Pirates with 11 and Dan Coviety led the Rebels with 10. The Flyers beat the Cowboys 41-29. Chuck White got 13 for the Cowboys and Tom Nash got 10 for the Flyers, who had six players in the scoring action.

Missionaries To Speak At First Pilgrim Church

First Pilgrim Church, 60 S. Cypress-av, will hold missionary services Saturday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Feb. 18, 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Rev. Mrs. Margaret Hankins of Sherwood, Md., and Rev. F. W. Gibbs, Indianapolis, Ind.

Mrs. Hankins, missionary evangelist to lands where the Pilgrim Holiness denomination maintains missions stations, served also as missionary representative for the denomination's Foreign Missions Department when at home from tours.

During the past 14 years, Mrs. Hankins has traveled to Mexico, most of the West Indies Islands, where the church maintains an extensive missionary work, and to British Guiana, Surinam and Peru, South America.

She attended God's Bible School in Cincinnati.

The first missionary assignment for the Hankins was in 1926, when they were appointed to Jamaica, West Indies.

Following their missionary service, and between terms, the Hankins pastored churches in New Jersey and Virginia, and did evangelistic work.

Since 1946, Rev. Mrs. Hankins has served as missionary in Mexico, West Indies Islands and British Guiana, Surinam and Peru, South America. Her latest trip was a four months' evangelistic tour of African Pilgrim missions.

Rev. Gibbs has returned from a term of service in British Guiana and Surinam, South America.

For several years he was pastor of a large downtown Pilgrim Church in Georgetown, British Guiana. Some time was also spent in superintending the British Guiana Coastal District. Later, the Gibbs were transferred to the interior of Surinam to labor among the Bush Negroes.

Hilltop 'Y' Mint Sale Starts Saturday

The annual Hilltop YMCA World Service Mint Sale will be kicked off Saturday, Feb. 17, at 9 a.m. Members of Indian Guides, Gra-Y, Junior Hi-Y and various building programs will be selling candy to help meet the 1962 goal for World Service and Buildings for Brotherhood.

All proceeds from this sale go to furthering the work of the YMCA in 36 countries around the world. Fraternal YMCA secretaries are sent to assist newly organized associations in more efficient methods of operation. Money sent for Buildings for Brotherhood is matched by foreign association and then used to construct badly needed facilities in underdeveloped lands.

Boys and girls will be knocking on doors in their neighborhoods and selling 10 ounce boxes of thin mints for $1. All participants will be selling in hopes of qualifying for a fine list of prizes. This also will afford "Y" youngsters an opportunity to earn all or part of their fee to attend Camp Alfred L. Willson this summer.

Top salesman last year were Van (Sandy) Johnston who sold 466 boxes and Jack Beery who sold 420 boxes. "Y" members will be working towards exceeding these top efforts of last year and also at surpassing the total of 5,100 boxes sold.

Tintypes And Old Valentines Displayed At Hilltop Library

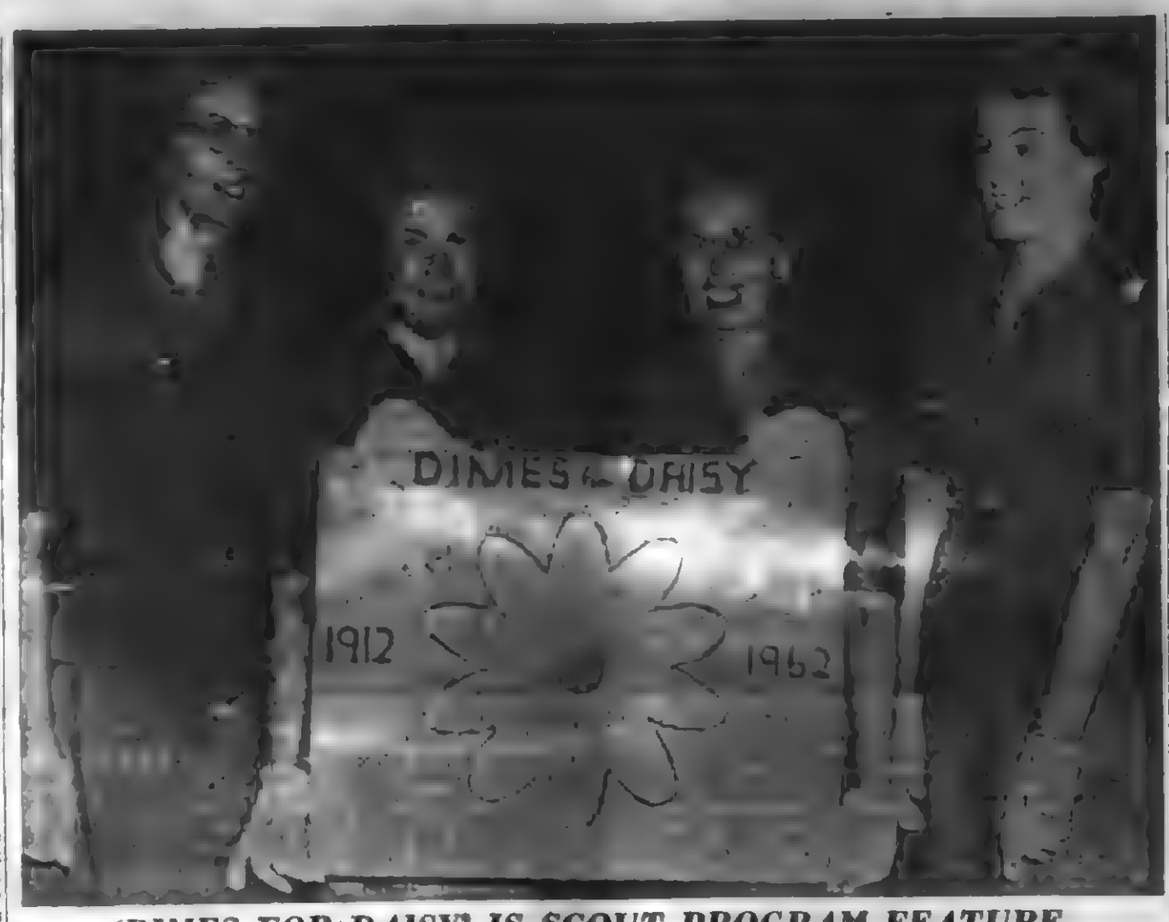
During February the Hilltop Kiwanis Case at the Hilltop Branch Library is displaying items from the collection of Myron Seifert. Featured are interesting tintypes and daguerreotypes of the Civil War period and charming old valentines, some of which date back to well before the turn of the century.

Fascinating reading fare for February is found in the books at the Hilltop Library about Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and other American "greats" born during the month.

Recent books about the Great Emancipator on library shelves include "The Real Abraham Lincoln," Mr. Lincoln Runs for President," "Citizen of New Salem" and "Abraham Lincoln: A New Portrait."

George Washington is represented by such works as "George Washington: Man and Monument," "The Private Life of George Washington;" "Man From Mt. Vernon" and volumes of Douglas Freeman's comprehensive seven-volume biography, "George Washington."

Biographies of other famous persons with February birthdays include "Edison," "Charles Dickens: His Tragedy and Triumph," "John Foster Dulles," Caruso: The Man of Naples and the Voice of Gold," and "The Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh and the American Dream."



X-way Crash Blame Put On Short Ramp

Eight traffic accidents between Jan. 15 and Jan. 31 at the Broad-Sandusky Expressway interchange were blamed by the head of the Columbus police traffic bureau on faulty engineering.

It was the highest total in the city during the 15-day period, according to the bureau's selective enforcement bulletin.

Also cited in the five top accident intersections was Sandusky Expressway and Greenlawn-av with five accidents which were rear-end crashes blamed on driver errors.

Capt. Francis McWilliams, head of the traffic bureau, said seven of the eight accidents at Broad and Sandusky were rear-end crashes on the short approach ramp used by northbound motorists to enter the expressway from Broad-st.

Cookie Time Nears

The neighborhood Girl Scouts will be calling on members of the community from Friday, Feb. 16, through Monday, Feb. 26, to take advance orders for their famous cookies.

The annual Girl Scout Cookie sale is the only major project in which all the Girl Scouts in the Ohio Trefoil Council have an opportunity to contribute to the support of their own program.

Profits from the sale are used to improve and maintain local Girl Scout camps — two established, seven Day Camp Sites, and six Troop Camp Sits, which provide camping opportunities to more than 13,000 girls in Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Madison, Pickaway and Union counties.

Serving as special sales chairman for John Burroughs Neighborhood is Mrs. William Fletcher, 214 French-dr. Assisting will be Mrs. Frank Stone, 636 Raleigh-dr. Cookies will be delivered on or about Mar. 23.

The cookies are 50 cents a box and come in five varities: four flavor sandwich creams, chocolate mints, Scot-teas, Savannahs, and a new one this year—chocolate and vanilla sandwich.

Meeting Scheduled

The John Burroughs Neighborhood will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Feb. 19, starting at 9:30 a.m. at John Burroughs Elementary School. Presiding will be Mrs. Kenneth Adams, neighborhood chairman. All registered adults are urged to attend.

Camping folders will be distributed by Mrs. Richard Morgan, neighborhood camping chairman, who will give a report. Final plans will be discussed for the special International Dinner scheduled for the girls and adults of this neighborhood for Thursday, Feb. 22, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Westgate Shelter House. This will be the first time the girls have taken part in the International dinner. Presenting the Flag Ceremony will be the members of Intermediate Troop 742 under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Eddy. There are 16 girls in this troop.

The members of Troop 517 under the leadership of Mrs Richard Morgan will sing a Ger[illegible] song.

Plans are being made to have a foreign student from OSU address the group.

Immediately preceding the offering of the troops' contributions to the Juliette Low Fund, the members of Mrs. Bishop's Senior Troop 580 will do a choral reading, centered around International friendship, entitled, "The Wish That Came True."

Each neighborhood troop is making its own centerpieces for the dinner table and decorating envelopes which will contain their contributions.

Dimes For Daisy

February is International month for Girl Scouts. There have been Girl Scouts in the United States for 50 years, "Thanks to their founder, Juliette "Daisy" Low.

Each year at this time, contributions are made to the International Friendship fund in memory of "Daisy." By doing so the scouts help to fulfill Mrs. Low's greatest desire—that girls all over the world become friends. The ultimate of each girl's effort is to build peace by acquainting girls of all nations with one another in International camps and other gatherings to share ideas and ideals.

The goal this year is to have each Senior and Intermediate Scout contribute 25 cents, each Brownie 10 cents, and each leader and registered adult, 50 cents. All Brownies and Girl Scouts of the John Burroughs Neighborhood plan to salute "Daisy" 'at the Feb. 22 special party.

Monaco Opens New Restaurant At Hilltop Site

Hugo Monaco, Hilltopper and former bandleader, has opened a new restaurant at 3178 W. Broad-st.

It is called "Monaco's" and replaces the old Dragon restaurant. It has been completely remodeled. Party rooms will accommodate groups from 25 to 125.

Centralites To Introduce Bill At Capital U

A bill, which is in favor of permitting communism and its evils to be taught as a grade 12 subject requirement, will be submitted by 18 Central High School students as they represent the state of Wisconsin in a mock session of congressional activities at Capital University [illegible].

The 18 Centralites will be among approximately 1,000 high school students from all over the state who will become representatives, senators, governors, pages, lobbyists, secretaries and newspaper reporters, as they meet to "make laws" and learn the processes of good government.

The students representing Central and Wisconsin were chosen because of a high grade average in the problems of democracy courses.

They are Patricia Gillispie, governor; Mary Etta Jones, Jim McCann, senators; Julia Evans, Dorothy Nelson, Sharon Harris, David Hoffman, Byron Dickinson, Gary Seescholtz, Kathy Fout, Sandra del Sandro, Charlotte Branham, Roberta Dildine, representatives; Marvin Whittaker, lobbyist; Woody Griffey, Gene Cotton, pages; Toni Kallantzo, secretary, and Bill Ratliff, reporter.

The project, sponsored by the university's Political Science Club, is "to give high school students an insight into actual workings of Congress as much as time and facilities permit," reports club president, Calvin Clay.

girl to have the opportunity to play under supervision at a recreation center. It is a God-given right." Commenting further, he added, "Whenever you have a group of teenagers you will have the antics that they do."

Speaking to the group Barack said the proposed facility will be equal in area to other Columbus centers, possibly a building measuring 120 feet by 190 feet, like Whetstone.

Plans for the interior would include a gym, separate auditorium, adjacent kitchen, locker rooms, game room, arts and crafts room, and meeting rooms.

The center would be available for public use as well as by adults. Hours suggested by Barack would be from 3 to to 10 p.m. daily and 9 to 12 a.m. on Saturdays.

Outside groups using the facilities beyond regular hours would be charged a minimum fee to cover custodial expenses.

In answer to the question of when work would begin on the project the director said city council is now selling bonds for recreational purposes and when sold preliminary work would begin. He added that it may take from 30 to 60 days before funds will be available.

No work other than discussion can be done until council has funds available in the treasury.

Mentions Other Improvements

Barack added that further plans for the park may include a swimming pool to be constructed around 1964. However, location of the pool within the city would be determined by first by need and then by where it was most wanted.

Plans for this year also include resurfacing of the tennis courts in the park. The courts at present are clay surfaced but Barack has recommended blacktop.

He stated that most tennis players favor clay courts but blacktop after initial [illegible] is easier to service and is less expensive in the long run.

A meeting of local tennis players was called last week by Barack but no Hilltop players were present to express their views.

HILLIARD BUS 'ON AGAIN' —BUT NOT IN VALLEYVIEW

The on again-off again Hilliard Bus Co. operation is on again.

Bus service has been restored on a normal basis after last week's three-day stoppage.

However, there has been a change in schedule—passengers are no longer picked up in Valleyview—and still other changes are on tap.

George Noxon, spokesman for the firm, said this week that the line's own buses are back in operation and that no further breakdown in operation is foreseen.

He explained the vehicle leased from the Greenlawn Transit Lines was used only one day while the Hilliard Bus Co. equipment was being repaired.

Noxon said that service to Valleyview was discontinued Monday of this week because it was "uneconomical".

He noted that a pair of railroad tracks and winding streets in the village "cost the buses valuable time" and that the community was already serviced by the Columbus Transit Co.

Other changes for which the company plans to seek Public Utilities Commission approval would involve route and fares, Noxon explained.

He did not say what specific requests would be made.

Reports indicate, however, that the firm possibly will seek a fare increase and more direct route to Columbus.

Service, which stopped Monday of last week because of mechanical failure of the firm's 15-year-old-buses, were resumed the following Thursday by order of the PUC.

The firm company, which operates seven round trips daily, serves approximately 100 persons, according to N[illegible].

The present owners took over the line about some eight months ago from Scioto Bus Co. Partners in the operation are Noxon, Clyde and A.C. Montgomery.

Tintypes And Old Valentines Displayed At Hilltop Library

During February the Hilltop Kiwanis Case at the Hilltop Branch Library is displaying items from the collection of Myron Seifert. Featured are interesting tintypes and daguerreotypes of the Civil War period and charming old valentines, some of which date back to well before the turn of the century.

Fascinating reading fare for February is found in the books at the Hilltop Library about Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and other American "greats" born during the month.

Recent books about the Great Emancipator on library shelves include "The Real Abraham Lincoln," Mr. Lincoln Runs for President," "Citizen of New Salem" and "Abraham Lincoln: A New Portrait."

George Washington is represented by such works as "George Washington: Man and Monument," "The Private Life of George Washington;" "Man From Mt. Vernon" and volumes of Douglas Freeman's comprehensive seven-volume biography, "George Washington."

Biographies of other famous persons with February birthdays include "Edison," "Charles Dickens: His Tragedy and Triumph," "John Foster Dulles," Caruso: The Man of Naples and the Voice of Gold," and "The Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh and the American Dream."

Also cited in the five top accident intersections was Sandusky Expressway and Greenlawn-av with five accidents which were rear-end crashes blamed on driver errors.

Immediately preceding the offering of the troops' contributions to the Juliette Low Fund, the members of Mrs. Bishop's Senior Troop 580 will do a choral reading, centered around International friendship, entitled, "The Wish That Came True."

Each neighborhood troop is making its own centerpieces for the dinner table and decorating envelopes which will contain their contributions.

Dimes For Daisy

February is International month for Girl Scouts. There have been Girl Scouts in the United States for 50 years, "Thanks to their founder, Juliette "Daisy" Low.

Each year at this time, contributions are made to the International Friendship fund in memory of "Daisy." By doing so the scouts help to fulfill Mrs. Low's greatest desire—that girls all over the world become friends. The ultimate of each girl's effort is to build peace by acquainting girls of all nations with one another in International camps and other gatherings to share ideas and ideals.

The goal this year is to have each Senior and Intermediate Scout contribute 25 cents, each Brownie 10 cents, and each leader and registered adult, 50 cents. All Brownies and Girl Scouts of the John Burroughs Neighborhood plan to salute "Daisy" at the Feb. 22 special party.

Centralites To Introduce Bill At Capital U

A bill, which is in favor of permitting communism and its evils to be taught as a grade 12 subject requirement, will be submitted by 18 Central High School students as they represent the state of Wisconsin in a mock session of congressional activities at Capital University Mar. 31.

The 18 Centralites will be among approximately 1,000 high school students from all over the state who will become representatives, senators, governors, pages, lobbyists, secretaries and newspaper reporters, as they meet to "make laws" and learn the processes of good government.

The students representing Central and Wisconsin were chosen because of a high grade average in the problems of democracy courses.

They are Patricia Gillispie, governor; Mary Etta Jones, Jim McCann, senators; Julia Evans, Dorothy Nelson, Sharon Harris, David Hoffman, Byron Dickinson, Gary Seescholtz, Kathy Fout, Sandra del Sandro, Charlotte Branham, Roberta Dildine, representatives; Marvin Whittaker, lobbyist; Woody Griffey, Gene Cotton, pages; Toni Kalliantac, secretary, and Bill Ratliff, reporter.

The project, sponsored by the university's Political Science Club, is "to give high school students an insight into actual workings of Congress as much as time and facilities permit," reports club president, Calvin Clay.

girl to have the opportunity to play under supervision at a recreation center. It is a God-given right." Commenting further, he added, "Whenever you have a group of teenagers you will have the antics that they do."

Speaking to the group Barack said the proposed facility will be equal in area to other Columbus centers, possibly a building measuring 120 feet by 190 feet, like Whetstone.

Plans for the interior would include a gym, separate auditorium, adjacent kitchen, locker rooms, game room, arts and crafts room, and meeting rooms.

The center would be available for public use as well as by adults. Hours suggested by Barack would be from 2 to 10 p.m. daily and 9 to 12 a.m. on Saturdays.

Outside groups using the facilities beyond regular hours would be charged a minimum fee to cover custodial expenses.

In answer to the question of when work would begin on the project the director said city council is now selling bonds for recreational purposes and when sold preliminary work would begin. He added that it may take from 30 to 60 days before funds will be available.

No work other than discussion can be done until council has funds available in the treasury.

Mentions Other Improvements

Barack added that further plans for the park may include a swimming pool to be constructed around 1964. However, location of the pool within the city would be determined by first by need and then by where it was most wanted.

Plans for this year also include resurfacing of the tennis courts in the park. The courts at present are clay surfaced but Barack has recommended blacktop.

He stated that most tennis players favor clay courts but blacktop after initial [illegible] is easier to service and is less expensive in the long run.

A meeting of local tennis players was called last week by Barack but no Hilltop players were present to express their views.

HILLIARD BUS 'ON AGAIN' —BUT NOT IN VALLEYVIEW

The on again-off again Hilliard Bus Co. operation is on again.

Bus service has been restored on a normal basis after last week's three-day stoppage.

However, there has been a change in schedule—passengers are no longer picked up in Valleyview—and still other changes are on tap.

George Noxon, spokesman for the firm, said this week that the line's own buses are back in operation and that no further breakdown in operation is foreseen.

He explained the vehicle leased from the Greenlawn Transit Lines was used only one day while the Hilliard Bus Co. equipment was being repaired.

Noxon said that service to Valleyview was discontinued Monday of this week because it was "uneconomical".

He noted that a pair of railroad tracks and winding streets in the village "cost the buses valuable time" and that the community was already serviced by the Columbus Transit Co.

Other changes for which the company plans to seek Public Utilities Commission approval would involve route and fares, Noxon explained.

He did not say what specific requests would be made.

Reports indicate, however, that the firm possibly will seek a fare increase and more direct route to Columbus.

Service, which stopped Monday of last week because of mechanical failure of the firm's 15-year-old-buses, were resumed the following Thursday by order of the PUC.

The firm company, which operates seven round trips daily, serves approximately 100 persons, according to Noxon.

The present owners took over the line about some eight months ago from Scioto Bus Co. Partners in the operation are Noxon, Clyde and A.C. Montgomery.

DONNA JEA JORDAN, 838 Demorest-rd, who has been chosen as the Easter Seal Child locally for 1962, smiles at her reflection in the mirror, demonstrating how she can now walk independently.

Hilltopper Donna Jean Jordan Is Easter Seal Campaign Poster Girl

A brown-haired, wine o m e miss, Donna Jean Jordan, with dedicated determination to be normal, has been chosen as the Easter Seal child for 1962 throughout Columbus and Franklin County during the Mar. 15-Apr. 22 campaign.

Four-year-old Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jordan, 838 Demorest-rd, through her own intense cooperation and the help of her therapists, walked independently for the very first time a month ago with the aid of a pair of leg braces and a single Canadian stick crutch.

The story behind this exciting accomplishment tells of a child born with cerebral palsy, described by a medical term, "spastic triplegic," meaning involvement of both legs and an arm. A child who couldn't walk or use her left arm at all, this was Donna, before Easter Seal Society took a hand in fashioning her future.

Two years ago Donna was enrolled at the treatment center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children. After hundreds of therapy sessions, physical, occupational and group room, Donna was able to conquer to a degree her crippling handicap. In addition to walking independently she can now feed herself and partly dress herself.

Donna has completely won the hearts of her therapists with her quiet smile and brave tolerance of sometimes painful therapy. Today the 1962 Easter Seal child looks forward to even greater independence. Tentative surgery is scheduled for spring and Center therapists feel Donna will eventually walk without her crutch.

Those who know her are certain she will make it as she has the fearless determination to succeed and the loving at-home help of her parents and three sisters.

Donna will represent all the crippled children served by Easter Seals in this community during the campaign and her progress will demonstrate how contributions to the Easter Seal appeal can aid in helping others as much as they have helped her.

Wisdom in Our Madness?

Just when it appears evident that Congress will soon make it cost everyone an additional penny to mail a letter and when all other mailing costs are scheduled to be raised in order to overcome the much displayed "postal deficit" it might be well to let your congressman know how you feel about a few things.

To Wit:

The $2.4 Billion the United States has given to Dictator Tito and his Communist government in Yugoslavia.

The $900 Million given to the dictator of Communist Poland.

The $700 Million to pro-Communist Dictator Sukarno of Indonesia.

And what about the $600 Million to Nasser of Egypt and $8 Billion to India through Nehru who is currently a big question mark?

The wisdom of our madness seems to be to tap the American pocketbook again while we continue to let billions flow abroad to aid the Communist cause!

Discussion Set Feb. 28 On West Bus Extension

Possibilities of extending city bus service west of Westgate Manor will be the topic of a special meeting in the office of Utilities Director Howard Johnson next Wednesday.

The director said he is inviting officials of the Columbus Transit Co., "and all other interested parties" to attend. The talks will start at 2 p.m., Feb. 28 in Room 220 of City Hall.

There were indications Tuesday that delegations from Georgian Heights and Holly Hill subdivision will attend. Recently a petition bearing 400 names, asking for bus service in these areas, was sent to Director Johnson.

The Georgian Heights Civic Association has made no definite resolution on the request for buses. While many members favor having the buses loop through the area, there are others (some on the executive board) who reject the idea.

Director Johnson said new street connections are making it entirely feasible to extend a route to Georgian Heights. "Service would be brought right to their doorstep," he said, "without establishing very many bus-stops."

"It might be good to send every other bus from the Mound-st loop into the new area," he added.

Manor Loop Is Success

A Columbus Transit spokesman observed Tuesday that the bus extension into the Manor, established two years ago, is being well patronized. At first the company was somewhat doubtful that it would pay its way.

New development west of the city, in the vicinity of Lincoln Village South, also has potential. However, bus company officials say that the cost of any travel out of the city limits would be too great. A State Public Utilities tax of $4 a seat would be applied to each trip.

Three other possible routes have been suggested by Director Johnson: extension of the present Sullivant-av line; extension of the Hague-av crosstown run, connecting riders with the Mound-st, Sullivant-av or Broad-st lines; a special feeder bus for the new area.

COUNCIL ELECTS CHAIRMEN

Barack To Discuss Recreation Plans

In a brief but comprehensive February meeting, the executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council put many gears into motion.

The following committee chairmen were approved for 1962: Traffic—Frank A. Schneider; Health—Glen Beach; Welfare—Stanley Doran; Recreation—Earl Ross; Constitution—Eldon Delong; and, Membership—Claud Jones.

In view of the actions of the Dana Avenue School PTA regarding its desire to have Dana Avenue School Playground reopened as a city recreation site, it was decided to ask Recreation Director Nick Barack to speak at the next open meeting of the council, Mar. 8. Barack will outline plans being made for recreation, present and future, in the West Side.

Brief discussions were held in regard to the present welfare and poor relief crisis and how it affects the West Side; and, the establishment of large standing committees of the council, to involve more people.

Glenwood Members Plan Farewell Service Sunday

Farewell service by the congregation of Glenwood Methodist Church Sunday at 10:30 a.m. will mark the end of 60 years of worship in the present sanctuary at 64 S. Highland-av.

Rev. Warren Bright, pastor, will preach on the topic, "A Crowd of Witnesses."

On the following Sunday, Mar. 4, members will hold their initial services in the new Glenwood Methodist Church on Valleyview-dr at N. Hague-av.

A service of transfer will be observed at the conclusion of worship Feb. 25. Trustees of Glenwood will pass the keys of the church to trustees of Oakley Avenue Baptist.

The church, an integral part of community life for half a century, has a rich heritage on the Hilltop. A charge to continue this service will also be passed to Oakley Baptists as part of the church transfer.

Dr. Patrick Crawford is chairman of the Glenwood Board of Trustees and Joseph Gentry is chairman of the Oakley Avenue Board.

According to Rev. Jacob J. Ashburn, pastor of Oakley Church, first services by his congregation in the Highland-av building will be held Mar. 11. Alterations are planned to the building before that date.

Sunday School classes of Glenwood will convene in the sanctuary of the new building at 9:15 a.m. Mar. 4, and then follow their teachers to their new rooms.

Organized in 1893, membership of Glenwood Methodist is now more than 2,000.

Last Call For Lions' Pancakes

Tickets are available from any Hilltop Lion or at the door. The charge is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12. Diners will be entitled to all the pancakes they can eat, plus a serving of sausage and choice of coffee or milk.

Pancake Day is replacing the Annual Light Bulb sale as a Lions' fund raising project. Robert Bethel is chairman.

WITH COUNCIL

Clime Park Acreage Now Totals 225

Legislation passed by the city Monday will bring the acreage of proposed Clime-rd Park up to 225. Council authorized the City Attorney to accept an option for 24.3 more acres from the Edward O. Clime interests, at a cost of $49,600.

Still more land will be needed, however, to satisfy the city's plans to extend the park the entire distance along Big Run from Georgesville-rd to Demorest-rd.

Ray Dietz, department superintendent, said an additional 50 to 75 acres would be required to extend strips to the two roads.

Other ordinances involving this area, passed by council this week:

• Gave permission to county commissioners to improve a portion of Georgesville-rd.

• Appropriated real estate needed for the opening and extension of Clarendon-av, south from Mound-st;

• Established zoning for manufacturing and single-family homes in a 48.8-acre tract of Franklin Township, recently annexed. It is located on the north side of Briggs-rd and on both sides of the B & O railroad, just west of the Harrisburg-pk.

Two ordinances were introduced which would (1) prohibit parking at any time on both sides of W. Mound-st, from Binns-blvd to Brinker-av. (2) Prohibit parking during certain hours on portions of Broad-st, Mound-st and Sullivant-av.

Action on obtaining land along Jackson-pk for a $370,000 Women's Workhouse was held up another week. Councilmen Southwick and Fornof, after viewing five acres under consideration, were reluctant to pay $15,000 for the land. The matter is being deferred until the return of Service Director Ernest Stork. He has been ill several months.

Mardi Gras Ball Set At St. Agnes

Reservations may be made by calling Paul Murhane, BR. 9-5123 or Charles Crites, BR. 9-3868.

Reinbolt Asks For New Trial

Judge Kenneth L. Sater said he would rule on the motion at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Sentence will be pronounced at a later date.

Reinbolt, 28, of 3237 McKinley-av, was found guilty of murder and armed robbery in the Aug. 28 slaying of Edgar L. Weaver in Weaver's grocery at 1783 N. Hague-av.

Paper Box Co. Will Expand

Columbus Paper Box Co., 344 W. Town-st, has obtained a permit to build a $250,000 addition to its plant on land formerly occupied by the Fiesser School. The site is at Starling-av and State-st.

G. W. Atkinson and Son, Inc., are the contractors.

Role Of Franklinton Resident In Naming Of Capital Recalled

The occasion of the naming of Columbus was re-enacted at noon today when Playhouse-On-The-Green actor William Whitman portrayed General Joseph Foos of Franklinton who proposed the name to the state legislature 150 years ago.

At the time, the Ohio Legislature was meeting in Zanesville. The general rode from Franklinton with a resolution which would further the new world's honors to Christopher Columbus.

Whitman and Mary Fletcher, also of POG, portraying Mrs. Foos, made a shorter trip, from Veterans' Memorial, across the river and around City Hall, picking up Mayor W. Ralston Westlake in a horse-drawn carriage.

The re-enactment scene kicked off celebration of the Columbus Sesquicentennial Year. A community luncheon at the Deshler Hilton Hotel was to be the highlight of the first day of celebration of 150 years for the capital.

John Vorys was to present historical highlights of Columbus during the luncheon program which was open to the public.

Goals of the committee heading the observance were outlined by Charles A. Jones. Erwin Johnson was the master of ceremonies. A large number of spectators lined the parade route as others watched from office windows.

Escorting the Fooses was the 12-member Columbus company of Capital Light Infantry, Ohio Sons of Union Veterans, headed by Maj. E. Alan Nutt.

Traffic Men Perplexed By Local Posers

At its most recent session the commission:

• heard Union-av residents complain about new one-way travel on their street.

• decided on a compromise relocation of the traffic light serving St. Agnes and Hilltonia Junior High Schools.

• rejected a school light at Westmoor and Valleyview schools and recommended that the school change the traffic pattern in its driveways.

• gave recommendations for curb cuts for a new motel, restaurant and service station at W. Broad-st and Vlotis-dr.

• learned that Mayor Westlake had re-appointed John F. Kirwin, 2667 St. Patrick-rd, to a five-year term on the commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGarry brought a petition which they said represented all but three households on Union-av. They said the new one-way, west, is especially bothersome to drivers during snowy weather. The street rises abruptly, they said, and is seldom salted.

Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher, somewhat surprised at the complaint, said the change supposedly was in answer to residents' wishes expressed through the West Side Neighborhood Council. None of the residents apparently had appeared at the WSNC's earlier traffic hearings which were announced by the newspapers and notes sent home with the school children.

Capt. F. E. McWilliams of the police department said he could not see the necessity for one way changes on many of the secondary streets in the West Side. No action was taken, pending a talk with the WSNC Traffic Committee.

Says Parents Responsible

The commission decided to move the traffic light at Wheatland-av and Mound-st to a spot directly between St. Agnes and Hilltonia schools. It's another attempt to solve the problem of speeding cars vs. students who walk in the street.

The decision followed a hard-hitting attack from Capt. McWilliams. Chairman William Neno had asked him what authority the cruisermen could use in handling youngsters who disregard the crosswalk.

"It's not a police problem, it's not a school problem—it's

Dry Run Bidding Due Next Week

Construction bids on the $300,000 improvement of Dry Run Ditch, near Haldy-av, will be taken in the office of Service Director Ernest Stork at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 27.

Astronaut's Story Eclipses 'Em All!

No front page in the United States is a front page this week without a word of praise for Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr.

The Ohioan's three-orbit trip around the earth in a space capsule Tuesday was too spectacular to be ignored . . . even in newspapers devoted strictly to community news.

For, truly, the exploit touched every home and business, office and institution in the country. Babies went un-diapered, barbers cut very little hair, office and store work was stymied and streets were nearly empty while the history-making episode took place.

It was the story of the century.

HE FOLLOWED HER TO SCHOOL ONE DAY . . . .

KIDS IN KINDERGARTEN everywhere are talking about spring flowers, the birds, and things like little lambs. But, Kathy Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd, decided to bring the real thing into her class at Mrs. Edna Watts' home, 208 Demorest-av. Here she demonstrates her sheepmanship to Cindy Ferrell, David Kingrey, Wally Zipf and Jane Kable (all partly hidden), Kathy Reiser, Gregory Adams, Ellen Findley, Mark Schoeppner, Vicki Cherup and Stephen Stone (hidden), Vicki Parsons, Randy Freeman and Amy Nagle.

SOMETHING NEW AT EAKIN

FIRST LESSONS in voice recording are given by Principal William A. Weber of Eakin School to Stephen Meifsi and Rita Kozakovsky. The tape recorder was presented to the school by Harold Greene (standing), on behalf of the Hilltop Lions Club. This is another community project made possible by profits from such promotions as the coming Lions Pancake Day, Feb. 24.

The city recently awarded $373 in damages to Ralph H. Massey, 148 Wrexham-av, for sewer troubles he has had since 1958.

At that time, Massey was asked by the city to hook his home sewer pipe into the street main. Sewerage continued to back up while Massey went to extra expense to find the trouble.

After an expensive excavation it was learned that the city's main was closed at both ends.

$6.5 Million Is Spent Here By Westinghouse

The Westinghouse major appliance plant in Columbus bought more than $6,500,000 worth of its supplies and materials from Columbus concerns during 1961.

This was revealed by J. W. Craig, vice president and general manager of the Major Appliance Division, who said the firm also spent another $17,000,000 with Ohio firms outside of Columbus. The company's purchases were made from 341 Columbus business concerns and 377 Ohio businesses outside of Columbus. Ohio firms represented 47.2 per cent of the total from whom the company bought items during the year.

"The Westinghouse plant in Columbus is an integral part of this community", Craig said. "Wherever possible it is our policy to buy the items we need from local and state sources. We ask only that our suppliers be competitive in quality, price and delivery."

Spectator—

the other day, someone moaned, "We don't have any Lincolns any more."

Maybe not. Lincoln was a mess in personal appearance; his wife was history's worst nagger and eventually went insane; he himself nearly went insane once; of his four sons, only one grew to manhood; he failed in business; and he had the nation's greatest problems of all time across his neck. So we probably don't have many duplicates of him in those respects.

But Lincoln had two attributes that are still around. He was not only articulate, but persuasive at it. He could state a situation so it could be understood, and he could influence the listener to form the opinion he wanted.

And combined with that, he understood people; he knew none of them was perfect; he could find the good and usable in them and ignored the other parts.

These two things about Lincoln — his ability to understand and his ability to express himself and be persuasive — offset all the minus points.

And these two attributes are available to most of us, here and now, in the degree of our intelligence and discipline. Obviously, we don't need to wed a Mary Todd or love an Ann Rutledge to get them. Mary and Ann didn't help Abe, either; but they didn't make him fold up.

Traffic Men—

one for the parents to solve," the captain replied. "We could go out and arrest the kids in droves but it would do no good. Those we'd arrest would be turned loose immediately, and 99 per cent of the parents would not appreciate the effort," he declared. Gallagher agreed.

Mrs. Phillip Pentillo and Frank Bowles, of the Hilltop Community Council, were told that the following steps are being taken: the light will be relocated as soon as warm weather will permit painting; safety education will be stepped up in the schools; arrests will be made as a last resort.

Valleyview Signal Rejected

A delegation of six heard answers to an appeal for some kind of light in the Valleyview school area. The traffic engineer said traffic and pedestrian counts, recently completed, do not show the need for a light.

"The real problem," said Gallagher, "stems from the turn at Westmoor-av and the school property itself." He declared a light at Valleyview and Westmoor would delay rather than accelerate movement of children is crossing, and that a flasher light would not help.

Pressed for an answer, Gallagher said he would ask the Board of Education to reroute traffic so that one driveway will be in use while the Schoolboy Patrol is in operation.

Curb Cut Advice Given

The requested four curb cuts are designed to serve the proposed Howard Johnson 106-unit motel and restaurant and an adjacent service station. Since the projects are along Route 40 and west of Wilson-rd, some of the approval must come from the state, Gallagher said. He stipulated that a car stop be built between the service station and parking areas.

Arthur Serves On Radar Vessel

The Hale is scheduled to visit Greenock, Scotland, the famous shipbuilding port on the Clyde River, before returning to the US in mid-May.

So That You Won't Go Astray . . .

HERE'S BUSY INTERSECTION AT MOUND AND CENTRAL
. . . This is enough confusion for any traveler—or local resident!

*M*ound and Central!

There's a phrase to strike fear in any motorist's heart.

This intersection, in western Columbus, causes (among other things) double-takes, screeching brakes, stomachaches, headaches and mental-breaks.

Imagine the confusion of local drivers when confronted with this mass of flashing signal lights and signs. Then multiply that by 100 and you can just about tell how the visitor to Columbus must feel.

And, the signs don't seem to be doing much good. Just check with the police department and they'll tell you about the high accident rate here.

Traffic, Dogs, Theaters, Sidewalks Concern Reader

To The Editor:

What should we do about children crossing at the corner of Williams-rd and Parsons-av? Their lives are in danger. Part of the children on their way home for lunch are walking in the middle of the street.

Our P.T.A. president at Parsons school has asked the Police Department for help. The drivers are going have to drive extra careful because of the kindergarten children. There should be a speed limit set.

Also, my neighbor has made a remark about dogs running loose. When her two boys are sent to school in the morning the dogs try to knock them down. By that time their clothes are dirty and muddy. Her one boy has had cerebral palsy and he can't always get up. She has three other small girls at home. Who should she call to help her? The Humane Society or the police.

I also wonder what the people of the Southend think of another of our theaters closing down. I know all the children were always lined up on Sundays to go there. I think of one theater that should be closed down instead. I saw some of their pictures on the outside of the theater while I was on the Parsons-av bus. They even shocked me. I think it cheapens the neighborhood.

My friend bought a home near us on Hilock and Lee Ellen-pl. The builder has never put a sidewalk in front of her home, also the city won't pave the small street running from Hillgate to where she lives. The school has to keep getting loads of gravel to keep the mud down. The school children don't want to walk on the road, so they're making a path through her front yard.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Food Packages May Create Problems

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit, apples, bananas, frozen orange juice, cherry products.

Last week in this column some of the reasons for the tremendous increase in pre-packaging the foods we buy were discussed. Now let's look at the new role of the food package and some of the problems this role has created for consumers.

Mrs. Franks

In the past, the main function of food packages included such things as protecting the product during storage and display; providing identification and information about the product.

But in today's supermarket the package is the "silent salesman." Often on it are some hidden persuasions as well as good information. Its designer has used convenience, color, shape and size as a way to induce the customer to buy the product. Some packages are even designed for other useful or decorative function after the contents are used.

Efforts to use packaging as a selling device create some problems. Some people feel the food industry has gone beyond "reasonable limits." Complaints that many food packages misrepresent the contents or otherwise deceptive are increasing. Some of the common complaints about food packages are:

- That the size of the package gives a wrong impression of the contents.
- That packages are not full.
- That containers are misleading — for example, irregular shapes, thick walls, indented bottoms, etc.
- That the important information on the label is often hard to find, hard to read.

In defense of packaging methods, food processors and distributors point out such things as: foods do "settle" after packaging and that often bulky packages are needed to protect a product from damage during handling. They also say that consumers themselves have been pretty effective in letting the food industry know what they like and dislike, through their acceptance or rejection of products.

We all know that packaging provides many useful and valuable services. As a result, undue restrictions on packaging practices would not be in the interest of consumers.

Each consumer can help put better packages on store shelves by reading labels carefully and comparing quantities, prices, and quality to some extent. And if a package is deceptive in some way, report it to the store manager — or do not purchase the item. Remember, when you put a package into your shopping cart you are casting your vote for it.

Ice Fishing Is Unique Experience

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROB COCHRAN

It has been another "perch year" at Lake Erie for the ice fishermen. Catches have been large and the fish are good sized. But area anglers who do not want to go that far to fish have some sport available to them right here at home.

Although Buckeye Lake has not been up to par this winter, farm ponds are producing bluegills. Some crappies are being taken from ponds where they were stocked, and a few winterized bass are always caught by frostbit fishermen.

In looking for an ice fishing pond, you should comb your memory for ponds you have fished in warm weather that supplied good bluegill fishing. If the "gills" were large and present in numbers last summer, then it's safe to assume they will still be there.

It is most important to ask the farmer's permission to fish — an owner who will let you fish in the summer may not want you to cut holes in the ice now. Ice skating is becoming a popular winter sport and the farm families that skate do not want their ice cut up.

Bluegills are more or less schooled up in winter, and you may spend some time locating a congregation of fish. If you are familiar with the pond, then it's usually advisable to start fishing where water is about six feet deep. You might try several locations at this approximate depth, and if you catch no fish then move to the deepest spot in the pond. Often this will be near the fill or dam. As a last resort you should try fishing in shallow water.

TACKLE NOT COMPLICATED

Baits and tackle are not complicated in ice fishing — the elaborate gear of ice shanties, charcoal stoves and the like will be found on Lake Erie. All you need is a little ice rod, or a tip section of an old flyrod, some monofilament line and small sinkers and hooks. Bait can be ragweed worms, meal worms or ice flies. One concession to comfort that downstate anglers can make is to put gasoline lantern under a wooden box for a seat. A little judgment should be used with this rig, but with the right-sized box it will make a comfortable and safe "hot seat."

Most ice fishermen work their baits near the bottom. They let out line until they hit bottom, and then take in enough to move the hook up a few inches. It's best to keep the bait in motion so as to attract the attention of lethargic fish. They will not hit a bait but will nibble at it. A little practice is needed to determine a bite.

Since ice fishing depends upon cold weather, you cannot plan definitely to go until the last minute. A day or two of warm weather could make the ice unsafe. It is always wise to test the ice before you venture out, and it should be at least three inches thick. Even then, currents may have caused thin spots in the ice, and you should always be cautious.

A long trip over roads that may be choked with snow or ice does not appeal to many fishermen. But such a trip is not necessary. With a little exploration you can find good ice fishing close to home in farm ponds.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

What Is Price Of Security For Youth?
Complexities Often Cloud Answer

Security — a word that when spoken, sounds as stable as its meaning. Security — friend of everyone and sought by most.

The search for security began far in the past. Mika Waltari in two novels, "The Etruscan" and "The Egyptian," expounds on this pursuit by two men 2,000 years ago.

DOBBINS

Down through time to the present, security has become one of the main goals sought by the younger generation.

However, this word is leading today's young people into misconception. Why? They are failing to determine the meaning of security before they seek it.

Young Americans are chasing rainbows!

Who am I to be saying what young Americans are doing? Well, in the first place, I'm young, I'm an American and I've managed to chase a few rainbows.

Many people want security, which is no selfish desire. But there is no need of paying a ridiculous price for it. They should quit fanciful dreaming and analyze their present situation instead of trying to escape it.

Today's youth misinterpret works of art, books and movies, and in general do not understand problems of living which confront them.

Many young people were delighted with the movie, "A Summer Place." The film had a good morality plot backed by beautiful scenery and music. It was a story of young love, always a favorite of young theatre-goers. In the end the young couple was happy and secure.

But many were left with this impression: It's all right for a married man to chase another woman and for young adults to become passionately involved in a love affair if everything ends OK.

This is a misconception of security. No one gave much thought to the alcoholic father involved in the movie. Neither did they happen to think what conditions for the young couple might be like in 20 years. A great price was paid for their happiness. Degredation of a father, a divorce and a near illegitimate child.

It seems that the price paid was too high. But it was their decision to make.

Youth always will be tempted and will have to make sound decisions as to what is wanted.

Will they seek temporary escape from their problems or a stable, lasting happiness?

—Sam E. Dobbins

Effer-VESS-ence

Some women's columns seem to deal only with straggly hair and straying husbands, but ours will be about clubs and women in business. There's a lot to talk about here.

We believe that you're never happier than when you're doing something for someone else . . . and everyone here at our office is real light-hearted these days over our project to help your clubs raise money for charities. All you have to do, you know, is save bottle caps from any of our Vess soft drinks . . . A-V Cola, White Rock, Whistle, Vess Flavors, Hires Root Beer and Bubble-Up . . . and we will redeem them for ½ cent each.

This is a game the whole family can play, from grandma right on down to the grandchildren. You'll be surprised how many caps each family will accumulate in a short time. So spread the word. Tell all your friends to help out . . . and chances are you'll find this the biggest and easiest fund raising idea your club has ever undertaken. We will be happy to send you copies of the regulations if you give us a call at 298-4149. Caps can be redeemed at our plant, 1055 W. Fifth Ave., any Tuesday or Wednesday from 12 noon to 2 p.m. in quantities of 150. We hope you'll raise lots and lots of money . . . and we'll do everything we can to help you.

Hope to see you in here soon with your bottle caps . . . and we'll be back here at the same stomping grounds next week.

Can't tell 'em without a Scorecard

An expert doesn't need a scorecard to tell the players . . . he can recognize them by observing their characteristics and mannerisms.

But there's no scorecard available when you're buying carpeting and, unless you are an expert, you must depend upon the integrity of the dealer and decide whether his reputation warrants the trust you must place in him.

That we have given full value for every dollar spent with us during the 27 years we've been in the rug and carpet business is attested by hundreds of customers who have returned to make additional purchases or who have recommended us to others.

Bouquets Last Longer With Care

Next time you receive a bouquet from your florist or make your own selection for decorating your home, bear in mind that, as the blooms dwindle, new life can be given your decoration with a little extra care and ingenuity.

Take as an example the florist's arrangement of big and little mums and greenery in light and dark shades and varying contour.

As the mums begin to wither take the complete bouquet apart, remove the blooms that are gone, trim and wash those that are still good and rearrange in a clean vase, perhaps a tall one, to accommodate the dwindled mass. Now you have a new bouquet . . . a different decoration.

Keep trimming out the dead flowers and foliage and rearranging what's left. Be sure you use fresh, clean, receptacles. A bit of baking soda is great for cleaning them, and be sure to rinse them thoroughly.

Your choice of container depends on amount and height of the pieces you are working with.

Blooms all gone? Don't throw away those greens! Think of the beautiful simplicity of Japanese floral art. Those few branches of greenery have beauty, too.

And this last of life from your bouquet will bring you added pleasure for days to come.

PARTY FUN, FANCIES YOU CAN MAKE AT HOME

Birthday parties can be fun and easy for mother, and easy on the purse as well.

A little advance preparation is all that's required, so that you can relax and enjoy the gala event — even have an adult coffee klatch while the youngsters have a gay time. Here are some recipes for games and decorations you and the children can make at home.

Simple, inexpensive and easily assembled decorations can be substituted for ready-made, more costly trimmings.

The trim is made from pretied, sticky-backed bows available in various brilliant metallised colors in gift-wrap departments.

Place mats made of gift paper and covered with transparent saran are festive and they protect your table from spills and stains. Fastening cardboard to the back of the paper makes the mats sturdy.

They can be used again for daily lunchtime meals, for they require little care. A swish of a damp-cloth after each use, and they're clean and ready to use again.

Nutcup favors that double as placemarkers are made with those versatile stick-em bows, a paper cup and a place card taped in the front.

Planned games channel children's energy and group participation relieves tensions. Here's an up-dated version of "pin the tail on the donkey" — called "Stick the Center on the Daisy," perfect for a girl's party. Small boys might prefer "Stick the bull's eye on the target" or something equally appropriate.

The game is safe because pins which might find their way into small fingers aren't needed. Those perky bows with sticky backs will adhere to the surface without pins.

The daisy is easy to make, too. It is simply a large flower cut from brightly colored papers — backed with a thin sheet of cardboard, tacked to the wall at child-height with double surfaced sticky tape, or hung from a picture hook with wire.

A hint for games. Provide plenty of inexpensive gaily wrapped "prizes" for all who participate. Even the children who don't win should receive "consolation" prizes, you'll avoid tears that way.

Children delight in balloons. Hang groups of them in clusters and distribute them among the guests at party's end as another take home souvenir.

If your youngsters are old enough, let them help you make the party fixings. Thus the anticipation will carry through to the participation in the fun . . .

Lemon Juice Tang Teaser In Cooking

It's not defined taste the gourmet cook wishes to achieve . . . it's the subtle blending of flavors to pamper the taste buds that means perfection.

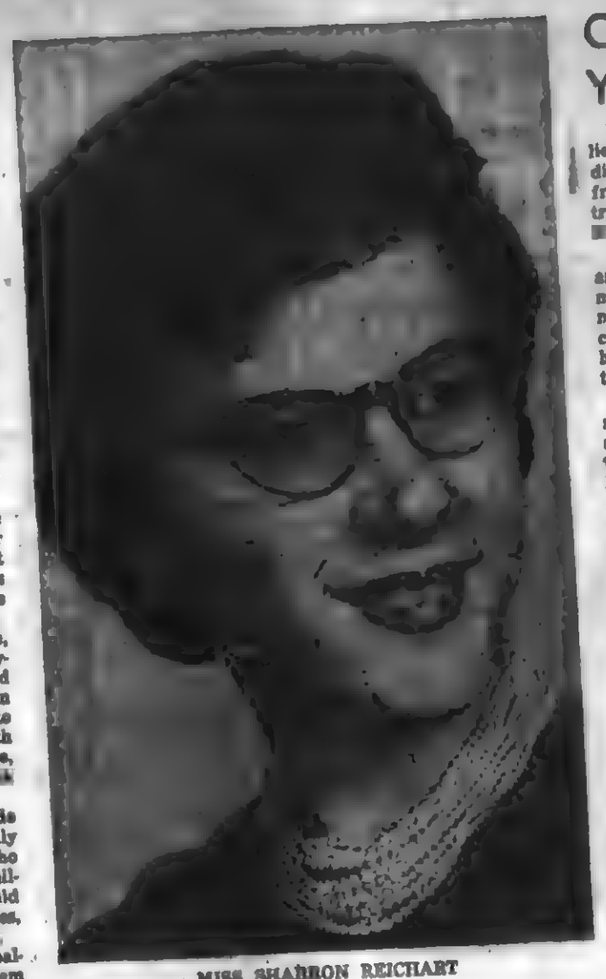
One of the gourmet's finest friends, for this reason, is the lemon! It does so much to lift so many foods. Whether the juice or the rind is used, it seems to have a "punch" that's wonderfully subtle, yet vibrant.

The master chef's touch of lemon needn't be reserved for special occasions or fancy gravies, sauces, and such.

You can use it for everymeals . . . and exploit your reputation as a gourmet cook in all your everyday cookery.

Put a good tablespoon of lemon juice in the beef stew and zing — it will sing, whether you use wine for a full-bodied finish or no.

Chicken broiled, boiled, roasted or barbecued has a distinctively piquant new taste if you'll put a little lemon juice in with the flavoring.



Vegetables like a dash of lemon juice. Grated lemon lemon ring whips up a new tang in the taste of pot roast, meat loaf, veal scallopini . . . and many other similar dishes.

And there's no doubt about it, lemon juice is the tang teaser that picks up a salad like nothing else can.

Chinese New Year Dessert

Long ago, the Chinese believed that magic wands and divining rods should be made from branches cut from peach trees on Chinese New Year's Eve.

On New Year's Day, young and old alike would eat soup made from peaches. Here's a modern-day peach dessert that comes from San Francisco in honor of Chinese New Year this month.

For this season, a touch of red food coloring tints the meringue a delicate pink, the color of peach blossoms. Inside a crumbled almond macaroon represents the peach pit which, like the peach blossom, was once believed to keep demons away.

CHINESE NEW YEAR PEACHES

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves
1 lime
1 envelope meringue mix
Food coloring
Almond macaroons.

Drain peaches thoroughly, reserving one-third cup syrup. Grate rind from lime, and squeeze juice. Arrange peaches cup side up in shallow baking dish and drizzle each with with about one-half teaspoon lime juice.

Beat meringue mix with one - third cup peach syrup until mixture stands in stiff peaks. Fold in one-half teaspoon grated lime rind. Tint lightly with food coloring.

Coarsely crumble a small macaroon into cup of each peach. Heap meringue over macaroon, building up a tall peak.

Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven about 15 to 20 minutes, until lightly browned. Serve warm or cold.

Makes five or six servings.

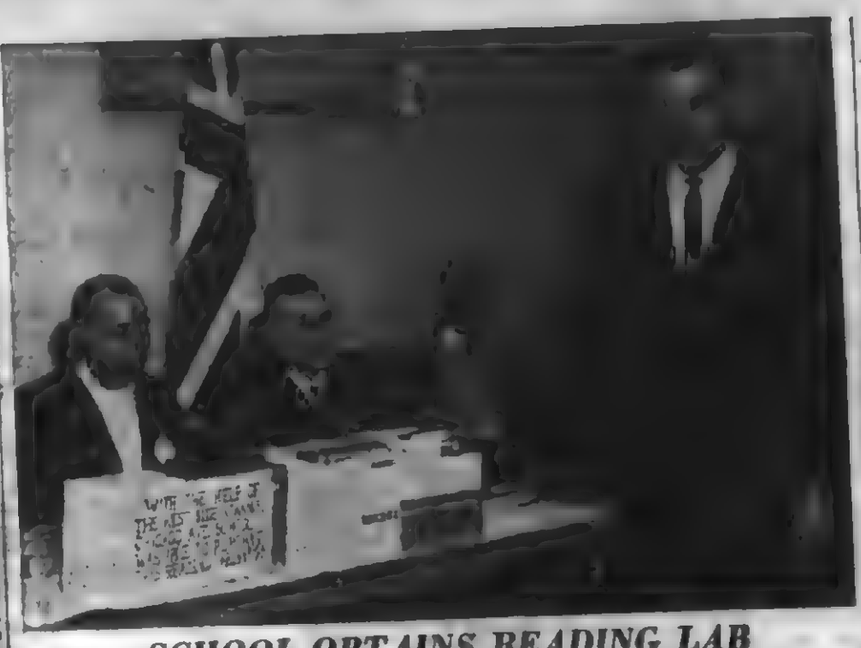
Walkaways From JDC Apprehended

The Ohio State Highway Patrol captured two escapees from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center who are alleged to have stolen two cars and robbed a Morrow County woman.



The capture came following a tip from a service station attendant who reported seeing a car answering the description of the one taken from Mrs. Barbara Selanders of Ashley.

The patrol caught the walkaways early Friday morning when the car in which they were riding ran into a ditch on Rt. 50 near Athens.

The two youths walked away from the JDC last Thursday.

They also are suspected by the patrol of taking a car owned by Edward Goines, of 443 W. Mithoff-st, in Columbus. The auto was found abandoned with a flat tire near the Selanders home in Ashley.

The two were the third and fourth inmates to walk away from the institution last week.

'Third Reich' Heads List At Library

William Shirer's "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," a detailed and documented history of Hitler and World War II, was one of the most asked for non-fiction books at the Hilltop Library in 1961. Published in the fall of 1960, the lengthy, best-selling work won the National Book Award for non-fiction early last year, and there has been a waiting list for this book since it was published.

Also asked for frequently were Lillian Parks' "My Thirty Years Backstairs at the White House," W. Cleon Skouse's "The Naked Communist," Gavin Maxwell's "Ring of Bright Water," Frederick Schwarz' "You Can Trust the Communists," Bruce Catton's "The Coming Fury" and "I Should Have Kissed Her More," by Alexander King.

Leading the library's fiction list was Irving Stone's 600-page "The Agony and the Ecstasy," a novel about Michelangelo. A close second in popularity was a 1960 book, "To Kill a Mockingbird," by Harper Lee, which is a little girl's story of life in a small Alabama town in the 1930's.

Requests are also frequent for Leon Uris' "Mila 18," James Michener's 1960 book, "Hawaii," Morris West's "The Devil's Advocate," Jerome Salinger's "Franny and Zooey" and Frank Yerby's "The Garfield Honor."

Citizens' Group Launches Drive For Park Board

Summer Recreation Program Set In Franklin Township

A campaign to win support for formation of a township park board has been launched by the Franklin Township Citizens' Association.

Plans for the drive grew out of an association meeting held recently.

President David Caperton said he will visit the PTA group at each of five schools in the area to "broaden interest in the proposal."

Court approval is necessary to establish a park board, Caperton pointed out.

He said that the support of 10 per cent of the voters in the last election was needed to win a court hearing.

If a park board is approved for the township it would establish and operate picnic and playground areas.

Members of the board would be appointed by the court, probably on the recommendation of the township trustees, Caperton said.

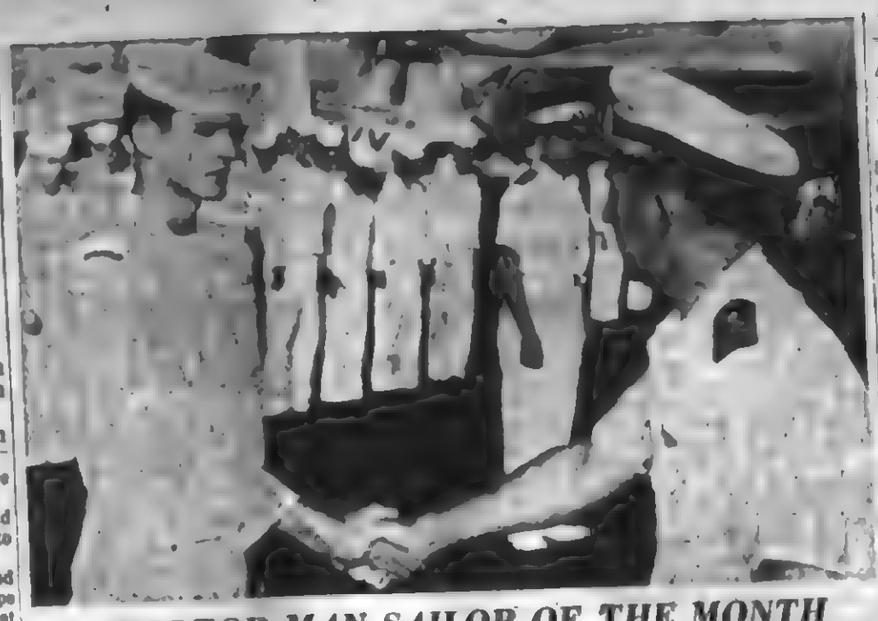
The citizen's association has offered to finance a survey by Dr. W. C. Batchelor, developer of the Whetstone Park in Columbus, of park and recreational needs in the township.

Caperton said that his organization would have no specific recommendations to make on park sites, but pointed out that the township already owned a likely tract along a stream west of Hague-av, in the North Franklin area.

He said that the association originally proposed to develop park sites in the area and turn them over to the Metropolitan Park Board.

However, the Metropolitan Park Board "was not interested in operating this type of facility," he said. "They are more interested in large tracts where conservation is involved."

The association has also moved to insure a summer recreational program at the five schools in Franklin Township.



Members last week approved a proposal to raise money to finance such a program.

Plans call for organized recreation for all age groups during at least four weeks at all the schools.

Estimates are that the program would cost around $2,000.

The association tentatively plans to sponsor a special variety show sometime this spring to finance the program.

Caperton said that one person would be hired to direct a staff of high school seniors at each of the playgrounds.

Pfc. Robert R. Mitchell, 19, son of Mrs. Betty J. Powell, 194 Lilley Chapel-rd, West Jefferson, is scheduled to participate with other personnel from the 559th Engineer Company in Exercise Great Bear, a joint U.S.-Canadian winter maneuver in Alaska, Feb. 18 to 21.

Mitchell, a construction specialist in the company at Fort Wainwright, entered the Army in May, 1960, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived in Alaska last September.

Exercise Great Bear will be conducted in the vicinity of Tanacross and Eielson Air Force Base, one of the most rugged areas over which an Alaskan maneuver has ever been held. Principle terrain features in the 3,200 square-mile maneuver area are the heavily forested lowlands of the Tanana River Valley and the mountains, which range as high as 4,000 feet, converging on both sides of the valley.

FOOTNOTES by HARRY GRAHAM

FLAT FOOTED BABIES

A part of our shoe-fitting system consists of a set of foot-print reveals the arch type of fit anyone big or little. This print revetls the arch type of the customer and while we know that any heighth of arch can be normal, we also know that many youngsters with what looks to be flat feet can be helped to acquire an arch. Arched feet are more graceful and easier to shoe.

It does seem that an awful lot of little folks are flat-footed and that we use more and more special shoes, usually through prescriptions from one of the pediatricians or foot doctors. One of my doctor friends told me that he thought the trouble was due to the fact that most babies start to walk on hard, flat surfaces and muscles do not develop enough to form an arch. Special shoes with inner heel wedging and arch "cookies" where indicated, sometimes help nature develop these muscles.

Fire Revives Memories Of Pioneer Family, Their Home

By Betty Deft

Far more than the office of Marble Cliff Lumber Co., 3239 McKinley-av, was damaged in the fire that swept the company a few weeks ago.

Oldest landmark in the area, the historic Shrum Homestead, was hidden behind the new front added when the company purchased the property.

Home of many generations of Shrums, the last of the family moved away in 1914.

Miss Elva Shrum, 80, now living at 108 S. Burgess-av, recalls her childhood on the farm and her neighbors. "The Barbees and the Trabues were among the pioneer families who lived nearby," she said with a smile. "And what a wonderful childhood we had.

"We all went to school, and to church, too, at Skidmore School. At first it was a log cabin. The school is now called North Franklin and is across Hague-av from the original building.

"The whole woods was our playground, and we could see waving wheat fields from the schoolroom windows. I daydreamed for hours in school watching that wheat—it was beautiful.

"And we gathered blackberries and wild roses on the Indian mound. It was on our property, just a half-mile from home. It now belongs to the Ohio State Historical Society and is known as the Shrum Mound.

"There is also a cave on the farm which has been visited many times by Ohio State University students who studied the formations on walls and ceilings of passages that extended far under the fields.

"I'm so sorry that house was burned," she said softly. "My grandparents, and great-grandparents, too, lived there. So many Shrums were born in that house."

Her brother, Roy Shrum, is also a Hilltop resident, living at 61 N. Terrace-av.

THE SHRUM HOMESTEAD, historic landmark in the area, and the family looked like this at the turn of the century. From left are, standing in back, Miss Elva Shrum; her brother, Roy; sister, Anna; brother, Oliver, and his wife, Lula. In front are Miss Shrum's father; her nephew, Merrill; sister, Grace; nephew, Arthur, and her mother.

South, East Side Sports Great Liked 1960-61 Bucks

A Columbus sports world old-timer took an analytical look at this years 1961-62 Ohio State basketball team and claims that they don't compare to the greatness of last year's squad.

The fellow's name in Joseph Stevens and, among other things, he held the city's field goal basketball record for a time. He coached for two years at Roosevelt Junior High in the South Side and, for 36 years (until his retirement) he coached at East High School.

He formerly lived on Euclaire-av in Bexley and now resides in the North End.

He's still an avid sports fan and likes to watch the Buckeyes in action — "when can I get tickets."

Siegfried Still Tops . . .

Why the liking for last year's Bucks? Stevens used this argument:

"If you ask Fred Taylor (OSU Coach) if he'd take last year's Larry Siegfried or this year's Dick Reasbeck, he'd say Siegfried. If you ask him if he'd take this year's Doug McDonald to Siegfried, he'd say Siegfried.

"That's proof enough for me," he says. "The three seniors (John Havilcek, Mel Nowell and Jerry Lucas) haven't inmproved that much over the year."

The fact that this year's Bucks haven't lost a game — compared to the last year team — doesn't bother Stevens at all.

Any team's liable to blow a game once in a while," he claims. Stevens is a Cincinnati native and, about last year, "I was sorry to see the Bucks lose to my hometown. I was rootin' for them all the way."

Coached George Simpson . . .

While coaching track and football at East, Stevens was the mentor for the late track great George Simpson who died recently. He also coached Merwin Graham, this country's 1928 Olympic team entry.

Jack Keller, now managing editor for a downtown daily newspaper, was one of Steven's students. Keller was coached to the American High School Hurdle Championships from East and later became the world champion hurdler at Ohio State.

Stevens, himself, attended Hughes High in Cincinnati and held the Ohio field goal record in high school with a 26 in a game — to be broken later by Ohio great Bobbin' Robin Freeman.

Built Up Gymnastics . . .

While at East, Stevens created one of the greatest gymnastic teams in this city's history. They won the state championship crown several years in a row. Now, gymnastics have all but faded from the local high school scene.

At that time, East was the main supplier for Leo Staley's Ohio State gymnast ic team. Staley is now retired, also.

Stevens began his high school coaching career at East in 1923 and left in 1959 at the age of 70.

It's been a long and illuminating sports career for this man!

Eastmoor Squeezes Past Central, 66-65

By BILL PARKER and DAVE EVANS

The Eastmoor Warriors won a long grudge battle by nipping the Central Pirates, 66-64, on the Warriors' floor.

The Bucs had beaten the Warriors in their seven meetings in the past four years.

The Pirates won by a close four points, 64-60 in their first contest this year on the Bucs' court.

The Pirates were never on top, but tied the Warriors 56-56 with a little less than two minutes left on the clock. Frank Stavroff made two free throws to give them the lead, this time for good, afer George Gilchrest drove in with the tieing layup.

Eastmoor led at the end of the first quarter by showing the ball down on the fast-breaking Bucs. The Warriors, aware of the speedy Pirates, kept two men down court as they shot their foul shots.

Both teams played the same type of ball the second quarter, the Bucs were down at the half 31-25.

Eastmoor started to move in the third quarter, scoring 19 points to 13 for Central, and increased their lead by 12 (50-38). The Pirates got hot in the fourth quarter, but couldn't quite make it as two starters fouled out.

The Bucs scored 28 points to the Warriors 16 but couldn't get the lead.

The Pirates were hurt mainly by fouls as Eastmoor was cashing in, making 77 per cent of their free throws. The Bucs made 64 per cent from the foul line. The Pirates out shot the Warriors from the field, hitting 39 per cent of their shots as Eastmoor hit 37 per cent.

Central's Tom Fullove led both teams with 28 points.

Bill Jones also had 18 for the Bucs.

Dean Lampros and Ken Hollister held high honors for the Warriors with 19 each.

THIS ONE'S WRAPPED UP!

KLONDIKE CAPERS HELD

The Southwest District Winter Camporee was held at Camp Lazarus on Feb. 17 and 18. Fourteen units participated in the all-tent winter affair. The total number of scouts was 202.

The weather was fine and there was some snow on the ground. The scouts had built sleds and participated in a sled race around the parade grounds. Troop 56, of St. Paul's Evangelical Congregational Church, was the winner of the event. Orval Longerbone is the scoutmaster.

Saturday afternoon was spent on the trail around the camp. Various demonstrations were shown to the scouts. Some of the subjects were trapping, first and and survival shelters.

Every patrol participating in event was given a tassel for its flag and a ribbon participation in the campout.

Roundtable Scheduled

The Southwest District Roundtable for the month of February will be held this Wednesday, Feb. 21.

Proceedings will start at 7:30 p.m. at Westgate Methodist Church, at the corner of Brinker, Algonquin and Wicklow-av. These meetings for Cub, Scout and Explorer unit leaders are held the third Wednesday of every month. Gene Stinson is in charge.

Cub Pack 56 Banquet

The annual Blue and Gold banquet of Cub Pack 56 was held Friday evening, Feb. 16, at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church with more than 350 present. Cubmaster Robert Drummond introduced these special guests: Mayor Ralston Westlake and Mrs. Westlake; Everett Bacon, Southwest District Scout executive; Ralph Duncan, Neighborhood commissioner, and Mrs. Duncan; Warren Buck, institutional representative, and Mrs. Buck; Rev. Ralph Martin, Mrs. Martin and daughters, Barbara and Betty.

The theme for the banquet was "Parade of Presidents" and each den had made colorful centerpieces and table decorations using this theme. Mrs. Paul Mathias was chairman of arrangements.

Following the dinner, Duncan presented the Pack Charter for 1962 to Buck. Vernon Slatterly presented a wonderful program of magic tricks. Presentation of achievement awards to Cub Scouts was made by Robert Zu- [illegible] and James Reynolds presented the Honor Award for the month to the Cub Scouts of Den 22.

'Jobs' Can Be Mighty Discouraging Word . . .

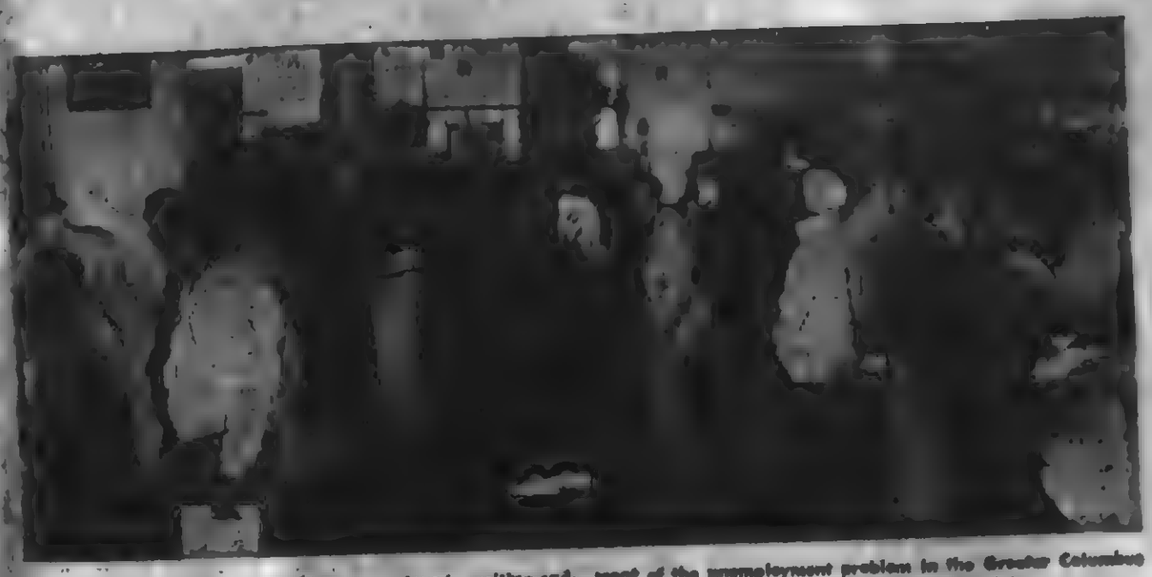
By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Pounding the pavement floor at Ohio State Employment Service office on Cleveland-av teaches the out-of-work American male a few things he might not have known before. For instance:

- You wish you had more education.
- You learn to dislike females.
- You wish you weren't specialized.
- You learn to hate foreign aid programs, and
- You wish for war.

It was this conglomeration of data gained last Thursday when I temporarily joined the ranks of the unemployed.

It's been said many times that the critical welfare program in the county has been attributed to lack of work and to prove it this reporter spent part of the day at the Employment Bureau chatting casually with folks who are out of work. They didn't know they were talking to a newsman.



The long lines of humanity were ready to talk — about anything and everything. They say talk's cheap and those out-of-work proved it. They've got plenty of time, now, and most of them use their time for just that.

An unemployed bricklayer, for example, was the first to shout the praises of education.

The advice came freely, too. "Stay in school," he said

Good To Know Glenn Ballyoo Is Patriotism

The flight of Col. Glenn around the globe has given this country a real shot in the arm in many respects.

Not the least of these is the fact that the space authorities were able to select such a fine person for this job. It is most encouraging to know that this new American hero is one who fits the pattern of those other heroes who have made America great.

His message to Congress on Monday certainly carried a thought that is good for us all . . . that good old fashioned American patriotism is still alive and exemplified in this our latest national hero.

A GOOD FRIEND PASSES

We are saddened by the death of Clara Brogenhardt, old time newspaper woman, who was buried Tuesday.

For many years she was a staff member of local dailies and even in her later years she never lost her "nose for news". Many a time she has called us to give us a hot tip on a good news story, and we were grateful.

And for many years she

A full public meeting of the WSNC will be held at Gladden, Mar. 8. Nick Barack, City Recreation superintendent, will discuss his department's plans for the West Side.

They Wouldn't Believe Their Eyes!

If, through the miracle of a time machine, we could bring pioneers into our midst, this might have been the scene in front of Columbus City Hall last Wednesday.

Staring in disbelief are General and Mrs. Joseph Foos and their two children.

Chris Columbus (the man in the statue), they knew about—but a building that towers 555 feet—well that's really something.

It was just 150 years ago, Feb. 21, that General Foos, a senator, lawmaker, businessman and farmer went to Zanesville from Franklinton (in the West Side) and suggested that our city be named Columbus.

Part of the event was re-enacted last Wednesday as a horse-drawn carriage carried the Foosa and Mayor Westlake to the Deshler-Hilton for a sesqui-kickoff luncheon.

Portraying the pioneer family were William Whitman and Mary Fletcher of the Playhouse-On-The-Green. The children were Karen Fairbrother of 164 E. North and Matthew Favret of 5764 Olentangy-blvd.

IF MOM CAN'T WORK:

Day Nursery Crackdown Threatens Family Budget

By BILL GRESS

Like the old lady who lived in a shoe, a lot of Columbus parents don't know what to do with their kids.

The problem is not that they have too many. It's that they have any at all.

These are families in which the mother works and her pre-school children are cared for in private day nurseries.

Columbus has initiated a building code crackdown—to the extent that the city has threatened to close at least 26 play-schools if alleged violations are not corrected within 30 days.

Some 10 others are under investigation. Only two have received a clean bill of health.

And the parents find themselves in the middle.

They agree — for the most part — on the need for building regulations, but wonder what they will do if the play-schools are actually closed.

It seems almost certain that they will be.

There is no indication that the nursery school operators intend to comply with the demands, nor that the city is ready to relax its position.

Frankly there's little most of the parents can do.

The lucky ones will be able to farm their children out to friends and relatives.

The others are stuck.

The mothers, in most instances, must work but won't be able to if the children have no place to go.

For many families—in which Dad just can't make ends meet by himself — there is a threat of economic chaos.

Homes, cars, appliances—all bought on credit—could be lost if a solution that would allow mother to keep her job is not found.

A spokesman explained that the city has "no choice." The laws are on the book. They must be enforced.

If they weren't, and a play-

PANCAKE DAY, MAR. 11

Kiwanians Promise Bargain In Eating

"We have the town's best pancake feast and people know it."

With that bold statement the West Side Kiwanians this week announced that on Sunday, Mar. 11, they expect to serve more than 1,100 people at their Fifth Annual Aunt Jemima Pancake and Sausage Day. That was the record crowd they had last year.

Serving will run continuously from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the large auditorium of Gladden Community House, Hawkes and Town-st.

"We're still holding the line on inflation," said George Weber, chairman. "Our tickets remain at 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for kids 12 and under. And that's for all you can eat—buttered pancakes and maple syrup, homemade sausage, coffee or milk—the whole works."

When it comes to pancakes,

Fire Center Training Starts

Columbus firefighters this week will begin limited use of the new $800,000 Training Center and Communitations complex on Greenlawn-av even before it is completed.

Thirty rookies will be sworn into the city's service at the new center at 2:30 p.m. Friday. Chief Herman Harrison, who has charge of training, said the men will return Monday to be fitted for uniforms and to be issued equipment. Tuesday they will be divided into three groups to learn the fundamentals of handling pumps, hoses, ladders, tools and other equipment.

Most important to the training program is the unique six-story fire tower. In it firefighters will find situations that simulate many of these they would find in burning fires throughout the city. Elevator shafts, stairways, fire escapes, windows, and other features are built into the tower.

The new men will continue their course until April 6. After that the whole division will embark on a five-day-a-week training schedule, Chief Harrison said.

Department Chief Walter Strickfaden said the new center should bring about lower fire insurance rates for business and industry. "For years," he said, "we have been penalized for having improper training facilities. We had to go to the State Fairgrounds or to Port Columbus."

Still under construction are three other buildings in the complex. Expected to be ready for occupancy sometime this summer, they include: a fire and police communications center (braincenter of a new call-box system and repair shops); a classroom building; and an office for Chief Strickfaden and his administrative staff.

Coady Co. Bids Low On Project

E. P. Coady & Co., 980 Barrett-rd, is apparent low bidder on the Dry Run improvement project near Haldy-av. The company's quotation of $165,771.12 was the lowest of eight that were opened in the office of Service Director Ernest Stork, Tuesday.

The creek meanders in the vicinity of N. Haldy, Roys and Chase-avs, and has steadily eroded its banks. In 1959 it erupted farther downstream and flooded the West Side.

To preserve some of the scenic aspects of the stream, engineers will permit a portion of Dry Run's flow to travel its present route. The rest will be piped a distance to rejoin the creek north of the railroad near Valleyview school.

It will be a few days before

Decision Due On Park Center

City Recreation Commission expected to view Westgate Park this afternoon and, according to Director N. J. Barack "it hopes to come up with rather definite ideas as to where to build our recreation center."

Barack was speaking of a proposed $400,000 building which has been authorized in the City's Capital Improvements program. Preliminary plans indicate that it may resemble the sprawling stone structure in Whetstone Park.

Barack disclosed to Hartley Newspapers that he has received about a dozen letters from Westgate area residents, stating their views on where they hope to see the center located.

"Of these, about 40 per cent say they want no center at all," Barack said. "They seldom gave specific reasons—they just say they are taxpayers and don't want it. One letter came from a vacationer at a Florida beach."

"We must assume," Barack went on, "that most of the people who favor the center do not take the trouble to write us their views."

Hilltop Community Council for years has championed the cause for an indoor facility to serve the growing population. But recent sessions of the council and its recreation committee have not produced any public resolutions on the planning.

You Can Help Recall Columbus' Past

The sesqui-centennial!

This is the year to recount the story of Columbus' great past—and you may be able to help.

Later this year the Hartley Newspapers will publish some interesting material on the history of the Columbus area. If you have access to old clippings, books, family records, sketches, photographs, or just plain recollections that would be of interest to others, we would like to know about them.

Those who would like to share in this project are invited to call BR. 4-1155. Ask for Mr. Orr.

Ordeal Elections Opened

Each spring the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honor camping society, holds elections to enlarge its ranks. It's that time again. Katinonkwet Lodge 39 announced that the elections will start Mar. 1 and continue to Apr. 12. Unit leaders will be given more information.

Ordeal candidates are elected by fellow scouts after they meet the membership requirements. These requirements are that the scout must have at least 15 days and nights of camping experience, only seven of which may be at a long-term camp. There is no rank requirement for a scout or explorer to be elected. By induction time, however, a scout must be First Class.

Ordeal inductions will be held throughout the warmer half of the year.

Brotherhood membership ceremonies will be held on June 2 and Aug. 4 at Camp Lazarus.

OSU basketball player Bob by Knight addressed a large crowd at the Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Pack 33, Columbia Heights Methodist Church, Feb. 27. Dick Otte, on the sports staff of the Columbus Dispatch, was the master of ceremonies. District executive and commissioners were guests of the pack for the evening. John Buchanan is cubmaster of the Lincoln Village unit.

Error Corrected

Contrary to a statement in last week's column, Troop 186, St. John Lutheran, was the winner of the homemade sled race contest at the Winter Camporee held at Camp Lazarus. Troop 58, erroneously credited with the accomplishment came in second.

Plans for accelerated expansion of the McDonald hamburger restaurant chain were announced by Ray A. Kroc, board chairman. An average of three new restaurants per week is scheduled for opening during 1962. During the first six weeks of the year, McDonald's opened 17 new restaurants, each at an estimated cost of $125,000. Kroc estimated that more than $7,000,000 will be spent by McDonald's on new construction in 1962.
